SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

W. E. (Bill the Hatter) Wilkins says if he returns to Charlevoix next summer it will make his 40th and, to satisfy those curious ones, he'll announce his age at that time. Bill's been a Charlevoix summer regular for a good many years.

Why not apologize instantly and be done with it?

Everyone is glad to see Hugh L. "Dad" Brady out and around again. "Dad" fell and fractured his hip last winter and Friday ended a three-month confinement at Charlevoix Hospital.

Times don't change much. Noted in an issue of 20 years ago where law enforcement officials were warning dog owners to keep their animals confined. Officials are still doing the same thing and, as far as I can see, the conditions aren't much different.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Bradford, who reside on Ferry avenue, report having new potatoes and peas from their garden on June 22nd. That's unusually early in this region and is just another indication of the earliness of all crops and fruits this year. I've many times heard the statement that the seasons were advanced at least two weeks this year.

The fish drought at the Fechheimer establishment was ended Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. hooked two and landed one. They're one up on me now. Saw Clarence Wood dragging a nice one behind his boat. Parties at Don Clothier's took three big mackinaws out of Lake Charlevoix over the week end, one Saturday and two Sunday. I'm reluctant to relate this record compares with 62 fish, 12 mackinaws and 50 steelhead taken the corresponding weekend a year ago. Let's hope the bass season opening today produces better results.

Summer officially opened last Saturday, the 21st, with a temperature reading up in the 80's.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Unless present signs are wrong, Michigan consumers will pay higher food prices next fall and winter. Here are the reasons:

1. Our undeclared war, inducting thousands of young men into military service, has created a temporary labor shortage on Michigan farms.

2. Lacking even unskilled help to plant and to harvest crops, many Michigan growers are reducing their acreages.

3. Inflationary tendencies have already appeared, bringing a spurt in consumer purchases. Government purchases of canned tomatoes, for example, have depleted holdover stocks. One wholesaler grocer reports that he has been trying in vain for 45 days to get a tomato juice shipment from a well-known Indiana packer.

"A large grocer recently came to my office and laid down a roll of 30 bills, each $100 in denomination," he related before the Michigan Food Council last week. "I couldn't promise delivery on his order. I couldn't even guarantee prices. It's the screwiest market I've ever seen!"

The above reasons are not limited to Michigan. They appear to be fairly general.

Beet Sugar

Lee V. Card state commissioner of agriculture, gave an inkling of how the farm labor shortage is going to affect certain commodities when he said:

"I'm looking for a beet sugar acreage reduction in Michigan of perhaps a one-third under last year's, due solely to the inability of many growers to get labor. Production restrictions for beet sugar were revised recently in order to assure a larger harvest. But you can't grow more food until you can get the labor. Michigan just doesn't have it."

Another clue to the threat of rising food prices is a consumer apprehension that the government will institute priorities even for food.

Murat Temple Shriners of Indianapolis, 260 strong including 70 ladies, were guests of Charlevoix business men and members of the Masonic fraternity Sunday afternoon, on a three-day outing from Chicago to the Soo aboard the steamer "Manitou".

This issue heralds the pending arrival in Charlevoix of the giant Aeromarine flying cruiser Santa Maria on an epoch making flight around the shores of the Great Lakes. The article relates the plane's mammoth wings had a spread of 104 feet, its power was two 400 h. p. Liberty motors and its speed nearly 100 miles per hour. Little did folks dream then, perhaps, that airplanes later would be twice the size, have six times the power, five times the speed and that a trip around the Great Lakes would be just a day's practice flight.

Ralph Coulter, now agricultural agent at West Branch, was a graduate from Michigan Agricultural College, now Michigan State College.

1,000 Planes in Air Film

More than a thousand airplanes of all types were used in the production of the Paramount air thriller, "I Wanted Wings," which opens Saturday, June 28, at the Palace Theatre.

The film, which stars Ray Milland, William Holden, Wayne Morris and Brian Donlevy, and features the sensational screen discovery, Veronica Lake, and Constance Moore, was made with the complete cooperation of the Army Air Corps at Randolph, Kelly and March Fields, Army air fields.

Plays Secretary

Mary Beth Hughes, blonde and beautiful 20th Century-Fox featured player, has a new type of role in her latest film, "The Great American Broadcast," which stars Alice Faye, John Payne, Jack Oakie and Cesar Romero. The production will be a Palace Theatre feature July 2-3.

The young St. Louis-born actress portrays a blase, wise-cracking business secretary who is constantly deflating her cinematic boss, Jack Oakie.

Featured in the cast of "The Great American Broadcast" are The Nicholas Brothers, The Wiere Brothers and the Four Ink Spots.

"Blood and Sand" Technicolor Masterpiece

Vicente Blasco Ibanez' famous novel, "Blood and Sand" comes to the screen of the Palace Theatre on July 4-5, amidst a blaze of Technicolor reflecting the tempestuous stirring Spanish life that was magnificent while it lasted.

This 20th Century-Fox film, produced by Darryl F. Zanuck and starring Tyrone Power, owes much of its thrilling spectacle, its panorama of color, and unforgettable scenery to the fact that Director Rouben Mamoulian took a troupe of 300 actors and technicians to Mexico City where a good part of the picture was made.

Linda Darnell and Rita Hayworth, Tyrone Power's love interest, and top featured players, appear in lavish surroundings.

County Grasshopper Control Program Being Developed

While it is too early to determine the potential damage expected from grasshoppers, a recent study indicates a considerable number being prevalent. Tentatively we expect to have the Boyne Falls station open on Monday, June 30th, for a short time to take care of the needs of pasture and hay fields. There will be no cost to the farmer and it is expected that we have enough material on hand to take care of the needs of the county this year.

As our plans are not yet formulated, it will be well for you to contact your county agent at Boyne City before making a trip to the Boyne Falls station, for definite information, in other words these plans are still tentative, as thus far the damage has been so slight it does not warrant opening up the station.

Dr. B. J. Killham, Specialist in Animal Diseases, to Visit County

It has been apparent for several months that losses in livestock have been on the increase. Last winter more reports than usual came to our attention with the result that mineral deficiencies may hold the key to the situation. In many herds livestock are not doing well even with the best of care and feed. Recently experiments indicate that a cobalt and sugar deficiency may be responsible.

Dr. B. J. Killham will discuss these conditions at a meeting to be held in the Boyne River grange hall on Thursday night, June 26th, beginning at 8:00 promptly. He will discuss common ailments of livestock, the status of Bangs Disease in the county and many other topics of interest to live stock owners.

Last week Chandler Hill township and adjacent herds have been tested for Bangs Disease by Dr. Eversole with the result that several infected herds have been found. Don't fail to attend this meeting and discuss with us the prevention of many common ailments in livestock, that if not corrected will many times be fatal.

Charlevoix County Tour Attracted 140 Enthusiastic Folks

The Charlevoix county tour held last Tuesday was a great success from every viewpoint. The first stop scheduled at 9:30 at the home of Arlo Wickersham, at Charlevoix found many folks on hand at 9:00. Everyone seemed anxious to have the opportunity of seeing this most modern city home. The picture window overlooking Lake Michigan, was so beautiful the folks just wanted to spend the entire time at this point. Mr. and Mrs. Wickersham have put their own labor and talents into the construction and decoration of their home with the result that it gives that inviting and homelike atmosphere as soon as one steps inside of the house. Each room had its own individuality.

The second stop was one that was probably the big feature of the tour. In a natural setting of woods the church and surroundings gave the visitors a real thrill. A short service was held in the church in both the Indian and English language. Great credit is extended to Rev. Greensky for his welcome, his three children, who rendered two songs and the other folks who contributed so much to the enjoyment of the occasion. The visitors were informed of the welcome that a goodly sized collection was taken and given to the friends of the church.

The next stop was at the home of S. W. Mower at Ironton, which was another high light of the day. One is simply astounded at the beauty and attractiveness of this location overlooking Lake Charlevoix and the ferry. Those who visited the boat house were amazed at the size and completeness of the building. Ironton really has to be seen before one appreciates the lovely scenes that abound on all sides.

The noon stop was held at the East Jordan Tourist Park where a real pot-luck was enjoyed by the large crowd. East Jordan can certainly be complimented on the improvements made at the park. Plenty of tables, ample shade and a cooling breeze made the noon time perfect.

The last three stops took in the East Jordan Canning Company, Jordan Valley Creamery Company and the girls N. Y. A. sewing center. This was an education in itself to see these projects that contribute so much to the agricultural welfare in the county. Already folks have indicated a big desire to have another tour next year.

The short program held at noon featured brief remarks by the outgoing chairman, Mrs. Edith Novotny, secretary reports of the accomplishments and results of this last winter's project, by Miss Ruth Peck, leader in charge. For the new year the election of officers resulted in the selection of O. F. Walker, of Boyne City, as county chairman, Mrs. Charles Withers as secretary and Mrs. Anna Warner as recreational chairman.

TO YOU WHO SWEAR BY OIL-PLATING....

Still less engine wear—still more oil Economy—from this proved New oil that still brings OIL-PLATING

Single 5-quart fill defies Death Valley for 13,398 miles...Certified

IMPARTIAL

Latest available products of 5 leading competitors bought retail by Referee

Identical new cars broken-in alike, after engines had been taken apart for Referee to check uniformity.

The celebrated Conoco Germ Processed oil patent first made it possible for Conoco to bring your engine OIL-PLATING—lasting lubricant with magnet-like attraction for inner engine surfaces. Thus OIL-PLATING can't all quickly drain down—fry up—"run out" fast. And this same Germ Processed oil patent still assures an OIL-PLATED engine, after you change to the sensational new oil by Conoco...

Its name is CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL—Brings new Economy aid, besides OIL-PLATING

This popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil that OIL-PLATES, can protect itself against today's worst cause of rapid consumption.

How?...Just consider one truth about latest oil refining methods. Ridding oil of bad things may sacrifice some of Nature's best life-givers! The same happens, you know, in processing some foods. But today that loss is often made up by vitamin synthetics... man-made. And today the vigor otherwise sacrificed in any proper refining is more than made up by patented Conoco Thialkene inhibitor... man-made... in Conoco Nth oil.

Lasted 74% to 161% longer than 5 other big-name oils in fierce fair test

Across the Death Valley desert Conoco Nth wrote E-C-O-N-O-M-Y. Locked in the engines of 6 new everyday cars—all alike—were 6 prominent oils, including Conoco Nth. One 5-quart fill per car. Never another drop. No mercy. 57 miles an hour under impartial observation—under sun that'd singe you—till each fill gave out and the engine was junk.

Conoco Nth outlasted the next-best oil by 5,683 miles; outlasted the worst by 8,268 miles; outlasted the average of all 5 others by 7,057 miles. All certified. But you don't put your car through torture-tests. For authorities warn you to change oil at regular intervals. No quarreling with that! Now, however, as you change to Conoco Nth... the greater new oil that OIL-PLATES... set your speedometer-trip at 000. Keep track—and certify Conoco Nth economy for yourself. Continental Oil Co.—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

NYA TO SEND FORTY TO CAMP AT INTERLOCHEN

Musically Inclined College Students Will Be Selected

Orin W. Kaye, state administrator of the Michigan National Youth Administration, has just announced that arrangements have been completed with Professor Joseph E. Maddy, president of the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan, whereby 40 college students may obtain benefits of this open air school of music this summer.

The NYA division of student work is sponsoring the plan by which needy youth who are musically inclined will be selected. Their customary living costs while at the camp will be paid for by their personal services in routine camp maintenance. In addition, each of the 40 youth will be employed on an out-of-school NYA project and will receive an NYA wage of $18 a month. NYA services will be in the fields of music, radio, drama, and journalism, including broadcasting of programs daily over station WTCM at Traverse City.

The NYA award includes regular group rehearsals and broadcasting renditions. In addition, any NYA youth may enroll in any regular course or take special lessons from any instructor in the camp by paying established camp rates.

All applications must be in the hands of Dr. A. H. Robertson, state NYA student work director, not later than June 16. The 40 NYA youth will be supplied with the customary camp uniforms, and their other camp accommodations and privileges will be identical with those obtained by other students at the camp.

Mr. Kaye pointed out that only those youth known to be financially unable to pay the customary fees at the camp and only those who are industrious and cooperative in sharing privileges and responsibilities with others will be selected.

Interlochen is the outstanding summer musical camp school in the country. Its instructors include some of the leading musicians of America.

The 10% increase in wages the city council granted employes Monday night just about compensates for the increase in living costs which have been gradually creeping up since mid-winter. As a general thing, wages are the last to go up and first to come down in times like these.

SOUR CHERRY PRODUCTION OFF 30 PER CENT

Michigan Prospects Best, But Output Will Be Reduced

Sour cherry production will be 30 per cent below last year and sweet cherries five per cent below 1940, according to estimates made public by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This makes the entire crop 17 per cent below a year ago.

A total cherry production for the nation of 148,390 tons is included in the estimate as against 178,310 tons last year. On this year's crop 79,150 will be sour cherries and 68,240 tons will be sweets.

Michigan had the best prospects of all cherry producing states but its production was estimated much lower this year.

250,000 4-H'ERS TO HELP STEP UP MEAT OUTPUT FOR DEFENSE

The urgent need for greater production of meats this year to supply home and national defense requirments, as emphasized by governmental agencies, has brot nationwide response from 4-H club members. It is estimated that close to a quarter million rural youth will enroll in the 1941 livestock projects to help meet the need.

Enrollees in this state are eligible to share in the benefits of the national 4-H meat animal competition, in which they will have an exceptional opportunity to gain experience, as well as financial profit, in meat production. Last year's four sectional winners reported gross returns of their enterprises were $24,618, and cash prizes on exhibits, $3,247.

The competition will be conducted by county agents under the direction of the state extension service. Numerous rewards for outstanding achievements are provided by Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer, and chairman of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. Among the awards are gold medals for clubsters making the best county record, and a gold watch for the state winner. The highest scoring participant in this extension section will receive an all-expense trip to the 20th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November and a $200 agricultural college scholarship will be awarded to each of a blue award group of three selected from the four sectional winners.

MICHIGAN BUTTER PRODUCTION OVER 90,000,000 POUNDS

Michigan's annual butter production now exceeds 90,000,000 pounds, Leonard Francke, secretary of the Michigan Allied Dairy Association disclosed here today. At the same time the state produces 26,750,000 pounds of cheese, including 11,240,000 pounds of cottage cheese. Michigan leads the nation in the production of cottage cheese with an annual output of 2,300,000 pounds, Francke said.

MANY TROUT PLANTED THIS YEAR IN MICHIGAN

Well over a million trout have been planted since lake and stream conditions became suitable for stocking this year, according to the Conservation Department fish division. Many of the fish were legal "keepers" size. The department planted 1,218,833 brown trout, 183,913 brook trout and 75,884 rainbow trout.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Summer Food Poisoning

Adults and children frequently have gastro-intestinal upsets with diarrhea during the summer months caused by poisoning from food in which bacteria has been permitted to grow. A recent United States Navy bulletin contains eleven rules for the prevention of such food poisoning. These should be learned thoroughly by every picnicker and housewife, and should be scrupulously adhered by restaurant managers. These epidemics of food poisoning are typically common, and unless considerable care is taken sometimes serious intestinal disease ...

... especially all food ... contaminated with bacteria and their growth to a dangerous degree can be prevented either by continued cooking, or by placing in a refrigerator immediately following the cooking.

2. Contaminated foods usually are not changed in appearance, taste or odor.

3. Frozen foods should be thawed in a refrigerator whenever possible.

4. To insure quick cooling, warm foods, ground or cut up, should be refrigerated in shallow pans, otherwise the warmth in the center of the mass will act as a media for bacterial growth.

5. If boiled ham is to be served it should be cooked, sliced and served hot. If cold ham is to be served, it should be refrigerated immediately after boiling or baking and sliced just before serving.

6. Hash should not be served if the ingredients are prepared the night before or even several hours before it is to be cooked and served.

7. Any food having a high protein content, if improperly handled may result in food poisoning. Among this group are: cooked or processed meat ... ment products, gravies, fish, shell fish, spaghetti, macaroni, custards and puddings.

8. Fresh fruit and vegetables should be thoroughly washed before using.

9. Kitchens should be kept free of insects, rodents and dust. All food should be covered, whenever possible, to prevent contamination.

10. Utensils should be kept scrupulously clean.

11. Food handlers should thoroughly wash hands and arms after each visit to the toilet. Infections of fingers and hands frequently ... in the contamination of food products with subsequent outbreaks of food poisoning.

LARGE PEACH CROP CHEERS HOUSEWIVES

Bumper Yield for 1941 Season Reported From Lansing

Cheering news for Michigan housewives comes from peach producing sections of the state where estimates have been made that the fruit likely will total 2,580,000 bushels, nearly a million more bushels than the 1940 harvest.

More cheering news is that many of the more progressive orchard operators are thinning out the small green fruit so that the fruit left to mature will attain a more attractive size.

That last practice is recommended heartily by H. D. Hootman, extension specialist in horticulture at Michigan State College. In fact, the thinning may make a few less peaches but housewives will be more apt to purchase and to can many of the peaches for winter consumption. That fits in with suggestions from the federal government that "food for defense" be laid away from home crops, permitting surpluses for Britain of more solid foods.

Now that the June drop is over, Hootman says, fruit growers can get busy thinning the peaches. Best practice is to allow six inches between fruits.

Growers who have seen industry and army "siphon off" many young men usually available for orchard work and the prospective harvest are hiring boys and women as well as some of the Mexican beet workers. Men usually are assigned to the larger trees and the boys and women to the young or small trees.

Where the curculio has stung fruit, this is to be culled out when thinning. The curculio dies if the stung fruit is thrown out into the sunlight between the rows.

SET UP RADIO NET WORK FOR DEFENSE

Charlevoix Listed By NYA for Location of Station

A large, scale program of setting up a radio communication network in Michigan to be available for national defense use, is being launched by the Michigan National Youth Administration, according to an announcement from Orin W. Kaye, state NYA administrator.

Thirty-six short wave stations are to be built in strategic locations throughout the state where their proximity to key positions will be valuable in an emergency. The nucleus of the system has already been formed with transmitters already in operation in Detroit, Lansing, Cassidy Lake near Chelsea, Grand Rapids, Traverse City, Flint, Houghton, Marquette, and Ironwood.

Each station operates with a power of 600 watts using radiotelephone and radiotelegraph for the handling of messages. Locations for the twenty-seven additional stations now proposed and under construction are tentatively set for Alma, Alpena, Battle Creek, Beaver Island, Bay City, Benton Harbor, Cadillac, Cheboygan, Coldwater, Charlevoix, East Tawas, Escanaba, Menominee, Monroe, Iron Mountain, Kalamazoo, Jackson, L'Anse, Ludington, Manistee, Muskegon, Port Huron, Saginaw, St. Ignace, Sault Sainte Marie, Shanbaugh, and an additional station to be located in the downtown Detroit area.

Coal Mining 106 Years Old

Since coal was discovered near Jackson 106 years ago, it has been a big factor in the state's economy. Underlying 30 counties in the lower peninsula, coal is profitably mined today in about 12. Thirty years ago more than 50 mines were in operation, producing more than 2,000,000 tons a year. Since that time many of the smaller "wagon mines" have ceased operation and production declined, although the dollar value of Michigan coal touched an all-time peak in 1920.

CENSUS IN MICHIGAN ADDED TO FARM FACTS

Improved Position of Rural Residents Is Revealed

New knowledge of Michigan farm homes and farming appears in recent releases of information gained in the 1940 or 16th census of the United States.

Ten years ago, for instance, only one farm in five was credited with electric lighting but now the rural homes in the state show 71 per cent have the energy available. More than twice as many farm homes now are on hard surfaced roads as there were a decade ago and an extra 18,000 homes have gravel, shell or shale surfacing over the number reporting that type of road surfacing available 10 years ago.

Proof that Michigan agriculture is substantial is found in several of the census figures. Less than half the farms in the state are mortgaged and of those that are mortgaged the amount for each farm has been reduced from an average of $2,534 in 1930 to $1,870 in 1940.

The average age of a Michigan farmer is just over 50 years. Approximately two-thirds of the farmers have been on their farms five years or more. Taxes per $100 of value average 90 cents as compared to $2.07 in 1930.

Farming is a serious business. Proof of that is found in the motor car and tractor figures in the census. The average age of the cars and tractors on Michigan farms indicates they are the same—the 1933 models.

Some farmers find time to gain outside pay. About one farmer in three reported working off his farm, usually non-farm work. This total of outside work in a year's time was 9,638,294 days, compared to 6,347,179 days worked away from home farms in 1930.

FIVE CURED IN APRIL AT GAYLORD SANATORIUM

Ten Nationalities Are Represented Among Patients Treated

Any nurse at the Northern Michigan Tuberculosis Sanatorium in Gaylord, would probably tell you that April was just a routine month — nothing happened that was news. Yet during that month five persons were dismissed from the sanatorium as apparently cured — and five others for whom treatment was too late, died. A baby boy was born in the sanatorium and dismissed as non-tuberculous.

There were 11 persons admitted to the sanatorium during April—English, Swedish, French, Finnish, German, Indian, Scotch, Irish, Dutch, and Polish—and their occupations were almost as varied as their ancestry; beauty operator, truck driver, carpenter, saleslady, farmer, housewife, laborer, lumberjack, and machine operator.

The 138 patients in the sanatorium during April were from 18 counties of Michigan, and 51 others received "outpatient treatment" while 798 x-ray films were interpreted for the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

ILLEGAL NETS USED IN MILITARY CAMOUFLAGE

Seizures from Great Lakes Turned Over to the Army

The U. S. Army has a use for illegal nets seized by the Michigan department of conservation in its enforcement of commercial fishing regulations in Great Lakes waters. Woven with branches and other materials, some of these nets now serve to camouflage guns and military works.

Twine turned over to the army is of a mesh that is illegal in Michigan waters, and so cannot be sold at auction like other confiscated gear, which has been seized only because it was fished illegally. Many of the small mesh nets are taken from Michigan waters near the state boundary where they have been set illegally by fishermen from states in which such mesh is legal.

Last boxes of illegal mesh nets given to the army were sent to Fort Custer.

During the coming school year Princess Watassa, the Indian story teller from the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, will again visit schools over the state telling her Indian health legends. Bookings are being made now from the Michigan Tuberculosis Association office in Lansing, with no charge to the schools.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

The details and procedure involved in carrying out the provisions of wheat marketing quotas, which wheat producers throughout the nation approved by an 80 per cent favorable vote in a national referendum on May 31, were reviewed today by Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix County Triple-A Committee.

The provisions, as set forth in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 and subsequent amendments, state that a farm marketing quota and a farm marketing excess shall be determined for every wheat farm which is subject to wheat marketing quotas. Every farm on which the acreage of wheat is in excess of 15 acres and on which the normal production of such acreage is 200 bushels or more is subject to wheat marketing quotas.

Mr. Henley pointed out that the farm marketing quota for a farm shall be the actual production of the acreage of wheat on the farm less the normal or actual production, whichever is smaller, of the acreage of wheat in excess of the farm wheat acreage allotment.

An adjustment may be made in the farm marketing excess if the producer establishes the fact that the actual average yield per acre of the acreage of wheat in 1941 is less than the normal yield. The producer, however, must make an application for an adjustment not later than sixty days after the threshing of wheat produced on the farm is completed, or by December 31, 1941, whichever is the earlier.

Mr. Henley said that the marketing penalty is 49 cents per bushel on the farm marketing excess. He outlined three important points in regard to penalties, as follows:

(1) Payment of penalties by producers — The producers must pay the penalty on the farm marketing excess upon their failure to store or deliver it to the Secretary of Agriculture. The penalty on the amount of the farm marketing excess which is stored must be paid at the time, and to the extent, of any depletion in the amount stored, except depletion resulting from some cause beyond the control of the producer. The penalty cannot be avoided by consuming the amount of the farm marketing excess on the farm, or by disposing of it as premium to the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. When the farm marketing excess is stored, the penalty there on shall be secured by a bond of indemnity or by placing a warehouse receipt or money in escrow with the county committee.

(2) Payment of penalties by buyers—Until the farm marketing excess is stored or delivered to the Secretary of Agriculture, or the penalty thereon is paid, each bushel of wheat sold by the producer to a person within the United States is subject to the penalty. The penalty must be paid by the buyer. The buyer may, however, deduct an amount equivalent to the penalty from the price paid for the wheat.

(3) Lien for the penalty—Until the farm marketing excess is stored or delivered to the Secretary of Agriculture, or the penalty thereon is paid, the entire crop of wheat produced on the farm will be subject to a lien in favor of the United States for the amount of the penalty.

Mr. Henley said that farmers who are exempt from quotas would be notified by mail in the near future of their exemption. However, even exempt farmers must obtain a wheat marketing card before they can market any wheat. Farmers who are subject to marketing quotas will also be notified in the near future of their farm marketing quota and their farm marketing excess.

Farmers interested in obtaining more detailed information may do so by contacting the local county office.

How Youngster Saved His Family From Bondage

Louise Armstrong, sociologist, writing in The American Weekly with the June 29 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, will describe the incredible captivity of a widow and her four children on a share-cropper's desolate island, and show the need of better laws, education and protection for the Southland's "forgotten people". LANSING LETTER

When the housewife goes to market, she buys six cans of food instead of three; a dozen instead of a half dozen; a case instead of a dozen.

After the British declared war on Germany in September of 1939, Michigan housewives started a "run" on sugar, despite the fact that warehouses were bulging with it. Prices started climbing unnecessarily in response to the voracious buying spree.

Fear of higher prices, rather than an actual scarcity of goods, has tended to stimulate existing inflationary tendencies of today's market. According to Business Week this unusual buying upsurge may provoke a dip in business in the fall. Building of inventories can't go on indefinitely.

Michigan Potatoes

If the 1941 summer is wet again, such as was the 1940 season, Michigan potatoes will need more than just grading to attract quality buyers.

In fact, Michigan spuds suffered last winter in competition with quality products from Maine and Idaho chiefly because the rains came at the wrong time. Many potatoes grew with large holes in the center; they wouldn't "hold up" in storage. Thousands of bushels were lost by rotting.

Like the art of horticulture, culture of potatoes requires spraying at the right times. But the weather is all-important.

For that reason the state's efforts to standardize Michigan food products by grading and packaging, prior to state advertising in outstate markets, have been only partly successful. Marketing leaders becoming more and more convinced that Michigan growers must be sold first on the merit of scientific culture, inspected grading and uniform packaging before food advertising can really get results for them.

100 Years Ago

The opening of the Erie canal in 1825 brought many immigrants from the East in quest of Michigan farm land.

Southern counties were first homestended.

In 1841, just 100 years ago, wheat was the leading crop in Michigan, and it was selling for 70 cents a bushel for a total value of more than $2,000,000.

Other field crops of importance were Indian corn, oats, barley, seed-clover, hay, vegetables and potatoes. Maple sap was favored for conversion into sugar.

Large quantities of fruit—apples, peaches, berries—were shipped from the fringe of farming country along Lake Michigan from near the mouth of the St. Joseph river to Grand Traverse bay.

Livestock Gain

One effect of the depression was a shift in Michigan agriculture from grain to livestock farming.

The 1937 returns, for example, show an income from farm products of $246,000,000. Governmental benefits comprised less than 3 per cent. However, livestock and livestock products represented nearly 58 per cent.

The 1940 census listed 187,589 farms in Michigan, an increase of 10.8 per cent over the number listed in 1930. The total acreage used for farming, however, is only slightly more than it was in 1930. Tractors are gradually taking the place of horses, and the 1941 shortage of farm labor may speed up this trend towards robotized farms.

It is in the increase of livestock that the picture has changed most. Here are the 1940 census facts:

Horses and colts, 1940—344,475, 1930—381,357; mules, mule colts, 1940—7,212, 1930—6,490; cattle, 1940 — 1,540,768, 1930 — 1,287,525; cows and heifers 2 years old and over, 1940—968,764, 1930—737,796; cows, heifers milked, 1940 — 868,853, 1930 — 746,104; sheep and lambs, 1940—857,232, 1930 — 1,020,967; hogs and pigs, 1940—585,993, 1930—374,180; chickens, 1940—19,023,267, 1930—10,379,714.

Leading Crops

While two persons live in Michigan cities and towns for every person on a Michigan farm, the state occupies a unique place in the nation's agriculture. In the number of acreages under cultivation, Michigan ranks 26th among the states. Yet only two of its field crops fall below tenth place.

We are first in cherry, peppermint, and spearmint crops.

We are second for strawberries, celery, onions, cantaloupes and field beans.

In a state whose resources are varied as they are in Michigan—copper, iron, coal, oil, salt, gypsum, wood for manufacturing and paper pulp, and 5,000 lakes for a tourist's paradise—access to food is of great importance to consumers. Again, Michigan is richly blessed.

just as it should be. Which reminds me that on June 21st, 1940, the mercury stood at 45 degrees and coal shovels were much in use. Can't kick on the weather, at least.

All this drivel about fishin' and weather may sound foolish to a lot of our natives, but they should remember a large number of summer residents who are interested in such things regarding Charlevoix read the paper.

A string of cuss words'll often clear a man out like blowin' down a gun barrel after a shot.

Lakeview Inn is certainly going to look nice with its new coat of paint. I've heard several returning summer residents say Charlevoix never before presented a better physical appearance than this year.

It's too bad a shower of rain can't freshen up people like it does the flowers and trees.

Got in on a quiz contest at the Kiwanis meeting held Tuesday evening at The Argonne and learned to my horror, as did others, too, that I didn't know a lot of really simple things about information we all should be able to give tourists when asked. After the experience, have come to the conclusion many of us should study up on what we have here in Charlevoix, at least, so we could tell others when necessary.

KIWANIS NOTES

A written examination on the attractions of Charlevoix for the visitor disclosed that Mr. Kiwanian is remarkably well informed on his city and its surroundings. All were requested not to identify themselves. Guests were asked to write their suggestions for the improvement of our city; some of their answers were:

"Greet all strangers with a smile and a cheery word. Have more small cottages that can be rented by the week or month. Make full use of the park on the main street by putting awnings over each end of the courts, and have someone in charge to make the people acquainted. Clear water front all along Bridge street for park as now planned. Any community with the desire to grow and become as progressive as possible should recognize their greatest possibilities — Charlevoix is noted for its scenic beauty and should therefore emphasize scenic roadways and make as many improvements as possible."

Dr. Wallace M. Chapman received the best wishes of the club in his new work and location. This was his last meeting with us. He will be missed much, and enthusiastically welcomed whenever he can visit us.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harley, Seattle, Washington; C. W. Fleming, Mt. Pleasant; Frank Poole and Kenneth Usher, Charlevoix; and L. C. Reimann, Ann Arbor, Mich.

FIRST SWIMMING FATALITY HERE MONDAY

Frederick DeYoung, of McBain, Believed Victim Heart Attack

Frederick DeYoung, 19, of McBain, is believed to have died of heart attack while swimming in the south arm of Lake Charlevoix off Eveline Orchards resort shortly after 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

DeYoung, employed about a month ago as cow tester for the Northern Michigan Dairy Herd Association, sank in about 15 feet of water. His body was recovered five minutes later by Thomas Thacker, his swimming companion and agriculture instructor in East Jordan schools. Thacker was assisted by L. R. Taft, Eveline Orchards cottager, whom he had called to give assistance.

Efforts to revive the victim by Charlevoix coast guardsmen and J. C. Marshall and Glenroy Ikens, who took the city-owned inhalator to the scene, were fruitless.

SEVERAL CITY STREETS GET SEALCOAT SURFACE

Extensive Program Is Complete by Street Department Crew

Portions of nine city streets were included in a re-surfacing program just completed by the city street department.

Street upon which curb and gutter was constructed last summer received seal-coat surfacing of crushed stone and tarvia. Included in the program were: State street from Garfield to Carpenter; Garfield, Robinson, Green and Wood streets from Bridge to State; Hurlbut avenue from Grant to Sherman; Grant street from Hurlbut to Antrim; Burns street from Petoskey avenue to Crouter; Crouter from Burns to Prospect.

The surfacing was part of a program to improve as large a portion of city thoroughfares as possible each year with dust-proof top. Gravel streets within the city were oil-coated Tuesday.

ADJOURN JUNE MEETING OF SUPERVISORS

Routine Business Disposed of Two-Day Session

Charlevoix county supervisors concluded a two-day June session Tuesday following disposal of routine business.

An appropriation of $1,500 was voted for welfare until close of fiscal year October 1, making $23,000 for the year.

The county's assessed valuation was set at $8,782,405, an increase of $196,087 over the 1940 figure of $8,586,318. Charlevoix's valuation was decreased from $2,881,695 to $2,870,850, Boyne City's increased from $938,060 to $943,875, East Jordan's increased from $702,310 to $739,360, a hike of $37,050. Valuations of numerous townships were increased.

By a vote of 17 to 7 the board continued the services of Edgar Behrens, patrol deputy.

EAST JORDAN WINNER SUNDAY BASEBALL TILT

Upset Charlevoix 5 to 4 Lead with Eighth Inning Rally

East Jordan's snappy junior baseball team defeated Charlevoix by an 8 to 5 score in their second game of the season at south side athletic field Sunday afternoon.

Charlevoix's 5 to 4 lead was wiped out in the eighth frame by a walk and three hits, including Crowell's circuit clout.

Cihak and Crowell formed the winning battery. Cihak gave up 11 hits, struck out 10. Amas John allowed 6 hits and struck out 7 in seven innings, while Bruce Henley gave two hits and struck out four in two frames.

Charlevoix goes to Harbor Springs next Sunday and have a return game scheduled with East Jordan here on July 4th.

The back office personnel is the same as last year, with Miss Endora White as secretary and Miss Marjorie Falting as bookkeeper. The day clerks will be Messrs. James De Bergh and Jack Courtright, while Arnold Schoolcraft has been engaged as night clerk, the latter two gentlemen having been in Mrs. Steiner's employ for several years in other capacities. Mrs. John Dargin has returned as housekeeper. Mrs. Sanford J. Nelson will again have charge of the dining room, and Mrs. Gertrude Weber will act as hostess in the coffee shop. Lee Roy Carver, who has been associated with some of the finest hotels in the country, will be chef.

Dick Radford and his band, popular St. Louis orchestra, have been engaged to provide luncheon and dinner music, Sunday evening concerts, and dance music in the casino every Tuesday and Thursday evening as well as during the cocktail hour each day. E. B. Laughlin will again have charge of the cocktail lounge, which will be opened July 1st.

"Pierre" Dulm will operate the beauty shop and will be assisted by first-class operators. "Pierre" was formerly associated with Marshall Field and the Lanchier Beauty Salon, Chicago; the Surf Club and the House of Beauty, Miami Beach, Florida; and has had his own shop in Florida for many years. "Pierre" is not the man by the same name who has been connected with a beauty shop in Charlevoix the past few years. He is a member of the International Cosmetician Association, the Chicago Hairdressers' Association and the Florida Beautician Association. "Pierre" is a recognized hair stylist, having won many prizes at international and national hair shows.

T. Proctor Wright, of St. Louis, will return as tennis and badminton professional.

E. J. Edwards, warden of Belvedere Club, reports that the rental of cottages is very satisfactory and it appears that practically all of the cottages will be occupied by the middle of July.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX OPEN FOR SEASON

EIGHTY BOYS REPRESENTING TEN STATES

Coast-to-Coast Representation Is Among Campers and Counsellors Assisting Director Reimann

(By Ken Smith, Camp Scribe)

"Once ngain we come together in this sncred place" was the first song the campers sang when the camp opened for its fifteenth season last Saturday, June 28. Eighty boys from ten different states are enjoying the many activities, and we can claim a const-to-coast honk-up with boys from both California and New York being represented in our list.

Camp seems to me to he off to a great start, and thnt is as it should be, since "Chief" (Lewis C. Reimann of Ann Arbor) is celebrating his twenty-fifth year in camping. Mrs. Reimann is in her most necessary position as the camp mother. The one job in camp I cannot envy is that of being business manager and handling the million and one details that come to his attention. George Westerman is back in this position for his third year, and one can't help but admire the splendid way and the great ease with which he performs his duties. Jean Reimann, the "Chief's" daughter, is assisting George for the second year.

The staff looks like n grent collection of experts to me with "Buster" Naegle coming the greatest distance. He is our cowboy, nttends the University of Arizonn, and traveled all the way here bringing his horse, "Dolly", with him. From the interest shown this last few days, Boster will find his activity very popular, and the sixteen horses are in for a busy summer. He is being assisted by Dave "Hazz" Bennett from Midland, who is here for his eighth year. We always consider ourselves very fortunate each year in having a nationally-known football coach on our staff, this man being Charlie Bachman, coach at Michigan State. This will be Charlie's fourth season, and the boys are nnxiously awaiting his arrival when he will once more win the admiration of everyone in camp.

Harold Steele, Director of Athletics at Grand Rapids Junior College, is back as hend of the "Pioneer" section. This was formerly called the "Senior" section, but Charlevoix provided a warm welcome and threw open its entertainment facilities to three cruises visiting the city Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Following an exchange of greetings, Mayor Bridge presented Mayor Welsh a key to the city to signify Thursday had been designated Grand Rapids day in honor of the visitors.

Time provided by the stop-over from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. was devoted to golf, fishing and sight-seeing. Probably the greater share of the cruisers chose the beautiful Belvedere golf course. GOLF AMATEURS HERE NEXT WEEK

MICHIGAN CHAMPIONSHIPS AT BELVEDERE COURSE

Qualifying Round Is Thursday; Match Play Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 18 Holes

Michigan's top-notch amateur golfers will converge upon Charlevoix next week for the Michigan State Golf League's 35th annual amateur championships, scheduled July 10-13, inclusive, at the Belvedere Golf Club course.

The tournament is returned to Charlevoix the second successive year and the 1941 event marks the fifth playing here since 1930. Champions crowned at Belvedere have been Charles (Chuck) Kocsis, Detroit, in 1930, Rex Bigelnw, Jackson, in 1931; Robert Babbish, Detroit, in 1935; Zygmond Zawadski, Detroit, in 1940. Zawadski, incidentally, became the first public links golfer to win the title.

According to advance reports from the metropolitan districts, a record entry is expected for this second playing of the tournament in the northern Michigan resort area since 1935. Golfers generally like the beautiful Belvedere course and this fact has always attracted a better than average field. The tournament last year drew an entry of 139 players, larger than in 1939 when the event was held in southern Michigan.

ASK CADDIES REPORT

Ray Kipke, Belvedere Golf Club caddy master, has asked that all experienced caddies register for service at once. Up to Monday only 35 had been assigned numbers. This number is below normal requirements and far below requirements for the tournament in view of the fact no outside caddies will be allowed to work unless a shortage makes it necessary.

While little information on the players who compete is available at this early date, the usual top-notch field is expected.

Qualifying round of 18 holes is scheduled Thursday, July 10. Match play starts Friday between championship flight qualifiers and continues Saturday and Sunday through the finals. All match play are at 18-holes.

Those failing to qualify for the championship flight will be privileged to compete in 36 holes of medal play Friday. Prizes will be awarded all winners.

The Tourist Season Is On

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Nothin's easier to pick up and harder to drop than a prejudice.

And here's some more advice, too. Smart people use smart printing . . . that's what makes 'em smart.

Several nice catches of mackinaw trout have been reported from Lake Michigan within the past week. A party with Bill Gibson took two, and Max Schamehorn a 14-pounder off South Point Sunday, while Bud (Cap) Heise's party snared three out on the big reef. Don Clothier produced one for the story book, too. While trolling for mackinaws in Lake Charlevoix, a strike produced a piece of a fish's skin about 7 inches long and three inches wide, but no fish. And while on the subject, that 15 largemouth black bass Joe Troyer, his Missus and Herb Wilsan took first morning of the season from Lake 26 (Lake Marinn) were something to look at.

Saw a nice buck deer while fishing for bass on the west side of Loeb Point last Sunday morning. He came out to the edge of the beach, whistled when he saw us anchored in a boat a short distance off shore, then whistled about every jump as he bounded out of sight.

What a little comma will do!

First wife: "Is your garden doing well this summer?"

Second wife: "No; every time my husband starts digging he finds some worms, quits, and goes fishing."

No doubt the rank and file of deer hunters will be more than pleased with the 1941 legislative ruling making it legal to kill a deer of either sex for camp meat. In the past a lot of camps have

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Well, folks, we're in the war! I had to go to Canada to find it out. For the past eight days I have been touring Old Ontario from Toronto to North Bay and from Ottawa, the dominion's capital, to Niagara Falls, as a guest of Canadian newspapers and the Province of Ontario.

While the junket was for tourist promotion rather than for war propaganda, the latter persistently bobbed up in speeches given by host officials at luncheons and dinners.

American editors heard Premier Mitchel Hepburn at Toronto and J. L. Ralston, dominion minister of national defense, at Ottawa. It can be stated without contradiction that Canada looks to the United States not only as a friendly neighbor but as an ally in what the British Empire grimly regards to be our common "fight for freedom".

"Slow Motion Dive"

A newspaper editor at Midland, Ontario, aptly phrased the American position by the following simile:

"You have left the diving board, but you haven't yet reached the water. As a dive into war, it is the world's slowest motion plunge in history."

This Canadian viewpoint is not wishful thinking.

KNOW These Facts About

Firestone

Heavy Duty TRUCK-BUS Tires

Built with Rayodipt Cords

1. RAYODIPT CORDS. In the Firestone Cotton Mills, specially fabricated rayon, spun from cotton cellulose materials, is specially twisted by means of an exclusive Firestone process to assure uniform strength.

2. NEW ADVANCED GUM-DIPPING. The cotton cellulose cords are then treated with a new exclusive rubber solution especially developed by Firestone engineers for rayon material. Gum-Dipping greatly increases the bond between fabric and rubber, giving the new Rayodipt Cords greater strength and greater resistance to heat for high speed hauling.

3. RUNS UP TO 34° COOLER. Rayodipt Cords are so resistant to heat that the new Firestone Rayodipt Truck Tires, by actual test at high speeds and with heavy loads, runs up to 34 cooler than other truck tires. This means longer uninterrupted service and greater protection against blowouts.

4. RAYODIPT CORDS ARE LOW STRETCH — Prevent Growth — Give Longer Mileage. Rayodipt Cords, because they are so tightly twisted and compactly interwoven, have an extremely low stretch. This special Firestone feature reduces tire growth giving greatly increased mileage.

5. HEAVY SCIENTIFICALLY-DESIGNED TREAD—For Extra Mileage at High Speeds With Heavy Load. This revolutionary new Rayodipt Cord body provides additional strength necessary for the extra-tough, extra-deep tread which delivers such remarkable traction and so much longer non-skid mileage.

U-turns on Bridge street, from Belvedere avenue to the swing bridge, have been forbidden, and the streets marked accordingly. Other suggestions for improvement of the local traffic situation were: Parallel parking instead of diagonal; time limit of 45 minutes on Bridge street parking.

Charlevoix's July 4th celebration includes bag, potato, and human wheelbarrow races, masquerade street dance with two bands, and acrobatics by The Crawfords, who featured "maxillary eccentricities".

The Michigan Transit Company's steamer Manitou made her first trip of the season last Saturday, and is now on her regular summer schedule of three trips each week.

Beulah and Gaynelle Selfridge, of Alliance, Ohio, will conduct a summer school of classic dancing at the Oldham club on Park avenue.

Pine lake was re-named Lake Charlevoix by resolution of the board of supervisors, acting on the recommendation of John Buys of Grand Rapids, speaker at the June meeting of the board. He suggested inasmuch as there are some twenty Pine lakes in Michigan, that it be called Lake Charlevoix or Lake Charlevoyne.

Cattle Showing Depraved Appetite or No Appetite May Need Cobalt Sulphate

Last Wednesday and Thursday, Dr. B. J. Killham, extension specialist in animal diseases, in company with the county agent, visited several herds of cattle on the east end of the county to determine the prevalence of a mineral deficiency. For several months reports have come to our attention of cattle that seem to like wood, bones and other materials that indicate depraved appetite. Not alone this but in many cases cows seem to go to pieces soon after calving.

Of course, the first recommendation to eliminate this condition is to feed steamed bone meal and yet this in itself has not changed the conditions to any great extent, thereby indicating that some other deficiency is present. We now know that in many counties in northern Michigan that a Cobalt deficiency seems to be the cause of the distress. Furthermore a very slight amount of Cobalt added to the ration has a very desirable effect, even within a few days time. Experiments lead us to believe that many soils in Charlevoix county show a lack of this element so that the feed grown thereon is deficient and causes the condition outlined above.

We would like to suggest that in cases where farmers have livestock with abnormal appetites or not appetites that they add Cobalt Sulphate to the ration and we are quite sure you will be delighted with the improvement. The best way to feed this material is to mix from ½ ounce to 1 ounce to 100 pounds of salt and allow your animals free access to this mixture. Better yet we suggest 50 pounds of steamed bone meal to 50 pounds of salt then add the Cobalt to this mixture. In this way one should take care of all mineral deficiencies that are present.

Schedule for Obtaining Grasshopper Bait Announced

It is expected that the Charlevoix county grasshopper control program will be in full swing beginning next week. This week the station was opened for business on Monday, June 30, with a very small demand for material. The hoppers are gaining in size rapidly and if unchecked will be seriously damaging crops.

Until further notice the station will be opened from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Monday and Tuesday, July 7 and 8 and again on July 14, 15, and 16. Thus in this two week period you will have five days time to obtain your bait. Bert DeNise, Boyne Falls, will be in charge of the station and at all times will try to have a quantity already prepared to give you good service. Kindly remember that for best results the bait should be spread as thinly as possible and on good sun shiny, warm days. Fifteen to 20 pounds of bait per acre is ample. Also bear in mind the fact that the best time to kill grasshoppers is when they are still small. We suggest that you bait your hay and pasture fields and in that way prevent them damaging cash crops. Please cooperate with us by getting your poison bait on any one of the days previously mentioned. In this way you can be taken care of and the cost will be held to a minimum.

Sports Festival to be Featured on Farmers Day at M. S. C.

For the first time a big sports festival for all farm organizations is being arranged as a feature of Farmers Day, Michigan State College, Friday, August 1, 1941. This day will provide an opportunity for all farm organizations in a county to work together in piling up a grand total score for their county as well as individual scores. The festival will be conducted as a tournament. Awards will be presented to the winning individuals, winning teams and winning counties.

There will be four classes for each event and for Senior groups—both soft ball and horse shoe pitching will be made up of boys and girls over 18 years of age on August 1, 1941 and the Junior group will be made up of boys and girls under 18 years of age. Each soft ball team will supply its own equipment including one new 12 inch inseam ball. The horse shoe pitching team will have a forty foot distance between stakes. Each team to bring their own shoes. All entries should be made thru the county agricultural agent's office on or before Monday, July 7. Each farm organization will be limited to one team entry in soft ball and two individual entries in horse shoe pitching.

To make the tournament somewhat more equitable counties from long distances will be given additional credit. In the case of Charlevoix county the additional will be 15% of the earned score. Farm Bureau, Junior Farm Bureau, Granges, 4-H Clubs, and other organizations could well take interest in this contest. A trip to Farmer's Day would be well worth while and should be arranged as a group. Think it over; if interested, contact your county agent for further details. Let's have Charlevoix county represented in this tournament.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 23

five other big-name brands in TORTURE-TEST

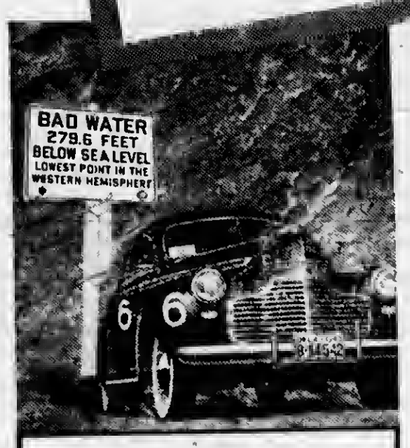
Endures Sizzling Death Valley heat for

13,398 MILES ON ONE 5-QUART FILL



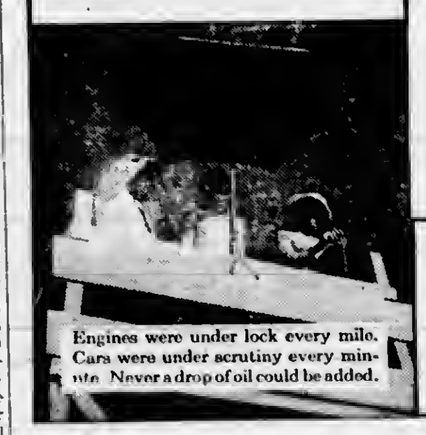
IMPARTIAL

Latest available products of 5 leading competitors bought retail by Referee.

New everyday coupes used. Same make and model. Broken-in alike. Engines taken apart for Referee—to assure uniformity.

Cars tuned alike. Same route for all. Drivers rotated to even up on skill.

One fill per car. Never any added. Engines under lock.



Engines were under lock every mile. Cars were under scrutiny every minute. Never a drop of oil could be added.

How this Certified Record can spell new Oil-Savings—new Engine Safety—for You

You get the oil that outlasted 5 other highly reputed brands by 74% to 161% in Certified Competition, when you change to this proved-in-advance new oil named

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
—Popular-Priced

Your own engine can be fortified by new Conoco Nth motor oil right today, at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. But before going on sale this new oil proved that a regular 5-quart fill could establish startling extremes of endurance, engine protection and miser-economy.

Fantastic Death Valley brings Your Evidence

Death Valley seems to shimmy—like heat at your furnace door. And down on this desert impartial observers watched 6 identical stock cars, at 57-mile speed, torture-testing 6 quality oils, including new Conoco Nth oil. No let-up, day on day, till each oil gave out and junked its engine.

Even the best competitive oil in the test was outlasted 5,683 miles by Conoco Nth oil. And one "rival" was outlasted all of 8,268 miles by new Conoco Nth oil. Certified.

All this New Economy how?

America has long known Conoco best for making it possible to give any engine OIL-PLATING . . . lubricant that can't all quickly drain down, but must stay PLATED UP—alert against wear in advance—not waiting till oil-flow starts. OIL-PLATING comes from a rare synthetic . . . man-made under the Conoco Germ Processed oil patent. And Conoco Nth motor oil still brings OIL-PLATING—but not only that! . . .

In addition this new oil brings Conoco's latest synthetic—Thialkene inhibitor. It inhibits—controls—the effect of foul "leftovers" produced by every engine's normal firing. Otherwise uncontrolled oil spoilage could easily start. In oils that let this spoilage start, it spreads like a rumor—gets worse, faster and faster. But now that's nipped in the bud by Thialkene inhibitor, in new Conoco Nth oil . . . U. S. Patent 2,218,132. This oil stays more like its own good self. Then your engine will, and that saves oil . . . as demonstrated by the long life of Conoco Nth in pitiless Death Valley.

You'll never give your own engine such a "trial by torture." You wouldn't pass up your regular time for it, either. Authorities say, "Don't!" But you can know that Conoco Nth . . . and other big-name oils by . . . tests . . . 161% . . . Certified. So you can keep your chance of big Summer . . . and by changing now to new Conoco Nth. Get it at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Co.—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

MANY CHANGES IN GAME, FISH LAWS

P. A. 99. Provides that agents other than conservation officers or public officials shall retain a fee of five cents for issuance of each hunting or trapping license.

P. A. 77. Requires non-resident fur dealers to obtain a license, fee $50; and requires notarized reports of their purchases be returned to the conservation department by registered mail.

P. A. 331. Reduces license fee for non-resident bow and arrow deer hunters from $25 to $5.

P. A. 571. Most important changes which this act, the conservation department's game bill, makes in the general game law are listed here. It must be noted that certain regulations are subject to action by the conservation commission before becoming effective. Final regulations on seasons and bag limits will be fixed at the July meeting and published in the game law digest about September 1. Principal changes are:

Deer hunting parties of four or more permitted to take one deer of either sex for camp use, and conservation commission is authorized to establish open seasons for the taking of deer in Allegan county. Bear hunters required to secure deer license to hunt during deer season.

Cottontail rabbit limit is three in one day, six in possession and 50 in a season, but a combined total of five cottontails and snowshoe hares may be taken in a day, 10 in possession and 50 in a season.

Woodchuck designated as a game animal, protected only in lower peninsula where it may be hunted during a season the same as for rabbits.

Fox and gray squirrels: season in upper peninsula October 1-31; in lower peninsula October 15-November 5. Bag limit (combined fox and gray) five in one day, 10 in possession, 25 in a season. No open season on black squirrels.

Year around protection removed from woodduck, so it may be hunted with other species, subject, of course, to federal regulations.

Opossum season open November 1-December 15. Otter may be taken at any time. Mink season November 1-December 31.

Waterfowl: Conservation commission authorized to establish rules and regulations governing taking, and manner of taking, migratory game birds, to conform to federal regulations.

The conservation commission is authorized to designate state parks or parts of state parks in which the public may be allowed to hunt.

Possession time limit: small game animals and birds, lawfully taken, may be held in possession 30 days after close of season, and conservation commission may authorize extension of such time limit, but not to exceed six months.

User or person possessing traps in use must have names on traps in use. Dens of various animals protected. Carcasses of furbearers may be used for baiting traps, but use of carcasses of other wild animals or birds for this purpose prohibited.

Firearms carried in or upon automobiles must be taken down or in case during the period from March 1 to October 1. Persons who do not have a deer hunting license may not use a "rifle larger than .22 caliber or a shotgun with buckshot, slug or ball loads" during deer season.

Fish

P. A. 153. Authorizes conservation commission to regulate cisco netting on inland lakes. Previously this was regulated by law.

P. A. 356. General amendments to inland sport fishing act, effective January 1, 1942, providing: bluegill limit of 15; brook, brown and rainbow trout limit of 15 but not more than 10 pounds and one fish; lake trout limit 25 pounds and one fish (does not apply to Great Lakes ice fishing); limit of five black bass on Great Lakes, daily limit for combined total of five black bass, walleye, and northern pike, except on Great Lakes, where limit is 10; non-residents may ship one day's legal catch.

Wigglers bait business regulated like minnow business; use of live gold fish and carp for bait prohibited; commission authorized to designate trout lakes in which live minnows may not be used for bait.

Gaffs prohibited along trout streams, size of hooks on Platte river regulated, possession of bluegills on ice at night prohibited, muskie and whitefish spearing prohibited on connecting waters of Lakes Huron and Erie; shad added to fish to be speared in Great Lakes waters.

Upper peninsula pike lakes closed March 15, as in lower peninsula, instead of March 1. Birch lake, Cass county and Whitney A. Drain, Arenac county; added to waters open to steelhead fishing in September, October and November.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

Edited by Ken Smith

several of us put our heads together to figure out a new name, a name that would be descriptive of the job the boys try to do, and we settled on the name "Pioneers". These are the oldest boys in camp, and if these first few days are any indication of the results we'll get, it will be a most instructive and happy experience for these fellows.

Joe Moran, graduate of Ohio Wesleyan, and third year medical student at Western Reserve, is back for his second year as head of the water-front and also head of the Intermediate section. I guess in this camp if you want to head a section you must be named "Joe", as the head of the Junior section is Joe Craig, here for the sixth year. Joe goes to Denison University, where he will be a Junior next year. Fritz Pinkham, another counselor in the Junior section, is here for his eighth season and after a strenuous year (socially) at Kalamazoo College, will coach our tennis men.

R. C. Hitchcock, who is here for the first time, comes from Richmond, Ind., where he is director of athletics for two junior high schools. Augie Brown, back for the second year, heads our riflery squad, after attending Lafayette University this past year. Another new man on our staff is Huntley Johnson, who is a senior at Michigan State. He will be assisting Bill Hart in the sailing department. Oh yes, I nearly forgot to mention Bill. He has finished two years at St. Johns College at Annapolis, and returns to camp for his fourth year, this time to head up the sailing. And speaking of sailing, I'll bet this lake has never in its history seen as many sailboats as it will this summer, as our camp is going to add twelve or fifteen to the combined fleet on the lake. In a later issue I'll mention in detail our sailing program, but it sure looks like a honey this year. Bill has two more assistants, Charlie Marcus of Royal Oak, and Ken Vincent of Ann Arbor. Jerry Wilson, just graduated from Oberlin where he captained the football team and wrestled, is back for his second year as boxing and wrestling instructor.

The camp doctor this year is none other than Doctor Luebert Doctor. No, that's not a mistake, it's his real name. He is a graduate in medicine of the University of Cincinnati and has been on the staff of St. Vincent's Hospital in Toledo. And wonders never cease, as this year we have a male nurse. He is a senior medic at the University of Michigan, and answers to the name of Ed. Conner. Dick Osmer is back for his third year, this year being in charge of the handicraft department. Dick was at Michigan State this last winter. Phil Penberthy is back this year, being a counselor for the first time. Phil was at Dartmouth University last year.

The assistant counselors this year are sure a great bunch, towering above any other group in camp, (literally speaking). This group of tall men consists of: Paul Piccard, Minneapolis, Minn.; Paul Meech, Adrian; Don Neisch, Grosse Pointe; Dean Hudnutt, Plainwell; Ed. Gordon, Monroe; Ward Penberthy, Detroit; Jack Lehnhard, Evansville, Ind.; and Len Wheaton, Detroit.

I am more and more impressed that this is really a camp which draws boys from all over the country. For instance, Ashland, Kentucky, gives us Howard VanAntwerp; New Rochelle, New York, gives us Joe Manning; Lima, Ohio, sends us Johnny and Sandy MacDonell; Champaign, Ill., gives us Dick Noel; San Francisco, Calif. sends us Jim Curtis; Greenfield, Ohio, Johnny Mains; Saginaw, Sargent Harvey, Tommy Sample, and Dick Sample; Grosse Pointe, George Haberkorn, Bill Kerr, and Howard Kay; Northport, Henry and Geoffry Gardner; Battle Creek, Buddy Gage, Jud Jenkins, and Floyd Green; Ypsilanti, Jimmy Fox; Adrian, Garnsey Dillon, Bud and Bill Kampe; Dearborn, Ted Hecht; Albion, Dean Smith; Cadillac, Arden Tiley; Milwaukee, Wis. Bobby Bitker; Detroit, Hal Caldwell, Billy Ives, Dick Nolan, Ken Nyquist, Bob Walls; Richmond, Ind., Bill Carr, Charlie McGuire, Jim Nicholson; Marion, Ind., Geo. Osborne; Monroe, Gene Chapman, Bill Newcomer; Rochester, Minn., Jock Craig; Flint, Keith Davis; Stockbridge, Tom Dancer; Midland, Tommy Bennett, Peter Hunson, Herbert Dow, and Jim Kendall; Ann Arbor, Johnny Knight; Ken Vincent; East Lansing, Cary Buchman. Grand Rapids lends all the other cities with this fine list: Jimmy Allen, Al Birdsall, Bill and George Keeler, John Doelmann, Dave and Bruce Dutcher, John and Gene Gilmore, Sammy Greenawalt, Allen and Johnny Hunting, Bill Hyland, Fritz Steketee, Phil Goodspeed, Howard and Dick Tuthill. Jackson sends us Allyn Wright, Billy Lutz, Jack Wooley, and Roger Korten. Pontiac contributes Dick Abbott, Jimmy Howlett, Farneby Larson, Jimmy and Fred Millis. You see what I mean when I say that more and more our camp is drawing boys from all over the country.

Next Friday being that big boom, bang-bang day, we are sending in several floats to take part in the Charlevoix parade. In the afternoon is the traditional lamb Bar-B-Q followed by fire-works in the evening. This is always a great day here at camp, and we all look forward to it.

More next week, and until then, a looooong cheer for Camp Charlevoix.

P. S. I nearly forgot, this is my eighth season here.

Another P. S. Jim Pinkham, Fritz' brother, is to be the handyman around camp and this far has been very, very busy.

FISHER-PAVLOSKI WEDDING SATURDAY ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Miss Helen Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fisher of this city, became the bride of Joseph V. Pavloski of Grand Rapids, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Pavlnski of Wayland, at a 9 o'clock mass Saturday morning, June 21, at St. Mary's church. Fr. John W. Collins officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

Altar and sanctuary of the church were decorated with masses of ferns, and bouquets of pink and white peonies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white satin, with sweetheart neckline, leg-o'-mutton sleeves which came to a point over her hands, and semi-princess style skirt ending in a long train. Her fingertip-length veil, edged with a wide band of lace, was held in place by a lace tiara and real orange blossoms. At her throat she wore a gold cross and chain, the gift of the groom. Calla lilies and white carnations, tied with white satin ribbon, made her arm bouquet.

Matron of honor Mrs. Ernest Selvig of Byron Center, aunt of the bride, wore a gown of aqua chiffon over net, with sweetheart neckline, long full bishop sleeves and full skirt. A tiny hat, with short veil, matched her gown. Her flowers were pink roses and white carnations, tied with pink ribbon.

Miss Dorothy Pavloski of Grand Rapids, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Her dress, similar to that of the matron of honor, was pale pink chiffon, her bouquet was white roses and pink carnations, tied with green ribbon.

Barbara Jayne Fisher, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing orchid organdy with matching bonnet and a colonial bouquet of mixed sweetpeas.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Dawson of Ellsworth, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, acted as master and mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Dawson wore a navy print with white accessories, and corsage of sweetheart roses.

Eugene Pavloski of Wayland, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride's brother, L. G. Fisher, was usher.

The bride's mother wore blue, with white accessories, while the groom's mother was dressed in green, also with white accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

Breakfast for seventeen guests, including the wedding party and immediate family, was served at the home of the bride's parents. A three-tiered wedding cake graced the table. Floral decorations were in pink and white.

Following a trip to the upper peninsula, Mr. and Mrs. Pavloski will be at home at 107 Fair street, Grand Rapids.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Pavloski of Wayland, the groom's parents; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Selvig and daughter Linda, of Byron Center; Harry Wykoski of Wayland; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Selvig, Ed. Pavloski, and Miss Eleanor Wolfe, of Grand Rapids.

BANKERS' ASSN. OPPOSING CHAIN BANK LAW

Urge Legislators Returned July 8 to Over-ride Governor's Veto

Michigan bankers, small and large, are unalterably opposed to the establishment of chain banks in this state, and are urging every member of the legislature to return to Lansing July 8th to override the Governor's veto of the bill that would prohibit this type of banking in Michigan.

These are the words of Samuel R. Park, veteran Caro banker and president of the Michigan Bankers Association, an organization that includes all but 11 of the 465 banks and trust companies operating in this state.

Park's opposition to the chain system of banking is not founded on the theory that he is opposed to big business undertakings. He has been a successful banker for years and fathered many big business transactions during his career as a financier. He believes that banking should be a local institutional problem and that the financial structure of a community should be guided within its confines and not through a director-ate controlled in other communities.

Park feels that Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner was ill-advised when he vetoed the measure after more than two-thirds of the members of the legislature had voted for it. He thinks "There's a rotten egg in the basket somewhere" as he expressed it.

AIRLINE SERVICE AT PELLSTON IS OPENED

First Passenger Plane Landed Friday Beginning Schedule

Congressman Fred Bradley, of Rogers City, stepped from a Pennsylvania Airlines plane at the Emmett county airport Friday morning, the first passenger to be landed there on a regular scheduled trip.

Regular passenger, express and mail service into the airport at Pellston was inaugurated when Princess Virginia Chingwa, of the Ottawa Naming Festival, christened the 21 place airliner "Vacationland".

For the remainder of this month the plane will stop at Pellston at 11:47 a. m. northbound and at 4 p. m. southbound. The plane will make connections at Traverse City for Detroit and Chicago.

Beginning about July 1, two trips a day each way will serve the Emmet County Airport, according to PCA representatives.

Also on the first trip to the airport were: Ralph Manchester, superintendent of operations for PCA; Dick Richardson, of the State Board of Aeronautics; Fred Novloger, air carrier inspector for the Civil Aeronautics Administration; George Price, CAA inspector; and Al White and George Howell, CAA airport inspectors.

The ship was flown by Captain H. J. Reid, assistant chief pilot for PCA. The co-pilot was William McClintock and the hostess, Miss Virginia Elder.

COMMITTEES COUNTY FAIR ARE APPOINTED

Plans for 1941 Exhibit at East Jordan Under Way.

At a special meeting of the directors of the Charlevoix County Fair Association, held recently, the following committees were appointed for this year:

Finance—Frank Crowell, L. O. Isaman, Ralph Bacot and Claude Pearsall.

Executive—Jesse Smith, C. P. Murphy, George Meggison, Ed. Nemeck, Frank Crowell, Orton VanDuzen, George Nelson, Harry Hooker, Russell Barden, L. O. Isaman, and C. W. Bowman.

Speed — Jesse Smith, C. W. Bowman, Ralph Bacot and James Elzinga.

The management of the fair has decided to give away automobiles instead of cash prizes this year, with merchants in Charlevoix and Antrim counties cooperating. Heretofore, the contest had been restricted to the business people in Charlevoix county.

A very attractive program has been contracted for this season, with a complete change of acts and actors for each day of the fair.

Caretakers are now busy painting the buildings and getting the grounds in condition for the annual fair to be staged in September at East Jordan.

HEALTH PROTECTION IS GIVEN TOURISTS

State Sanitation Campaign Is Now Under Full Swing

Inspection of Michigan's 2,700 resorts is in full swing as county, district and state health departments join forces to protect the health of summer vacationists.

"Water and milk supplies, sewage, garbage and refuse disposal, food handling methods and bathing beaches are thoroughly inspected and where standards are met, large sanitation approved signs are posted," said Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "This sign tells the tourist that the resort has health department approval. Look for the white metal signs with 'Sanitation Approved. Michigan Department of Health' in big black letters. It will be a good place to stop."

CACTUS WILL GROW IN CHARLEVOIX GARDENS

Former Local Man Gives Opinion of Plant Expert.

A letter received this week from Otto L. Hines, former local resident now living in Santa Monica, Calif., should prove of interest to local gardners.

In his letter Mr. Hines said: "An expert on plant propagation told me last week that, from the description of soil around Charlevoix, that blooming cactus would thrive there. Small plants can be obtained here at an average of three cents each, and fifty plants could be shipped via parcel post at a nominal cost. If any member of your local garden club is interested in constructing a cactus rock garden on their premises, if they will write me I will gladly give them all information they wish regarding same."

Mr. Hines' address is Box 668, Santa Monica, Calif. For the past four years, he has been in the horticulture and landscaping business in that region.

VAN WAGONER URGES SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Proclaims Period July 3-7 As "Michigan Driving Days"

Governor Van Wagoner has opened a campaign for safe driving in which all affected state agencies will participate by proclaiming the period from July 3 to July 7 as Michigan Safe Driving Days.

The governor's action was prompted by the 49 automobile deaths reported during the Memorial Day week end. He called upon all city, state, county and municipal officials "to join in a great effort to prevent repetition of this tragedy over the Fourth of July week end."

"49 too many" was the campaign slogan adopted by the governor.

"The Best Outfit in The Army"

When a soldier thinks his army is the best in the world, his regiment the best in the army, his company the best in the regiment, his squad the best in the company and that he, himself, is the best blankety-blank soldier in the outfit, you have a pretty good idea what morale means.

That's according to the first United States Chief of Morale, Brigadier General James A. Ulio, who adds that morale is far more than hostesses entertainment, athletics and clubrooms.

Arthur Bartlett tells about this man, his career and present work in an article everyone should read. Watch for it in This Week, The Detroit News Sunday Magazine.

South Haven became a thriving summer resort town when a freeze wiped out its famous peach orchards about the turn of the century and threw the people into the "summer boarder" business as a principal means of livelihood. The orchards have been re-established and the town now holds a Peach Festival to celebrate the Harvest and entertain the tourists.

New Ford Defense Unit to Build Parts for Giant 28-ton Bombers

DEARBORN, Mich.—Construction of an $18,000,000 bomber factory for the government by the Ford Motor Company is under way at Willow Run, a rural community near here. The plant, to be operated by the company, is the latest Ford project in behalf of the national defense program. It will produce complete sub-assemblies and parts—with exception of the four engines—for the giant Consolidated B-24D bomber.

This long-range, heavy-duty plane is regarded as the world's most formidable bomber. It weighs 28 tons when loaded and is capable of carrying four tons of bombs at a speed of 300 miles an hour. The four-engine ship has a cruising range of more than 3,000 miles.

Ford has a government contract to build parts for five complete bombing planes a day, these parts to be shipped to final assembly plants in Oklahoma and Texas.

Should the government step up this order, or request Ford to do the final assembly job on the bomber, the Willow Run plant will be expanded. Provisions were made by company designers and production experts for a future extension that would house an assembly line a mile and a quarter long.

The bomber factory is scheduled for completion late this year. When it starts production, it will employ approximately 20,000 skilled workmen.

First, the dominion is enjoying a boom. Industrial production increased more than 25% in 1940 over 1939, and Canadian arms plants are now turning out guns, shells, and tanks. The gasoline tax was increased recently to 11 cents; the dominion excise tax (a hidden sales tax) is 8 cents.

The second bond loan was oversubscribed in June by more than 100 millions.

Canadians have money. They are spending it. (World War figures: Industrial output soared from 69 millions in 1913 to 489 millions in 1917, mostly in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec; agriculture, 127 to 284 millions.)

Loyal to King

Second, Canada is loyal to the empire and its symbol—the King—in support of the war.

I visited Camp Borden, largest of the dominion's military centers, where 1100 men are being trained for overseas air service. Army troops, including armored units, number around 12,000 men.

I talked with two Norwegian flyers who are helping to train Norwegian refugees for overseas combat duty.

From the dominion's minister of national defense, a quiet-speaking, square-jawed individual, I learned that Canada's belated re-arming has resulted in sending 80,000 men to England—70,000 in the army and 10,000 in the navy and air force, while 1941 commitments are three divisions and replacement troops.

These men have been—or will be—fully equipped by Canadians at their own expense.

A few Canadian divisions may be only driblets in contrast to the Nazi flood, estimated at 260 divisions. Yet Canada had only 10,500 men under arms when Hitler invaded Poland and England formally declared war. Like us, they were unprepared.

Friendly to U. S.

This current European mess is doing things to Canada.

And here you run into strange situations.

Canadians seem to be intensely loyal to the empire, yet they have become increasingly friendly with the United States. Economically, Canada is a part of us. Socially, they have more in common with us than with the British. Politically, they are a part of the empire—one of the units in the British Commonwealth of Nations, that loosely drawn system that holds together the outlying possessions ruled with traditional diplomacy from Downing street, London.

One Canadian newspaperman, born in England, made this surprising statement.

"After all this is over, I hope we will be one country together."

Thinking of the English speaking union plan, I asked him, "Well, how about the King and the titled nobility? Where would they fit into the picture?"

He replied with candor: "They are symbols that are losing much of their traditional meaning. We are having more democracy today than ever before, and we like it. Many Canadians would like to see Canada someday part of the United States."

French Canadians

Everywhere in the province I heard critical comments of the French Canadians because of their alleged lukewarm interest in Canada's war effort and of Prime Minister McKenzie King's alleged disposition to temporize with them because of political reasons.

Both criticisms may be unjustified. But there seems to be some ground for them in the fact that Canada's federal parliament at Ottawa has not enacted military conscription for overseas duty.

Home conscription exists in a half-hearted fashion, young men being trained for periods of four months only.

Three-fourths of the inhabitants of the Province of Quebec are of French descent—or French Canadians as we know them. They number three millions out of around eleven million, a force to be reckoned with. Tens of thousands cannot speak English at all.

The Canadian attitude exists that the French citizens of Canada are indifferent to the cause of the empire. Yet these same people are fanatically loyal to Canada itself, their adopted homeland.

The Canadian Effort

In summary, I believe that the following observations are true:

1. Canada is giving more in men and dollars for war than we Americans are for national defense. Their armed force of 250,000 men is an equivalent of 2,750,000 men in the United States. Her spending is on a colossal scale—so much so that one government official said, "We are getting fairly billious talking about billions."

2. Canada recognizes an economic dependence upon the United States. This relationship has been apparently accentuated by events of the past year.

3. Canada is anxious to have the friendship and patronage of the United States.

4. Canadian leaders apparently are confident that we are becoming their allies.

"Good Yankee Talk"

Witness this statement in an editorial from the Ottawa Citizen, a liberal daily:

"There can no longer be doubt about it. President Franklin Roosevelt is taking the United States into war against Germany.

Again, this excerpt from the same editorial:

"When Mr. Roosevelt some weeks ago proclaimed the Red Sea open to United States shipping, Germany said that any United States ships appearing in the Red Sea would be sent to the bottom. Well, there are 25 United States ships on their way to the Red Sea now, or in the Red Sea; 25 United States ships carrying war supplies for General Wavell's armies. If Germany should sink any one of them, or fire on any one of them, there can be no doubt over what will be the answer of Mr. Roosevelt. His answer will be war—shooting war. Soon or late, that is coming anyway."

That is why, ladies and gentlemen, we're in the war—like it or not.

Such is reality as we found it in Canada.

AT THE MOVIES

"Love Crazy" Packs Laugh On Laugh in Gay Comedy!

Comical complications ensue thick and fast when William Powell sets out to convince Myrna Loy that he's crazy in "Love Crazy," their latest hilarious adventure coming July 6-7 to the Palace Theatre.

It starts with a marital quarrel, and Myrna decides on a divorce. But Powell discovers that she can't legally divorce an insane husband, so insane he goes in a big way, chewing up phonograph records and otherwise staging "bughouse" antics.

Powell was never more irresistibly funny than in his "crazy" portrayal and Miss Loy is ideal as the scandalized wife. Gail Patrick plays the "other woman" with conviction, and Jack Carson adds hilarity as the suitor who turns up after the separation.

Rare Disease Plays Vivid Part in New Kildare Plot

One of the rarest and most mysterious of human ailments resulted in an intensive hunt by research experts to obtain data for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new Dr. Kildare picture, "The People Vs. Dr. Kildare," coming Tuesday, July 8 to the Palace Theatre.

From a scientific institute authentic X-ray photos were obtained of an "occult spinal bifida," a disease which plays a dramatic role in the new story.

The bifida operation is one of several dramatic medical details in the new picture, which deals with a malpractice suit. Harold S. Bucquet directed, with Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore, Laraine Day, Bonita Granville, Alma Kruger, Red Skelton, Paul Stanton and Diana Lewis in featured roles.

"She Knew Answeres" Will Open Soon

Starring Joan Bennett and Franchot Tone, Columbia's hectic new comedy, "She Knew All the Answers," opens Friday, July 11, at the Palace Theatre. John Hubbard, Eve Arden and William Tracy are important featured members of the cast, and Richard Wallace directed the film, gay story of a night club performer who goes to work on and in Wall Street. FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

If you want the thrill of seeing one of the most oddly-shaped and rapidly disappearing wild flowers, go to the woods and hunt until you find the large fragrant pink pouch of the moccasin flower or pink lady's slipper.

Take a good long look, and then go away and leave it alone. Or you might throw a branch over it to protect it from those of us who have not learned yet to love wild flowers and leave them on their stalks.

This moccasin flower is the earliest of its kind to bloom and considered the most beautiful of orchids. Next in blooming order is yellow lady's slipper, more common and found in some wild gardens. Which is not a suggestion that you try transplanting it.

The showy or pink lady's slipper is the one you most often see offered for sale. Please do not buy them; that is the quickest way to exterminate them. In spite of all warnings of flower protection societies, and the much more effective protection afforded by the army of mosquitoes drawn up in battle array in the haunts of the lady's slipper, this family of flowers are fast moving on to the happy hunting grounds. And it is partly the orchids' own fault.

They have made such elaborate and particular arrangements for producing seed that they are largely an infertile family. They depend upon insects for cross-fertilization, and unless just the right bee comes along at just the right time, it is just too bad for the orchid. Few of the countless seeds are fertile and at best they germinate slowly. Plants depend chiefly upon spreading by root, and when you pick the flower you pick the whole plant. No leaves are left to make and store up food in the root and start the next year's blossoming. The orchid has the type of root likely to die when the top is broken, hence the warning.

The pink lady's slipper is our garden club flower.

RED CROSS NEWS

People usually think of the Red Cross as being an organization primarily concerned with the clothing and feeding of disaster stricken peoples and lose sight of the equally important branch designated as "Home Service" or liason between the men in the Army or Navy and their people at home.

The Red Cross is the only organization recognized and permitted in Army and Navy camps and maintains a field director in every cantonment whose duty it is to keep check for the soldier on his people at home. For example: John Doe, from Charlevoix county, is sent to camp in Texas. There he receives a wire from home stating that his "mother is very ill—come at once." The commanding officer refers it immediately to the Red Cross field director who at once wires the Home Service chairman of the Red Cross chapter of that county. That officer investigates immediately and wires as to whether or not it is actually necessary that the soldier be allowed to come home. Until the field director notifies the commanding officer that circumstances warrant a furlough for such an emergency none is granted. This may seem harsh but there have been many cases where a relative has been taken ill and someone has rushed off and sent a wire for the soldiers return only to have the sick person recovered and waiting at the station to greet him on his arrival, while the soldier has had a long train trip filled with worry as to what may await him on his arrival home. There have also been many instances where the soldier's sweetheart has decided to end her loneliness for him by such a wire. Needless to say in such cases no furlough is granted.

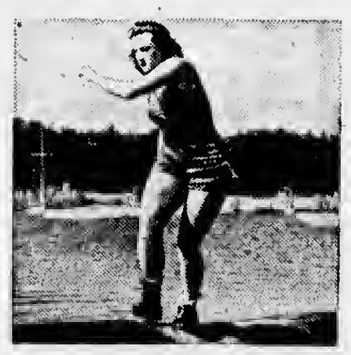
Logs of Michigan white pine on their way to the sawmill. Trees of this size are rare today.

The wooded half of Michigan

MIGHTIEST of all Michigan's resources was once its virgin timber. In Southern Michigan the hardwood was cut to clear farms. And to the north, the vast pine woods were turned into lumber for building the nation's cities.

Today, under wise methods of reforestation, the woods are growing up again. About 20,000,000 acres — over half Michigan's land area — are wooded. By scientific cutting, these forests produce more than 400,000,000 board feet of lumber a year, besides firewood, pulpwood for paper, tanbark, veneers and other products.

Legend has it that when the mythical Paul Bunyan was lumbering Michigan, his shout could be heard from Menominee to Saginaw if the wind was right. Modern lumbermen and forest rangers don't have such voices. But by telephone they keep in touch with woods operations, market their products, and control forest fires, far more efficiently than the old-timers ever could.



The old days of the "rivermen" are brought back by the annual "Roleo," held this year on July 4, 5 and 6, at Gladstone, Michigan. At Manistee, the National Forest Festival will be held July 3, 4 and 5.

eaten doe meat, whether it was legal or otherwise, believing it their privilege to do so while in camp. This new law should take care of the over-population problem to some extent, too, because no doubt every group of four, the number required by law, will take out a camp license and kill a doe to replenish their larder. A new fishing law that should have the whole-hearted approval of all conservation-minded anglers is one making the limit on brook, brown and rainbow trout 15 fish but no more than 10 pounds. This law will stop those meat hogs who have in the past caught the limit of rainbow trout weighing anybe from 3 to 10 pounds, or an aggregate of 50 or 60 pounds of fish. I have in mind particularly those fishermen who each spring take such catches as above mentioned from the Boyne river below the power dam. Certainly 10 pounds of fish should be enough for anyone. Included in the fish laws is a similar ruling covering mackinaw trout which provides a limit of 25 pounds and one fish. In western states, where fishing is supposed to be the best, these regulations have been in force for some time.

Just a reminder that Monday night, July 14, is time for the annual school meeting. If my memory hasn't failed, there hasn't been an attendance of over 50 for a good many years. Our schools and their conduct should be too important to be so overlooked by patrons. Plan now to attend.

Tsh! Tsh! Aren't those Detroit policemen gettin' awful fussy. Now they've gone and passed a ruling banning all strip-tease gals "with just a body and no artistic training." Just as if it would make any difference whether the queens undress in time with music or not!

KROGER STORES AID 4-H CLUB FARMERS

Purchase Stock to Encourage Efforts of Club Groups

Livestock buyers for the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. purchased a total of 1,116 animals at 84 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America sales during the past year, it was announced by Albert H. Morrill, Kroger president. Although this was a record for participation and purchases, Mr. Morrill said that the company plans to take part in even more junior livestock events during the current year.

Last year's purchases represented a marked increase over those of the previous year when Kroger bought 778 animals at 59 sales. The figures for 1938 were 211 purchases at 21 shows, according to Mr. Morrill.

He explained that the company has participated in these sales for a number of years as a means of encouraging farm boys and girls to feed higher type livestock.

PROCLAMATION

As a part of Charlevoix's Fourth of July celebration, it seems fitting and proper that we join in the rededication ceremonies, as outlined in the following statement by the President of the United States:

"The approach of Independence Day this year will kindle in all American hearts an appreciation of the dark days that preceded and followed July 4, 1776. Those were the times that tried men's souls even as are these times in another crisis in American life.

"But these days are also days of hope and as the birthday of American Independence draws near it is altogether fitting that we should rededicate ourselves to defend and perpetuate those inalienable rights which found true expression in the immortal Declaration. Those words never had a deeper or more solemn meaning for America than they have in this hour of anxiety and peril.

"The Fourth of July has always been a happy festival, a day of joy and exaltation in which all Americans have caught something of the spirit of liberty which the Fathers of the Republic proclaimed to all the world on that midsummer day in Philadelphia in 1776. It has been essentially a home festival.

"I am glad, therefore, to learn that the Office of Civilian Defense is to lead the Nation this year in a grand rededication to liberty on the Fourth of July. I commend this celebration to Americans everywhere to the end that in this solemn commemoration we may find renewed faith in the blessings which are ours because of the struggle and sacrifice, the courage and fortitude and vision of those who made this Nation a reality."

The Fourth of July rededication is to take place simultaneously throughout nation at 4:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The rededication will begin with a five-minute radio speech by President Roosevelt. This will be followed by the playing of national anthem started by the U. S. Marine Band in Washington, and picked up by bands all over the country. Following national anthem, all citizens led by the President will repeat the Oath of Allegiance to the United States.

As an American you have a part in the rededication wherever you may be. At home, at the beach, in the mountains, on a picnic, at the theater, at the ball game, have a radio turned on, listen to the President, join in singing "The Star Spangled Banner" and repeat the Oath of Allegiance.

However, under any circumstances, join with the President at 4:00 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, July 4, in personally renewing your oath of allegiance to the United States of America.

ROBERT BRIDGE, Mayor.

RAILROADS PURCHASE BIG EQUIPMENT ORDERS

Quantities in Past Five Months Greatest in 12 Years

Gigantic purchases of new equipment by American railroads, in quantities exceeding those in any 5-months period in the last 12 years, are announced by the Michigan Railroads Association.

To date this year, purchases by the lines of new equipment consist of 520 locomotives, 62,760 freight cars and 360 passenger cars. Orders during June are expected to swell considerably purchases for the first six months of the year. Unfilled inquiries by the railroads at this time are for 40 large steam locomotives, 41 Diesel-electric units and more than 20,000 freight cars.

Purchases in the 12-month period since June, 1940, total 989 locomotives, 118,363 freight cars and 602 passenger cars. Contemplated purchases for 1941 are 100,000 new cars, with 120,000 new cars planned for 1942 and 150,000 in 1943.

By fall, according to the association, the railroads will have added 195,000 new and rebuilt cars since the war started in Europe. As a result of the repair program inaugurated 20 months ago the U. S. railroads now have fewer bad-order freight cars on hand than ever before.

PCA DOUBLES PLANE SERVICE CHARLEVOIX

Two Huge Planes Arrive and Depart Daily from Pellston

Because of the tremendous interest of vacationists in Pennsylvania-Central Airlines' newly-established air service to Charlevoix, the number of schedules to and from Charlevoix will be doubled, according to William O'Brien, station manager for PCA at the Emmet county airport at Pellston.

Two of the huge Capitol Liners will be arriving and departing daily. Southbound departures are set for 7:45 a. m. and 5:40 p. m. Flying time to Traverse City is 23 minutes; to Grand Rapids, 94 minutes; to Chicago, 2 hours and 16 minutes; to Detroit, 2 hours and 29 minutes. Two round trips are to operate daily between the Emmet county field and both Chicago and Detroit.

Connections at the Windy City and the Motor Capital bring Cleveland, Akron, Pittsburgh, Washington, Buffalo, New York, St. Louis, Kansas City and other eastern and midwestern cities within half a day's flying time of this city, O'Brien said.

URGE AUTOISTS TO USE CAUTION OVER FOURTH

"49 Too Many" Safety Campaign Is Now In Progress

A last-minute warning to Michigan motorists to "slow down" over the Fourth of July holiday period lest there be a repetition of the Memorial Day tragedy in which 49 persons were killed in traffic accidents, was issued today by State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy.

"Excessive speed," Kennedy declared, "was one of the major causes of the fatal crashes during the Memorial Day period. By the simple process of reducing our speed, we can save many human lives."

Kennedy also hailed the work of the Boy Scouts and members of the Junior Chambers of Commerce throughout the state in the distribution of auto stickers as a fine example of the interest being taken in the "49 Too Many" safety campaign now in progress. By their work, 750,000 motorists have been enlisted in the safety drive.

STATE WILL REPORT INCREASED REVENUE

Fiscal Year Ended Monday; Record Report Anticipated

Michigan's fiscal year ended Monday with practically all revenue collection agencies expecting to show record-breaking increases in income.

Among the leaders were the Sales Tax Department which was believed to have brought the state in excess of $73,000,000 during the year, and the automobile weight tax which was producing many thousands of dollars more for highways than in previous years.

Expense of maintaining the $200,000,000 state business also were expected to be record-breaking but definite figures were not available immediately. Expenses for the next biennium were to set an even higher record because of an anticipated record income.

SELL DEFENSE STAMPS THRU MICHIGAN STORES

This State Made Testing Ground for New Method of Sale

Michigan has been selected as the proving ground for sale of U. S. defense savings stamps in stores.

Eugene W. Sloan, executive director of the U. S. treasury department's defense savings staff, said the stamps will go on sale in Michigan stores July 10.

If the plan proves successful, Sloan said, it will be extended to the remaining 47 states as soon as the machinery can be set up.

Meanwhile Frank N. Isbey, chairman of the state committee, announced after a conference with 1,250 independent grocery store operators that wholesale dealers had agreed to place stamps at the disposal of all customers.

group made a boat trip to Boyne City.

The Lions Club of Grand Rapids came on the Friday cruise, remaining from 8:30 to 12:30. Fishing and golf again provided entertainment.

Saturday's cruise brought the Port Huron chamber of commerce, whose members devoted the 3-hour stay largely to sight-seeing.

All expressed praise of Charlevoix's entertainment facilities and the spirit of hospitality manifest by citizens, city and board of commerce officials.

4TH OF JULY PROGRAM COMPLETED

What promises to be one of the day's outstanding features, a Soap Box Derby, is scheduled at 1:30. Ross Alexander, chairman of this event, stated around 15 youths would compete with racers constructed by themselves. Three heats to decide the winner will be run off on Bridge street between Harlbut and Mason, using Bridge street hill for the coasting incline.

Street races are scheduled between 2:30 and 3:00; water sports, featuring greased pole, swimming and diving contests and exhibitions off East Park on Round lake between 3:00 and 4:00 o'clock; a baseball game between Charlevoix and East Jordan at south side athletic field opens at 3:30. Admission of 25c for men, 10c for ladies, will be charged for the ball game.

At 4 o'clock in East Park, this community will join in a grand rededication to liberty on the Fourth of July. Following brief remarks by Mayor Robert Bridge, the rededication will begin with a 5-minute radio speech by President Roosevelt, to be heard over a public address system to be installed at East Park. This will be followed by the playing of the national anthem, started by the U. S. Marine Band in Washington, D. C. and picked up by the city band here. Following national anthem, all citizens led by the President will repeat the Oath of Allegiance to the United States. This program will require about ten minutes.

A concert by the city band is scheduled at East Park at 8 o'clock in the evening, preceding a spectacular fireworks display over Round lake, climaxing feature of the day's festivities.

HOLIDAYS SMASH TRAFFIC RECORDS

RESORT REGION WAS FILLED TO OVERFLOW

Demands Exceeded Accommodations Here; One Motor Accident Reported in County

Charlevoix and northern Michigan communities generally have marked down the past weekend as the greatest in their history for tourist patronage.

With traffic records broken on nearly every highway in the state and overflow conditions prevailing throughout the northern Michigan resort region, this city was crowded to capacity with 4th of July celebrants, vacationists and summer resident arrivals. Friday saw the peak in tourist traffic.

Smaller hotels, tourist camps, tourist homes and rooming places were completely filled and turned hundreds away. Many motorists unable to find rooms were observed sleeping in their cars Friday night. Larger hotels enjoyed splendid patronage. Restaurants and other eating places were taxed to fill demands upon them and, in many instances, turned people away. Water activity reached its greatest proportion in recent years.

Police Chief Clarence Heise reports that despite highway traffic of record-breaking proportions, not a single automobile accident occurred within the city limits. The county's only reported mishap, a collision on U.S.31 outside the south city limits, resulted in the injury of Evelyn Bell, 30, of Detroit, who suffered a spinal fracture when a car driven by Alice Brazer, Detroit, with whom she was riding, was struck by another driven by Louis Schmeker, of Grand Rapids. The injured woman is being treated at Charlevoix Hospital.

All records for traffic across the Straits of Mackinac were smashed. Highway department officials reported 18,810 automobiles were carried from Thursday through Sunday. Last year only 8,162 cars were ferried over the 4th of July holidays. The average waiting line Friday at St. Ignace was 1,200 cars despite the fact six boats were operated on "wihl" schedule.

The Pilgrim Circle will conduct a bazaar and bake sale at the Congregational Church, July 26.—Adv. 28t1pd.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX COUNSELLOR CALLED BY MOTHER'S DEATH

(By Ken Smith, Camp Scribe)

The boys and staff at Camp Charlevoix were sorry to hear last Thursday morning that Buster Naegle, the camp cowboy, had received word during the night that his mother had passed away suddenly at her home in Benton, Arizona.

At breakfast that morning, the boys made an unprecedented gesture in raising two hundred dollars to send Buster home to his mother's funeral. Joe Moran made all the plane reservations and headed the committee which saw Buster off from the Traverse City airport.

Buster is expected back some time this week, his absence being the reason he was not in the parade or did not have his horse "Dolly" perform on the Fourth of July.

BURNS FATAL TO INFANT GIRL AT DETROIT

Judith, Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hutzler, Died July 4

Judith Ann Hutzler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hutzler, of Detroit, former residents of Charlevoix, died July 4 in Detroit.

She was born August 20, 1938, in Charlevoix. Her death was caused by burns received July 1, when she tripped on an electric cord and spilled hot coffee on herself.

She leaves her parents, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Inman of East Jordan, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hutzler of Northport, as well as other relatives.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dickenson at the Free Methodist church in Boyne City, with interment at Maple Lawn cemetery in Boyne City.

AMATEUR GOLFERS SEEK STATE TITLE

35TH MICHIGAN CHAMPIONSHIPS OPEN THURSDAY

Advance Entry and Predictions of Officials Indicate Entry Over One Hundred

Michigan's top-ranking amateur golfers are today "feeling" out the Belvedere Golf Club course in practice rounds preparatory to the 35th annual Michigan state amateur championships which open with the qualifying round Thursday morning.

Over 10 players, vanguard of a field expected to number well over one hundred, had posted entries with A. L. Livingston, tournament secretary, at noon today (Wednesday). Charles D. Bennett, president of the Michigan State Golf League, and James Standish, league secretary, who arrived here Monday, stated past entries would be accepted at the tee up to probably as late as Thursday noon, thus no estimate can be given of the number of players who will compete. This same condition existed a year ago when the 70 players who had posted entries prior to start of the qualifying round had increased to 139 by Thursday noon.

Mr. Standish stated he believed Zygmond Zawadski, 1940 winner, would defend his title. Zawadski, 26-year-old Detroiter, was the first public links player to win the coveted state title. Mike Dietz, another Detroiter who last year went to the quarter-finals, is an early entry and Marvin Stahl and Lewis Wendrow, of Lansing, who are no handicap golfers, will be strong contenders.

The field will tee off in three-somes for the 18 hole qualifying round Thursday. The first trio is scheduled at 8:30 and the entire field is expected to be in play by noon. Pairing will be made Wednesday night. Match play starts Friday and continues through Sunday.

ALL MEN OVER 28 WILL GET DEFERMENT

Charlevoix County Draft Board Receives New Regulations

Fay Davis, Charlevoix county draft board clerk, has announced that orders were received last Thursday to defer all men who have attained the age of 28 years on or before July 1.

The temporary deferment of this group, it is understood, is to provide time for action on a bill pending in Congress for deferment of all over 28 years of age.

Changes in the July quota for the county as a result of the order will be the withdrawal of Donald Thompson, of Boyne City, to be replaced by Harrison Warner, of Charlevoix. Others affected by the ruling will be Douglas Livingston, of Charlevoix and Perry Campbell, of Boyne City, both receiving age deferment.

CAMPAIGN FOR CCC ENROLLMENTS UNDER WAY

Employment Resulting from Job Training Leaves Vacancies

A campaign to obtain CCC enrollments in Charlevoix county is under way. The drive opened July 1 and will continue through the 20th.

Boys between the ages of 17 and 23, inclusive, are eligible. They need not be on relief rolls.

Numerous vacancies in CCC camps have resulted from success of the Civilian Conservation Corps job training program which has enabled many enrollees to obtain jobs in defense industries and other forms of private employment. Boys enroll for a six months period and may leave any time they obtain employment. They may learn mechanics, truck and tractor driving, carpentry, welding and many other valuable trades.

COLLECT ALUMINUM FOR DEFENSE

STATE-WIDE CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN ON JULY 24

Advise Awaited for Formation of Committee to Conduct Drive in Charlevoix

Plans for Michigan's part in the nationwide scrap aluminum drive were announced Wednesday by the state defense council following a conference with representatives of the six war veterans' organizations which will direct the campaign.

It was decided that members of youth organizations, civic clubs and lodges would make a house-to-house canvass, July 21, 22, 23, to inform housewives of the purpose of the drive and to instruct them to place useless pots and pans in front yards for trucks which would pick them up July 24 and 25.

The council, in its announcement, emphasized that the other of production management, which suggested the drive to relieve a shortage of new aluminum metal, did not want any articles contributed which would have to be replaced. The emphasis was on worn out, leaky and seldom used articles.

The house to house campaigns and collection activities were to be organized by veterans' organizations in cooperation with mayors of various cities. County extension agents, through 4-H clubs and farm organizations, were to be in charge of collections in rural areas.

Defense officials emphasized that every effort would be made to prevent racketeering. They said the scrap would be taken to warehouses, baled and sold on orders of the OPM. Proceeds from the sale were to be deposited in a federal reserve bank account known as the "National Scrap Aluminum Fund" which office of civilian defense, headed by Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, would draw on for civilian defense purposes.

NORTHERN FUNERAL DIRECTORS MEETING HERE

BIG CROWD HERE FOR CELEBRATION

CITY WAS FILLED TO OVERFLOW FRIDAY

Camp Charlevoix Provided Outstanding Entries in Parade; Sports Prize Winners Listed

Charlevoix was filled to overflow Friday as county residents, augmented by a heavy influx of holiday vacationists attended a county-wide 4th of July celebration conducted by the American Legion.

Camp Charlevoix predominated the parade, opening feature of the day's program. The camp presented numerous features—comic and patriotic—among which "Bundles for Britain" and "Our Army", the later depicting a comparison of Nazi and American youth, were outstanding. Cowboy and Indian riders and a clown band were other features. Alec Carrie, Eveline township centenarian, participated, as well as the school and city bands. Prizes in order were awarded Camp Charlevoix, Alec Currie and the school band.

A scheduled exhibition by "Buster" Naegle, Camp Charlevoix cowboy, and his trick horse "Dolly" was cancelled when Naegle was called to Arizona by the death of his mother.

A water sports program conducted by the Charlevoix Marine Club resulted in prizes being awarded Don Brown, Frank Martin, Jack Lamphear, Bernie Ward Jr. and Robert Bergmann in the pillow fight; to Clare Martin in the greased pole event; Don Brown and Jack Lamphear in canoe tilting.

The soap box derby, drawing but three entries, was won by Teddy Christian, of Boyne City.

East Jordan Juniors won from Charlevoix by a 15 to 3 count in the afternoon baseball contest, marking their second win of the season over the locals.

Patriotism of holiday celebrants was manifest by the huge throng taking part at 4 o'clock in a nation-wide rededication to liberty observed at East Park. Over a public address system, President Roosevelt's brief but significant speech was heard and the Oath of Allegiance to the United States repeated.

Music was provided throughout the day by the school and city bands, directed by Max Smith. A beautiful fireworks display over Round lake concluded the day's program.

ARGONNE NATIONALLY RECOGNIZED FOR FOOD

Is Listed In Publication "Adventures in Good Eating"

The Argonne, Charlevoix's popular night club, has been recognized as one of the few northern Michigan places listed in Duncan Hine's "Adventures in Good Eating;" a nationally known listing of outstanding eating places.

The Argonne has long been popular for its famous chicken and steak dinners and cocktail bar.

The Argonne summer schedule is now under way with dancing nightly to Wayne Belding's all star band featuring Teddy Miller at the drums and Joe Hann, pianist, who is equally proficient on the Hammond solovox and piano accordian. The solovox is a newly installed instrument which has added greatly to the popularity of the band.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Jack Foster sends his appreciation from Pensacola, Fla., for the Courier. Jack says: "I wish to thank you for the weekly copy of the Courier. A fellow doesn't feel quite so far from home or his friends when he's posted on the old home town. I am in the final squadron of my training here at Pensacola, but Old Man Weather and his tropical storms has grounded us the past few weeks. Our class is hoping to get our 'wings' the middle of August, but we have a lot of 'ifs' along the trail yet."

Editor: So you and Frank are to be married? Why, I thought it was a mere flirtation."

Edie: "So did Frank."

The day before July 4th one northern Michigan newspaperman came out with the following item: "If you plan to be careless tomorrow, drive fast, go swimming immediately after eating or swim into deep water, dive off just anywhere or do any number of foolhardy stunts, the editor would appreciate your dropping into the office today to leave your obituary, for it will save considerable trouble in getting out next week's issue."

Tourists slept in their cars in Charlevoix streets last Friday night for lack of accommodations when in some sections of the city homes with rooms available did not have a single inquiry. Either there is a laxity on the part of these home owners in reporting their rooms to the board of commerce, or with the board of commerce for not keeping a complete registry of available tourist rooms. Regardless of where the fault lies, it should be corrected.

The man who pokes fun at a woman trying to drive a car through a 12-foot garage door usually sobers up when he tries to thread a needle.

The span of years Charlevoix has been a summer home for residents of metropolitan districts

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Headlines of Michigan newspapers continue to reflect the crazy-quilt pattern of 1941 history. We are truly living in a fast-moving, almost unpredictable year.

Away in Canada for a week (equivalent to a month in any normal year), we returned home to find a stack of newspapers a foot high in the library. Armed with scissors, we hurled ourselves for an evening and finally emerged with clippings about Michigan events which, six months ago, would have been regarded as near impossibilities. Here are a few of them:

Ford Motor company, arch foe of the C.I.O. and famed independent among Michigan automobile manufacturers, outdoes all rivals with an "all-out" contract providing for automatic deduction of C.I.O. dues from Ford company employees and a closed shop.

Here was an event that merited the word "impossibility," if any one event ever could. Furthermore, Harry Bennett, who hailed the C.I.O. election as a victory for communists and Governor Van Wagoner, sat down with labor chieftains as meek as a well-fed lamb. Talk about news!

Arbitration

Governor Murray D. VanWagoner proposes arbitration of deadlocked industrial disputes and also advocates a 30-day "cooling off" period for application of mediation.

"I think the overwhelming majority of workers and employers realize today the need for halting defense strikes, and will support some workable method of cooperation that calls for equal sacrifices, and that will not make the state supreme over both management and labor."

The governor declared that management and labor must make the choice between the alternatives of "cooperation with the government for defense" and "domination by government for defense."

The End: NO MORE OIL AND NO MORE ENGINE!

Ruthless Death-Test proves this New oil good for more than Twice the mileage averaged by 5 other big brands

In fiery Death Valley the dry heat hits extremes. And there's where 6 identical everyday cars, using 6 different big-name oils, were burned out on purpose to give you fair and square mileage comparisons on great new

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL

Now making Sales Records right Here

Death-Test cars—new—same make, same model—were taken apart for the Referee, to check uniformity; then were broken-in alike. Each got one 5-quart fill of some one big brand—bought retail by Referee. He kept engines under lock—no oil could be added. Cars held the same 57-mile speed, over the same desert, getting the same handling (by alternating the drivers). And there wasn't any end till there wasn't any lubrication... till engine after engine became a hunk of junk.

Conoco Nth oil kept on 5,683 miles longer than any other oil in the Death-Test... Certified. And all five competing Death-Tested oils didn't average half the mileage of Conoco Nth oil. Certified.

Man-Made new Life-Giver does it

Now think a moment of Vaccination—putting protective substance on guard to keep a trouble from starting. And the trouble aiming to start on motor oils lurks in every engine's normal firing. Filth forms that can spoil one drop; then two drops "catch it"—then four—then SIXTEEN... faster, faster, FASTER. As the whole fill weakens, the oil-level sinks too fast... but not when the start of this oil-fouling trouble is inhibited—held back—by life-giving Thialkene inhibitor, the man-made new economy aid in patented Conoco Nth motor oil.

No, you'll never Death-Test your own Conoco Nth oil. You'll still sensibly drain and refill as recommended. But knowing how Conoco Nth out-mileaged the other Death-Tested oils, you can reasonably believe that every look at the oil-level won't mean adding a quart. Keep count of your saving after changing to Conoco Nth today at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

AND CONOCO Nth OIL OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE

Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another great Conoco synthetic... man-made under the famed Germ Processed oil patent. Magnet-like action bonds OIL-PLATING to inner parts. It can't all quickly drain down—not while you're using Conoco Nth oil. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance!... and helps mileage, as it did in Death Valley. An OIL-PLATED engine is one more economy you get from a change to popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil.

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

NYA REPORTS ON YEAR'S PROGRAM

MANY YOUTH EMPLOYED IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Achievement of Year Ending June 30 Include Many Outstanding Public Projects

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 179 youth of Charlevoix county have been aided by participation in the out-of-school work program of the National Youth Administration, according to a report issued by Orin W. Kaye, state NYA administrator.

These young people have been assigned to a number of various types of projects.

Clerical assistants have been assigned to the offices of the following governmental agencies and service organizations: Rural Electrification Administration, U. S. department of agriculture, county court house, health unit building in Charlevoix, Boyne City public library, Charlevoix high school, Boyne Falls high school, and the social welfare office at Charlevoix.

With the co-sponsorship of the Boyne City board of education, NYA workers leveled, graded and sodded the Boyne City athletic field, erected steel goal posts and tended the lawns. Also, 25 boys improved the Boyne City tennis court.

Twenty NYA boys were employed on the St. James project where a mile of concrete sidewalk was laid between public buildings in the city of St. James, making travel much more convenient for citizens.

A new community building, built of logs, was constructed by NYA workers at Boyne City.

Cooperating with the Red Cross, the NYA established a sewing project at Boyne City. Thirty girls employed there made 225 mattress covers, 100 smocks and 200 sundry items of clothing which were distributed among needy children in Boyne City schools. A similar project operates at East Jordan, employing 25 girls.

At a project in Charlevoix, 20 NYA boys made 585 street signs for the city of Charlevoix.

The Boyne City workshop has turned out many items of furniture and other useful articles such as street signs, saw horses, etc. About 30 boys work on this project.

The largest project in the county is the girls' resident work center in Charlevoix. Since July 1 last year, 60 girls have been employed here, 27 of them leaving for private employment as a result of their experience. To provide more adequate quarters, the project last September was moved into what was formerly Bartlett hotel. Here girls are occupied with sewing, cooking, laundry and waiting on table, each in turn. The project's sewing room has made garments for the Red Cross and other welfare agencies, the materials being supplied by the city of Charlevoix, co-sponsors of the project. The city also donated electricity, water and phone services. The Traverse City state hospital supplied materials which NYA girls turned into gowns for patients and staff, dresses, nightgowns, and other articles of clothing for use in the hospital.

Adrlu Rogers St. Johns says: Gene Tierney's love troubles may make her a great actress. Though Hollywood's kid beauty stirred up a lot of criticism and parental anger by running away and marrying the older and worldly-wise Count Cassini, the famous movie commentator believes the adventure may provide her with the emotional depths (and maybe heartbreaks) every great star needs; as told in the American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Jigger Mites

If you go on a picnic where you might be attacked by jiggers, it is worth while to take preventive measures, says Dr. James Chapman, director of the District Health Department. Jiggers are found throughout the United States from late April to late October, usually in areas infested with weeds or heavily planted with shrubs. Dr. Chapman says that contrary to popular belief, the insect does not burrow into the skin and bury itself. As the Michigan joint committee on health education points out, the jigger does fasten itself to the skin when feeding but it drops off when finished. In attaching itself to the skin the jigger injects a secretion which sets up an intense itching, usually within twenty-four hours. If many jiggers have attached themselves to the skin the itching may be accompanied by fever, headache and nervous upset, states the joint committee.

The tuberculosis Christmas seal has a new work in Michigan this year—that of following up every druftee who is found to have tuberculosis. Not only is this man placed in a sanatorium but his family are given tuberculin tests and x-rays to be sure that the tuberculosis germs have not spread to them.

AT THE MOVIES

With twenty-one top flight screen personalities, opulently spectacular production numbers, 100 of the world's most beautiful girls and Adrian costumes, "Ziegfeld Girl" opens next Sunday, July 13, at the Palace Theatre.

James Stewart, Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr, Lana Turner and Tony Martin head the all-star cast.

Tracing the lives of three girls, Sheila Regan, Susan Gallagher and Sandra Kolter, enacted respectively by Lana Turner, Judy Garland and Hedy Lamarr, the film shows how Ziegfeld's press agent, played by Edward Everett Horton, ever on the lookout for beauty, picks the girls from obscurity and sky-rockets them to fame in the Follies.

The doctor was called over a hundred times—but nobody was sick. The lady had her face bandaged in twenty-five yards of gauze—but she wasn't hurt. It was all for scenes in "A Woman's Face," coming July 15-16 to the Palace Theatre, and Joan Crawford, the star, was the bandaged one.

Filming Stampede of 1500 Cattle Spectacular Feat

Filming a stampede of 1500 cattle can prove an entire production in itself, as Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer discovered when such a scene was made for "Billy the Kid." The Technicolor picture, starring Robert Taylor in the title role, opens Thursday, July 17, at the Palace Theatre for an engagement of 3 days.

For Health and Fun—Swim!

This picture might have been taken at any one of a hundred attractive Michigan resorts. North or South, East or West, you'll find a welcome everywhere in Michigan.

Every boy and girl in Michigan should learn to swim. With thousands of lakes and hundreds of miles of sandy beaches, Michigan offers a matchless opportunity to swim and grow strong.

When you start on your vacation this summer, take along the bathing suits. Almost anywhere you go in Michigan there'll be a chance to swim in clear, cool water, and tan in the friendly sun.

You may have acquaintances near the place where you're going. They'll be glad to hear your voice on the telephone. You can call up, as so many people do, to find out the water temperature at the beach. And even when you've hundreds of miles away, you can keep in touch with home. It's only minutes away by telephone.

State Parks along the shores of the Great Lakes offer the bather smooth, firm beaches, many of them patrolled by life-guards.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Ram Truck to Visit Counties in Northern Michigan

The Michigan Pure Bred Sheep Breeder's Association and the Extension Service will next October operate the ram truck in northern counties as far as the straits. The schedule will include counties that request the service or at least those in which four or five rams can be sold.

Good rugged, well-grown, good type, registered rams, yearlings and older will be carried. Only animals capable of immediate use will be sold. Particular effort will be made to have a generous supply of 3 and 4 year olds. The animals will be priced mostly at $35.00 for yearlings and somewhat less for older rams. Rams offered for trade should atay in the county and will not be accepted by the truck.

The probable schedule will start in Cheboygan county to allow the upper peninsula an opportunity for selection. As the truck moves south necessary replacements will be brought from down state.

If the ram truck makes a stop in Charlevoix county it will be necessary to have 4 or 5 orders on file at the county agent's office before the schedule can be made. If you are in need of a new ram this will be an excellent opportunity to buy just what you want and at the price you want to pay.

Legal Log Rule to Save Trees

Michigan has a new legal standard measure for logs, the International quarter inch rule, adopted by the state legislature and signed as a law recently by Governor Murray Van Wagoner.

This new standard, comments W. Ira Bull, extension forester at Michigan State College, likely will mean more lasting lumbering within Michigan. In effect, it so increases the measure of board feet in relatively small logs that operators of mills likely will not care to purchase logs from trees not mature enough to harvest.

Forester Bull cites as an example the new rule would indicate 39 board feet from a log 16 feet long and eight inches in diameter at the small end. Under the Doyle log rule this same log would provide only 16 board feet.

The law does not prohibit the use of other rules than the new standard for the state.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 23

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

Ken Smith, Camp Scribe

Another week has rolled around, and it hardly seems possible that we have been in camp ten days. It only proves that "time and tide wait for no man". One of the saddest things that could happen was the news Buster (our cowboy) received Thursday morning early of his mother's sudden death. Buster is the type of fellow that already in this short time has endeared himself in the hearts of every person in camp. This esteem was shown by the boys and counselors in raising two hundred dollars to send Buster home to his mother's funeral. The telephone here at camp was sure busy that morning getting information regarding plane and train schedules. Joe Moran took over the difficult task of arranging reservations and along with Angie Brown drove Buster to Traverse City to catch a train so that he could make plane connections in Chicago. I'll never forget the stillness and feeling of "oneness" of everyone in the dining room Thursday noon when Buster left the room for his long trip home. Twenty-eight hundred miles is a long way even if one does fly.

Last Wednesday night we had our first Council Ring, and it was the initiation of the new boys and men in camp. Don Horton headed up this committee and along with Don Neisch, Len Wheaton, Paul Meech, Charlie Marcus and Bill Hart put on a very impressive ceremony. The Chief and Don Neisch with their beautiful Indian head-dresses added much to the impressiveness. My job was to beat the tom-tom, and they say I did a terrific job. (I wonder how they mean that).

Thursday was spent in getting things ready for the parade which the American Legion in town sponsored for the morning of July Fourth. The camp was in a dither in its preparation, and when we lined up here at camp on Friday morning, I could see why. Never has the camp put so much time and had such a splendid parade lined up. Harold Steele as head of the committee did a bang-up job, and he was very ably assisted by Joe Moran, Don Horton, Don Neisch, and "Hitch" Hitchcock. Special mention should go to "Buzz" Bennett for stepping in and taking over Buster's duties. He worked hard getting the horses and horsemen ready, so here's a Chinese Toast to "Buzz".

The parade lined up in camp and made a very colorful sight as it moved slowly into town where we joined the rest of the parade. The clowns, Dean Hadnut, Jack Wooley, and Jim Nicholson, plus the hobby-horse riders, the two Penberthys, Ed. Gordon, and Jack Lehnhard, took their jobs seriously and started their clowning while we were still lining up. A photographer came along and took Joe Moran's picture. Joe, by the way, stole the show with his Hitler get-up and followed his donkey-drawn cart which was filled with "bundles" for Germany. (??) Len Wheaton twirled a mean baton in heading the parade and leading our own clown band which made in Allyn Wright's 1928 model. These boys were Roger Korten, Sammy Greenawalt, Allen Hunting, Ken Nyquist, Dave Dutcher and Charles McGuire.

The Junior section rode in cars and were modern Indians, as were the two doctors in our camp. Dr. Docter and Ed. Conner called themselves the modern medicinemen. The cowboys rode the camp horses in the parade and were led by two Indians, Jerry Wilson and Don Neisch. The cowboys were Bob Walls, Dick Nolan, Buddy Jenkins, Sargo Harvey, John Gilmore, Jimmy Howlett, Dick Tuthill, and Cary Bachman. Chief rode his good-looking horse Cimarron and carried the Camp Charlevoix flag. One big banner having a camp slogan on it was carried by Tommy Sample and John Doelman. The slogan was chosen after the whole camp submitted choices, and over 150 of them were brought to the committee's attention. The winner was Dave Dutcher of Cabin 17, and his winning slogan was "Camp Charlevoix, the place where pines and friendships grow." Good, eh?

We also had a float depicting "Bundles for Britain". This was arranged by Dick Osmer. The sailing department, as usual, put its best sail forward and had a sailboat on the big truck with several boys in white sailor suits aboard. Among these boys were Herb Dow, Jimmy Kendall, Bill Kerr, George Haberkorn, and Johnny MacDonnell. And of course, not to be outdone, Huntley Johnson and Joe Craig fixed up Joe's car, put a sail on it, and with traditional sailor jargon seemed to enjoy the parade a great deal.

Harold Steele, also entered his car in the float class, painting it in three colors, red, white, and blue, and covering it with slogans. The committee decided that there should be a sit-down striker in the parade, one who would sit down every few minutes and then have a soldier come up behind him and move him on. Well, it fell to my lot to depict this member of society, and Don Horton did a swell job of soldiering. We both enjoyed the parade every step, step, step (?) of the way. Well, we all came back to camp, feeling pretty good in knowing that we had helped put over a fine parade, but we felt even better when we were informed that the Charlevoix committee of the American Legion had awarded us BOTH first AND second prizes, totaling fifteen dollars. So here's three cheers to Harold Steele for arranging and working mighty hard on the parade.

In last week's write-up, I didn't mention the cooks we have this year. It wasn't due to any oversight or neglect, as I felt the good food we have been having was worth a very special mention of the very, very special cooks we have this year. Mrs. Lottie Clark and Mrs. Claudia Wolford, both of Ann Arbor, are cooks at sororities, and though this is a boy's camp, sure do know what boys and men like to eat. They are ably assisted by Mrs. Hazel Haggerty and Mrs. Vinlet Lilly.

Well the Green and Gray competition is once more under way, and the captains have been elected. The Juniors elected John Hunting for the Grays and Dick Abbott for the Greens. The Intermediates cast their votes for Bill Kerr as head of the Greens and Dick Semple to head up the Grays. The Pioneers chose Roger Korten to head the Grays and Sandy MacDonell to lead the Greens. And the MUGWUMP competition has started. On the afternoon of July Fourth the traditional Obstacle Relay was run off with the Greens winning by about one minute. This is quite remarkable as the whole competition takes in every boy in camp and takes over an hour to run off, so we can see how closely the sides have been chosen.

I nearly forgot the Bar-B-Q we had at supper on the Fourth. Harry Bingham headed up the committee that put the lambs over the fire, and those who kept the fire going all day were Jack Lehnhard, Ward Penberthy, and Harry Bingham, himself. Ice cream and punch followed up the abundance of sandwiches which all the fellows enjoyed. At dusk we all assembled on the dock and saw some of our stalwarts shoot off the camp's fire-works.

Saturday night, Don Horton gave his first dramatic performance. He chose a one-act play called "The Joiners", and his cast numbered some of the camp's best talent, "Hitch" Hitchcock, Fritz Pinkham, Paul Meech, Joe Craig, Phil Penberthy and Ed. Conner. Don Neisch started the program off by telling the camp a story in Indian sign-language.

Sunday morning, Don Horton was the speaker at the morning chapel service. He gave the boys a fine talk on "Being Able to Take It". Sunday evening Allyn Wright as chairman of the Sunday Night Vesper Services arranged a patriotic service. Al Birdsall told the group some points on the history of the American Flag, while Len Wheaton gave a short talk on how to treat the flag.

Before many weeks pass I want to say something about those new tennis courts we have this year as a gift of the dads to Chief on this, his twenty-fifth year in camp directing. They are being used a great deal and sure are an added feature of this camp.

And did you know that the dates for Dad's Day and the Rodeo are already set? Dad's Day is the 26th of this month, just two weeks hence. And the Rodeo is set for Saturday, August 9th. More about both these dates later, but please circle them on that calendar, and plan on coming up here. Great plans are being made.

Well, the middle finger of this right hand is about worn down to the first joint, so until next week, another lonoooong cheer for Camp Charlevoix.

P. S. See you Dad's Day, July 26th.

As this column pointed out on June 5, "Michigan's own arsenal of democracy faces the choice of solving its own problem by voluntary cooperation or of being conscripted by a government that has became temporarily totalitarian in its methods. Either we will volunteer to sacrifice our own liberties, or we will be conscripted by the government to do so."

Right to Strike

This sacrifice of the right to strike in national defense industries, as proposed by Governor Van Wagoner, is a significant turn in Michigan labor relations.

If the Michigan governor had intimated his four-point plan to legislators during the 1941 session, labor leaders would have condemned it with righteous indignation as a "betrayal of labor" and other stereotyped phrases.

Yet this idea of having industrial disputes submitted to arbitration, and a 30-day period established for reaching the arbitration verdict, is accepted by the man on the street as being good common sense in view of the national emergency. We doubt that labor leaders will hail it enthusiastically.

It is another illustration of how fast we are moving in 1941. National defense efforts are mostly in the blueprint stage; the much-needed airplanes and tanks and guns are not rolling off the production line in any sizeable quantities. We face an extreme emergency if the "shooting war," as proposed by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, is to start tomorrow or the day after.

State Deficit

The 1941 business boom in Michigan has come to the rescue of the state treasury's bookkeeping deficit, incurred during the Murphy administration to finance welfare payments.

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, whose traditional pessimism about fiscal affairs is well known, announced happily that the deficit of close to 30 millions has been cut in half.

As spending mounts, sales taxes accumulate. Consumption of liquor and beer is bringing additional hundreds of thousands in revenue to the state coffers.

Why? All because of business conditions, inflated by national defense contracts. Between July 1, 1940 and May 31, 1941, Michigan industrial firms were allocated $845,000,000 in defense contracts,—a total equal to more than 27 per cent of Michigan's entire income in 1940! Since May 31 the awarding of additional contracts has swelled the grand total to the billion dollar mark. More pieces for the 1941 crazy-quilt.

Corrections

Hot weather errors are hereby corrected:

Our reference to oil production in Michigan should have been in millions, not billions. We, too, are getting dizzy from Washington's spending.

The French population in Canada is three millions out of eleven millions, although the French form three-fourth of the population of the province Quebec.

throughout the United States is indicated by the fact many families in Charlevoix this season are represented by the fourth generation. For example, there are the Trumels on the Belvedere Club, the Wilsons on the Chicago Club, the Moses family on the north side, just to mention a few. The Chicago Club, by the way, is in its 61st year since organization, the Belvedere Club not far from its 60th anniversary.

A woman has inventive ability. Most any of them can spread something on lettuce leaf and call it a new kind of salad.

The most outstanding feature of the 4th of July celebration last Friday was the crowd.

Glenn See is bemoaning the fact that after spending countless days trolling on Lake Charlevoix for mackinaw trout without results, E. A. Lupe comes along from Grand Rapids and knocks one off within an hour on the lake. Must be those Grand Rapids fellows are better fishermen than us natives, because Jay Metcalf quite frequently gives us a lesson on how easy it is done. And speaking of the Metcalfs, hear they are headed for Charlevoix with a brand new 46-foot cruiser.

I understand Volley Fox is going to have to watch his laurels or lose his title as "King of Horton Creek," because Dent Newville and that Adelbine fellow who runs the blanket stand out towards Greensky Hill have been making some fancy catches of brooks out there.

You can mark Leonard Matthews, Belvedere summer resident, down in your book as Charlevoix's most persistent bass fisherman. Any day you cannot find him fishing off the channel by the railroad bridge there's something wrong.

The Central Drug Store is to be congratulated upon the installation of their attractive new fountain and fixtures.

BASEBALL TEAM LOST PAIR WEEKEND GAMES

Defeated by East Jordan Friday; Boyne City Sunday Winner

Charlevoix's baseball team dropped two games over the weekend, losing 5 to 3 to East Jordan Juniors in a 4th of July contest Friday, and 4 to 3 to Boyne City last Sunday.

Closeness of the score indicates close play in both contests. Incidentally 8th inning rallies won for Charlevoix's opponents in each instance. East Jordan scored four runs to overcome a 3 to 1 lead Friday, and Boyne tallied three times in the same stanza to win Sunday. In both contests, each team played errorless ball until the 8th inning. Charlevoix out-hit their opponents, but could not time them with runners in scoring position.

What promises to be one of the outstanding games of the season is scheduled for Sunday, July 13, when Charlevoix meets Cheboygan, one of northern Michigan's strongest teams, at south side athletic field.

Since beginning of the season the team has been outfitted with new uniforms, white trimmed with red lettering, purchased with funds donated by Charlevoix merchants and business men.

MACKINAW FINGERLINGS TRANSFERRED

Planting Made to Relieve Congestion at Hatchery

First release of mackinaw trout fingerlings reared at the federal fish hatchery is under way this week.

Lige Geer, hatchery superintendent, stated 200,000 fish are being transferred to relieve congestion. Plantings are being made off Beaver Island head with the conservation department patrol boat under direction of Capt. Allers.

This year's program of rearing mackinaw trout is another marked success. Fish now being released averaged 2¾ inches in length, going 20 to the ounce and 320 to the pound. It is estimated rearing troughs contained 950,000 fish and this a size greater than a year ago will be attained. Other plantings to relieve congestion will be made as the fish continue to grow larger.

AWAIT STATE ORDERS ON FULL-YEAR PLATES

Late July or Early August Time Expected for Release

License plates for the remainder of 1941 will not go on sale until late in July or early in August, it has been announced by Fenton R. Bulow, manager of the local secretary of state branch office.

Due to many inquiries as to when the plates would be on sale being received to the local office, advise was sought from Lansing. The reply was that no decision has been reached, but if the practice of other years is followed, the plates will be available late in July or early in August.

COAST GUARDSMEN ARE ASSIGNED LOCAL UNIT

Three Men Transferred to Station at Holland, Mich.

Personnel of the Charlevoix coast guard unit, depleted by recent transfers to the East coast, has been augmented by three replacements.

Paul P. Hellman, officer in charge, announced that Wilbur W. Beader, Charles W. Sell and Harvey D. Stubbs have been transferred to this station from Holland, Mich., and that George Belgysar, who had been confined to Marine Hospital, Chicago, has returned to duty.

Until these transfers, the local crew, originally numbering 21, had been drawn down to seven.

CUNNINGHAM-BARTLETT WEDDING WAS EVENT OF JULY 2 AT BRIDE'S HOME

The wedding of Miss Luella A. Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cunningham, and Gordon Bartlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bartlett, was solemnized at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, July 2, at the home of the bride's parents near Ironton.

Tall white candelabra stood on either side of an arbor of asparagus fern and madonna lillies, around which were big baskets of delphinium, daisies and baby's-breath. Other large bouquets of flowers decorated the room. Appropriate music was played by Miss Ernestine Chew at the piano.

The ceremony was performed by Mrs. H. J. Pulsipher. Attendants to the couple were Miss Annabelle Cunningham, sister of the bride, and Edward Heise, Jr. Eighty-five guests were present for the ceremony and reception which followed.

A simple street-length dress of white sharkskin was worn by the bride, who had a shoulder corsage of pink roses. Her attendant wore a dress of sage green and white print, with white jacket. Her corsage was of sweetpeas.

At the reception following the ceremony, refreshments of cake and ice cream were served. A lovely three-tiered bride's cake graced the refreshment table.

The groom, a U. S. army private, returned Sunday to Fort Custer, at Battle Creek. Mrs. Bartlett plans to join him in the near future.

Leaders in the executive and administrative branches of the state government in Lansing, educators and industrialists have signified their intention of attending the breakfast.

Ambassador and Senora Michels come to Traverse City to be with their daughter, Senorita Cristina Michels, the 1941 National Cherry Queen, who will be crowned festival queen in colorful ceremonies Thursday evening. Following the coronation Ambassador Michels will deliver an address of international import on hemispheric solidarity.

SUMMER RESIDENT IS VICTIM AUTO MISHAP

Thomas B. Teasdale Died Sunday of Injuries at St. Louis, Mo.

Charlevoixans will regret news of the death Sunday at St. Louis, Mo., of Thomas B. Teasdale, 79, long-time Charlevoix summer resident.

Mr. Teasdale died of injuries received when his automobile crashed into a tree in the St. Louis residential district.

Before retirement 21 years ago, Mr. Teasdale was president of the James H. Teasdale & Co., commission dealers. He was a trustee of the First Presbyterian Church in St. Louis, and while in Charlevoix was active in the Congregational church. He had been spending the summers at Hallett Hotel for 25 years.

Rev. G. R. Parker, now located at Northport, will conduct funeral services in St. Louis.

VANZANT-DeYOUNG WEDDING WAS SOLEMNIZED ON THURSDAY, JUNE 26

Miss Marie D. VanZant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl VanZant of Charlevoix, became the bride of Harold B. DeYoung, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas DeYoung of Majdeville, at a ceremony solemnized Thursday evening, June 26, by Rev. H. J. Pulsipher at the Church of God parsonage. The immediate families of the couple were present.

The bride chose for her wedding a traveling dress of navy blue with white accessories. She wore a large navy blue and white hat, and her corsage was of white roses.

Mrs. Clarence Tornga, twin sister of the bride, and Mr. Tornga attended the couple.

After the ceremony, refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. DeYoung left at once for Detroit, where the groom is employed at the Peter Pan Bakeries.

AAA WORKERS TO HEAR AN EXPERT

Triple-A committeemen and workers from all counties in northern Michigan will attend a one-day meeting at Escanaba on July 15, according to Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix County Triple-A Committee.

Mr. Henley said that the early part of the meeting will be devoted to a discussion of the Triple-A "Food for Defense" program and recent developments in the agricultural situation. Progress made during the past year will be reviewed followed by an analysis of new provisions recently incorporated in the program. Dr. Robert H. Montgomery, professor of economics at the University of Texas and widely known authority on economics of world affairs, will speak as part of the afternoon program.

This is Dr. Montgomery's second visit to Michigan. Last year he appeared as part of a program sponsored by the Triple-A at Gaylord and Michigan State College. Many farmers who heard him then will be glad of the opportunity to attend his discussion at Escanaba. Dr. Montgomery is a very interesting and capable speaker, and committeemen are urged to bring their wives and friends to the meeting.

A similar meeting is being held at Michigan State College, East Lansing, on Wednesday, July 16.

Farmers May Obtain Requirements at Boyne Falls Station

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The Boyne Falls grasshopper mixing station will be open Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, July 21, 22 and 23 and the following week, July 28, 29 and 30. Thus far very little poison bait has been requested since it would seem that if anyone wanted to take care of the situation no better time exists than right now while we are in the middle of the extreme dry spell and where vegetation is suffering from lack of moisture. Furthermore, the best place to spread the bait is in the hay field and the pasture field.

Please be informed that the station will be open this month and that anyone desiring bait should immediately secure it. While we want to make it possible for everyone to get bait that desired it we cannot afford to employ labor and keep the station open just for one or two requests per day. Keep these days posted so that you will know when the station is open and please cooperate by getting your material some time this month.

PLANS PROGRESS FOR NEW BRIDGE

CITY PROVIDES EASEMENTS OVER PROPERTY

Right-of-Way for Approaches to Temporary Bridge Structure Are Granted

An indication that progress continues on highway department plans to construct a bascule type bridge over the channel on U.S.31 was revealed by a request acted upon by the council Monday night for easements to cross city property.

The council authorized Mayor Bridge to negotiate such easements providing permission to cross a city lot north of the Martin Block store and park property on the lake front with approach for a temporary bridge, also an easement for 20 feet needed on the east side of Bridge street for widening of approaches both north and south of the new bridge.

While not confirmed, reports are made of financial transactions for the S. M. Rose and former Ira A. Adams properties having been completed, also negotiations with Mrs. Elizabeth Moon and L. P. Adams, owners of properties to be acquired.

It is understood start of work is now contingent upon completion of plans and acquirement of property needed for the project.

Other action by the council included confirmation of Mayor Bridge's appointment of Herbert Wakefield to act as summer police patrolman. A petition by property owners in the Clark addition for city water service was referred to the city superintendent for report.

DETROITER WINS AMATEUR CROWN

SAMMY KOCSIS GIVES FAMILY THIRD GOLF TITLE

Defeated Ronnie Williams, Fellow Detroiter; Tournament Drew Record Entry

Sammy Kocsis, 21-year-old member of the famous Detroit golfing family, carved his own niche in the hall of golf fame by winning the 35th Michigan amateur golf championship at the Belvedere course Sunday.

"Dead Pan" Sammy defeated a fellow Detroiter, 26-year-old Ronnie Williams, the tournament's greatest showman, 3 and 2, to bring his family the third major state title. His brother, Charley, four-time winner of the amateur crown, won the title here first in 1930. Sammy's machine-like precision and mannerisms are much like Charley's. An older brother, Emerick, is both Michigan Open and PGA titleholder.

In winning the title, Sammy put the finishing touches on a four-day performance in which he beat par by three strokes for the 117 holes. He succeeds as champion Zygmond Znwadski and becomes the second public links player to win the event. Zawadski was eliminated Friday by Dick Dayne, who scored a hole in one, first in the history of the tournament, to become the medalist. Dayne succumbed to the sharp-shooting of Kocsis in Sunday morning's semi-final round.

MANY ATTENDED SCHOOL MEETING

NEARLY ONE HUNDRED AT ANNUAL SESSION

C. S. Webster Re-Elected, Oscar Stroud Named Member of Bord; Annual Reports Are Given

Nearly one hundred taxpayers, largest group in 10 years, attended the annual meeting of Charlevoix school district No. 1, city and township, Monday evening.

Two directors were elected for 3-year terms. C. S. Webster, present board president, was chosen over Mrs. Allen Campbell to succeed himself. Oscar Stroud, whose election provided Charlevoix township its first representation on the board, was named to succeed Henry Partridge. Stroud was chosen on the fourth ballot from nominees including Mrs. Lota Coulter, Mrs. Allen Campbell and Harold Miller. The name of Henry Partridge, fifth nominee, was withdrawn following the second ballot.

Two proposals, one providing compulsory education in religion or ethics in high school, the second to turn all delinquent taxes for debt service into the operating fund after all bonds and interest is paid, were adopted.

The treasurer's report revealed total receipts, including balance on July 1, 1940, of $44,094.60; disbursements of $43,409.24, leaving balance on hand June 30, 1941, of $685.36.

A balance of $2,361.93 was shown in the debt fund after bond and interest payments totaling $11,452.50 and, incidentally, the secretary's report revealed balance of the bonded debt, aggregating $10,500, would be paid January 1, 1942.

The secretary's report further revealed that efforts of the board to interest rural school districts in sending their pupils to Charlevoix had resulted in closing of Hilton, Loch and Grand View schools, also upper grades at Ironton, and provision for bus transportation, paid by the state, to local schools this fall. Charlevoix schools gain by this added attendance through increased membership which is the basis for state aid.

The report also contained the information that with more favorable state aid, increased enrollment and use of delinquent debt money, it is planned to add to the school program vocal music, cooking, art, and to increase facilities in manual training and science.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Charlevoix's beautiful Belvedere golf course packed 'em in again this year. The 1941 state amateur entry was 154, highest in the past ten years.

Husband: "I have left instructions in my will that I am to be cremated."

Wife: "Yes, just like you to go and leave ashes all over the place."

Tuesday night's rain, first heavy shower since early in June, was worth thousands of dollars to northern Michigan farmers. Corn, potatoes and grains had reached a stage where moisture was badly needed.—The forest fire situation, one that had kept fire-fighting forces of the conservation department in a constant state of jitters, was remedied.

Seems the only bright spot on the local fishing front is the bass fishing in Lake Charlevoix, particularly catches being made in the channel between Round lake and Lake Charlevoix. Tuesday was an exceptional day, it seems. One party of two men had six bass, some of which would approach four pounds in weight. One of the anglers, a fellow who had been fishing at that particular spot 10 years, said he had never seen such bass. Many grounds along the shores of Lake Charlevoix are producing good catches, too. Jack VanCoevering, Detroit Free Press outdoor editor, went home disappointed after tries for mackinaw Sunday and Monday.

Golfer (far off in the rough): "Say caddy, why do you keep looking at your watch?"

Caddy: "It's not a watch, sir; it's a compass."

Life's certainly full of complications! I'd bragged to some downstate relatives now vacationing here about the swell catches of brook trout I'd taken from Horton creek. Wasn't smart enough to let it go at that, but had to invite them out there to fish with me. Result was that I didn't get any-

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Michigan's much ballyhooed bipartisan government has gone plumb into a dizzy tail-spin.

And if you, as the celebrated "man of the street", are getting a wee bit confused as to what it is all about, have hope and take cheer. Maybe it isn't yourself but the times which seem out of kilter — what with Wendell L. Willkie urging the United States to establish an American military "outpost" in Scotland or Ireland and with President Franklin D. Roosevelt moving American troops into the European war zone via Iceland, all for national defense.

The capital situation is something like this:

Our Democratic governor vetoed 31 acts of the Republican legislature. The Republicans tried unsuccessfully to over-ride the governor's vetoes, although it may be possible for the senate to do so in the case of 13 acts by concurring in action taken last week by the house.

And so, in open retaliation, the Republicans voted to recess 90 days until October 9. This technically (unless the supreme court would rule otherwise) prolongs the 1941 legislative session.

Branch Banking Veto

The underlying cause of the Republican rebellion was the governor's veto of the famed Senate Bill No. 1, known as the branch banking act which would forbid chain systems of banks throughout Michigan.

Michigan's state constitution requires a two-third vote by the legislature to enact any measure pertaining to banks, and the anti-bank chain bill had to mount this hurdle before it could arrive at the governor's desk.

With a clear-cut majority of the legislature in favor of the measure, the governor's veto aroused the Michigan Bankers Association to "all-out" war. Bankers in hundreds of small towns, fearful that a spread of chain banking would ultimately undermine their independence, brought pressure on up-

NOW A 5-DAY WEEK FOR A&P EMPLOYES THROUGHOUT THE NATION

Stores Will Be Open Six Days A Week As Usual But No Employe Will Work More Than Five Days

Two months ago this company tried the experiment in a few eastern states of a five-day work week for our retail store employes. Now we are able to announce that we have adopted the five-day week as our national policy.

• This, we believe, constitutes the first five-day week and the shortest general working hours of any major retail food establishment.

• This shorter work week will be in effect before Labor Day in A&P food stores in thousands of communities throughout the country. It will be extended as far and as fast as possible. Frankly, however, we must recognize that in a few states and a number of cities the introduction of this policy may be delayed or even prevented by state or local labor regulations or local agreements.

• A&P food store employes affected by this policy will work only five days a week although stores will be open six days a week as usual. Their weekly salaries will not be reduced by their shorter work week. Our policy is to continually improve working conditions and salaries as evidenced by the fact that during the past year alone we have been able to make actual wage increases and to pay added compensation to our employes in an amount totaling more than $4,000,000.

• Many people are utterly astounded at the new low prices for quality foods in A&P Super Markets. They are getting so much more and better food for the same money that they wonder how we can do it. Frankly, it is simply because A&P Super Markets represent a new, more efficient, more economical way of distributing food to the public.

• This new, shorter week is still further evidence that the tremendous savings you can now make in buying groceries, meats and fresh fruits and vegetables in the great, new A&P Super Markets are made possible by savings through efficiency and that no part of these savings comes out of the wages of our employes.

FOR many years it has been a source of pride to us that we have been able generally to maintain the highest average wage scale and the shortest general working hours in a field where long hours have been traditional. Since we first cut the work week eight hours in 1916, there has been a long record of further reduction in hours, increases in wages and vacation schedules.

Because our new low prices have resulted in increased patronage, we have been able to further reduce our operating expenses and increase our efficiency and still further improve the working conditions of our employes.

At the same time thousands of families will testify that they buy their foods today at lower average prices in A&P Super Markets than in any group of stores in the highly competitive retail food field. Today, when you spend a dollar in one of our stores, more of that dollar actually purchases food and less of it goes to cover distribution costs and profits than ever before in the history of the food business.

There is no conflict between low prices and good working conditions. We have achieved both by constantly improving methods of bringing food from producer to consumer, cutting out waste and unnecessary handling operations along the distribution route.

The new A&P Super Markets have made possible savings so astounding that we would not have believed them possible five years ago. This year we are paying the highest wages for the shortest work week in the history of the food business and yet our customers throughout the country will save more than $50,000,000 on the food they buy as compared to the lowest prices we could charge on the basis of our own operating expense only five years ago.

We are more than ever conscious, in these unusual times, of an obligation to make every possible contribution to the American standard of living. We know that we are making it possible for the average family to buy more good food for the same money, or to buy the same quantity of food for less money.

We are happy to tell you that you can enjoy these savings with the knowledge that the people who serve you in our retail stores are sharing more than ever before in these good things. This means a better standard of living for you and for those who serve you.

This plan will necessitate slight adjustments in store hours which will be announced locally. We respectfully ask our customers for their cooperation and assistance in making this new schedule a success.

The annual school meeting Monday night was a regular "musical", with vocal solos, duets, trios, and choruses. All over the matter of retaining a musical instructor. Not a question of money, for school finances were in great shape, but many felt that a home economics instructor was more valuable to the students.

Much excitement on the west end of Antrim street last Thursday. Fire broke out in the roof of a house owned by Jim Withers, and the fire laddies went to the scene with one of Hooker's teams pulling the fire cart. While the firemen were busy putting out the fire, the team became frightened and ran clear down to Bridge street, carrying along several boys who had climbed on the wagon to watch the fire. No injuries, to team or boys.

James Parsons, Jr., driving one of C. Danto & Sons' delivery cars, took a high dive over the embankment opposite the Fountain City house Monday afternoon. A team from the Argo Milling company pulled the car to the road. Top of the car was broken off, no other damage.

The 25th annual Michigan state amateur golf championship tournament started today at the Belvedere course, with 140 players competing for the title held by Chuck Kocsis.

Voting salaries to school officers for the first time in recent years, retention of a 9-month school term instead of 9½ months, a squabble over bus service and election of trustees were high spots at the annual meeting of Charlevoix school district No. 1, Monday evening. It was decided to discontinue the winter lecture course series because the feature had run $200 "in the red."

AT THE MOVIES

"Cheers for Miss Bishop"

Thrilling romance and poignant drama sweep through the intensely emotional story which is unfolded in Richard A. Rowland's "Cheers For Miss Bishop," the stirring film drama which opens Sunday, July 20 at the Palace Theatre. The film is a tribute to the splendid acting of a top-notch cast headed by Martha Scott and William Gargan.

The supporting cast in this gripping romance was hand-picked and includes such sterling character actors as Edmund Gwenn, Sidney Blackmer, Marsha Hunt, Sterling Holloway, Dorothy Peterson and Donald Douglas. In addition, "Cheers For Miss Bishop" introduces young Mary Anderson, a flashing brunette who made her screen debut in a lesser role in "Gone with the Wind."

"That Uncertain Feeling"

Merle Oberon and Melvyn Douglas are co-starred as the blissfully happy couple who discover they have no right to be happy in Ernst Lubitsch's light-hearted comedy "That Uncertain Feeling," coming July 22-23 to the Palace Theatre.

Supporting Miss Oberon and Melvyn Douglas, who last came under the Lubitsch baton in "Ninotchka," are Burgess Meredith, who plays a wild-haired pianist with a leaning toward surrealist art; Alan Mowbray, as the psychoanalyst who does his level best to convince lovely Merle that her marriage is not as bright as it seems; Eve Arden, as Sally, an unconventional private secretary; and Sig Rumann, seen as a prosperous Hungarian mattress merchant.

"Moon Over Miami"

Miami, the glamour city of the South, with its swaying palms, gleaming-white beaches, and incredibly blue lagoons, provides the background for the music, laughter and romance of the year's most elaborate Technicolor musical. Appropriately titled "Moon Over Miami," the 20th Century-Fox hit teams Don Ameche and Betty Grable for the second time. The romantic duo of "Down Argentine Way" shares top-featured billing with Robert Cummings.

Coming July 24-26 to the Palace Theatre, "Moon Over Miami" is the gay, tune-filled tale of two sisters, Betty Grable and Carole Landis, and their aunt, Charlotte Greenwood, who invest their $5,000 inheritance in the hope of realizing big dividends. It's an original sort of investment — a holiday fling complete with expensive clothes and a luxurious suite at a swanky Miami Beach hotel. The expected dividends — a millionaire husband for Betty.

Staff of Life

Michigan's more than 4,000,000 residents are firm believers in bread as the "staff of life." The state produces bread and bakery products worth $52,919,747 annually.

Our mess hall is located at one end of our Company street. It is a building about 60 feet long and 20 feet wide, with the kitchen in one end of it and dining room in the rest. Our meals are plain, but there is plenty of it. The mess hall is built of lumber with wooden floors.

At the other end of our Company street is located our bath house. It is about the same size as the mess hall, but has cement floors. We have 12 showers with hot or cold water, so we have a chance to take plenty of cool showers.

The camp is built in amongst the pine trees, so there is quite a bit of shade. They are still building some buildings here, as this camp is a new camp which was only started last September after the national defense program started.

There are 29,697 men in this camp at the present time, at least that was the figure a few days ago.

Our nearest city is Alexandria, La., which is about 15 miles away. There are buses that travel back and forth from the camp at all times.

COMMUNICATIONS

The following two letters are from local youths now serving in the U. S. Army:

"We would like to make mention to the folks back home how some of the boys now at Camp Livingston, La., on a recent trip to New Orleans over the 4th were so generously entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hoelzel, summer residents of Charlevoix for many seasons. That southern hospitality was overwhelming and was deeply appreciated by those soldiers who visited a grand city."

Editor's note:—The above communication was unsigned, but learned later that the boys were Bill Hansen, Bob Heise, Ed. Radle, and Jack Withers.

"I was certainly pleased when the first copy of the Charlevoix Courier came. It was the first real news I received from Charlevoix since I left to join the Air Corps. I am taking this time to thank you for sending the Courier. It seems good to read a paper that has names that are familiar. I like it here in the Air Corps very much and now the government is sending me to photography school, which I could not have afforded on the outside. I haven't regretted a moment that I have been in the Army Air Corps.

Sincerely,
Pvt. Edward R. Stinson."

Dear Friends:

I want first of all to thank you people for the Courier. There is nothing I look forward to more than the home town paper. I have always enjoyed the Courier, but now that I am about 1400 miles away it sure is good to hear what takes place around Charlevoix. I get the paper on Saturday evening. It sure makes swell reading over Sunday, as we have Sunday to ourselves.

We are in the infantry here. The 126 infantry regiment was the national guard unit from Grand Rapids, but now it has been filled to wartime strength with selective service men from Michigan, so we have one thing in common—we're 100% for Michigan.

We have a very nice camp here, though. We live in tents which have wooden floors and side walls about 3 feet high. The rest is screened in, with canvas tops and sides that roll down when it rains. There are five men to the tent, with a gas stove in the center of the tent.

LEGION WILL CONDUCT ALUMINUM GATHERING

Boy Scouts Make Collection Drive on July 24 and 25

The collection of scrap aluminum in Charlevoix and vicinity, to be made July 24 and 25 in the interests of nation defense, will be conducted by Boy Scouts under direction of the American Legion. Mayor Robert Bridge will serve as co-chairman.

The campaign will be carried on simultaneously with every other community in the United States in a gigantic effort to collect enough scrap aluminum to give us 2,000 more fighter planes.

Instructions for marketing the donated aluminum make clear that each community will learn within a short time exactly how much it contributed to the defense cause, both in weight and money value. The information will be sent to each community by the smelter, who will pay for it by check made out to the "National Scrap Aluminum Fund" and deposited in a Federal bank. The money will be used by the United States Government for civilian defense purposes.

The names of waste material dealers to whom the metal is to be delivered after collection will be announced by the Michigan Council of Defense before the campaign opens. If the designated dealer's yard is at some distance from Charlevoix, transportation will be furnished by county or state highway department trucks. The dealer is to bale the scrap and send it to a smelter on the approved list of the Office of Production Management.

For the Love of Pat!

By JAMES H. DUDLEY
(McClure Syndicate—WNU Service.)

"AND she had the gun, sure enough," Patrolman Hanney continued; "strapped in a holster above her knee. What a handfull The air was full of heels and fingernails—like wrestling with a centipede. And when this punk horned in, I had to take time out to cuff him one."

"Holy Saint Peter!" thought Sergeant Duggan. "They get younger every day." He shifted his massive bulk in the chair and appraised the two prisoners, then picked up his pen.

"What's your name?" he asked the girl. Her lips closed firmly.

"The dame that tipped me off," volunteered Hanney, "called her Pat."

"Maybe her pal will oblige us after we work on him a bit." The sergeant pushed a button and as a buxom police matron appeared, "Take her away," he ordered.

"Let her go and I'll talk," said the boy curtly.

"No, Frankie!" Hanney leaped to the matron's aid. The girl's resistance collapsed and she went out quietly. With the closing of the door, the boy lost his air of aloof unconcern.

"All right. My name's Frank Danton. Get Sergeant Robinson, from Scott precinct, and I'll spill everything."

"Robinson! Why?" asked Duggan suspiciously. Confronted by an obstinate silence, he yielded to his inward curiosity and dialed with a stubby finger.

"Hello, Scott? . . . Duggan, from Davison. Get Sergeant Robinson, will you? . . . hello, Robbie! Say, we got a bird here called Frank Danton, alias Phantom Frank, who refuses to talk unless you're present . . . what? . . . what's the joke?" Duggan scowled into the mouthpiece . . . "Oh, yeah! You better come anyway . . . okay."

Sergeant Robinson, round-faced and apple-cheeked, entered chuckling. He clapped the boy's shoulder and peered quizzically at the damaged eye.

"Tst, tst, Frank! Who hung the shiner on you?"

"He started something and got himself slapped," Duggan said shortly.

"Somebody's kidding you, Bill. I've known Frank ever since I was pounding a beat twenty years ago."

"How about this?" Duggan slid the gun across the desk. "His girl was carrying it." Robinson's eyes sobered.

"It's like this, Sarge," explained the boy, shamefacedly. "Pat—she's Patricia Fahey—is crook crazy. Nothing wrong . . . she's just a kid and . . . well, I—I fell for her and was afraid to tell her I was a soda jerker. So I made up this story about being wanted . . . I even bought the gun for her to carry. Trouble was, Sarge, she musta boasted to some dame about the"—the boy blushed and swallowed—"the price on my head. That's the truth, I swear."

Sergeant Robinson's chins gave a preliminary quiver.

"Maybe she's had a lesson," he said doubtfully. Duggan reached for the battery of push buttons.

"Wait." Robinson dried his eyes. "You going to tell her the truth, Frank?"

"She'll be off me for life," replied Frank, disconsolate.

"Pat's a good kid," insisted the boy loyally. "She works in a five-and-ten and hands all her dough over to her folks. She's only seventeen, Sarge. She'll get over it."

"Well, if you're sure . . . say!" Robinson beamed. "I've got it."

A quietly understanding matron and the terrifying impersonality of a cell had done much to eradicate Patricia's anti-social propensities. She came in, cast an anxious, frightened glance at the blue uniforms, and sped to Frank. Sergeant Duggan cleared his throat.

"Remember, Phantom!" he rasped. "You may have been clever enough to play a lone hand and fool the police of—of two continents, but sooner or later you'll slip. The Federals suspect you of wounding those G-men in Iowa and if they ever get proof, God help you! You'll be Public Enemy Number . . ." he eyed Robinson uncertainly.

"Three," prompted the latter.

"Number Three," Duggan went on. "And you know what that means!"

"Either get a job or leave town," warned Robinson sternly. "We'll be watching you, Phantom."

"Get out!" roared Duggan. "Both of you!"

Frank seized Pat's wrist. The way to the door and freedom was clear.

"Mad at me, Frankie?" she asked, timidly.

"Naw." Pat pressed closer, her immature bosom swelling with relief and adoration. If only—no, she dared not hope. She waited until a block was traversed. Then:

"Will you do it? I mean, get a job?" He stopped and Pat felt his arm tense. That eye looked uncompromisingly severe. "Please," she urged. "For me, Frankie."

It seemed a long wait to Pat. In reality, it was just long enough for the boy to focus his good eye.

"For you, Baby," he whispered in her ear, "I'll do anything . . . even go straight!"

Williams had advanced to the finals through an astounding victory Sunday morning over Frank Connelly, veteran Detroiter, 1 up on the 21st green. The long-hitting Williams, whose antics brought both amusement and criticism from the gallery, was three down with four holes to play against Connelly, but rallied to send the match into extra holes and ultimate victory. He took the 15th, dropped a 50-foot putt to win the 17th and copped the 18th to even the match.

But there was no opportunity to rally against Kocsis. The diminutive Sammy bagged the first two holes as Williams slipped above par figures. Kocsis made the turn 3-up with a par 36, five strokes better than Williams and kept firing steady pars at his opponent until the match ended on the 16th green. Sammy was off the fairway only once during the match.

The tournament brought its largest entry in ten years to the beautiful Belvedere course. The qualifying field numbered 154, fifteen greater than a year ago. Players and officials alike were greatly pleased with condition of the course, some expressing the opinion it was in the finest shape in history. James D. Standish, secretary of the Michigan Golf League, stated the event would be returned to Charlevoix next year providing an invitation is extended.

Gardenia Queen Chooses Chevrolet -

Pretty Martha Mitchell, Queen of the Gardenia Festival at the famous Cypress Gardens in Florida, has just put her royal seal of approval on the Chevrolet Convertible Cabriolet—the outdoor car—by purchasing a new one for her own use. Ever willing to oblige by posing for the hundreds of camera fans who consider the Gardens a mecca for picture-taking, Queen Martha can now reach location quickly and flood herself with sunshine by rolling back the vacuum-operated top at the touch of a dash button.

RED CROSS NEWS

As we write last week of the Red Cross and the "sudden death" furlough investigation let us look at another phase of the Home Service. Let us take for example—a soldier has been inducted into the army. From his original camp he has been transferred to some other center and perhaps to even a third camp. He has received no mail from home or they have not heard from him. The field director in this case is the connecting link and is very willing and able to locate the soldier for his people or discover the actual condition of affairs at home for the soldier's peace of mind. The soldier contacts the field director in his camp and his people at home contact their Red Cross chapter home service chairman, in Charlevoix county, Mrs. Leslie, of Boyne City. A man who is worrying as to conditions at home cannot be an efficient soldier and this service is designed to help in every way possible the morale of the men at camp. Should a soldier become seriously enough ill to warrant his mother being sent for it is the Red Cross Field Director who takes charge of her as she arrives in camp and sees that she is taken care of and if necessary arranges for her transportation and expenses.

Another branch of home service has to do with soldiers who become actually necessary at home after they have once been inducted into the service. Say at the time of his induction his father is living and able to take care of his mother. After the man is in camp his father dies, leaving the mother destitute. In such an event the Red Cross investigates and if it is possible for the soldier to get a job that will take care of his mother recommends that he be given an honorable discharge and returned to civilian life.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Wheat Growers Use Marketing Cards

Wheat marketing cards will be available to about 175 Charlevoix county wheat farmers, according to Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix County Triple-A committee. Every farmer that expects to sell wheat will need a wheat marketing card.

Marketing cards are made available to wheat farmers as a means of showing that their wheat is eligible to be sold without penalty. If excess wheat is sold, the person purchasing the wheat must pay the 49 cents penalty. Elevator operators and other buyers of wheat are cooperating with farmers in the administration of the marketing quota law by requesting that all farmers have a wheat marketing card before selling their wheat. This not only protects them against buying excess wheat on which the penalty has not been paid, but also protects wheat growers from price depression resulting from wholesale marketing of excess wheat. Wheat marketing cards are essential to the orderly marketing of wheat, Mr. Henley declared.

Farmers who have excess wheat may do one of three things with the excess: (1) The excess wheat may be stored on the farm or in an elevator in accordance with regulations; (2) Excess wheat may be delivered to the Secretary of Agriculture for use in distribution to relief; or (3) A penalty of 49 cents per bushel may be paid on the excess. A wheat marketing card will not be issued to a farmer with excess wheat until the excess wheat is taken care of.

The intent of marketing quotas is not to force farmers to pay a penalty of 49 cents per bushel on the wheat they produced in excess of their farm quota, but rather to hold excess wheat off the market until it is needed, and marketing cards are necessary to provide a check on this excess wheat.

The penalty on the farm marketing excess may be avoided by one of four ways: (1) The farm marketing excess may be delivered to the Secretary of Agriculture for distribution to relief; (2) The 1942 wheat acreage may be reduced below the allotment in the amount of excess acres in 1941; (3) If the actual wheat production in 1942 is less than the normal yield, the difference may be made up by excess wheat; or (4) The excess wheat may be stored until the marketing year in which wheat marketing quotas are not applicable.

EDITORIAL

A JOB TO DO

"What can I do to help?" has been the question of every loyal American since it became obvious to all that our nation is in danger as the result of Hitler's campaign of conquest. The desire to be of help is universal, but thus far there have not been many opportunities for everyone to make a direct contribution to national defense.

Many families, it is true, have sent their sons to the Army or Navy; those families, and those boys, are making a real contribution. But the vast majority of us have been waiting for a chance to do something.

Now we all have a chance to lend a hand.

On July 24 and 25, scrap aluminum will be collected in every community of the United States to help overcome the temporary shortage of the metal which is interfering with defense production. The Office of Production Management has asked that every unused aluminum article in the country be tossed on the scrap pile in the hope that enough aluminum will be collected to free material to build 2,000 badly-needed fighter planes. People are being asked to give only those things which can be spared and need not be replaced, such as leaky pots and pans, discarded pancake griddles, picture frames, old radio parts, and the like. Such articles are gathering dust and cluttering up pantry shelves in every home in the country. They are needed now for national defense.

We have the word of the OPM that no one will profit from the transaction, and the reputation of those leading the campaign is a guarantee of its validity.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, of New York, is head of the U. S. Civilian Defense Office, which is sponsoring the drive, with the Michigan Council of Defense supervising the campaign. The actual work is under the command of our war veterans and county agents, with the mayors and village presidents of the state cooperating. A score or more of youth, farm, school, church, fraternal, service, social, and patriotic organizations are giving active support to the movement. We all know the people who are doing the work in our own community, and because we know them, we are confident that this is a patriotic campaign from which the whole nation will benefit.

To reach the national goal of 20,000,000 pounds of scrap aluminum, every person in the United States must give all he can. Start weeding out all the useless aluminum articles in your home today, and have them ready to deliver to the collectors when they call on you July 24 or 25.

The aluminum is needed urgently. Here is our long-awaited chance to do something for the defense of our country.

BUY COAL NOW

Buying coal in the summer time for the next winter's use always is a foreboded practice. Doing so now is a bit of preparedness that fits in well with the national defense program. A government statement urges householders to lay in next season's fuel requirements now lest a possible transportation shortage in the coming months finds them unprepared.

It is good advice. The nation's arms building effort is rapidly gaining momentum and it is bound to increase in the months ahead. The shipment of raw materials and completed goods is going to place an ever-growing load on the nation's transportation systems. Coal that can be hauled from the mines to consumers' bins this summer will not have to be transported during the winter releasing just that much tonnage for the arms industries.

There is no hint in the government statement that shipping priorities are being considered but it is entirely possible they might become necessary. That was the case during the World War. If they become necessary and are applied next winter to coal shipments the people who fail to take the government's advice now will have scant grounds on which to complain.

FORM AGRICULTURAL DEFENSE GROUP HERE

Walter Henley, AAA Chairman, Named Head Organization

Word has been received here that a United States Department of Agriculture County Defense Board has been established in Charlevoix county, as in every agricultural county of the state and nation, and that Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix County Triple-A Committee, has been named chairman of the new Charlevoix County agricultural defense board.

The announcement was made by Maurice A. Doan, of Perrinton, a Gratiot county farmer and chairman of the State AAA Committee, who has been named chairman of the new state agricultural defense board by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard.

Doan stated that the membership of both the state and county defense boards will be made up of a representative from each of the Department of Agriculture agencies located in the state and county.

The state and county defense boards will be charged with the responsibility of coordinating the work of all United States Department of Agriculture agencies dealing with or affected by the national defense program, Doan pointed out. The purpose of the action is to create administrative machinery through which defense responsibilities of the Secretary of Agriculture and the Department of Agriculture as a whole can be met quickly and efficiently.

In establishing these defense boards, Secretary Wickard declared that the major part of the Department of Agriculture's defense job involving field work centers on adjustment of farm production. Commenting on the appointment of state and county chairmen as chairmen of the new defense boards, the secretary pointed out that helping farmers make adjustments in production is the major job of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The agencies of the Department of Agriculture whose representatives serve on the state defense boards include the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, the Farm Security Administration, the Soil Conservation Service, the Farm Credit Administration, the Surplus Marketing Administration, the Agricultural Marketing Service, the Forest Service, the Rural Electrification Administration, and the Federal State Cooperative Extension Service.

How to become A SKILLED DRIVER

By RAY W. SHERMAN

FORD GOOD DRIVERS LEAGUE

(EDITOR'S NOTE: We believe many motorists in this community would drive better if they knew better how to drive. In the interest of safety, we will publish from time to time excerpts from the book, "How to Become a Skilled Driver," written for the Ford Good Drivers League by Ray W. Sherman, noted authority on driving. These excerpts are reprinted through courtesy of the Ford Motor Company.)

SKILLED DRIVERS NEVER STUNT

Some drivers think skill behind the wheel consists in doing tricks with a car—driving fast, beating lights, gliding through "stop" signs or generally making the rest of the world miserable.

When a skilled driver watches one of these unskilled operators, he feels rather sorry. He sees a wonderful piece of machinery, glorious roads leading to lovely countrysides, a driver with good intellect, good arms, good legs, good eyes. And he sees the whole picture marred because the driver never acquired real driving skill.

Some drivers think they're smart when they do tricks with a car. Actually, if a driver doesn't think right, he can't drive right.

MILK VALUABLE AS CHICK FOOD

Starts Poultry on Rapid, Continuous Growth.

By WILLARD C. THOMPSON
(Head of Poultry Department, Rutgers University)

Although nature probably never intended chicks to grow and develop on a milk diet, milk is nevertheless one of the best foods on which to start chicks on careers of rapid, continuous growth.

The best form in which to use milk for chicks is sour skim milk furnished as a beverage. The process of souring breaks down the milk solids into forms which are readily digested by chicks. The presence of the lactic acid in the intestines of the chicks is also advantageous. If every chick placed under brooders this spring could be made to drink sour skim milk every day during the first 10 weeks of its life the 1941 chick crop would show a remarkable growth and a very low mortality, other things being equal.

Furnish chicks a sufficient supply of sour skim milk preferably in stone ware or glass containers, every morning. Withholding water will force them to drink it. Always empty out whatever old milk may remain in the containers and thoroughly cleanse the utensils before refilling. There is so much water in sour skim milk that chicks really do not need water as well as the milk.

Sour skim milk seems to serve as an appetizer for chicks. By encouraging greater grain and mash consumption, it speeds up the rate of development.

Sour skim milk is a splendid supplement, particularly for broiler rations. In places where skim milk is not available, the commercial condensed buttermilk products may be diluted and used as a beverage. Of course, buttermilk may be used in place of sour skim milk if it is more readily available and cheaper.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY.

By Florence C. Weed

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

Oats

An important industrial use for oat hulls was discovered by accident in 1922. Chemists were trying to improve the digestibility of oats as a cattle feed when they discovered furfural, a compound obtained from oat hulls. At first this was a laboratory curiosity, but soon many uses were uncovered.

Large quantities of furfurol are obtained as a by-product in the manufacture of rolled oats and at times, cereal companies operate mainly to produce raw oat hulls as the raw material for furfural. This compound might also be obtained from straw of wheat and other grains.

At present, furfural is sold in tank lots for a germicide, a wood preservative, an improver of tobacco flavor, a solvent for dyes and leather dressing and in the refining of lubricating oils

It is also possible to use furfural as a plastic compound. New methods are being studied to keep it from turning dark. It has been proposed as a material for a durable waterproof road when blended with soap, salt, lime, farm wastes and soil.

Several kinds of alcohol can be produced commercially from furfural and appear to have promise as solvents, plasticizers and wetting and cleansing agents in different kinds of manufacturing. It might also be used as a fuel for Diesel engines if it were not so expensive.

More familiar uses of oat straw are as a blanket in curing concrete roads, as bindered in briquetted fuels and as poultry litter. The United States produces 25 per cent of the world's oats, valued at $350,000,000.

Greater Farm Market

Michigan farmers have 25 times as big a state market as they had a generation ago. This is illustrated in the "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity"—campaign. Sixty years ago each group of 1,000 people living on Michigan farms had only 200 non-farm persons to supply, while today each group has 5,000 such persons.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

Ken Smith, Camp Scribe

"Stay With the Bont, Stay With the Boat" comes the cry from the dining room often during the week, as Joe Moran is instilling in the boys this one bit of good, sound advice regarding what to do if your canoe should tip over. Many thanks, Joe, as I, personally, will appreciate that bit of advice for many moons.

The camper-counselor softball game last Tuesday night ended in a 9-9 tie and was called because of darkness. Nice umping, Chief. Bob Walls, Howard VanAntwerp, and Dave Dutcher played well for the campers, while Harry Bingham and "Chief" with their umpiring were the counselors great help. Another game is scheduled in the near future, and if it can be arranged so that "Hitch" will not be away on his day off, the campers had better watch out.

Of course, one of the high lights of the week was the boxing show which Jerry Wilson put on last Wednesday night. Now, as never before, I believe that we are realizing the importance of our boys being physically fit. It was a joy to see these boys box and wrestle, and they gave a fine demonstration of the work that Jerry is doing. The boys who took part in the show were: Jimmy Howlett, Buddy Jenkins, John Hunting, Dick Abbott, Sarge Harvey, Buddy Gage, Charlie Marcus, Ken Vincent, Bill Carr, Cary Bachman, Jim Nicholson, Allyn Wright, Billy Ives, Tommy Bennett, Billy Lutz, Jimmy Fox, Allen Hunting, Sammy Greenawalt, Bobby Bitker, Bob Walls, Roger Korten, and Henry Gardner. That was a swell show, and here's an iron boxing glove to Jerry.

Thirty-five of our boys went over to Camp Hayo-Went-Ha on Thursday to play our annual games against them. We played two games of softball, three tennis matches, and a riflery match. The scores were close in all contests, but we just seemed to be on the wrong end each time. However, we are to be their hosts this week, and with all the practice that has been going on under the leadership of Jerry Wilson, Dick Osmer and Phil Penberthy, maybe we'll have a different ending to this story next week.

With the Pioneer Section having to fell a few trees in order to complete its project (a big secret), it gave a fine opportunity to have some sawing and chopping contests. Friday just before our rest hour period (a most welcome part of the day's program) Bob Walls and Dick Nolan outsawed Al Birdsall and Jim Nicholson, winning by 16 seconds. Bill Kerr and Dick Sample won by 5 seconds over Cary Bachman and Sammy Greenawalt. Chief and Harry Bingham put on an exhibition, taking only 26 seconds to get through the log. In the dining room that noon, "Chief" issued a challenge for log chopping. Coach Harold Steele took up the challenge and beat the "Chief" by one chip.

The shouts sounded far, and the laughter lifted high last Saturday when Huntley Johnson and his committee put on a Scavenger Hunt for the boys. After an hour and fifteen minutes of collecting everything from a live fish to 09 ants, the Greens won in the Pioneer and Intermediate sections but the Grays won in the Junior Section. It was sure quite a collection of mud, daisies, fish, ants, pictures, autographs, and bees. The committee plans another one of these in the future, as everyone in camp is taken into the hunt.

Saturday night Don Neisch and Don Horton put on two plays, the first of which was "Indians on the Run" and dealt with a camp very similar to ours, in fact, we both had the very same "Chief" in person. Others in the cast were: Jim Curtis, Dick Nolan, Bob Walls, Roger Korten with "Hitch" Hitchcock and Buster Naegle playing two fake Indian Chiefs. The play was followed up with a swift-moving (like molasses) drama called "Tobacco River" starring Don Neisch, Ed. Conner, and Charlie Marcus.

Dick Osmer gave a splendid talk at chapel on Sunday morning when he spoke on "Honoring Thy Father and Thy Mother". It was one of the most inspiring services I've seen here at camp, and Dick gave the boys many fine thoughts to think about. The counselor choir sang "Fairest Lord Jesus".

Plans are going steadily ahead for Dad's Day on the 26th—with the committee putting some innovations in this year. Mothers and dads are invited to participate in the program beginning with breakfast at 8:15, through lunch and the banquet. Dads should come dressed for baseball and swim. We will go back to Eastern Time for that day. This is our biggest day of the year, so please make your reservations early.

More next week, and until then, a looooong cheer for Camp Charlevoix.

state legislators whether Republican or Democrat. Enough pledges to override the veto were obtained by the state association.

But Governor Vnn Wagoner had his own ideas. When the legislature convened for the final session prior to scheduled adjournment, Republicans discovered that the executive office had exacted a promise of cooperation from enough Democratic legislators — pledge or no pledge—to stymie their well-laid plans.

House Overrides 13

Just to show their fettle, members of the house over-rode 13 of the governor's vetoes. However, the Senate Republican majority was less certain and in the only test vote there the Republicans fell short of a two-thirds margin necessary to over-ride a veto of an act to expand state police powers in handling of riots and labor disputes.

A legal complication arose in the fact that the legislature previously had agreed by resolution to adjourn at noon Wednesday, July 9.

Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton, a Republican, tried to be helpful with an informal opinion that the house should suspend rules, rescind acceptance of a date set by the senate for sine die adjournment, and substitute a recess instead.

When Lieut. Governor Frank Murphy announced at 12:30 p. m. that "The Senate is adjourned", Republicans quickly squelched his decision. Byron L. Ballard, the governor's legal advisor, thus opined: "It is our contention and belief that the legislature is not legally in session. There is not much use discussing actions which have no legal force."

All of which was interesting, but merely muddled the muddle a bit more.

McPherson to Go

A factor in the legislative situation is the popularity of Melville B. McPherson, state tax commission chairman, with upstate Republican legislators.

McPherson, always a staunch advocate of "home rule" as against centralized state control, has been the friend of small town law-makers in their effort to retain (or get back) state aid for local government.

He has been a candidate for governor in competition with the late Frank Fitzgerald and later with Luren D. Dickinson, but he always has managed to keep in the good graces of the administration in power. However, McPherson's term will expire in September, and he knows that he cannot be re-appointed.

Under the state act setting up the centralizing tax collection system, the position of tax director is to be filled by the civil service commission and the act states that the commission must select a man who has had years of experience in tax matters. McPherson is one of the few persons in Michigan who could qualify. Another individual is Louis Nimms, now director of the state sales tax administration and former state administrator of federal public works.

However, the 90-day recess, just ordered by the legislature, will tie the governor's hands in appointing McPherson's successor, and McPherson thus is likely to continue to draw his state checks each month and to remain at Lansing as the unofficial spokesman of rural interests.

What Delay May Mean

Whether public reaction will be favorable or unfavorable to the legislative muddle was a topic of discussion among Republican elective officials, several of whom were apprehensive that the voters will not take well to it.

For example, here are some of the complications:

If the federal government decides not to continue matching old-age pensions until Public Act 186 takes effect (90 days after final adjournment), the recess would cost the state approximately $5,000,000 in federal aid.

The state revenue department cannot be established until January.

The anti-sabotage law will not go into effect until January.

Milk prices also cannot be fixed by the new milk marketing act; farmers may be deprived of these benefits for another 90 days.

On the other hand, Republican legislators point out that the international situation is rapidly becoming critical; that there has been much press comment on the possibility of a special session to consider financial matters; and that, all in all, the legislature should not adjourn during such an emergency.

Whatever your verdict may be, the fact still remains; Michigan's bi-partisan government is a myth. The political feud is on at Lansing.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Infant Diarrhea

Hot, humid weather means an inevitable increase in the incidence to and mortality from diarrhea occurring in children less than one year old, states Dr. James Chapman, director of the District Health Department. In some of the areas of the United States, one third of all infant deaths result from this disease. He points out that bottle-fed babies are especially susceptible while those who can be nursed through the summer seem to be relatively immune.

Dr. Chapman says, there is no question that many a severe illness, often terminating fatally, could be avoided were mothers generally familiar with methods of preventing diarrhea. A knowledge of early symptoms and a disposition to summon the doctor in time would also save many an infant.

A slight tendency to diarrhea during the summer months should be checked at once is also the advice of the Michigan Joint Committee on Health Education. Stools that are more loose than normal means a loss of water from the body. As this condition progresses, the stools may assume a greenish cast. Hospitalization is usually necessary at this point and the outcome cannot be termed favorable.

Many a well-meaning mother has done irreparable harm to her baby by administering a laxative or enema on the advice of a neighbor or because family tradition declares this to be a cure-all for all infant ills.

Measures conducive to the prevention of diarrhea in infants include:

Breast feeding where possible and in other cases the rigid adherence to a formula insuring sufficient caloric intake in the form of proteins, fats and sugars.

Overfeeding is more pernicious that underfeeding. A tendency to vomit should be checked.

The baby must be given frequent drinks of boiled, cool water, to offset the loss of fluid through the skin and lungs.

The nursery must be adequately ventilated and the house should be screened against flies which are notorious disease carriers.

Suitable clothing is an essential for infant comfort and health and proper garments can be suggested by the family doctor if the mother is in doubt.

Control of diarrhea, should it appear, must be entrusted to a competent physician. Given early attention, patients respond to the intravenous injection of fluids and to the addition of barley or rice water to skimmed, boiled milk or small amounts of lactic acid milk.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Know your evergreens — nine cone-bearers are natives of Charlevoix county, all evergreen but one, tamarick.

1. White Pine tops the list. Always easy to know; the king of trees. Five needles in a cluster, five letters in the word "white". Count the needles—it's a white pine.

2. Red Pine, also called Norway pine after Norway, Maine, where it was lumbered extensively. Its bark is reddish with smooth scales, the needles are longer and come only two in a bundle.

3. Pine three is the Gray Scrub, better known to us as Jack Pine. It's that stunted, scraggly pine growing in sandy, barren places. Does pretty well at that, considering environment.

4. Tamarick, that's the queer one. The part-time nudist, the one who drops her needles in the fall. But it's a lovely green gown she dons in spring. Sister of the pine family, with cones clinging to her branches all year thru. A cold swamp is home to the tamarick.

5. Black spruce, swamp or bog spruce. Always found with tamarick and also holds onto its cones. In its branches you'll find weather-beaten cones from years back.

6. White spruce, black spruce's sister is much more spruce-looking. She is vigorous and handsome, with a fine symmetry of form. Cones drop off soon after they have ripened. On both spruces the needles are short and four-sided, arranged to make the twig look round.

7. Hemlock, the biggest, tallest tree in the forest, has perhaps the most graceful foliage of any of the pine family. Twigs are slender, leaves small and flat, shiny green above and silvery white on the underside. Cones are smaller than those of the black spruce.

8. Balsam, sweetest of the nine, the Santa Claus tree. Has blisters raised up on its grey bark. Here's how to tell it from a spruce: two narrow white lines along the under side of each needle.

9. Last but not least by any means, white cedar, also called arbor vitae. Yes, that's your hedge. Your cedar chest is red cedar, not a local native but is the same family as common juniper. White cedar leaves look as if they had been steam-rollered and by their flatness are distinguished from all other evergreens.

thing and one of the fellows, a guy who hadn't claimed to be a fisherman at all, took the blue ribbon. Fortunately they were polite, accepting my excuses without question. Then I'd bragged about our always perfect weather here in Charlevoix and got away with it until inviting the visiting families for a beach party. Yes, it rained. Well, I'm going right on bragging (about Charlevoix) anyway.

Sometimes when I set down to write this column I feel like the Carlisle, Pa. editor who skipped one edition of his weekly paper with the following explanation: "No paper this week! Getting out a newspaper every week is an awful grind. We feel sure our subscribers will not begrudge us this week for rest and recreation."

With the world trembling and falling about our ears, it is reassuring to know that advertising moves steadily along, continuing to perform its daily miracles, large and small. We were particularly impressed with an event which happened in Lawrence, Mass., the other day when advertising came to the rescue of a prize pedigreed Persian cat which had just produced a phenomenal litter of ten kittens. Knowing that "Rusty Madame Fluffy" could not adequately feed her extraordinary family, her owned placed a classified ad for a foster mother cat in the newspaper at Lawrence. Within a few hours five telephone offers of cat mothers were received, and "Calico Kate," a part Angorn, part tortoise shell cat, was selected to care for five of "Rusty Madame Fluffy's" kittens. Kate became the mother of four kittens on the same day as Fluffy, but her offspring were destroyed. Moral: Don't forget the Courier when you want something or something to sell!

FOOD CHAIN ADOPTS 5-DAY WEEK POLICY

A. & P. Shorter Work Hour Plan Extended Throughout Stores

John A. Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, today announced the adoption of the five-day work week for retail store employes as the company's national policy.

The five-day, 48-hour week, first in the history of the retail food business, was introduced on an experimental basis in A & P stores in a few eastern states two months ago, Hartford said, and will now be extended throughout the entire A & P organization "as far and as fast" as possible.

"Frankly, however, we must recognize," Hartford said, "that in a few states and some cities the introduction of this shorter work week may be delayed or even prevented by state and local labor regulations and local agreements."

In Detroit, John Toolin, president of the Central Western Division, said that the shorter week will be in effect before Labor Day in A & P food stores in hundreds of communities throughout this area. He pointed out that the pay of employes affected by this policy will remain the same as for the six-day week and although employes will work only five days a week, stores will continue to serve customers six days as usual.

"The new schedule is the latest step in the company's traditional policy of creating and maintaining for its employes the highest wages, shortest general hours and best working conditions in the industry," Toolin said.

MUMMERS OFFER A MYSTERY PLAY

run of the production. Supporting Mr. Marks, in the all professional cast will be such capable performers as Audrey Totter, William Green, John Goldsworthy, Ann Baker, and Alma Du Bus.

The play, a psychological study of a murderer, is anything but a typical "who done it". The audience is aware, almost from the first, of the identity of the killer and the play deals with his efforts to evade apprehension while he continues on his amazing career. Particularly thrilling are the introduction of the mysterious locked hat box and its grimesome contents and the efforts of the neurotic, unbidited Olivia to shield the culprit by whom she is fascinated.

The role of Mrs. Bramson, hypochondriac pseudo invalid, will be played by Ann Baker, who in her career has played leading roles on stage, screen and radio. John Goldsworthy, popular British star, will lead comedy relief as Sir Hubert Lauric, unsuccessful suitor for the hand of the strange Olivia, whose difficult part will be played by Audrey Totter, outstanding as Ann in Goodbye Again. Alma Du Bus as the cockney cook, William Green as inspector Belsize who pursues and finally apprehends the criminal, complete the stellar cast.

JACK KELLY SHOW TO OPEN HERE JULY 23RD

Start 5-Day Stand Under Auspices of American Legion.

Opening a five-night engagement at the usual location in Charlevoix on next Wednesday, July 23rd, under auspices of the local American Legion post, Jack Kelly will present his all new big tent show replete with plays, vaudeville and music to Charlevoix and vicinity folks once again.

This year's show is the largest in size ever presented under the Kelly banner, twenty-two people appearing in the cast and embracing outstanding vaudeville features galore headed by the ever popular Toby Cornish and with such big time vaudeville acts as Embs and Alton, a truly sensational entertainment attraction, Glenn (Speck) McCord, the famous Hoffmans and many others.

The opening play this year especially written for Toby Cornish, is not only packed with laughs but plenty of action as well and best news of all the show has reduced admission prices within reach of all so that coming early for best seats is just about the wisest thing to do, especially this year.

The Legion post shares in the gross admission proceeds so that attendance at the show is not only a grand chance to enjoy a stage show but also to add a substantial amount to the Legion fund.

CHARLEVOIX FARMERS GIVEN ASSN. LOANS

Credits Up to July 1 Highest In Association's History.

Farmers of Charlevoix county helped to swell the loan volume of the Gaylord Production Credit association up to July 1 this year to the largest figure—$233,513.67—in this credit co-op's history, according to A. J. Townsend, secretary-treasurer.

A large share of the $164,297.04 loaned during the first 6 months of this year, he said, went to finance seasonal operations of Charlevoix county farmers. The 1941 figure is $17,433.82 over the 1940 figure for the same period.

Some of the increase, the secretary said, can be attributed to farmers increasing their production of certain farm commodities to aid the food-for-defense program.

CITY BAND PLANS CONCERT AT ELLSWORTH

Concerts at Central Lake, Bellaire and perhaps other nearby towns are planned.

Business men are invited to accompany the band on these trips and join in the spirit of community cooperation which motivates the plan.

1940 REGULATIONS KEPT AT CONSERVATION MEET

Parts of Wilderness Park and Hartwick Pines to Be Opened for Deer Hunting

Hunters will comb woods and fields for grouse, pheasants, rabbits, squirrels and raccoons, and trappers will take muskrats and mink this fall in seasons virtually identical with seasons in 1940 as the conservation commission, acting on game division reports of good game crops, has continued most existing regulations in effect.

Waterfowl shooting regulations have yet to be fixed in detail, pending announcement of federal regulations, but the commission has indicated it would protect woodducks whether federal rules do or not. The 2 p. m. closing hour for waterfowl shooting was renewed on Hoighton lake, but allowed to expire on Muskegon lake.

The area open to deer hunting continues as before, except that hunting for deer of both sexes will be allowed under proper restrictions in parts of Allegan county when the new law authorizing this hunting becomes effective. Delayed effective date of another new law is all that will prevent hunting and trapping in 2,000 acres of Hartwick Pines state park and 1,000 acres of Wilderness state park in the fall hunting and trapping seasons.

The ban on black squirrel shooting in any part of Michigan continues in effect, while fox and gray squirrels may be hunted in the lower peninsula October 15 to November 5. The upper peninsula is closed to squirrel hunting, and Emmet and Cheboygan counties may be closed to fox squirrel hunting again if Conservation Director P. J. Hoffmaster finds such action warranted.

The commission took no action to restrict statutory seasons or bag limits for cottontail rabbits or snowshoe hares. Effective date of the new law will determine whether the three-a-day or five-a-day bag limit on cottontails will prevail.

With shootable populations of Hungarian partridge still lacking, the commission continued the closed season on these game birds another three years.

James and Gladys Jackson, husband and wife, are being held in county jail under bond for hearing on a charge of obtaining property under false pretenses.

MAKE ALUMINUM CANVASS FRIDAY

BOY SCOUTS TO SOLICIT ON ALL CITY STREETS

American Legion and County Road Commission Cooperating In National Defense Effort

The campaign in Charlevoix to collect aluminum for national defense will be conducted Friday by the Boy Scouts, with the American Legion and county road commission cooperating.

At nine o'clock Scouts will cover each street in town, accompanied by a road truck. Householders are asked to place what aluminum they have to contribute on the front steps so collection can be made rapidly. Pots, pans, frying pans, kettles, coffee pots, percolators—anything that is wholly or partly aluminum—is wanted. The road department is also building a bin in the park where all collections will be placed. Any aluminum that is missed by the Scouts, or which people from outside of town wish to give, can be thrown in the bin any time on Friday or Saturday.

Later the road department will haul the collection to some designated point where a truck caravan will pick it up along with other collections for transportation to the smelters. The money received from sales to the smelters will be used for national defense.

Let's make Charlevoix's donation as big as possible. And let's co-operate with the Scouts by having the aluminum on the front porch early Friday morning. Some time during the day it will be picked up.

CLASSIFY NEW DRAFTEES SOON

BOYNE FALLS MAN FIRST TO HAVE NUMBER DRAWN

First Five Unofficially Named; Charlevoix County to Furnish August Quota of Three

The Charlevoix county draft board is awaiting further information following receipt of master lists of the second draft lottery to classify the 76 young men registered in this county July 1.

Under the procedure outlined for classifying the new registrants, a name will be placed in the order list after every 11 names listed in the original draft lottery, it was announced by Fay Davis, draft board clerk.

The highest number drafted from this county, according to the draft board, was 469. Thus the order number of the first new registrant will be 480 S. The second man lister for the county in the lottery will have order number 491 S.

While 800 numbers were drawn in the lottery, there were only 76 registered in this county. Final and authentic information will not be available until the draft board meets to classify new registrants. However, unofficial information indicates that Gustav Matz, of Boyne Falls, holder of serial number 39, was the first Charlevoix county man to have his number drawn. It was actually the seventh number drawn in the lottery.

The next four whose numbers came up were: second, Keith Carey, of Charlevoix; third, Bernard McCafferty, of Charlevoix; fourth, Glenn Massey, of Boyne Falls; fifth, Archie Wasegishik, of Charlevoix.

The draft board has announced that a quota of three men has been allotted to the county for military service in August. Names of the men and date they will be called has not been determined. It is believed the August quota will not include any of the men whose numbers were drawn in the last lottery. Classification and examination will take too long for any of the new registrants to be included in the August contingent.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

God gave man five senses—touch, taste, sight, smell and hearing. There should have been two more—horse and common.

Recent reference to the length of time Charlevoix has attracted resorters and mention of some of the old-time families coming here brought out some interesting facts. For instance, Miss Marie L. Heaton offered the information that the Belvedere Club was established in 1878 and that she had been coming here every summer since 1880. Mrs. Charles Godcheaux, member of the well known New Orleans family residing on Michigan avenue, stated her grandparents started coming to Charlevoix in 1907, and now her grandchildren are coming, making five generations in all.

Thought I'd put the coal shovel away for a few weeks when July came along, but found out that a furnace fire felt mighty good Friday night and Saturday. A lot of people probably wouldn't believe it if you told them there's only about eight weeks you don't have to fire the furnace up in this country.

There's a lot I don't know about this AAA wheat marketing plan, but if the comment gained from looking over our exchange papers is any indication, there's a lot of farmers, who, having been enticed into getting rich quick without work, now are sick of their deal. There's Marion Hatt, Jackson county farmer, for instance, who burned his wheat recently when a U. S. soil conservation service official refused him a wheat marketing permit because he exceeded the AAA quota by two acres. Told that he would have to store the grain or pay the government a penalty of 49 cents a bushel for

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

J. Lee Barrett, Detroit's convention go-getter and Southeastern Michigan Tourist Association executive, tells this story:

A month or so ago he was appointed by Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner to be vice-chairman of a historical festival to be held next Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at Mackinac Island with Indians living in tepees along the beaches.

Now, "J.L.B." takes his responsibilities seriously. And when a clubwoman visited his office last week and inquired solicitously for the "low-down" as to what the festival "was all about," the tall and stately Mr. Barrett closed the office door and replied in a confidential low voice:

"This fact hasn't been announced yet, but the truth of the matter is that Governor Van Wagoner is getting weary of things in general and has decided to give the state back to the Indians."

All of which merely illustrates, if any moral is needed, that we Americans haven't lost our sense of humor. "Yoo hoo" may yet save the nation!

An Asset to Defense

In the course of our occasional travels about Michigan we have been deeply impressed, time and again, with two things: (1) Michigan's varied resources such as copper, iron, salt, oil, gas, coal and timber, all vital to our present national defense; (2) Michigan's tremendous recreational resources.

All of us recognize, as a matter of course, the urgent need of copper and iron and other products to our present re-armament effort.

But a good case might be made that many of us do not appreciate sufficiently the importance of recreation and relaxation to defense.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Infant Eczema

Young mothers are often disturbed by outbreaks of eczeum on the face or body of the baby, says Dr. James Chapman, director of the District Health Department. Dr. Chapman states that mothers frequently worry that the blemishes will be considered a sign of uncleanliness or even "bad blood" in the family. There is no reason for these fears, he says. Dr. Chapman points out that, according to the Michigan Joint Committee on Health Education, about one-half of all babies suffer from eczema at some time or other and that there are a number of causes. Too frequent use of soap and water is as likely to be responsible for outbreaks in a baby as too little.

When the baby comes from a family with members who suffer from asthma or hay fever, it is highly probable that it has inherited a sensitivity for some substance or substances in its environment, perhaps an article of food, and only patient search, discovery and elimination of this material will induce a cure.

The first step is to submit the case to a physician who has had some experience in the field of allergy and to remain patient during the sometimes lengthy period of experimentation while he is trying to determine the offending substance.

The Lesions, of course, should be protected and the itching alleviated since scratching will tend to make them worse. The skin must be scrupulously clean but olive oil, not soap, should be used for this purpose.

Besides soap, articles of wool, feather pillows, talcum powder and floor wax should be removed from the child's immediate environment which should be kept as dust-free as may be possible.

Often, improvement is noted at this point in the process of eliminating possible irritants.

The mother would do well to obtain from the doctor a simple but balanced diet, containing but a few foods, which may be fed to the baby for a week or two. If the eczema continues on this diet, which usually contains milk, the milk should be replaced with a soy bean emulsion and the result noted. Similarly, it may be necessary to replace cod-liver oil and orange juice with preparations containing synthetic vitamins.

Once a non-irritating diet has been found, it may be expanded by adding other foods one by one. An egg should be tried first and a substitute provided if the baby proves allergic to this protein, as many are. Other offenders are tomato juice, fish and, more rarely, wheat, celery, lettuce, honey, spinach, beans, peas and chocolate.

It is notable that the allergic child is generally bright and more resistant to many diseases than others. The mother should bear in mind, however, frequent recurrences of asthmatic attacks or from the chronic condition generally known as hay fever.

Buried City

Site of the buried city of Singapore, near Saugatuck, which was covered by tons of wind-driven dune sand, is now a popular cottage colony.

You've a date with a dune! Like ramparts along Michigan shores, these breeze-swept mountains of sand rise in places to a height of nearly 500 feet.

SEE MICHIGAN FIRST!

THERE are many things worth going far to see in this great country of ours. But no Michigan citizen has really "seen America" unless he knows the natural beauty of his own state.

Take your vacation in Michigan this year. Go where your mood and the smooth highway lead you — to sapphire lakes hidden deep in the forest — to wave-swept straits and bays and beaches — to rolling farmland, or the grandeur and solitude of the high dunes.

When you travel in Michigan you will find good roads, comfort, courtesy and hospitality. And day or night you can depend on prompt, efficient telephone service to make your trip even easier and more pleasant. A three-minute call ahead will settle the matter of reservations, save you hurry and worry, let you appreciate the scenery around you; a call home will leave you with an untroubled mind.

This pretty cottage is a Tourist Information Lodge, operated by the Michigan State Highway Department for the convenience of vacationing motorists.

"BRING 'EM BACK DEAD!" the Referee Commanded

THE SCENE was in torrid Death Valley, where Hollywood makes true desert pictures, and the heat makes records.

Condemned to death were 6 new coupes, alike throughout, except that in each crankcase—under lock—was a different big-name motor oil . . . one 5-quart fill . . . never any added in any car's lifetime . . . 57-mile speed kept up under Death Valley's all-consuming sun until each engine went to smash. A strictly impartial, strictly certified test of motor oil life, decided only by 6 cars' death.

Which 5-Quart fill lasted all of 13,398 miles?... Certified

One oil outlasted the other test oils by 5,683 miles or more . . . Certified. And the whole lot of them—5 big-name oils—averaged not even half of the 13,398 miles delivered by the new long-lasting oil. You can have it in your engine right now—at popular price—by asking for

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL

Its mileage and economy come straight from Conoco Nth oil's new synthetic or man-made extra substance—Thialkene inhibitor. (Conoco Patent 2,218,132.) To understand, merely think a moment of Vaccination—the right protective substance put on guard to keep a trouble from starting. Now the trouble aiming to start on motor oils lurks in the normal firing of every engine. Filth is formed that can spoil one drop—then two drops "catch it"—then four—then sixteen—faster, faster, FASTER, till the whole fill weakens and the oil level sinks too fast . . . but not when the start of this oil-fouling trouble is inhibited—held back—by life-giving Thialkene inhibitor in new Conoco Nth motor oil, on sale today for your car.

You'll never Death-Test your Conoco Nth oil nor repeat other proving-ground tortures. You'll still drain and refill at recommended intervals. But how you'll expect to stretch the distance before you ever add a quart, judging by this big fact: 5 heavily advertised oils in the Certified Death Valley Test were outmileaged 74% to 161% by Conoco Nth oil.

AND CONOCO Nth OIL OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE!

Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another great Conoco synthetic . . . man-made under the famed Germ Processed oil patent. Magnet-like action bonds OIL-PLATING to engine parts. It can't all quickly drain down—not while you're using Conoco Nth oil. So OIL-PLATING is on guard in advance against wear! . . . and helps mileage, as it did in Death Valley. An OIL-PLATED engine is one more economy you get from a change to popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil.

Economy like that counts up into dollars! Change to Nth oil today at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

INTERLOCHEN CAMP SHOW APPRECIATION

Letter Lauds Cooperation in Publicity by Local Merchants

Appreciation of the fine cooperation given by local merchants to publicity efforts of the National Music Camp is manifest in the following letter to this publication from Joseph E. Maddy, camp president:

"Members of our camp were in your city last week distributing placards advertising our Paul Whiteman concert.

"The reception they received from your merchants and the courtesy and co-operation shown them was so sincere and universal that I want to extend my thanks through you to them.

"Everywhere we went we found appreciation of the fact that the National Music Camp broadcasts are going out over 150 NBC stations advertising not only Interlochen, but all of Michigan. Also, there was general understanding that we draw our students from practically every state in the union and that these folks go home enthusiastic boosters for Michigan.

"It was a pleasure to find so little petty sectional feeling and a willingness of so many to assist us.

"We like to feel that our camp is a national institution and that it is earning the support of all of our state because of its importance as a tourist attraction. It was heartening to find so many of our Michigan merchants who feel as we do and who, in many cases, went to great lengths to help us with our advertising."

MACKINAC ISLAND TO STAGE FESTIVAL

Historic Pageant is Spectacular Event of July 25-27

With the opening of the colorful Mackinac Island Festival less than a week away, this magic little island is preparing to accommodate the greatest influx of visitors ever to be there at one time. Indications were that the attendance would not only tax the capacity of the island's twenty hotels, but that Muckinnw City and St. Ignace would be called upon to take care of the overflow.

"Old Mackinac Lives Again" has been selected as the theme of the historic spectacle, which will take place July 25-26-27. As its theme indicates the festival will turn back the clock 150 years and recreate in song and music, pageantry and tableaux many of the historic Mackinac events that took place on the island. From dawn until far after dusk, for three romantic days, the islanders and their guests will relive the great events that caused Mackinac to be known as the "Hill of History".

It is expected the usual number of boats will participate and that the awarding of cash prizes for the most colorfully decorated boat will bring out many unique displays as it did last year.

Members of the Marine Club, headed by Commodore John Nordrum, have devoted time and effort to make the 1941 program the best ever held. New and interesting water features, providing events never before witnessed in Charlevoix, have been arranged.

For the information of boat owners desiring to participate in the parade, Marine Club members have announced that decorations may be obtained at the board of commerce information bureau. Boats will assemble off the railway bridge in Lake Charlevoix at 8:45. All boat owners are invited and urged to participate.

4-H Club Members Make Plans for Club Camp

The most enjoyable week of the entire year in respect to 4-H Club activity takes place on August 4 to 8 when the Gaylord Club Camp will be held in Gaylord. Delegates from this county include representatives from last winter's club program and those who are in the judging and 'demonstration' team contest.

The entire week has been dedicated to the development of better citizenship and greater opportunities ahead for us.

In preparation of this week the dairy club members spent a day at Ellsworth last week in judging dairy cattle, and from this group two delegates have been selected. Then this week Thursday, July 24, the annual county roundup will be held at Whiting Park where delegates will be selected to represent Charlevoix county from crops and canning judging. Also the demonstration teams will give their demonstrations and the winners awarded trips to the club camp.

A cordial invitation is extended to all club friends in the county to attend the round-up. A full day of activity has been planned and will include games in addition to the various club activities.

Dairy Herd Improvement Association Finishes Year

The 1940-41 Dairy Herd Improvement Association year was completed as of June 30. The annual meeting was held Thursday night in the city building at East Jordan. E. C. Scheidenhelm, extension dairyman, was present and discussed the results of the last fiscal year.

Only six herds produced 300 pounds of butterfat per cow for the year and the average cow in the association averaged 276.8 pounds of butterfat with 6349 pounds of milk. This is very low and proves the need of improvement on the part of the membership if they are to make the profit from the business that should be expected.

With the tragic death of Frederick DeYoung which happened before the end of the year quite a problem existed to finish up the year and to select a new tester for the coming year. R. J. Zemke of Saginaw very kindly finished up the year for us and made out the annual report. The association voted to engage the services of Clifford McGeorge, Boyne City, to act as tester. He has already started work and everything points to a highly successful year. The election of officers resulted in Joseph Leu, East Jordan, being elected president, Edward Wiltse, Ellsworth, vice president; Charles Mascho, Charlevoix, secretary-treasurer, and Jerry Aardema, Central Lake and Archie Murphy, East Jordan, as the other two members of the board of directors.

There are still two or three vacancies in the membership which we would like to fill before the end of this month. Let us know if you are interested in having your cows tested. Nothing known is as necessary for real dairy progress as to know what each cow is producing and how much profit is being made.

The Wild Flowers

Men cover the earth with brick and stone,
But the violets steal away
To the shady places but little known,
To be found by someone who walks alone
In the calm of a summer day.
And the ferns move out to some distant spot
Where the earth is cool and sweet,
With trees and song birds they cast their lot.
Let men build cities, they like them not,
Nor the ceaseless tramp of feet.
The wild flowers sneer at man's buildings great,
And flee from the city's hum;
Away from turmoil and pride and hate
They live and had and blossom and wait
For the few friends who may come.

American Lotus . . .

Michigan has miles of water shining in August with pale yellow lotus blossoms. Large colonies can be found in only two or three other parts of the United States. Their enormous, flat leaves set off the tall lilies like picture frames and they produce, besides, big artistic seed pods raised high above the shallow water and full of holes in which lie the round nuts for sand-pipers and other water birds to feed upon.

Indians, too, ate the nuts as well as the roots of the lotus, which they boiled as we do potatoes. Because they taste like chestnuts, Indians called them water chestnuts, Chinkapin. We are told that red men brought with them the yellow lotus wherever they wandered and dropped the nuts in water close to their camp to grow into food, just as we plant grains of corn in fields. Where Susan creek slips under US-31 near John Struthers' farm, you will soon see a large patch of yellow blooms on the water, for here was once an Indian camping ground.

You may gather an armful of lotus, but the flowers wilt quickly when picked. Each flower produces so many seeds that sometimes the roots are choked. But it would be a pity for thousands of sightseers each to load his car with yellow lilies until this marvelous shining flower disappears from Michigan lakes and rivers.

AT THE MOVIES

"Caught In the Draft"

Notice to all citizens of Charlevoix:

Beginning July 27, if you see people walking around the streets wearing a silly grin, don't be alarmed. They're doing their patriotic duty, according to Bob Hope who has joined the Army in "Caught in the Draft," Paramount's all-out comedy to strengthen the American laugh, which opens next Sunday at the Palace Theatre.

If you're the type that finds it hard to laugh — don't worry — there's Hope for you. And with him is Dorothy Lamour, an assurance that the picture is in great shape.

"The Great Lie"

The love story of a magnificent cheat will be the feature attraction July 30-31 at the Palace Theatre. Bette Davis, the screen's first lady of drama, is starred, and the title is "The Great Lie." With George Brent co-starred and Edmund Goulding directing, "The Great Lie" is another stirring screen experience from these stars and the director of "The Old Maid" and "Dark Victory."

"The Great Lie" is a modern love story, and in it Betty Davis is said to surpass even her superb performance in "The Letter."

"The Big Store"

Marking their eleventh picture in eleven years of Hollywood stardom, the madcap Marx Brothers invade the Palace Theatre August 1-2 as private detectives in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Big Store." With five musical numbers interspersed in the wild Marxian antics, critics hail this latest as on a par with "Cocoanuts," "Animal Crackers" and "A Night at the Opera," previously considered their outstanding films.

The supporting cast includes Douglass Dumbrille, William Tannen, Marion Martin, Henry Armetta and Anna Demetrio.

'Port of Missing Ships . . . Out of the sleepy little harbor of Halifax, Nova Scotia, thousands of crowded ships are plying these days. Convoys, loaded with "Bundles for Britain". How many actually get there is a secret only the government knows. But the story of this convoy system . . . of the boom town it's made Halifax . . . of the rough-and-ready admiral who bosses-the-works . . . is a dramatic tale you won't want to miss. Be sure to read it next Sunday in This Week, the sparkling colorgravure magazine exclusively with the Sundsy Detroit News.

REASON FOR SACRIFICE

By KARL GRAYSON

(Associated Newspapers, WNU Service.)

ATTORNEY GENERAL CHENEY was admitted at once to Inspector Piper's office. His attitude was one of familiarity and confidence; thinly masking knowledge of his own importance.

Inspector Piper rose at sight of his visitor. The inspector's attitude was respectful.

"Good morning, Mr. Cheney. This is rather unusual, isn't it? Frankly, I'm flattered."

Attorney Cheney extended his hand, smiled easily and snapped open a cigarette case, which he offered his host.

"Hello, Piper. I know you're busy; must apologize for dropping in so abruptly. Wanted a word with you about young Noyes."

Piper arched his brows. "Noyes? Victor Noyes? You mean that young nobody we booked last night in connection with the Proctor woman murder?"

"The same. Mind telling me the facts about the case, Inspector?"

Cheney's manner was slightly ingratiating. This was odd. Piper spread his hands in a gesture of resignation.

"On the face of it, it looks dead open and shut. The woman was found dead in her apartment. Shot through the head. Sound of the shot attracted the attention of two men passing through the hall. They crashed open Miss Proctor's door and found her lying on the floor in a pool of blood. Young Noyes was standing over the body with a gun in his hand." Piper shrugged. "Dead open and shut. The kid was caught in the act of robbing the apartment and, in desperation, killing the woman."

Cheney saw the doubt in the inspector's eyes. He said, "Where's the hitch, Inspector? There's something screwy some place. You're not sold on the idea the kid killed her." The lawyer crushed out his cigarette. "Piper, I knew that boy when we were youngsters. Grew up in the same town together. He never seemed to me like a killer."

"Howard, some people die to realize an ambition. I guess I'm like that."

Piper was silent a moment. "Tell you what, Mr. Cheney, take a run down and talk with Noyes yourself. I'd like to check with your reactions after you've seen him."

Victor Noyes recognized the great attorney at once. He shook hands warmly, and Cheney saw that there was no trace of fear or dreaded anticipation in the youth's eyes.

"Sorry to see you in this jam, Vic. Read about it an hour ago. Tell me what happened. I'd like to help you, if possible."

Noyes laughed. He was a small man and weak looking. "You'll have a fine time helping me, Howard. I haven't got a leg to stand on."

"You mean you admit killing Grace Proctor?"

"I don't have to admit it. It's all settled as far as the public is concerned." He was silent a moment. Then, "Howard, I'm glad you dropped in. Remember when we were kids you once said I'd never amount to anything, never attract any attention? Those words have always haunted me."

"We were kids then, Vic. That's past. I'd like to help you now."

"Perhaps you can, but not in the way you think." Young Noyes' eyes were glistening. "Howard, I'm satisfied. I've always wanted people to know who I am. Well, I've got that wish. There isn't a paper in the country that didn't publish my picture this morning. Grace Proctor was a pretty popular opera star. But I'll bet she never got the publicity I'm getting now!"

"Man, you're crazy!"

"Maybe I am. After all, what is it that a man wants to live for? To realize an ambition, isn't it? To do something that will attract attention, to make people know who he is. Anyway, that's what I always wanted to live for. All my life I never amounted to much, or attracted any attention. I lost one job after another. I tried to live straight and honest, and found it didn't get me anywhere. Nobody knew who I was or cared. And all the time there was that burning sensation inside of me to attract attention. Howard, some people die to realize an ambition. I guess I'm like that."

Attorney Cheney looked deep into the younger man's eyes and saw there a longing that he had never imagined any man could possess. A glimmering of understanding came to him and as quickly vanished.

"Listen, you idiot! You'll go to the chair for this, burn for something you never did! That's a hell of a way to die!"

"It'll be a long time before the trial is over, Howard, and folks will know who I am. The papers will be full of me. I'll read 'em every day, and that will be worth dying for."

Cheney still clutched the youth's shoulders. "Listen, you idiot! You didn't kill Grace Proctor! There was another man there! You were hiding in the room. You heard what was said. You saw him draw a gun and shoot. You watched him escape down the fire escape. And you let them think you did it! You're crazy!"

Noyes smiled. "Dramatic as always, eh, Howard. Yes, I think that would go over pretty good in a court room. But it wouldn't prove anything."

"It would prove a lot."

"How come?"

"Because you recognized that other man. You could identify him, prove he was there!"

For fully a minute the eyes of the two men looked deeply into each other's. Each knew what the other was thinking; each read accurately the message the other was seeking to convey. There was no need for words. Each understood.

Presently the man who would soon be charged with murder in the first degree, and who later would without doubt pay the supreme penalty, laid his hand on the arm of the man who had come to help him.

"Don't say it, Howard. I understand, and I'm willing to die. My life hasn't been worth living anyhow. With you it's different. You've accomplished all the things you've set out to do. You've made a name for yourself, become a big man. You've lived the kind of life I would have liked to live, but couldn't. And now the thing you can do that will help me most is to try and understand—and forget the rest."

Cheney stood back. The understanding that had lighted his face a few moments before returned and did not again vanish. He fought and triumphed over a desire to plead once more with the youth. And in that instant he harked back over his own experience, tried to compare his own life with that of young Victor Noyes and found himself groping for something to say that would change the youth's mind.

He turned at last and reached the door before turning. Victor was still sitting on the cot, smiling happily. Newspapers whose front pages emblazoned his name were strewn about the floor at his feet. His thoughts fled back to the night previous, to the weeks before, during which he had suffered the agonies of the damned in withholding knowledge of his mad love affair with Grace Proctor from his wife and the prying curiosity of the public. And then again his mind dwelt on Victor Noyes, and for the first time in months his soul was at peace.

Remembers Her Manners, Even While in Swimming

And there was the party on a houseboat anchored in a harbor on the sound. It was a hot July afternoon, and a lot of us were sitting around on deck, and suddenly somebody said, "Look! What on earth are they doing?" and we all looked. There was a large proud yacht anchored near by and what they were doing was obvious enough—they were lowering a dowager down the side of the yacht into the water. She was a large, proud dowager to match, and she wore a bathing suit and a vast straw hat; and it took two members of the crew to get her down the steps and in. They launched her loudly, however, while we watched fascinated.

Once embarked, she became a swimming hat, with plump white arms. She swam a breast-stroke, small and slow, but steady. Somebody said in a hushed voice, "She seems to be coming over here," and it did indeed begin to look that way, and presently there was no doubt about it. We all flocked to the rail to welcome her, and we all leaned over. When she was within speaking distance, she paused, and did a kind of dog-paddle to keep herself afloat and said, "Good afternoon. Is Mrs. Weeks on board?"

"No," we said. "No—unfortunately—Mrs. Weeks has gone ashore."

"Ah," said the seagoing dowager with a nod of her hat. "Sorry I've missed her."

At this point she sank a little, but came up again at once, blowing out water. She turned and resumed the small, slow breast-stroke—but for a few strokes only. Then she had a social afterthought, and she paused again, and dog-paddled once more, and added gravely—all of this was grave and courteous, as in a drawing room—"When Mrs. Weeks returns, will you tell her, please, that Mrs. DeCourcey K. Breckonridge CALLED?"

Rolling Grocery

Down in Bowling Green, Ky., is a curiosity on wheels—a 1923 "flivver" truck converted into a rolling grocery store. In its owner, Harry Stevens, covers the entire residential area six days a week. During 17 years the motor of the rolling grocery has run an estimated 35,000 hours—or four solid years. In all that time, according to the owner, the only repairs have been a valve grinding job and new spark plugs.

The ferry across the south arm of Lake Charlevoix at Ironton, Michigan, has been in operation for more than 50 years, with the same skipper since it was started.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

Ken Smith, Camp Scribe

The great week dawns bright and sunny, and we only hope that next Saturday, DAD'S DAY, will be as fine. Many plans are being made for that day; and all you mothers and dads have to do is to get yourselves up here, and the boys and staff and "Chief" will do all in our power to give you a great day. Father Time (Coach Steele) came into the dining room yesterday noon and marched time ahead one full hour, so that now we are back on regular good, old Eastern Standard Time.

Overnight trips, a very important part of any camping program, started off with a bang last Monday with three cabins going out. Phil Penberthy took his boys on horses for their trip. This group included: Tom Dancer, Johany MacDougll, Bruce Dutcher, Sammy Greenawalt, Joe Manning, Ken Nyquist, and Ed. Gordon. "Buster" and "Buzz" went along and from all reports it was a fine trip. Joe Moran took his boys on the River Jordan and found them all to be very capable with a canoe. These lucky fellows were: Allen Hunting, Ted Hecht, Fred Millis, Bill Carr, Cary Bachman, George Osborn, and Assistant Counselor Jack Lehnhard. The shores of Susan Lake found cabin 10 as their guests. Dick Osborn with his boys hiked over there and worked on the lean-to they are building. This group consisted of: Junior Green, Howard Tuthill, Dick Noel, Sarge Harvey, John Doelman, Bud Jenkins, and Assistant Counselor Dean Hudnutt.

Coach Charlie Bachman, famous football coach at Michigan State, started the week off right by showing his movies practically every night last week. His football class each morning was full to capacity, and from comments heard among the boys, "He is one swell guy." I can also add that the staff feels the same way, Charlie. It is swell to have you here.

Camp Hayo-Went-Ha came over on Wednesday and though we were on the short end of the scores in tennis, riflery, and the younger boy's soft ball game, our big fellows managed to eke out a one run victory. This, naturally, made everyone feel better. In the evening, the staff put on the annual "gyp" night for the campers, the new campers being made the "goats" of the tricks. If you ever want to see anyone who enjoys supervising such a night you should see Joe Moran in action. "Hitch" Hitchcock was chairman of the program and was most ably assisted by Joe. It was one of the best worked-out "gyp" nights I've ever seen, and the new campers were duly taken in.

Coach Steele took his cabin on the maiden voyage of "The Alert", and from all reports it was a fine trip. They left Thursday and came back Friday. These boys were: John Mains, Jack Wooley, Arden Tiley, Bill Kampe, Al Birdsall, and Jim Nicholson. I took my fellows on a canoe trip down the Jordan River, and though I hate to admit it, the trip was all wet. (Literally speaking). It rained practically all of the time we were gone. But not a complaint from any of us. The boys were Allyn Wright, Roger Korten, Dick Nolan, Bub Walls, Sandy MacDonell, and Ken Vincent. The Intermediate Section went in to the movies that night, and say "Billy, The Kid". To quote Dean Hudnutt, "It was a good picture. You may quote me, Ken"

Friday, RAIN. I'd like to just stop there, but if you have ever been in a camp on a rainy day, you know that that is when every bit of initiative must be exerted to provide program for the boys. We held regular activities in the morning, and in the afternoon, the club house, handicraft shop, and certain cabins were put into double use. In the evening, Joe Moran supervised a "tall story" night. Jerry Wilson, George Osborne and Cary Bachman all contributed "tall stories". Coach Bachman showed some movies afterwards.

On Saturday the long awaited visit of Camp Algonquin was fulfilled, and it was a great day for us. We lost only the riflery, taking the tennis and the softball. The tennis matches were much closer than the scores would indicate with Howard VanAntwerp beating Johnny Penberthy 6-3; 6-2. Our doubles team also won, Jimmy Curtis and Bill Carr winning after pulling the match out of the fire three times, the scores were 6-1, 1-6, 7-5. Al Birdsall pitched a fine game for Charlevoix walking but one player. Our team won 10-3.

Don Horton had a splendid cast present a comedy for us on Saturday night. It was "The Name is Johnston". The cast included: "Hitch" Hitchcock, Joe Moran (as an Italian), Ed. Conner, Don Neisch, and Ray Wheaton. Everyone present got a big kick out of the play.

Sunday was a peach of a day around here. Jerry Wilson gave a talk on "Sportsmanship" at chapel. He cited several instances where sportsmanship was a virtue. In the afternoon the Juniors took a ride in the motor boat down to "Bear-Cove". The Intermediates stayed in camp and played games, while the Pioneers drove over to Lake Michigan and had a picnic supper. Afterward the entire group went to the Vesper Concert at the Bay View Auditorium. It was an experiment to see if these older boys would really enjoy a concert the type of which is given at Bay View, and much to the pleasure of the staff, all of the comments have been most favorable. Maybe another trip can be arranged for later in the season.

It was most noticeable around here that Jean Reimann (Chief's daughter and secretary) was absent from our scene. She spent several days in Detroit, and was very glad to get back up here to the north woods.

Once more remember that this coming Saturday, the 26th, is our BIG DAY, and from the response to the reservation cards you have mailed back, it will be the biggest attendance we have ever had. A great day is arranged for you, so come one, come all, and until our camp family collects here on Saturday, a loooong cheer for Camp Charlevoix.

3,177 Miles of Coast

Our coast line is 3,177 miles long, an astounding fact in itself.

The Au Sable, nationally famous as a trout stream, has a drop of 609 feet.

Rivers of the Upper Peninsula tumble boisterously over many scenic waterfalls in their wild haste to reach the lakes.

The Porcupine mountain area, near Ontonagon and Ironwood, contains the largest tract of virgin hardwood forest remaining in the United States. (And do you know that House Bill 3793 and Senate Bill 1131 at Washington would preserve this forest under government ownership and would assure logging on a selective, sustained-yield basis?)

When the last glacial retreat occurred some 10,000 to 35,000 years ago (so geologists insist), the ice sheets left us with more than 5,000 lakes. Most of these lakes possess sand beaches, an incidental matter that has been worth millions of dollars to Michigan.

The Keweenaw peninsula, north of Houghton, is a volcanic formation. Scattered remnants of Archean rock, the oldest earth rocks known, have been found in the Upper Peninsula.

Forest Wonders

A tree is a tree, but this was news to us:

In all Europe there are only 80 species of trees; Michigan has 85 species indigenous to Michigan soil! Michigan's forest, shrub and herbal growth has been called the greatest of its kind in the entire temperate zone.

Wild flowers grow here in great profusion.

More widely known are these fishing and hunting facts: More than 500,000 persons are licensed to fish in Michigan annually; we lead the nation in number of hunting licenses, the annual bag of deer alone being about 40,000.

Bear are fairly numerous in both the Upper Peninsula and in northern sections of the Lower Peninsula. Tell that to your out-state skeptics!

Indian Lore

It may be "old stuff" also to you — but maybe news to your guests — that Longfellow's "Hiawatha" was based on the habits, customs and songs of the Chippewas who dwelt in Michigan.

Thousands of copper hammers have been found in and about primitive copper mining pits in the Upper Peninsula, proof that the Indians utilized this metal many centuries ago.

Descendants of these same Indian tribes live today in Michigan. According to the United States commissioner of Indian affairs, there were 4,530 Indians in the state for the year ending June 30, 1939. Collectively, they own some 13,000 acres of land.

Michigan Indians were transformed from an agricultural to a nomadic hunting people by the European demand for furs. Thus, Fort Mackinac was established to guard the Northwest's fur trade; John Jacob Astor founded the American Fur company with headquarters on Mackinac Island. (The original building is there today.)

These facts, a few out of many hundreds, may present a new light on Michigan's recreational resources which you will find everywhere.

As a patriotic remedy for the war jitters, we prescribe the Michigan official motto:

"If you seek a delightful peninsula, look about you."

Murder Under the Northern Lights

A thrilling tale from real life . . . in The American Weekly magazine with the July 27 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times . . . will reveal a strange tragedy of the "Frozen North", as revealed by W. E. Bradley, a school teacher at Moosonee, Ontario; a factual story about a meteor, and misfortune that came in its wake. Be sure to get The Detroit Sunday Times this week and every week.

Michigan was recognized as a "garden spot" before the coming of the white man. Some authorities say the state's name came from the Indian words Michi (garden) and Guning (place of) so called because of the large gardens the Indians had here.

warned industrial managers and workers of inefficiency due to nervous and physical strain. A paraphrased condensation of Dr. Allen's suggestions follows:

"Eat temperately, fast occasionally and eliminate fats from the diet. Avoid excessive smoking. Develop a hobby—digging a dahlia bed, or any other that affords relaxation.

"Try hunting and fishing as a diversion. Play golf, but for recreation and not for low score. Stay in bed an occasional morning. Organize work insofar as possible on a five-day week and eight-hour day. Seek spiritual stimulation."

Most Favored State

And so, while we realize soberly the pressing call for more tanks, more airplanes and more guns, we can well remind ourselves that Michigan should utilize in year-round style its thousands of lakes and its many parks and forests if it is to achieve maximum potentialities as an "arsenal of democracy."

Just because they are commonplace, don't overlook these facts:

Michigan is the most favored state in the north temperate zone. Its climate is thoroughly air-conditioned and thermostatically controlled by the waters of the Great Lakes—Erie, Huron, Superior and Michigan. (Every school child knows that the lakes absorb heat from air warmer than themselves and also warm colder winds.)

Our growing season for food crops is from about April 25 to October 22, longer and more moderate than that in the average northern state.

the excess acreage before a permit would be issued. Hatt retorted: "I'll burn the whole thing before I'll let the government tell me what I can do with it. This is my farm and my wheat." I did not vote to come under the marketing quota and I'll rather burn the wheat than have to come under the quota to be able to sell it." Editor Wm. Berkey of the Cassapolis Vigilant, says about the AAA: "Two wheat buyers have asked the Vigilant to again give publicity to the fact that they cannot buy a farmer's wheat unless he brings in his AAA allotment credentials, and that this rule applies to all farmers regardless of whether or not they signed up under the AAA. No farmer is permitted, under the AAA regulations, to sell or use the wheat he grows in excess of his acreage allotment without paying a penalty of 49 cents per bushel, and this penalty must be collected by the buyer if the farmer sells his wheat. If a farmer's acreage is ten acres for wheat, the penalty must be paid on all wheat grown on land in excess of ten acres. If you do not sell your wheat, but intend to feed it on the farm, you are still subject to the penalty and should consult the AAA office to learn what you should do about the matter." The farmer's life sure is becoming complicated!

Mrs. Upsnort: "You will not find me difficult ta suit, Norma."

Norma (the new maid): "I'm sure not, madam; I saw your husband as I came in, ma'am."

Attention of this writer has been called to the mutilation of a grove of white birch trees near Hell's Bay on the Lake Michigan scenic drive by persons who stripped off the bark. Whether it occurred through ignorance or just plain thoughtlessness, the perpetrators should be brought to task, for a beautiful grove, one of the outstanding attractions of the scenic drive, has been ruined.

Too many people think that being married is sufficient grounds for a divorce. One thing certain, they've about exhausted all other grounds.

Roy Ranger stated Monday that good catches of German brown and brook trout continue to be taken from Burns pond on McGeugh creek. The pond, it seems, is fulfilling its intended purpose—providing nearby trout fishing for summer residents. This pond provides a good example of why we should have more of them.

EVELYN ALEXANDER IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Succumbed Monday at Petoskey Following Major Operation

Evelyn Ruth Alexander, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John W. Alexander, died at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at Little Traverse Hospital, Petoskey, following a major operation. She had been in the hospital for two weeks, and although her recovery from the operation was slow, her death was a shock to her parents and many friends.

Born December 17, 1920, at Allen, Mich., she came to Charlevoix in 1935 when Mr. Alexander was appointed to the pastorate of the local Methodist church. They formerly lived at Levering, Harbor Springs and Bellaire. She graduated from Charlevoix high school in 1938. An accomplished violinist, she had studied violin at the University of Iowa and at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago.

Her body was taken Tuesday to Breckenridge by the See Funeral Home. Services will be held Thursday at Breckenridge, where Mr. Alexander is now pastor of the Methodist church. Interment will be at Highland, near Albion.

STAGE DOOR NEXT MUMMER PLAY

and Robert Monre, Chicago radio actor.

Stage Door, with a cast of more than 30, is filled with action, romance, laughs, music and thrills such as only the authors of You Can't Take It With You, The Man Who Came to Dinner, Dinner at Eight, and Cimmaron can write.

Cecil Smith, drama critic of the Chicago Tribune, is coming from Chicago to cover the production of the play on Thursday night, the night after the opening.

The Munomers of Chicago in previous professional productions of Goodbye Again and Night Must Fall, have received nightly ovations from enthusiastic audiences who have traveled to this new theatre far Northern Michigan from with a 50 mile radius.

Show goers have found the new Charlevoix Playhouse one of the most interesting theatres in the country, with 360 seats, perfect acoustics and good visibility from every seat, a 60 foot stage and professional lighting equipment. It is situated in the center of a 15 acre plot providing perfect parking facilities and comfortable space for relaxation, refreshment and smoking between acts.

Volunteer Ushers Needed

With this week's production an interesting situation presents itself, announces Director Sherman Marks. Formerly those actors who were not in a current production entered into the week's festivities and did service wherever needed. For example — opening night John Galsworthy, British stage star and N.B.C. actor, could be seen in the foyer dispensing Coca Cola while other actors and actresses sold tickets, met the public and ushered them to their seats, all in a spirit of fun and camaraderie.

This week, however, with a cast requiring 35, every available actor and actress has been called to service—even a few local residents, in fact, have been drafted. Mrs. J. S. Supernaw, long a professional in the field of music and arts, has been assigned the role of Mrs. Shaw. Her daughter, Joan, Nancy Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Price, and Jackie Herrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Herrick, will all be seen in small parts in the production. Watch out! You may be next!

In the meantime, girls of high school and college age are invited to be the comely ushers at this week's performance of Stage Door. Those interested may call the Playhouse, Charlevoix 78.

WATER CARNIVAL A FINE SUCCESS

OUTSTANDING PROGRAM ACTIVITIES PRESENTED

Exhibitions Provided Thrilling Entertainment; Parade, Fireworks Spectacular

With perfect weather prevailing and an estimated record crowd in attendance, the Charlevoix Marine Club successfully staged its 7th annual water carnival and Venetian boat parade Sunday.

While the high temperature is believed to have somewhat cut down attendance at afternoon water sports and exhibitions, the throng which crowded all vantage points for the Venetian boat parade in the evening was probably the largest in history.

Large Swimming Entry

Due to an unprecedented entry in swimming and diving contests, several events on the program were cancelled for lack of time. Twelve events drew a total of 119 participants. The many points from which contestants entered gave an indication of interest in water sports and increasing popularity of the program.

Swimming competition provided another field day for Camp Charlevoix entrants, who walked off with a major portion of first and second places. The Charlevoix Marine Club plaque, awarded for the feature ½-mile free-for-all, went to Joe Moran, of Toledo, Ohio. Moran, who tied last year with his brother, Ed., also a two time winner, is swimming instructor at Camp Charlevoix. Second place went to Huntley Johnson, another Camp Charlevoix participant, and third place to Bill Ochs, this city.

Other results:

Junior boys, 50-yd. swim—1st, Fritz Steketee, Grand Rapids; 2nd, Jim Nickolson, Richmond, Ind.

Senior boys, 100-yd. swim—1st, Huntley Johnson, Grosse Ile; 2nd, Augie Brown, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Senior diving—1st, Don Chickering, Detroit; 2nd, Huntley Johnson, Grosse Ile.

Report on Armstrong Memorial Fund Showed Balance on Hand

Three retiring members of the Charlevoix Hospital board of trustees were re-elected at the annual meeting held last Thursday evening.

Those retained were P. D. Campbell, Peter H. Tinsmer and Albert Cook, who will serve terms of three years.

Of especial interest to local and summer residents was a report on the Armstrong Memorial fund. Total contributions turned over to Pr D. Campbell, treasurer, aggregated $5,394.78, with an amount of approximately $50 still to be turned over, it is understood. Expenditure for the memorial X-ray was $3,229.46, leaving a balance on hand of $2,165.32.

It was voted to segregate the unexpended balance into a fund to be used to continue the memorial. Present plans call for the construction of an addition providing more rooms.

LEGION CONVENTION HELD HERE

LOWER 11TH DISTRICT POSTS AND AUXILIARIES

Carl Huddlestone, Mancelona, Legion Head; Auxiliaries Chose Mrs. Hilda Batki, East Jordan

Legionnaires and Auxiliary members from posts of the lower 11th district held their annual mid-summer convention in Charlevoix last Sunday.

While sixty registered at business meetings in charge of Lloyd Leavitt, of Alpena, retiring commander, many others came with their families for the Marine Club entertainment program.

Legion district officers named for 1941-42 were: Commander, Carl Huddlestone, Mancelona; vice-commander, Clare H. Dean, Petoskey. Auxiliary officers chosen were: President, Mrs. Carl Lund, Cheboygan; vice-president, Mrs. Hilda Batki, East Jordan. Appointive officers of both organizations will be named prior to the fall convention in October at Mancelona.

At business sessions reports were heard and action taken on resolutions preparatory to the state convention. The convention endorsed Rev. W. L. Cruthers for the post of department chaplain at the state convention in Grand Rapids.

Auxiliary delegates met at the city hall. Mrs. Leo Allard, president of the local organization, introduced Mrs. Emma Lund, of Cheboygan, district president, who presided. Business session was followed by a program including violin solo by Nicholas Blinoff, accompanied by David Davinoff, and a solo by Mrs. Margaret Clarke, of Cheboygan.

Cheboygan drum and bugle corps and the Boy Scout drum and bugle corps from Alpena were featured in an evening parade, one of the convention features.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Girls that puzzle you are more interesting than others, says a writer. What others?

What a surprise the young lady trolling at dusk one evening on Six Mile lake must have had when she hooked her own poodle dog which unbeknown to her was following the boat. Well, anyway, that's more than some of us around here can catch.

There Are Such Fellows—

"Sorry old chap, but I shall be using my lawn mower this afternoon, and the roller, and the fork."

"Oh, well, I wonder if I might borrow your golf clubs?"

If I were a draftee, or even more particularly a fellow who had volunteered for a year of military service, I'd be mighty disappointed in and no little distrustful of a government that would now make the length of army service indefinite. It would seem the really fair thing to do, especially if the government wants to keep the faith and good will of the youth they have taken into army training, is to give them the alternative of joining for longer service at the expiration of their one-year term, and in the meantime pass a new selective service law making the period of service the length of time it is deemed necessary. That would be honest, anyway, and not resemble so much all the other broken promises the Roosevelt administration has made.

CHARLEVOIX DROPPED GAME AT CHEBOYGAN

Lost 5 to 4 In Ten Innings; Play Indian River Here Sunday

Charlevoix dropped an extra-inning contest Sunday at Cheboygan, losing 5 to 4 in 10 innings.

With the score tied 4-all in the third frame, both teams failed to get in runs until Cheboygan's half of the tenth, when, with two out, a pair of hits produced the winning tally.

Charlevoix outhit the winners in this close contest. Henley and Amos John shared mound duties for Charlevoix, with Buck at catch. Trylon and Zyhle, with Helmer behind the plate formed the winning battery.

MUMMERS OFFER A BROADWAY HIT

"THE MALE ANIMAL" OPENS WEDNESDAY NIGHT

John Goldsworthy and Sherman Marks Star In Hilarious Comedy at Charlevoix Playhouse

"The Male Animal", a hilarious comedy by James Thurber and Elliot Nugent, will be presented by the Mummers of Chicago at the Charlevoix playhouse. The play, produced by Sherman Marks and starring Mr. Marks and John Goldsworthy, will open Wednesday and continue through Sunday.

A reunion, a football game and a fist fight with a timid English professor as one of the participants, combine to make "The Male Animal", the Broadway hit that it is and playgoers are fortunate that the Mummers were able to obtain rights to a production now running in major cities throughout the country.

"The Male Animal" is actually one of Thurber's limp cartoons transplanted into three acts and pushed on the stage. It dismisses you from the theater in a spirit of dazed hilarity as the authors have treated an ordinary uproar in a professor's domestic life in the anti-heroic style of Mr. Thurber's drawings and crack-brained literary style.

Tommy Turner, has been married to his wife Ellen for ten years and quietly settled in a nice comfortable teaching job at Midwestern University. But this is the week end of the Michigan game and Joe Ferguson, who is the greatest football hero Midwestern ever had, comes to town and of course sees Ellen to whom he use to be sort of "unofficially engaged." Eventually, after a riotous mixup and upon fortifying himself with the proper courage, Tommy challenges Joe to fisticuffs. Ellen, now realizing that he is a pretty good example of the "Male Animal", returns to his arms with becoming wifely loyalty.

Mr. Marks as Tommy Turner and Mr. Goldsworthy as Dean Damon will be supported by such capable performers as Bob Moore who plays Joe Ferguson, Marjorie Front as Ellen, and John Sierra as Ed. Keller.

Charlevoix's aluminum collection drive to aid national defense was conducted Friday by Boy Scouts cooperating with the American Legion and county road commission.

Scouts, accompanied by a road commission truck, collected two barrels of discarded aluminum utensils on the south side. Lesser results were reported from the valley and north side districts, indicating that in these sections, particularly, the campaign fell short of anticipated results.

Aluminum collected in Charlevoix will be hauled to a designated point for segregation with that donated throughout the state. Funds derived from its sale will be used for national defense.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Five little girls—Yvonne, Marie, Annette, Cecile and Emilie—are Canada's greatest tourist attraction.

They are also an indirect benefit to Michigan.

This latter fact dawned upon us rather belatedly after we had returned from a week's escorted tour of Ontario scenic points with American editors from seven other states. For this reason Michigan has a peculiar interest in the world famous quints of Callendar.

The vogue for "circle tours" is chiefly responsible. The modern automobile gypsy, possessed with a passion for mileage, has revolutionized traveling customs. What our ancestors would regard as an "expedition," fraught with numerous uncertainties and tribulations, is today regarded as little else than a week-end jaunt.

Good highways and dependable automobiles make it possible for Michigan people to swing around to North Bay, neighboring city to Callendar, Ontario, by way of Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan. Likewise, American tourists who go to Callendar from Niagara Falls or Detroit find it worth-while in varied sightseeing thrills to return home by way of Sault Ste. Marie and the lower peninsula.

Town the Quints Built

Until a country doctor, Dr. Alan Roy Dafoe, brought the five little girls into the world just seven years ago last May, North Bay was a minor trading center in north Ontario; Callendar was just another spot on the map.

As every newspaper editor well knows, we are interested in ourselves more so than anything else.

Every mother and every father who visit Callendar and who see Ontario's five little sweethearts have a personal interest in these children. Instead of having French names, the quintuplets might have been given other names—if, for example, they had been born in YOUR town.

Like finding a gold mine or striking a rich oil field. Mother

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Farmers who are protesting against wheat marketing quotas should take heed of the stress of the present record-breaking supply of wheat on the market caused partially by lack of adequate storage facilities in the major terminal markets, Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix County Triple-A Committee, said.

The Triple-A official pointed out that news dispatches lately have been telling of serious fluctuations of the wheat market as a result of congestion of supplies at most terminals which crowded storage space to the limit in many cases. Several terminal points, he declared, have warned farmers not to ship any loan wheat unless they had previously been assured of facilities to handle it when the wheat arrived at the terminal market.

"Many farmers who are protesting marketing quota regulations are scoffing at the warning that we have a huge surplus of wheat and are contending that even if we do have a surplus, the price will stay up regardless of marketing quota restrictions," Mr. Henley declared.

The Triple-A chairman emphasized that those farmers who are demanding that marketing quotas be abandoned or that penalty provisions be reduced should seriously consider what would happen to the wheat market if their wishes were carried out.

As an answer to this question of what would happen to the wheat market if quotas were abandoned or penalties reduced, Mr. Henley made public the text of a telegram addressed to Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, by Rep. Frederick Smith of Ohio, who is an exponent of abandoning quotas and penalties and the reply to Smith's question by Secretary Wickard:

July 12, 1941

Office of Claude R. Wickard
Secretary of Agriculture.

If all penalty clauses only were stricken from Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 and all penalty amendments thereto including one contained in SJ Res. 60, would co-operators still receive loans at rate of 85 percent of parity price on wheat and other commodities as per 10A SJ Res. 60 approved May 26, 1941. Reply by Western Union.

Congressman Frederick C. Smith.

July 14, 1941

Hon. Frederick C. Smith
Marion, Ohio

Answering your telegram of July 12. If farmers are to continue to receive benefit of loans at 85 per cent of parity they must restrict marketings of wheat otherwise the government's investment in commodity loans would be unprotected. Without penalties that restrict excessive marketings loan program would have to be abandoned. Without loan support the markets would undoubtedly collapse and the great majority of farmers who are cooperators would be penalized.

Claude R. Wickard, Secretary.

AT THE MOVIES

"That Hamilton Woman"

In launching "That Hamilton Woman!" his first Hollywood production and his most ambitious picture to date, Aexander Korda selected Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier—the most glamorous couple in the world—to play the stellar roles in this great romance. "That Hamilton Woman!" which is slated at the Palace Theatre on August 3-5 through United Artists release, unfolds on the silver screen one of the most stirring and unforgettable love stories of all time, the romance of Lady Hamilton and Lord Nelson.

Vivien Leigh is, of course, the fascinating Lady Hamilton, whose captivating beauty was idealized on canvas forty times by the great portrait painter, Romney; Laurence Olivier is seen in the role of Lord Nelson, the hero of Trafalgar; Alan Mowbray is Lord Hamilton; Gladys Cooper is Lady Nelson; Henry Wilcoxon is Captain Hardy and hundreds of others fill the unusually large cast.

"Pot O' Gold"

With James Stewart and Paulette Goddard in the top stellar roles dishing out a million dollars worth of fun, laughter and romance, James Roosevelt's first Hollywood production, "Pot O' Gold," featuring the Horace Heidt band and its famous radio music, will have its local premiere at the Palace Theatre on August 6-7 through United Artists release. George Marshall directed the picture and the cast supporting the stars features Charles Winninger, Mary Gordon and Ted Prouty.

"Out of the Fog"

Beginning Friday, August 8 the Palace Theatre will present "Out of the Fog," a dynamic new Warner Bros. film that co-stars Ida Lupino and John Garfield, the pair who made so great an impression earlier in the season as the star-crossed lovers of "The Sea Wolf."

"Out of the Fog" has a modern setting and deals with the turbulent romance between an excitement-hungry girl and a ruthless young man, determined to "get ahead" in the world, at no matter what cost. An excellent cast has been lined up in support of the two stars. It includes Thomas Mitchell, Eddie Albert, John Qualen, Aline MacMahon, George Tobias, Leo Gorcey and Odette Myrtil.

USE SOUR CREAM IN ELITE DISHES

Summer thunderstorms do not sour milk, as many persons once believed, but summer is the season for sour milk or sour cream. At the right stage of sourness, all of it can be put to good use.

For example, the tragedy of soured cream may be turned into a culinary triumph if the homemaker uses it for a baked fish dish, or for baked veal chops or cutlets. Fish and veal are often seasoned with lemon and butter or other extra fat. The acid of sightly soured cream corresponds to the lemon and the cream supplies the fat, explain members of the Michigan State College home economics extension service.

For the baked fish, dry-meated kinds like fillets of haddock or halibu; steaks, are preferable. The method is to season the pieces of fish with salt, and put them in a very hot oven for about five minutes. Then sour cream is added to cover. Dry bread crumbs are sprinked over the top, and the whole is baked at moderate temperature until the fish is tender and the crumbs are brown. Veal chops or pieces of cutlet are first pan-broiled and then baked in the sour cream.

Gravy made with part or all sour cream is extra good with fried chicken or with chipped beef or fried tomatoes. Sour cream sauce goes well with snap beans and spinach. It is made by thickening and sensoning some of the cooking liquid from the vegetable and then adding the cream.

A note of thanks for your most welcome paper. I have just arrived at the home base after a little jaunt to Trinidad, B. C. Went by plane both ways and it was a wonderful trip. We stayed there 20 days. I will have a sad aftermath, I am afraid. Major Stocks, our commanding officer, who was with us on the trip, took off yesterday for Jackson, Miss., and we have had no word from him for 26 hours. Planes have been hunting for traces of him since yesterday with no success.

Kind of tough to do all that bragging and then no fish, huh?

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

The Baby In Summer

With the arrival of warm weather, balmy skies and the yearning to seek the highways and byways of nature, Dr. James Chapman, director of the District Health Department cites a few simple rules for the maintenance of the baby's health during the summer months:

Keek him cool. Keep him clean. Keep him quiet. Keep his food and water pure.

However much it might interfere with the plans of the family which dotes on "roughing it" at northern camp or lake cottage, the baby in his first or second summer should be kept at home where provisions for his health and comfort may be insured.

Rooms may be kept dark and cool during the heat of the day and the infant may be transfered to well-screened and shady porches for his naps. It should be remembered that the growing baby's body produces more heat per unit of surface than does the adult's. Moreover, the mechanism for controlling body temperature is not as well developed. Chiefly, cooling takes place through the evaporation of water from the surface of the skin. For this reason it is vitally necessary that the skin be kept quite clean and the pores free and that the water lost be replaced by a larger intake than during the cooler months.

Every effort should be mad to prevent exhaustion and over-heating by checking crying spells even though it may mean relaxing disciplinary rules by taking up the child to sooth him or attracting his attention to some new toy or game.

The regular use of the scales should be continued, but, in the event that the weight appears stationary, the quantity of food offered should not be increased until the doctor has been consulted.

Diarrhea, indicative of digestive upsets, appear more frequently in hot weather than in cold. Any significant change in the number and consistency of the stools should be a signal for immediately decreasing the baby's food. A physician should be called.

Water and milk should be boiled before being offered to the baby.

It is probably unwise nowadays in this enlightened age to sound the old warning against kissing the baby, but even members of the family should forbear fondling or caressing him, particularly during the hot weather.

No doubt young parents will decide this advice is hopelessly old-fashioned and dictated chiefly by a desire to curtail their freedom. To that it may be added that parenthood is a responsibility entailing sacrifice. A sturdy little body, well prepared to withstand the communicable diseases of later childhood, can be assured only by constant parental vigilance during the first two years of life.

You know that vitamin synthetics, for instance, are making up for Nature's life-givers sacrificed in some modern food processing. Similarly, the latest refining methods steal some of Nature's best life-givers from motor oils. But more than making that up today, in Conoco Nth oil, is a new synthetic—Thialkene inhibitor. It inhibits—checks—tho "festering" of foul leftovers that come from the normal firing of every car engine. Check this "festering" and you can check quick spoilage and loss of oil, as Conoco Nth oil proved for you in Death Valley.

VISITORS DAY AT BIOLOGICAL CAMP AUG. 10

Invitation Extended Public to Visit U. of M. Camp

The general public is cordially invited to visit the Biological Station of the University of Michigan at its thirteenth annual visitors day on August 10, 1941, from 2 to 5 p. m., eastern standard time.

Educational exhibits illustrating the work of the classes and scientific investigations will be on display. An exhibit of immediate interest to residents and visitors of the northern lakes region will show the organisms causing swimmer's itch, schistosome dermatitis, and the methods for combatting the organism. This exhibit will be supervised by Dr. Donald B. McMullen, who is directing the control work on swimmer's itch for the State Stream Control Commission.

All those who wish to learn more of the plants and animals of northern Michigan or want to become acquainted with the type of work done at the biological station will find the displays of value. Members of the faculty will be glad to discuss biological problems with visitors.

The biological station is located on the southeast shore of Douglas lake, Cheboygan county, on the Cheboygan-Petoskey road thirteen miles southwest of Cheboygan.

SUGAR BOWL OF ANCIENT VINTAGE PROPERTY OF ART RICHARDSON FAMILY

Art Richardson came into the Courier office Friday morning to show us a real antique, a silver-plate sugar bowl dated 1765. One of a set of three pieces, including also a teapot and milk pitcher, the sugar bowl was made by Reed & Barton, probably English silversmiths. "Probably", because the exact origin of the set is not known.

Mr. Richardson says it belonged to his maternal grandfather, H. M. Ellsworth of Midland, at least 75 years ago, and legend was that it had been among the possessions of British General Burgoyne, who lost the fateful battle of Saratoga and surrendered to the Americans in 1777.

Showing marks of its antiquity despite care which has been taken to preserve it, the sugar bowl is of graceful fluted design, stands about six inches tall, and has for a cover handle a unique design of vines and leaves. Mr. Richardson says it has been in his possession 35 years, and he is giving it to his daughter, Mrs. Sims J. Baker.

MOST GAME LAW VIOLATORS CONVICTED

Have One Chance In a Hundred of Getting Off Scot-Free.

When a conservation officer takes a person into court on a conservation law violation charge, the man arrested has less than one chance in a hundred of getting off scot-free. According to conservation department prosecution reports, of 1,632 cases arising from arrests in the first half of 1941, only 14 cases were lost or dismissed.

Of 407 cases prosecuted after arrests in June, only one was lost. Fines and costs for the month totalled about $2,800 each. Fish law violations numbered 350. Offenses included use of resident fishing licenses by non-residents, dynamiting trout streams, reckless operation of motorboats, and possession of game out of season.

How to become A SKILLED DRIVER

By RAY W. SHERMAN

FORD GOOD DRIVERS LEAGUE

(EDITOR'S NOTE: We believe many motorists in this community would drive better if they knew better how to drive. In the interest of safety, we will publish from time to time excerpts from the book, "How to Become a Skilled Driver," written for the Ford Good Drivers League by Ray W. Sherman, noted authority on driving. These excerpts are reprinted through courtesy of the Ford Motor Company.)

BE A GOOD SPORT

A good driver has to be a good sport. When he notices another car trying to pass him in traffic, he lessens his speed and lets the other fellow in. Why not let him pass? It's evident he is driving faster than you care to. But that's his business, not yours. Safety requires that you give a little.

If the light turns green, you theoretically have the right of way, but don't take it for granted. Maybe that fellow coming up the street has poor brakes. Maybe his eyesight is bad. In any event, make sure he's going to stop

Dresden Pattern

By GOLDIE JONES
(Associated Newspapers.) WNU Service.

"WHO is it, Blake?" asked the head of the credit department.

"Says she is from the advertising office," replied Don Blake, assistant to the manager.

"Oh, deliver us!" exclaimed Manager Martin. "These girls from the advertising department give me a pain in the neck—always wanting to stretch their credit to the breaking point. Show her in," he ordered impatiently.

"Mr. Martin?" inquired a pleasant voice.

"Correct," replied the credit manager.

"I am told that an employee's credit is limited to the amount equal to two weeks' salary," said the pleasant voice.

"Ought to be—only one week," snapped Martin.

"My name is Inez Harris. I work in the advertising department for $45 a week and want to charge a bill for $175."

"Humph!" snapped the man. "Nothing small about your wants, is there?"

"The things are so awfully pretty," impulsively exclaimed the girl.

"They always are," cynically replied the man. "Now, you listen to me, young lady, and take my advice. You are a new one to this store. My experience has been that all young ladies who work in the advertising department see so much beautiful merchandise that they have their heads turned. So you can just go back and tell Mr. Goldmann I wouldn't let you charge that fur coat you want to get, for I assume it's a coat in the August sale that you want to buy."

The girl smiled and said: "Guess again."

"Fur scarf?" suggested the man. "Don't get silver-fox ideas just because you have to write advertisements about the darned things."

"I'm trying to furnish my room," said the girl, eagerly. "And there is an oak table and a big easy chair, both with their prices cut in half. Mr. Rafferty won't hold them for me, because he wants to make room for the new stock."

"How much?" curtly inquired Mr. Martin.

"One hundred and three dollars for the two pieces," replied the girl.

"Tell Rafferty to send up the bill. I'll O.K. it," said Manager Martin.

"Thanks a lot. How about the rest of the things I want?"

"I've already agreed to let you have more than your credit quota calls for," snapped the manager.

"I know," said the girl, nervously twisting her handkerchief in her fingers. "But I'll never be able to get anything else I like so well—so cheaply."

"Nothing is cheap when you haven't the money to pay for it," growled Mr. Martin.

"Mr. Curtis won't hold sample dishes, even with a deposit," protested the girl.

"Dishes!" almost roared the man. "You want to charge $69 worth of dishes! I never heard anything like that before."

"They have roses painted on them—little wadgy bunches that look just like those I remember seeing when I went to visit my grandmother in Westerly."

"Some of the dishes down in 24 are darned nice looking," boldly commented Don Blake.

"Blake" — grudgingly — "this is Miss Harris from the advertising; Miss Harris, my assistant, Mr. Blake."

"I've run across Miss Harris several times since she came to the Emporium," cheerfully announced Don. "I'm awfully glad at last to know her name."

"Humph!" snorted Martin, who had thought his young assistant immune to heart attacks. And Don Blake had been indifferent to the pleasure-crazy young women he knew cared nothing about a home save as a parking place for their extra clothes.

"Humph!" repeated Mr. Martin, his dark eyes twinkling. "Suppose you take a run down to section 24 and see if you think Miss Harris has made a sensible selection. I'll leave it to you to O.K. the bill."

"Well," said Don Blake, a few moments later, "they are just the sort of dishes I always thought I'd like to have if I had a home of my own."

"If I O.K. your bill don't you think you owe me an invitation to come up and eat a home-cooked meal off the new dishes?"

"What kind of pie do you like best?" inquired the girl. "I'll bake it for you next Sunday."

"Sunk," groaned Manager Martin as his usually alert assistant returned dreamily to his desk.

But Don was anticipating a perfect dinner served by a "Dresden" hostess on Dresden china—gold rimmed.

Juvenile balloon race — 1st, Farneby Larson; 2nd, Jimmy Allen, Grand Rapids.

Diving judges were Harold Steele, Wiley Hitchcock and Joe Moran, Camp Charlevoix counsellors. All events and winners were broadcast from a Michigan Automobile Association sound car. Dean Davenport was score keeper.

Thrilling Exhibitions

Two exhibitions were highlights of the afternoon program from standpoint of spectator interest. "Buster" Naegle, Camp Charlevoix cowboy, put his trained 6-year-old horse Dolly, through such spectacular stunts as jumping through a flaming hoop, counting its age by pawing with its hoof, riding a teeter-totter, standing on a barrel-head, etc. "Buster" was scheduled for such a performance July 4th but was called to Arizona by the death of his mother. Incidentally, due to anticipated army service in the fall, Buster wants to sell this marvelous pony which he has trained.

Another spectacular feature was a water skiing exhibition by August Gnehm, formerly of St. Moritz, Switzerland, and last winter a skiing instructor at Sun Valley, Idaho. Guehm, now sailor on a pleasure yacht visiting the harbor, gave the crowd its greatest thrill as he zoomed around Round lake at a terrific speed in tow of Harold Miller's speed boat. He electrified the crowd with his daring stunts during both afternoon and evening exhibitions. It was said Gnehm is runner-up to the national water skiing champion.

Opening features of the evening program at East Park were a concert by the city band, directed by Max Smith, exhibition drill by the Boy Scout drum and bugle corps from Alpena, and singing of "Sea Chanties" by Camp Charlevoix campers and counsellors, all of which drew enthusiastic applause from an audience which taxed the park's capacity.

Boat Parade Colorful

Surpassing in grandeur any previous year, the Venetian boat parade and fireworks display over Round lake harbor climaxed the day's activities. The throng witnessing the spectacle occupied every vantage point around the harbor. Cars were parked solid in every block to a point a considerable distance from the lake.

A committee of three judges, including Richard Cott, commodore of the Spring Lake Yacht Club, Dallas Darling, member of the Grand Rapids Marine Club, and Herbert J. Woodall, Commodore of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, awarded first prize to Clarence Wood's cruiser "Barj", featuring Japanese lanterns fashioned into a revolving water wheel. Second prize went to William Ockrant's "Bobby O," and third award to the yacht "Oniac II", owned by Vern Franke, of Chicago. All three prize winners displayed decorations indicating originality and great effort on the part of the owners.

Those entering boats in the parade were: Glenn See, Clarence Wood, Robert Wexstaff, Ernest Loeb, Jim Hillec, R. E. Olds, P. D. Campbell, Harry Gregory, Myron Culver, Bruce Withers, Glenn Arvilla, James H. Skiles, C. S. Webster, William Ockrant, Henry Partridge, John Nordrum, Arthur P. Taylor, Clarence Arnold, Charles Bellinger, Clarence Wolfram, Vern Franke and Gas Beiser, the latter of Traverse City.

Officers and members of the Charlevoix Marine Club have asked that their appreciation to all whose participations and efforts made this year's program such an outstanding success, be expressed through these columns.

Secretary's Annual Report, 1940-41

To the Citizens of the School District:

On January 1st, 1942, our district will pay the last of the bonds on our grade school building. ($10,500.00) There is at present about $6,000.00 delinquent taxes due the district which should be used for debt retirement. Part of this will have to be used to meet this final payment January 1st. Some of this delinquent tax is coming on the ten year plan, and a great deal may not be collected. The school board will ask permission to put the unused money collected after the bonds are paid, into the general fund. This will simplify the accounting a great deal.

For the past several weeks the gymnasium has been used one night each week for roller skating. The net income, after deducting for the extra work involved, has averaged from ten to thirteen dollars per week. This money has been placed in an activity fund which can be drawn on by the board for such uses as band uniforms, athletics, scouting and other worth while activities.

A great effort has been made by the board to interest near-by rural schools to close and transport pupils to the Charlevoix school. Some schools including Hilton, Loeb, and Grand View will close altogether, while Ironton closes the highest grade. As a result of closing in whole or in part, the cost of transportation is paid by the state. Our school gains by the increased membership which is the basis for state aid. To provide safe and cheap transportation the school board proposes to purchase buses and contract with the interested school districts who will pay all costs including the purchase price of the buses. Under this plan the state will in turn reimburse the school district for the buses and transportation costs. While we are able to accommodate this additional membership without building, it is a great advantage to our school, and also to the school districts which transport their pupils. This will help to change the tendency of rural students who live near Charlevoix from attending other schools where transportation is already furnished.

We have six vacancies in the teaching force. One retirement, one leaving teaching, two marriages, and two have obtained better paying positions.

At the last annual meeting the electors gave the board permission to tear down the old Junior High building when a good opportunity offered. It is under consideration to use some of the material to construct a school garage on school property for buses.

Only minor repairs and decorating are planned for this year. A continued program makes this possible. With more favorable state aid, an increased membership, and the permission to use the little coming from delinquent debt service, makes it more hopeful to add to the school program, vocal music, cooking, art, and to increase the facilities in manual training and science. The past eight years have allowed only a minimum.

Respectfully submitted,
C. B. MEGGISON, Secretary.

Nature chose a cross-road corner by the name of Corbeil, just outside the village of Callendar, for Canada's No. 1 tourist magnet. Doughas Oliver who heads the Ontario Travel and Publicity bureau estimates that approximately 250,000 persons traveled to Callendar last year to see the quints.

Million-Dollar Babies

By courtesy of Keith Munro, business manager of the quints, our party was accorded the rare privilege of a private showing of the Diannes, the fifth since their birth, and a meeting with Dr. Dafoe.

The girls live in a cottage-like house, surrounded with a tall steel fence and guarded constantly by watchmen. Other members of the family reside outside, but they have access to the cottage at all times.

From 10 to 10:30 a. m. and from 3 to 3:30 p. m. each day the children go outside to romp, while visitors watch them from small glass windows in a four-sided wall that encloses the playground. Cameras are forbidden, as the King Features syndicate and the Newspaper Enterprise Association have exclusive rights for all photographs. From revenues of tourist admissions and their contracts, the quintuplets now have approximately $1,000,000 in investments.

They not only look like a million, but they're actually worth it!

They Sing in French

The five little girls, each dressed identically in blue even to their hair ribbons, emerged from the cottage, accompanied by two nurses.

Dr. Dafoe was asked to identify them. He smiled and declined.

"I frequently get them mixed up myself," he said.

However, the Quints themselves came to the rescue each bowing demurely and announcing her name. Natural and unspoiled, the children sang a number of French songs, executed an old-fashioned dance and rendered "Oh Canada."

They concluded with "There'll Always Be an England" but after singing two lines they became a bit confused with the words and finally gave it up. It was then that H. A. MacLennan of Hamilton, president of the Hotel Association of Canada, put us "on the spot" by suggesting that we play the accompaniment on a miniature foot-organ.

We had heard the song only twice before, but arose to the occasion gallantly as best we could. And thus it was that a Michigan newspaperman became the first person to accompany the French-speaking Quints of Canada in singing a British song.

Canadian Contrasts

Sale of beer and wine by the glass is restricted in Ontario to licensed hotels, and this governmental action has been a blessing to the tourist industry.

In all towns, large and small, you will find splendid, modern hotels. Room rates are reasonable. Food prices are about the same as they are in Michigan. The Royal York, the dominion's largest hotel, is owned and operated by the Canadian Pacific railroad, while Ottawa's famous Chateau Laurier is operated by the Canadian National Railroad, a government-owned agency. Canada accepts public ownership of its largest hotels as a matter of fact.

Because of long distances, highway development has been slow. Yet the roads are kept up in good condition. However, Canada today does not have a transcontinental route.

Gasoline and oil restrictions limit purchases from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. and none at all on Sundays. No passports are required at the border, only personal identification and an automobile license card being necessary.

Travel Boom is On

From a recent visit into Northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula, we are convinced that the travel season this year has almost reached the proportion of a "boom."

While the demand for cottages in some sections is not up to expectation, the hotels and overnight cabins are doing a thriving business.

Traverse City, for example, is having a record year. Its 1941 Cherry Festival, nearly rained and frozen out by November weather, attracted a tremendous throng. Petoskey and Harbor Springs merchants are happy. Mackinac Island and Sault Ste. Marie are receiving throngs.

Tourist towns along Route 27 from Lansing to Mackinaw City are enjoying a marked increase in business over last year. Upper Peninsula's cool climate is pulling thousands to resorts from Ironwood to Menominee and St. Ignace.

Warm weather and general prosperity are partly responsible, another reason is a conviction of many persons that this summer may be the last one in a good many years when they can do exactly as they wish.

Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes continues to fret about the probability of gasoline rations. Two weeks ago the Association of American Railroads requested roads in the Southeast to eliminate all excursions in order to facilitate troop movements. Compulsory deductions for defense saving bonds, plus a stiff federal tax on middle-class incomes, would put a serious crimp into 1942 vacations. And so it goes. Result: Increased travel this summer.

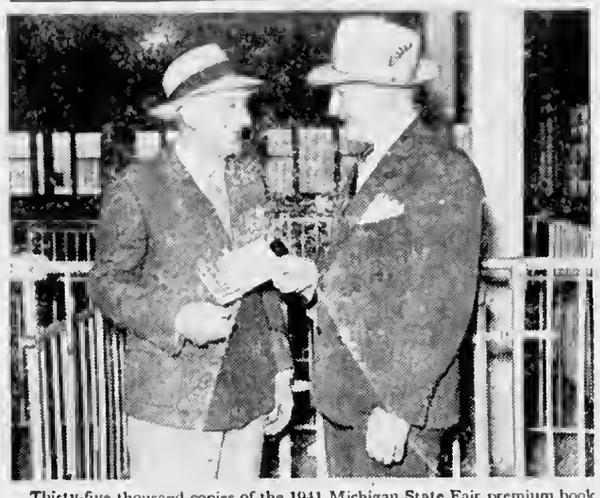
We're Travel-Minded

For many years the Canadians were good customers of Michigan. They enjoyed coming to our state. They spent their money here freely.

Today, because of the imperative need for American dollars to help pay for a $1,000,000,000 purchase of American munitions in 1941, Canadians are restricted from travel abroad. They can't subscribe to American newspapers or magazines. No order of the foreign exchange board at Ottawa ever aroused more resentment and disapproval.

And so while Canadians do not visit American resorts, more Americans are visiting Canada this summer than ever before—unless the gasoline restrictions frighten those who are timid. It is a safe bet that Michigan is going to receive a benefit from the world renown of the five little girls at Callendar. While we are selfish about our own resort industry, we generously acclaim Canada's attractions in a neighborly and friendly spirit — especially Yvonne, Marie, Annette, Cecile and Emilie.

STATE FAIR COMING UP!



Thirty-five thousand copies of the 1941 Michigan State Fair premium book are off the presses and on their way to prospective exhibitors. Here, Henry R. Jossman, Pontiac, representative of the State Department of Agriculture, receives the first copy from Bernard J. Youngblood, Fair manager. Premiums totaling $70,000 are offered this year and a record number of exhibitors is expected. Premium books may be obtained by writing Michigan State Fair, Detroit. The Fair opens August 27 and continues through September 7.

Board of Education,
School District No. 1
Charlevoix, Michigan.
Gentlemen:

In accordance with instructions I have made an audit of the cash receipts and disbursements of School District No. 1, City and Township of Charlevoix, for the year ending June 30, 1941.

This audit included a detailed examination of all checks issued as approved on the minute book of the school board. Teachers contracts were used as a basis for the instructional payroll, and invoices on file were taken to support other disbursements. The cancelled bonds and interest coupons paid during the year were accounted for. The treasurers of the city of Charlevoix and the county of Charlevoix were contacted to verify the amount of money paid into the school district treasury. No irregularities or omissions were found.

On the basis of this audit as outlined above, I hereby certify that the books as maintained at the school office correctly reflect the result of operations for the year ended June 30, 1941.

Very truly yours,
O. W. LYNGKLIP, Certified Public Accountant.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

Ken Smith, Camp Scribe

The great day has come and gone, and from all indications it was the finest DAD'S DAY we have ever had. Everything clicked as we had planned, even the most welcome rain fitted in with our plans most perfectly. But more about the details a little later on.

Monday seemed to be a day for trips to go out, as three groups spent the night out. Joe Craig and Fritz Pinkham took their two cabins out on the Alert. Paul Piccard, assistant counselor, ably helped these Juniors on their first overnight. The boys were: John Hunting, Jim Allen, Mike Davis, "Buck" Dillon, Jimmy Fox, Farneby Larson, Bill Lutz, and Johnny Knight. Bill Hart and Ward Penberthy took their boys on a sailing trip. These boys were Charles McGuire, George Haberkorn, Bill Kerr, Richard Sample and Billy Newcomer. A horse trip was the choice of Huntley Johnson's cabin. "Buster" and "Buzz" supervized the trip with these boys going: Bill Hyland, John Gilmore, Jimmy Howlett, Tommy Sample, Billy Ives, Hal Caldwell and Dick Abbott.

Camp Walloon was host to a group of our boys on Tuesdny, and it proved a most successful day for us. We won both of the softball games and the rillery match. This helped put our winning percentage up a few points, and at the end of the season our score should look mighty fine. The Pioneers trnveled into Petoskey in the evening and saw the Marx Brothers in "The Big Store". Those of you who have seen it will know that it is a fine picture for boys, and from the outbursts of laughter during the showing, it is needless to say that everyone enjoyed it.

Wednesday dawned cloudy, and many a wondering person was wandering around camp hoping that rain would not spoil the plans for the day, because we were to be hosts to a girls' camp, and that is really a treat. Twenty-five girls and counselors from Chippewa Trail arrived about two-thirty; and by that time the sun was shining brightly, and all was in readiness. Huntley Johnson as chairman was assisted by Jimmy Kendall, Bill Carr, and Don Horton. After an inspection of the camp the girls were all taken for a sail in our fine fleet of boats. A picnic supper was served after which there was dancing in the club house. Running true to form were Joe Moran, Huntley Johnson, and Ward Penberthy. Also giving the staff a new light on themselves were Roger Korten, Jimmy Kendall, Jimmy Curtis, and Bill Carr. Bill Hart, Jack Lehnhard and Jerry Wilson did right well by themselves, too. Teams for softball were then chosen, and everyone had a great time, and though the fellows hate to admit it, several of the girls put some of our stars to shame. (Please note, Wheaton). The club house was the next stopping place. A big sing was held with each camp singing its own camp songs. This event ended in a tie. After "Goodnight, Ladies", the girls piled into their cars, and after many fond goodbyes were said and Miss Morgan inviting us over there for a return match (???), we called it a day and took our hats off to Huntley Johnson for a very well-planned program. He was naturally at home in planning a program where "women" were concerned, as I understand that he is quite an organizer. More power, boy.

Phil Penberthy took his cabin on a canoe trip down the Jordan River Wednesday night. These boys were: Ken Nyquist, Tom Dancer, Johnny MacDonell, Bruce Dutcher, Joe Manning, Sam Greenawalt, and Ed. Gordon assisted Phil. No tip-overs reported. Nice managing, Phil. (or luck).

Coach Steele took his cabin on an overnight via sailboats and reported a fine trip. They left on Thursdny, and these lucky boys were: Fritz Steketee, Phil Goodspeed, Jack Wooley, Jim Nicholson, Bill Kampe, Johnny Mains and Arden Tiley. Ken Vincent skippered the gang.

Friday was a day of preparation, and those of you who were here know that all these preparations weren't for naught. In the evening the Glee Club had a long rehearsal, otherwise it was an evening of rest.

Saturdny's rising bell found everyone in great expectation for the biggest day in our camp season, Dads' Day. The sun was bright and gave the indication that the day was to be a hot one. The twn greeters, Dean Hudnutt and Ward Penberthy, were on hand to park the guests' cars and to give them the program of the day. After breakfast the regular morning clean-up found the dads doing most of the work. "Chief" asked several of the mothers to be the inspectors. Mrs. Ray Wheaton, Mrs. Alex Fox, and Mrs. R. L. Dillon gave the reports at dinner that noon. Cars kept coming in all morning, and mothers and dads were greeted by very happy campers. Regular morning instruction periods were held with parents seeing the camp in action. The swim period saw many dads in with their sons. The new tennis courts also were a spot of much activity for the dads. Mr. Van-Antwerp still can boast that Howard has a long way to go before beating him. A contest was held to name the new courts with five boys suggesting the winning name. From now on these courts, which are a gift of the dads to "Chief" on this, his twenty-fifth anniversary in camp directing, will be called "The Friendship Courts". After lunch the Annual Dad's Meeting was held on the porch of the lodge. Charlie Bachman presided at this meeting in the absence of Dr. Mont Wickham, of Detroit, who was president. The annual election was held with David Hunting, of Grand Rapids, being elected president. "Chief" and Mrs. Reimann both spoke, and the discussion period was most interesting. The dads decided upon another fine gesture to the camp in contributing gifts to provide a large practice board to be put down at the tennis courts. This is just another evidence of the splendid cooperation of parents we have here at Camp Charlevoix. We really have a Dads' Committee that works and accomplishes things, and the "Chief" is always ready to carry out any suggestions coming from this group. After the campers finished their rest hour (80 minutes on Saturday), the boys and dads met upon the ball diamonds, and such rivalry you never did see. In the Pioneer section, the boys proved much too strong for their dads, though the hitting of George Korten, A. L. Birdsall, Willard Dow, A. D. MacDonell, and the pitching of Mr. Birdsall and Minor Dutcher did make the boys play their best. Dr. H. S. Kendall and his older son also helped the Dads put up the fine light that they did. The Intermediates had a tougher time winning, only one run being the difference. Among the dads who displayed their ability were H. S. Greenawalt, Elmer Jenkins, Floyd J. Green, H. B. Ives, Coach Charlie Bachman, and D. S. Noel. The Juniors had a tough time getting enough runs together to bent their dads, but the dads made so many errors (?) that the boys just couldn't help winning. Leo J. Kay spent his time taking movies of the game, while Dr. B. T. Larson, Clarence Allen and Dave Hunting played for the dads. "And Then the Rains Came." "Buster" had his boys all lined up on their mighty steeds to put on a riding exhibitions when "The Rains Came", and everyone ran for shelter. But it was a most welcome rain as the temperature fell and by banquet time all was well. Dick Osmer decorated the mantel which looked very fine. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Wolford, assisted by Mrs. Jerry Haggerty, Mrs. Guy Pearl, Mrs. Violet Lilly, and Pearl Davis served a grand meal, chicken 'neverything. We had a fine session of camp singing. "Hitch" Hitchcock was toastmaster, Johnny Mains from Greenfield, Ohio, was the camper speaker with Dr. B. T. Larson the speaker of the evening. Coach Charlie Bachman, David Hunting and Chief gave short remarks. One of the highlights of the evening was a short talk given by a cousin of Dr. Larson. I only know him as Eric. He gave us a vivid description of Brazil, his home. He is a student at Tufts and had a fine command of the English language. His talk was most interesting. The banquet was closed with the singing of taps, and everyone agreed that Dads' Day of 1941 was one more star in Camp Charlevoix's crown. Many thanks to a swell committee which did a wonderful job.

At the Sunday morning chapel service, "Chief" spoke on "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star". It was a talk which gave both campers and guests much to think about. The service was held in the outdoor chapel, which has been reconditioned by the assistant counselors. The fellows worked hard on this project, and the results are most pleasing. In the afternoon, Joe Moran took his swimmers into town for the annual swimming meet, and from the results elsewhere in this paper, you will see that practically all of the medals are resting out here at camp. I guess we missed three. Oh, well, maybe next year we can get every one.' It was a great afternoon for our boys and men, and much credit should be given to Joe Moran for his instruction. In the evening, our Glee Club sang in town for the seventh year. Thirty-eight boys and men were in the group which gave a forty-minute program of Sea Chantys and Camp Songs. The applause of the crowd and the comments afterward were most gratifying. The whole camp then came in and saw the boat parade and the fireworks. Needless to say that everyone in camp went to bed that night very tired but happy that a difficult week end was passed and that everything was done well. Just one more evidence of a great staff doing a great job.

Well, everything seems back to normal now. Extra hours of sleep in the morning and extra long rest hours have put everyone on their feet again, and now the next important date for you parents to remember is AUGUST 9th, when the Annual Rodeo will be held at three o'clock. "Buster" and "Buzz" are busy drilling the boys, and I guess the horses will be the tired ones after THAT week end. So plan on coming up if you can.

It was mighty good to see so many of you here last week end and until I get at this article again next week, a-hoooooog cheer for Camp Charlevoix.

SALT BLOCKS TO KEEP DEER OFF OF HIGHWAYS

Salt is saving the lives of hundreds of deer in the vicinity of Newberry these days.

Dozens of the animals, attracted to highways by chemicals used to allay dust, have been killed this season by passing automobiles. To keep deer off the roads, officers of the state conservation department have distributed 650 pounds of salt in six-pound blocks along highways M-28, M-94 and M-77, a quarter-mile back from the right-of-way.

Will Appeal Decision

Notice of appeal from the circuit court decision upholding property-owners in the case of the closing of part of the Little South Branch of the Pere Marquette river to wading trout fishermen has been filed by the state department of conservation.

Tuberculosis kills more young children than scarlet fever and diptheria combined.

Artificial Minnow Kills Gull

Strangest place for lost fishing tackle ever to turn up is reported by Conservation Officer A. J. Neering, who picked up a dead herring gull killed by an artificial minnow that was impaled in the jaw of a fish the gill had tried to eat.

The time to find tuberculosis is before symptoms appear. The chest X-ray usually will show the presence of active disease before the victim knows he has it. The treatment can be started before the disease becomes deeply entrenched in the body.

Pokagon, Michigan, on M-10 south of Dowagiac, was named for a famous Indian chief of the same name and still is the home of many Pottawatomies who sell bead work, baskets and sweet grass articles.

Tuberculosis is not inherited. It is a highly infectious disease caused by germs. It spreads from the sick to the well.

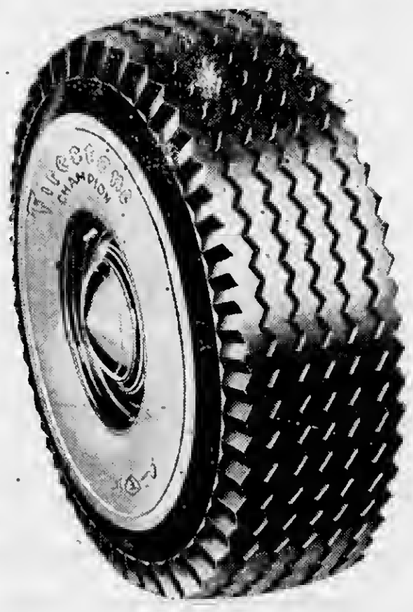
WHAT THE MAYOR OF SALT LAKE CITY SAYS ABOUT HIGHWAY SAFETY



I say highway accidents CAN be prevented! And I know what I'm talking about. I've driven more than 2,000,000 miles without an accident of any kind. I hold 290 speed and endurance records—more victories than any other driver in the world.

Safe cars are as necessary as safe drivers. That means safe lights, safe bodies, safe brakes — and SAFE TIRES! And from personal experience I know that Firestone Champions are safer than any other tires that money can buy!

They give 35% greater heat protection against blowouts than any comparable tire Firestone has ever built. They have 27% stronger bond between the tread and Safety-Lock Gum-Dipped cord body. The silent Gear-Grip tread has 3,456 sharp-edged angles for greater protection against skidding. And it gives 11% longer non-skid mileage.

You get premium performance without premium price! For greater highway safety, take my advice. Have a set PUT ON YOUR CAR TODAY.

HERE'S THE WAY TO INCREASE TIRE MILEAGE UP TO 25%

The exclusive sealing compound on the inside walls of Firestone Champion Leakproof Tubes seals up the pores through which air escapes in all ordinary tubes, and thus maintains correct inflation. These remarkable tubes protect against blowouts caused by bruise breaks which may occur when tires are underinflated. And they increase tire mileage up to 25%. With a set of Firestone Champion Leakproof Tubes in your Firestone Champion Tires you get Premium Performance at No Extra Cost.

THE ONLY TIRES MADE THAT ARE SAFETY-PROVED ON THE SPEEDWAY FOR YOUR PROTECTION ON THE HIGHWAY.

America is also a place where that 12-year-old boy wins a scholarship; where you can turn off the radio if you happen not to like the speaker; where an editor can write what he thinks without fear or favoritism and he reasonably sure that his head will still be sitting on his shoulders a week after it is published; where the people have a skin of steel and a heart of gold.

In 1942 Columbus discovered America, and everybody knows what America is.

America is a place where hope eternally flourishes.

God Bless Christopher Columbus!

Got tangled up with an optical illusion while taking a cruiser from Charlevoix to Grand Haven last Saturday. After running through heavy fog from South Point to what (I hoped) was the Manitou passage, saw what we supposed was a point of pine-timbered land with a small white yacht anchored off shore. Disregarding compass, attempted to go around this point and it was not until 15 minutes later that I discovered the supposed point of land was smoke from a freighter, the pilot house the anchored yacht and the course just the opposite from that which we should have been taking. If I'd known how to reverse course, would have started back to Charlevoix, but inasmuch as the only alternative was turn south and keep on going, that's what we did and finally located the lighthouse in the passage south of North Manitou Island. Thus my first experience at navigating. Extend herewith sincere thanks to Joe Howard for loan of a chart, Bill Bellinger for laying out the course and whoever is responsible for giving me enough common sense to follow a compass. After this I'd prefer my sailing at a time when it is possible to see where one is going.

Learned how to appreciate Charlevoix on this boat trip, too. Visited several west Michigan ports en route to Grand Haven and found Charlevoix is head and shoulders above all others in harbor facilities. Manistee had no gasoline service dock we could find; Pentwater provided gasoline pump service but an extreme shortage of docks, particularly public; Muskegon lake had no public docking facilities. It all goes to show we don't usually appreciate what we have at home until we get away, and let me tell you Charlevoix is a paradise from a yachting standpoint in comparison to other ports.

Don't Swear

Swearing has never been found good for a sore finger or liver complaint. It won't insure against sewing machine agents nor any of the ills that beset people through life. There is no occasion for swearing except, possibly, in a newspaper office, where it has been found useful, it is said, in reading proof and often an indispensable necessity in getting the paper to press. Now and then it has been known to assist the editor materially in looking over the newspaper after it has been printed. Otherwise it is a very foolish and wicked habit.

The Detroit Free Press last Sunday featured Joe Howard, Charlevoix's genial harbor master, as visiting yachtsmen see him—cordial, accommodating, willing to do anything for their convenience. Joe meets personally the crew of every yacht visiting this harbor, extending the city's welcome and inquiring their every want. I caught him bidding farewell to a party at 5:30 a. m. one Sunday, so you can see hours mean nothing at all to Joe when it is in the line of duty. I'm glad to see this recognition, Joe, and add my own congratulations.

Doctor: "What you need, my dear young lady, is a little sun and air."

Young Lady: "Why, doctor, how dare you! I'm not even married."

Tuesday afternoon's welcome shower ended temporarily, at least, a heat wave unprecedented in length and intensity in this region. That the thermometer stood in the low 90's and humidity was extremely low for a week was a record.

Negotiations are under way to bring a team of the National Football League, with the Detroit Lions as the organization particularly desired, to Charlevoix for the 1942 training season. The owner of the Detroit Lions has indicated a desire to come to Charlevoix for the purpose of surveying facilities and last Sunday such a prospect was mentioned by Dale Stafford, sports editor of the Detroit Free Press. That would be big stuff!

Understand two of Don Clothier's boats brought in three mackinaw trout from Lake Michigan last Sunday and a limit catch of smallmouth bass for three fishermen from Lake Charlevoix on Tuesday.

A. M. HAMLIN, A PIONEER RESIDENT, DEAD

Victim of Heart Attack Last Wednesday; Funeral Held Saturday

Arthur Millard Hamlin, 88, Charlevoix pioneer, died last Wednesday evening as the result of a heart attack. He had been in good health and was active for a man of his years.

Born September 25, 1852, in Auburn, New York, he came to Charlevoix in 1868. A carpenter by trade, he helped build a great number of homes and buildings in Charlevoix. He claimed to have helped wheel in lumber for the second white man's residence built in Petoskey.

Mr. Hamlin married Jennie Van Dusen in 1879. She died in 1900. Six children were born to the couple, three of whom survive, Charles and Louis of this city, and George L., of Traverse City. A son, Herbert, and two daughters, Virginia and Greta, are deceased. Seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the See Funeral home by Rev. G. Russell Parker of Northport. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

INTANGIBLE TAX DISTRIBUTED IN COUNTY

Charlevoix Received $693.05 Out of Total Amount of $3,928.30

A report on the distribution of intangible tax revenues to May 1, 1941, shows $3,928.30 went to Charlevoix county.

Boyne City received the largest amount, $875.43, Charlevoix received $693.05, East Jordan $520.02, Boyne Falls $64.21, the balance to various townships.

DRAFT REGISTRANTS ASKED TO MEET ARMY PHYSICAL STANDARDS

Charlevoix registrants likely to be called for duty under Selective Service are urged by the Michigan Council of Defense to learn the physical standards of the armed forces and to have remediable defects corrected prior to examination by their local board physicians.

In urging such precautionary action, the Council of Defense pointed out that it would have the effect of making a larger proportion of Michigan's manpower available for defense. Moreover, it would bolster morale by reducing the number of cases of men who part with their jobs and families, to enter the Army, only to be rejected a few days later because of minor physical defects that could have been corrected.

"Men who learn that they have physical defects, and have remediable ones corrected so as to qualify themselves for training will render patriotic service to their country and improve their own health," it was pointed out by Col. E. M. Roscevans, state director of Selective Service.

VANDOLEN-DAVIN WEDDING SOLEMNIZED HERE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. Marguerite VanDolen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Hull, and Martin Davin, of Steubenville, Ohio, were married Saturday afternoon, July 26, by Justice H. R. Fowler at the city hall. Their attendants were the bride's brother, Richard Hull, and sister, Miss Edna Mae Hull.

This was the first marriage to be performed in Charlevoix's city hall since it was completed in the fall of 1939.

SHORTAGE OF NURSES IS ACUTE IN STATE

Urge Young Women to Go Into Training to Relieve Situation

Confirming reports that a shortage of registered nurses exists in hospitals and public health nursing services of the state, Miss M. Annie Leitch, president of the Michigan State Nurses Association, speaking from the association headquarters office in Lansing, urged qualified, patriotic young people, with high school or college background, to meet the country's need for nurses by applying for admission to state accredited schools of nursing and there prepare themselves for satisfying, useful service in the fields of nursing and health.

Hospitals throughout the state, Miss Leitch pointed out, have been operating at full capacity all year with hardly a bed vacant on any of the major wards. This situation has placed a heavy burden on hospital nursing staffs already depleted by calls to service in Army and Naval hospitals, industrial units and expanding public health services.

The present urgent need for nurses apparently is not a temporary one. Because of the wider use people are making of hospitals and public health facilities, it is expected to continue long after the existing national emergency is past.

To meet the need for nurses, nursing schools able to increase their enrollments without sacrifice of standards of education, are urged to admit more qualified students to their fall classes.

A list of Michigan schools of nursing may be secured from the state nurses association, 212 Capitol Savings & Loan Bldg., Lansing. The association will also send to young people interested in nursing as a career, vocational information which will help them to select a good school of nursing and will tell them of the far flung opportunities for constructive service which exist for competent professional nurses.

ORDER BIDS FOR MACKINAC SPAN

WILL BUILD CAUSEWAY ON NORTH SHORE

Construction of Docking Facilities to Come Later; Will Cut Straits Crossing One-Third

G. Donald Kennedy, state highway commissioner, Monday ordered the first physical step toward constructing a $33,000,000 bridge across the Straits of Mackinac.

Kennedy, following a conference with Gov. Van Wagoner and engineering consultants, said bids would be taken August 20 for the first phase of construction, which will establish a causeway extending a mile into the straits from the north shore. A second contract will be let later this summer for construction of dock facilities at the causeway's terminus, he added.

Kennedy said the causeway and docks would cost an estimated $1,700,000 and serve temporarily as an expansion of the state ferry service. The causeway has been designed, the commissioner explained, to perform the double duty of providing more satisfactory ferry service until the state can bridge the long haul across the straits. It then will become a part of the bridge.

Will Cut Trip

The causeway will reduce from nine miles to three the distance traveled by state boats from Mackinac City to the upper peninsula shore. The time saved by the shorter run, Kennedy asserted, will "step up the capacity of the ferry service more than one-third."

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Making love is like baking a pie. All you need is a lot of crust and some applesauce.

I would take it that Cecil Smith, theatrical writer for the Chicago Tribune, came to Charlevoix to review presentation by the Chicago Mummers of "Stage Door." Even though it is true the writer captioned the story, "Charlevoix Summer Theater One of Best in Midwest," and went on to say, in effect, the performance was "one of the best summer theater performances I have run across in the middle west," one cannot escape the conviction Mayor Robert Bridge "stole the show" with the brand of hospitality shown the visitor and what must have been a most vivid description of Charlevoix's attractions. While comment in regard to the Mummers was unmistakably praise, Charlevoix occupied most of an article over a column in length. Our advantageous summer resort location on three lakes was extolled. Lake Charlevoix's fascinating shoreline praised, politics were even mentioned and the story ended with a 3 a. m. flapjack breakfast which certainly must have been good, for the writer recommended that ladies ask Mayor Bridge for his recipe. Orchids to you, Bob! That was one of the finest bits of Charlevoix promotion I've seen in a long time. And just between you and me, I found out by reading this article why small town newspaper writers stay in a small town—they lack adjectives.

When I wrote a ditty last week about how sweating night sooth the editor's disposition when he discovered his newspaper full of errors, I didn't realize just how soon I was going to put it into practice. Picked up the edition after it was off the press and there staring me in the face was a paragraph in this column headed, "In 1942 Columbus discovered America." The copy was written 1492, the linotype operator set it 1942, the proof reader let the error get by, and was my face

Jack Brondyke, 51, Grand Rapids tree surgeon, was jailed for sixty days and assessed fine and costs of $55 following plea of guilty to drunken driving before Justice H. R. Fowler Monday morning.

OEFERMENT FOR FARM LABORERS

COUNTY AGENT OUTLINES STEPS TO BE TAKEN

Draft Boards Instructed to Give Special Consideration to Men Needed for Farm Production

(By B. P. Mellencamp)

What Charlevoix county farmers can do to help assure themselves a labor supply adequate for the production of essential farm goods was outlined this week.

The director of the Selective Service system has asked all local draft boards to give special consideration to deferment of men needed in agricultural production. In addition, the WPA is making special effort to supply demands for farm labor.

In case a man believed to be indispensable to the farm is drafted, here is what to do:

(1) When the selective service questionnaire is received, ask deferment in Class 2, occupational deferment; or, if there are dependents, Class 3, dependency.

(2) The employer or dependent should submit to the local draft board Form 42 or a letter properly witnessed and presenting the reasons for requesting deferment. The registrant should also present the facts and request for deferment by letter if necessary, in addition to the statement in the questionnaire.

(3) If the local board does not grant the requested deferment, the

TWO YOUTHS CONFESS THEFT OF AUTOMOBILE

Admit Taking Car Owned by Earl A Young, Local Realtor

Two youths in their 'teens are being held for hearing following confession Sunday to theft July 29 of a car owned by Earl A. Young, local realtor.

FIFTH MUMMER PLAY TONIGHT

PRESENT "GEORGE WASHINGTON SLEPT HERE"

Jon Sierra Heads Capable Cast In Kaufman-Hart Hit at Charlevoix Playhouse

"George Washington Slept Here" will be the next production of the Mummers of Chicago at the Charlevoix Playhouse. The play will run Wednesday through Sunday, August 6 to 10.

The Kaufman-Hart combination so well known for the wild-woolly "You Can't Take It With You", is in again, this time with a bucolic episode which chronicles the tribulations of a family man who craves —and gets— "a little place in the country to call his own"! It is far more mellow in its nature than "The Man Who Came to Dinner", and far less lunatic than "You Can't Take it With You". But what it loses in caustic, urban wisecracking, is makes up in the wider appeal of its humor.

"George Washington Slept Here" is a record of the Fuller family, Newton and his wife, Annabelle, and their daughter, Madge, who are hypnotized into taking over one of those windowless, waterless, almost roofless stone houses that dot the picturesque Pennsylvania countryside. The ensuing troubles may be summed up as a search for water, a quarrel with a neighbor who owns not only the brook but the very road that leads from the highway to the house, the attempted elopement of the daughter with a summer theatre actor, and the usual invasion of week end guests, including a prodigal uncle who is assumed to be rich but who turns out to be just another bankrupt.

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

As a holiday from pressing problems, meritorous and deserving as they may be we present a medley of Michigan news oddities, gleaned from home-town newspapers and guaranteed positively not to solve a single thing!

Hamburger Train

Bill Brooks of Birmingham warns his customers at the door, "This is not a professional restaurant." After your order is taken, Bill disappears into the kitchen. On the U-shape counter are two miniature railroad tracks. The first thing you know, a whirring sound commences and from a tunnel emerges a shaft of light followed by a locomotive and two flat cars.

The train stops in front of you. You grab your hamburger from a flat car. The train backs up and disappears into the kitchen.

Gay Nineties Epidemic

Future historians may record Michigan's summer as an era of "gay nineties" masquerades, a psychological escape from headline jitters.

Dexter citizens July 3 celebrated a centennial. Men grew beards. Women wore bustles. The famous DeWitt Clinton train of 1831 was brought to Dexter. Results: A village of 1100 persons was visited by 60,000 persons.

Perry township, Shiawassee county, held a centennial pageant July 25 and 26 with covered wagons, old-time costumes, broad-rimmed hats.

Lawton held a "Gay Nineties" party July 26. Fifty business men grew beards and mustaches. Girls became "belles".

Mackinac Island July 24-26 revived history of 1820 with a pageant. Governor Van Wagoner, as a territorial governor, wore a top hat.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Hot Weather and Rabies

If you have a mad dog scare these hot summer days, don't shoot the dog that bites you but tie him up. Then you quite likely won't have to take Pasteur treatments, says the District Health Department.

"Tieing up a suspected dog is a sure way of finding whether or not Pasteur treatments are called for, since the dog if mad dies within ten days," says Dr. James Chapman, director. "As long as the dog lives, there is no need for Pastear treatments for anyone it has bitten, unless the bites are about the head and face. In that case, treatments should be started immediately, but stopped if the dog remains normal for ten days. Starting treatments at once for face bites is a necessary precaution, since the virus if present in the dog's saliva can reach the brain along a pathway of nerves that is very short.

When dogs are shot or can't be found after biting someone, the physician will feel that Pasteur treatments are necessary, since no one can be sure that the dog was not rabid. That's why so much more rabies vaccine is used in Michigan that would be needed to treat persons actually bitten by mad dogs. The unnecessary treatments are an expense, a discomfort and there is even a slight possibility of vaccine reaction.

In recent months, dog heads found positive for rabies on laboratory examination have averaged one a day—but the number of persons starting Pastear treatment has been at least ten a day and sometimes is 25 or more a day, as reported by the Michigan Department of Health.

Hot weather will mean more dog bites, although not necessarily more rabid dogs. For that reason, it is particularly important to avoid unnecessary Pasteur treatments. For peace of mind and for better protection, tie up the biting dog and don't rush into treatments unless the bites are about the face.

Dog heads found positive for rabies are more numerous in the state now than at the end of the 47-county quarantine which ran from April into September last year, but the total of 30 in April and 28 in May is less than a third of the number found each month before the quarantine was established jointly by the Departments of Health and of Agriculture. In addition, an unknown number of dogs die of rabies without confirmation of the infection by laboratory examination.

So far in 1941, the Department of Agriculture has established quarantine in seven areas at the request of the local authorities, each for 90 days. The areas follow: one township in Washtenaw county, five townships in Berrien, three in Clinton, three in Eaton, four in Ingham, and the whole counties of Saginaw and St. Clair.

A pretty girl's fatal love for cripples. Because her hunchback father was so lovable, she became engaged to a young hunchback, but when she shifted her affection to still another cripple, a target title suddenly "exploded" and killed her. Read of this strange real-life drama, and how psychologists explain it, in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

Dog Days

Torn trousers mean nothing to a barefoot lad who has his father's fishing outfit for the day, and a friend and his dog for good companions. Sultry "dog days" are idyllic for Mieldgan-youngsters who find good fishing waters near home in practically all parts of the state. Memories of lazy, carefree days on well-stocked streams have made devoted anglers of many men.

Charlevoix has stepped into the limelight as a bathing suit town, where no one is scandalized by appearance on city streets of people of all ages and sizes in bathing costumes. But then, suits of the vintage of '21 were not so very scandalous.

Work of laying concrete on the Charlevoix-Petoskey highway, commenced in the summer of 1919, was completed last Saturday noon and will be open to traffic in a short time.

"The Shepherd of the Hills"

A story which thrilled millions of readers as a novel and became a classic in contemporary times, will be unfolded on the screen when Paramount's Technicolor film version of Harold Bell Wright's famous novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills," begins its local run Sunday at the Palace Theatre.

Wright's great story of the Ozark mountain folk has already sold more than a million copies, and its coming before the public in film form marks a genuine screen event.

Sagneiously, Paramount chose three stars of proved actiag ability and popularity, John Wayne, Betty Field and Harry Carey, to enact the strong, emotional lending roles.

Another piece of welcome news is that James Barton, famous as the Jeeter Lester of the Broadway stage play, "Tobacco Road," plays the role of Old Matt in "The Shepherd of the Hills." Others featured in the strong supporting cast are Beulah Bondi, Samuel S. Hinds, Marjorie Main and Marc Lawrence.

"Underground"

"Underground" called by Eric Sevareid, famous news commentator, the most amazing story ever to reach the public, will be the feature attraction at the Palace Theatre Wednesday, August 13.

Jeffrey Lynn is starred in this exciting expose of the underground movement that is working to overthrow the strangle hold of the dictators.

Lynn has an opportunity to show his dramatic talent, as does Mona Maris, glamorous South American star. In the cast are a number of refugees who have made great names abroad and are being introduced to this country in "Underground." Philip Dorn, from Holland, and lovely Kaaren Verne, from Germnay, promise to take Hollywood by storm.

"They Met In Bombay"

The crossroads of the colorful Far East lend a dramatic panorama to the adventure-packed, romantic exploits of Clark Gable and Rosalind Russell as co-stars of "They Met in Bombay," which opens Thursday, August 14, at the Palace Theatre. There, where East meets West, Gable and Miss Russell pit their resourceful talents against each other in a streamlined drama which offers both new acting opportunities.

Broody Chickens Waste Feed, Lower Egg Profits

A nest of broudy birds is a sign of poor poultry management, says J. C. Taylor, associate extension poultryman at the New Jersey college of agriculture, Rutgers university. With the prevailing narrow margin of profits in the poultry business, no poultryman can afford to tolerate broodiness in his laying flock, he reminds poultry owners.

"It should be remembered that for every day a broody bird stays on the nest, it takes three days to break up her broodiness," Taylor points out.

"Good management requires the removal of all birds showing any tendency to broodiness to special pens or coops," he says. "All laying pens should be inspected the last thing in the evening for broody birds. They can be readily identified by their presence on the nests. Brood coops in individual pens provide a satisfactory way of confining them, or if the number is large the use of a summer shelter for confining the broody birds is very satisfactory.

"It is not advisable to restrict any of the feed in an effort to break up broodiness. Confining the birds in small coops is all that is necessary. The important point is to remove them from the nests at the first indication of broodiness."

Sudan Safe Pasture If Caution Is Used

To farmers who are wondering whether or not it is safe to pasture cattle on Sudan grass, W. L. Boyd, chief of the veterinary division at University farm, St. Paul, advises that there is little or no danger from prussic acid (cyanide) poisoning as a result of feeding this crop.

Exhaustive tests by members of the veterinary staff have failed to develop a single case of poisoning where Sudan alone was fed to stock. With sorghum or cane, however, the situation is different. Under some conditions sorghum is a very dangerous feed and even if there is only a little of it mixed with the Sudan pasture trouble may result.

Feeding Iodine to Cattle

The most convenient method of feeding iodine to dairy cattle is to combine it with salt at the rate of about one ounce of potassium iodide to 300 pounds of salt. To facilitate mixing this small quantity of iodine, first mix one ounce with eight ounces of slaked lime or cornstarch.

Another method of feeding iodine is to use the iodine tablets that you can secure from the regular veterinary supply houses, dissolving these in water as recommended.

Popular summer beaches on Lake Michigan become a "gold mine" in the early spring for "prospectors" who pan the sand for small change lost by the visitors of the previous summer.

Saugatuck, at the mouth of the Kalamazoo river, gets its name from an Indian word So-ge-tah, meaning "mouth of the river." Saugatuck was an Indian Village in pre-historic times.

ORCHARDS NEED AMPLE NITROGEN

Vital Element Is Essential For Heavy Growth.

By E. F. SERR
(Extension Horticulturist, University of California)

Springtime is time for fruit growers to think of nitrogen. Fruit trees draw heavily on soil supplies of nitrogen while making heavy spring growth. Deficiencies are likely to develop, especially when most of the nitrogen is tied up in a cover crop. Consequently, early fertilizer applications are often needed to carry the trees through in good condition.

The foliage of trees suffering from lack of nitrogen is pale yellow rather than bright green in color. Usually the individual leaves are also smaller and the tree has a more open appearance, the foliage being relatively sparse in comparison with the dense growth of normal trees. The shadows cast by trees well supplied with nitrogen are noticeably darker than those of trees whose nitrogen supplies are low.

Supplies of available nitrogen in the soil vary greatly throughout the year. They tend to be high in late summer and low in early spring. This brings the low point in supply just when the trees need the largest quantities in order to make spring growth.

A late growing cover crop will increase the natural shortage of nitrogen because it will tie up large quantities used in its growth. This may not become available to the trees for a considerable time after the green manure has been turned under. When the cover crop is allowed to become mature additional nitrogen will be tied up while soil organisms are decomposing the woody material. These organisms actually take up more nitrogen from the soil. This competition for nitrogen from late growing cover crops is especially important in unirrigated orchards where summer rainfall is light or does not occur at all.

Nitrogen fertilizers applied early enough so that the nitrates are available in sufficient quantities during the period of rapid spring growth have been found effective and profitable in many areas. Peaches are especially responsive to fluctuations in the nitrogen supply in the soil.

MUST HAVE PERMIT FOR DOG TRAINING

May Be Obtained on Application From Conservation Department

'Coon dog owners who want to train their hounds for field trials before September 1 are reminded that a permit from the conservation department in Lansing is required now.

Statutes provide that dogs may be trained upon game birds or animals in the field only in the 60 days preceding the opening of the season in which the game is to be hunted, and the raccoon season opens November 1. Many dog owners already have secured permits for earlier training for field trials.

POTATO GROWERS TO DISCUSS MARKETING AT CADILLAC MEETING

The United States Department of Agriculture has announced that a public hearing has been scheduled for a proposed federal marketing agreement program to regulate the handling in interstate commerce of Irish potatoes produced in Michigan, North Dakota, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, according to Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix county Triple-A committee.

The Michigan hearing will be held in the court house at Cadillac, on August 11, at 10:30 a. m. Similar meetings will be held the same week in the other three states mentioned.

Potato growers and shippers of the four north central states requested the hearings following a series of meetings at which the proposed program was discussed and developed.

The proposed marketing agreement provides for the limitation of interstate shipments by grades and sizes and combinations of grades and sizes of any or all varieties of potatoes for specified periods. It also provides for the prohibition of the shipment of cull potatoes which are defined as those which do not meet the requirements of U. S. No. 2 grade or which are less than one and one-half inches in diameter.

Following the hearings the proposed program, as changed or modified on the basis of hearing evidence, may be submitted to the Secretary of Agriculture for tentative approval. If tentatively approved, the proposal can be made effective by the Secretary if issuance of an order, which would make the terms of the program applicable to all handlers, is favored by at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in a referendum by number or by volume, and if the agreement is signed by handlers of at least 50 per cent of the volume of potatoes shipped from the four states in the last marketing season.

The program would remain in effect each season until terminated.

Eight Members at Charles Carey Home Thursday Evening

Eight members of Charlevoix high school's class of '16 met at the Charles Carey home Thursday night to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their graduation.

H. A. Craig, who was superintendent of schools at that time, and Mrs. Craig were present. Sheridan Corey, of Grosse Pointe, was the only class member who succeeded in bringing his "better half".

Others of the class, which numbered twenty-three, who were present were Hazel Richardson Publow, of Lansing; Irene Gregory Crites and Marybelle Hair Anderson, of Detroit; Annis Driggett Bennett and son, Ned, and Jennie Carey Durance and two children, of Flint; Emily Meggison Everts and Nola Byers Shapton, of Charlevoix.

Those expected but who were unable to attend were Effie Cook Weldy, Mildred Kaufman Reinhart, Florence Withers Williams, Florence Milner, Leila Gencit Hallett and Ralph Coulter. Grace Worth sent a letter of greeting which arrived too late to be read at the party.

Leslie Shapton, for whom Charlevoix's American Legion post is named, was a member of the class of 1916.

The evening was spent in reminiscing, and light refreshments were served. Because this small gathering was so pleasant, the class members wish to make plans for another reunion soon. Anyone who knows addresses of Perry Mason, Myra Hale, Hilda Andersen, Bessie Hodges, Edward Krulik, Anna Gordon and Ruth Hammet, is asked to communicate with Mrs. Emily Everts, Charlevoix, or Mrs. Jennie Durance, 202 East Eldridge street, Flint.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

The pre-war spirit here in Washington seems to have quieted down somewhat during the past week which is probably attributable to several causes. In the first place, I have noticed that war-minded Administration spokesmen and the war-mongers generally quiet down considerably when they are trying to put something over and, of course, right now we have under consideration the important question of whether or not the draftees and Guardsmen will be retained in service after their year of training is over. Very obviously if the war-mongers were active in selling the people on the idea that we are dangerously close to war and that their sons might be shot at, they would expect a greater clamor from the people against retention of these boys. Consequently, they quiet down. Secondly, there has been such a storm of protest coming from you people back home—the voice of America—against their continued war-like moves, that they have thought it best to pull in their horns a bit.

However, to me the alarming situation, which confronts us is this. Ever since this war started, we here in Washington have learned that we can rely far more on reports from London than we can on reports from the higher officials in Washington regarding our possible future war moves. In other words, it is becoming increasingly clear to most of us down here that our foreign policy is being more and more definitely dictated by Mr. Winston Churchill at No. 10 Downing Street, London. Naturally, this is denied here in Washington but the facts remain, if you will look back through the records of the past two years, that Mr. Churchill and other British spokesmen have been "predicting" what America would do, official Washington would deny any such intentions, but then the Administration would go right ahead and do just what Mr. Churchill wanted. Likewise, it is noteworthy that apparently some of our high Administration officials take on an added belligerent front when they get over to London.

Consequently, it is alarming to me that while we find this week this apparent calm on the part of the war mongers here in Washington, nevertheless, Mr. Churchill in London makes the positive, emphatic, and unqualified statement that America is "advancing in rising wrath and conviction to the very verge of war". Either Mr. Churchill is grossly misinformed as to the attitude of you folks back home or else he has inside information that the little clique of war mongers here in Washington, and in certain other parts of our nation, is very shortly going to be able to stick our Nation into England's war of self-preservation, and that they will be able to bring about that "attack" upon your boys without which "attack" Mr. Roosevelt assured you last fall, your boys would not be sent into any foreign war.

It was equally disquieting to hear Harry Hopkins' international broadcast to the world over a London radio station, in which he proclaimed that U. S. Naval craft are now patrolling "alongside" and "parallel with" British Naval craft.

This despite the fact that within the past two weeks our Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Knox, specifically denied to a committee of Congress that American Naval craft were being used in convoy service along with the British Navy and in getting aid in Britain. After all many Congressmen and many of you people back home will want to know the truth in the face of these conflicting statements by the Secretary of the Navy and Harry Hopkins, who after all is the super Lease-Lend coordinator and a close bosom friend of the President and now apparently our official Ambassador of goodwill sent to Moscow to grab the bloody hand of Joe Stalin, who has been doing his best to create discord, chaos and even to bring about an eventual revolution, in our own land.

Yes, these things are disquieting and it is also disquieting to know that we recently sent hundreds of our best American Army pilots to England as "observers". I was told by one of the pilots who recently ferried some of these boys overseas in a U. S. Army bomber, on whose side was painted an American flag, but which was completely unarmed, that they were certainly concerned when a German plane suddenly swooped out of the sky far out over the Atlantic and easily overtaking our slower American plane, flew along the side of it for a few moments—presumably making her necessary identification—and then with a waving of her wings turned very gracefully off her course to be certain that she was not guilty of having caused that "attack" on your boys.

TO HELP THE TANKS START ROLLING!

• The first tank from the U. S. Army Arsenal's production line "comes out fighting"—ready to put teeth in American defense.

ON THE outskirts of Detroit, the Army Tank Arsenal, the Navy Arsenal and the Dodge Truck Addition—all new plants—are rushing production of fighting equipment.

In January, Michigan Bell was asked to plan telephone service for those projected defense centers. That required, among other things, the construction of 4 miles of subway, and 7½ miles of large underground cable in conduit. Manufacture and delivery of the cable alone normally would not be expected in less than 4 months.

But defense must not wait. Western Electric produced the cable and began delivery in 5 weeks! In spite of frozen ground, and with a great part of the cable laid under concrete streets, the job was ready for service in 14 weeks.

Plans under way to date involve expenditures by this Company of $11,000,000 to serve camps, arsenals, factories and others engaged directly in defense work. In addition, business and home telephone demands are growing at the fastest rate in history. To meet all those needs, the Company this year will expend more than $26,000,000.

CHAIN MAPS CAMPAIGN TO AID PEACH GROWERS

A. & P. Marks Funds for Extensive Advertising Effort

Completion of plans for an intensive nation-wide merchandising campaign to help Michigan peach growers move a bumper crop throughout the marketing season for this fruit was announced today by H. A. Baum, general manager of the A & P Tea Company's produce-buying affiliate, the Atlantic Commission Co.

The campaign was mapped, he said, in response to requests from growers who point out that Michigan's crop this year is expected to reach more than 2,580,000, a gain of nearly 60 per cent over last year and well above the 10-year average of 1,744,000 bushels.

With early peaches already ripened, it is expected that Michigan shipments will increase during August to a peak the second week in September, it was brought out.

Total United States production this season is expected to reach 66,102,000 bushels, compared with 54,430,000 last year, and to be one of the most abundant crops in recent years.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

Ken Smith, Camp Scribe

This is the week of the big rodeo, and we here at camp are looking forward to seeing many of you parents up here to see the boys ride. Buster and "Buzz" have been rehearsing the boys, and from the looks of the program it is to be a very gala affair, a la Western, you know. So remember the day, Saturday of this week, and the time is three o'clock sharp.

The camp is busy this morning getting ready for our long trips which will begin this week and continue through next week, too. Boys will be leaving here by canoe, horses, sail-boats, and in the truck. So your letters next week should contain much news about trips as the boys will have much to write about.

Gerry Wilson took his group on an overnight, on Monday using the Snipes. Dean Smith, Howard VanAntwerp, Dick Tuthill, Tommy Bennett, Jimmy Curtis, Herb Dow, and Jimmy Kendall took this trip. The remainder of the camp rested up after the hectic week-end of Dads' Day.

On Tuesday we had the pleasure of having Proctor Wright, tennis professional at the Belvedere, give a talk and an exhibition on tennis. Fritz Pickham assisted him, and both boys were eager to get this added expert instruction. Dick Osmer and Dean Hudnutt took their cabin group down the Jordon River in canoes, and a great time was reported by the boys, who were John Doelman, Buddy Jenkins, Junior Green, Howard Tuthill, Richard Noel and Sarge Harvey. The rest of the Intermediate Section, with Joe Moran in charge, went in to the movies and saw Bob Hope in "Caught In The Draft". The chance of going to the drug store after the show was no small part of the evening's events, and you can imagine the hustle and bustle when 50 boys descend upon a soda fountain. Even Joe Moran and his crew got behind the fountain, and you never saw more expert soda-jerkin'. It's really quite a sight, and the boys love it.

Camp Algonquin was host to about forty of our boys on Wednesday and the outcome was very gratifying, though we did break even. Joe Moran's swimmers took their meet 52-27. Our baseball team lost by the very same score that we beat them by when they were here, 10-3. Our tennis team won two matches and lost one, while our riflery team lost their match. As is always true, our rivalry with Algonquin is always one of the highlights of the season. "Hitch" Hitchcock, Joe Craig, and Dick Osmer put on a "Truth and Consequences" program for the entire camp. It was a great evening with nearly the entire camp being brought up in front to "face the music". Candy bars were awarded the lucky winners, those who knew the answers, while the big tub of cold water awaited those who didn't tell the truth. Huntley Johnson, Herb Dow, Ward Penberthy, and Richard Noel were among the many who felt the cold water trickle around their neck. I might add that "Hitch" also had a good soaking, this being an added attraction. Geoffrey Gardner, one of our smallest Juniors, had a very difficult question and answered it correctly. Four stars to G-G.

Thursday found nearly everyone preparing to go out on overnights. Cabin 12, Joe Moran's group, took a Snipe trip, and the boys enjoyed it a great deal. Jack Lehnhard assisted Joe on the trip as did Ken Vincent. The boys were: Allen Hunting, Fred Millis, George Osborn, and Ted Hecht. Coach Steele took several boys in a canoe trip down the Jordan. Art Gauntt, Burt Edelson, Arden Tiley, and Jack Wooley went as did Len Wheaton. Another trip left camp Thursday, a trip which set out to break the camp record for hiking and with two fine leaders succeeded in doing that very thing. Gerry Wilson and Augie Brown led this group over 25 miles of country roads. The boys who chose to get in on this record-breaking feat and tramped like true soldiers were Charlie McGuire, Cacy Bachman, Jim Kendall, Bill Kerr, John Dancer, Tom Bennett, Howard VanAntwerp, Dean Smith and Fred Millis. They reported a fine trip, and Gerry and Auggie even want to take it again (but not too soon, maybe in 5 years, says Augie.)

Bill Hart and Ward Penberthy took their boys Friday night on a Snipe trip, the boys making the sail were Jim Nicholson, Billy Newcomer, Dick Semple, Bill Kerr, and George Haberkorn. Coach Steele took his mighty men in to the movies in the evening.

Saturday afternoon we were hosts to Camp Walloon and once again helped our winning percentage along. Our Junior ball team won their game 7-3, while Al Birdsall was pitching our other team to a 15-8 victory. The tennis matches this time were limited to boys 12 and under, and we won one of the three matches. Bruce Butcher won his match 6-4. The riflery was all tied up until our last man shot, Walloon finally winning by 7 points. The Juniors were taken up to Petoskey to the movies, and I hear that Gene Autry never rode so well as he did in the picture they saw. In the evening Tom Hart and Don Neisch gave a short vocal recital, after which a play was given by Bill Hart, Ward Penberthy, Roger Korten, and starring Dean Hudnutt. It was produced by Dean Hudnutt, directed by Dean Hudnutt, music by Dean Hudnutt, and Hollywood is surely missing a great bet if they don't grab Dean. Such talent should not go unacclaimed, so here's ½ star for Dean Hudnutt.

Dean Hudnutt (what! again??) was the speaker at our Sunday morning chapel service and gave a very inspirational talk. The service was held in the outdoor chapel which the assistant counselors have indeed fixed up very nicely. In the afternoon the Juniors had an outdoor picnic, the Intermediates went over to the beach on Lake Michigan, while the Pioneer Section went down to the Torch Lake Yacht Club to see the final events on the annual sailing program. This being the first year that we have had a Class "E" boat in camp, Tom Hart and a group of four sailors entered it in the regatta. The boys who were the lucky sailors were Herb Dow (who owns the boat), Fritz Steketee, Bill Kampe, and Phil Goodspeed. They left here early all three mornings, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and would spend the mornings tuning up the boat, practicing and getting drilled on all the fine points of sailboat racing. It was a great experience for the boys as they had a chance to talk to men who have sailed in the event for years, and many fine suggestions came from some of the sailors the boys met. There were 14 boats in the class with our boat "The Big Pill", and Friday the boys came in 10th. However, in the course of the race the boat had touched a buoy and though no one except our crew had seen it, Tom Hart kept the true spirit of Camp Charlevoix and reported the touch. Naturally, our boat received no points for that race, but from comments I heard yesterday over there, people were much pleased, and we are very proud of Tom's action. On Saturday the boat placed 7th, and Sunday came in 12th. The boys are still talking about the thrills of those three days, and they had an experience and a demonstration of sportsmanship which they will never forget. Another fine example of how camping helps a boy.

If I'm not careful this article will be as long as last week's. Please remember to come up to the rodeo this coming Saturday, as your boy will be mighty pleased to see you, and we guarantee a good show. So until we meet again next Saturday, a boooong cheer for Camp Charlevoix.

Back in 1852 a group of settlers—James Barton, Alexander Dalziel, William Barton and Benjamin F. Olney—located on a tract of prairie land in four townships.

Because it was a prairie, the land was all under the plow the first year. The surface seemed to be a dark loam. It required little labor to put it under cultivation. Many fine farm buildings were erected.

Late in the '30s sand began to tear up the beautiful farms, cover fences, and undermine buildings. Farmers gradually vacated their lands.

Today an estimated 1,000 acres is a lifeless desert. Not a blade of grass can be seen.

Only the farm of the late Judge Barton was spared.

Today the Manistee National Forest Service is planting pine seedlings, installing snow fences to check the sand.

Wild Life Notes

Art Moote and Ted Ingalls, both of Munising, parked their car near Cusino and started walking down a trail. A half-mile away they came suddenly upon two bear cubs, each one about 90 pounds in weight.

Art and Ted then heard a growl. Behind them was the mother bear.

Wholly unarmed, the men started running.

"That is a good deer and rabbit country," related Art afterwards. "We caught up to and passed a dozen of the critters getting away from that bear."

Mrs. William E. Mori, North Caton, Ohio, went fishing for trout in Lake Superior off Munising. Her catch: A 35-pound, 2-ounce trout; 45½ inches long.

Pot Bottle Starts Fire

From Three Rivers comes this tale:

Fire destroyed the straw stack of Elmer Pulver near Corey Lake.

The blaze is believed to have been started when intense heat rays of the sun focused through a pop bottle.

Roller Skating Fad

"The roller skating fad, which flourished about 40 or more years ago, has struck the country again and is becoming a rage," notes Frank M. Weber, country editor at Alanta, up in Montmorency county.

"Lewiston and Hillman have both had skating rinks for some time, and now Atlanta will furnish a place for you to break your neck if you want to."

Open air motion pictures is another small town vogue. Lester M. Rogers, country publisher at Camden (Hillsdale county) reports:

"It is estimated that 700 people attended the street pictures Wednesday evening. There were seats for 500. Many bring their own chairs and others sit in their cars while many use the standing room.

Girls Run Own Farm

The red-headed Williams sisters—Arlene, Hazel and Belle—have run their own farm of 120 acres near Quincy since their father, Frank Williams, died in 1930.

Last year they raised 1,000 leghorn chickens. They paint and repair their farm buildings.

Hazel teaches school in the winter.

Asked how she likes farming, Arlene said: "I'd rather do it than anything else in the world!"

Catch a Dog

Fishing on Six Mile lake near East Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Berkert caught a three-pound bass on the first cast; a two-pound bass on the eleventh cast.

Suddenly the wind started, and a bad storm threatened. The Berkerts started for shore, a half mile away, letting the plug troll behind the boat.

"Look at the beaver following us," exclaimed Mr. Berkert. Just then there was a "strike" on the line.

Scottie dog, "Wags", who had swam the half mile, had been hooked in the leg with the bass plug. "Wags" was promptly rescued.

Waits 43 Years

A. V. Brown, Spanish-American war veteran of Fennville, encamped in Arkansas, for a week before he received his honorable discharge.

Two weeks ago he found an envelope in his mailbox containing a check for $8.40. "In full payment for services in the Spanish-American war". The check was signed by the Adjutant-general of Arkansas and was his wages for that week of service 43 years ago.

Wicked Big City

Jack Kelly's "big tent show", proclaimed to be "Michigan's biggest and best stock company", invaded the tourist town of Charlevoix the other day. Offering competition with the Chicago smart set's summer playhouse, Kelly offered a special matinee on Saturday with "Peck's Bad Boy". He closed Sunday evening "with the big New York society comedy, 'In the Wrong Bed.'"

Furlough for Cherries

Because he was needed home at Onekama near Bear Lake to help pick cherries, Ferris Herkelrath was given a 10-day furlough from the United States army.

LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS

Great Lakes, Ill.

"Dear Ken:

I received the first copy of the paper last Saturday morning and am anxiously awaiting the next. Although there are a swell bunch of fellows here and I have already made some good friends among them, I miss seeing the faces of old friends and get a great deal of enjoyment reading about what they are doing back in good old Charlevoix.

I sure wish I could have been there last weekend, but had to content myself with reading about the goings on back home, taking frequent 'time outs' to fan myself with the paper in order to manufacture a little breeze. Although the station is right on the lake, we do not get the fresh lake breezes from it that we do in Charlevoix. No one was able to sleep here at all either Sunday or Monday nights. I tried swimming for a cooling off, but Lake Michigan here feels like Susan Lake up home.

There are 12,000 men here now. There were 8,000 when I came in three weeks ago. They expect to have 50,000 as soon as they can make room. Most of the men are recruits, but there are a great number of us reserves who do the office work and drill the recruits. Food is good and quite a bit of entertainment is provided for us. I was worried about having to sleep in a hammock, but they give us bunks instead. I understand that many of the recruits almost break their necks falling out of their hammocks. There is something quite fascinating about seeing all these young fellows marching around in white uniforms and most of them like it very much.

I was moved from Barracks D to A today. There is a great deal of shifting around in order to provide more room, so in the future send the paper to Barracks A.

I read with great interest about Joe Howard's pictures in the Detroit paper and was happy to receive those pictures today from the folks. My good friend Joe was 'true to form' and I believe he made a good advertisement for Charlevoix harbor.

Thanks a lot for the Courier. I'm sure every fellow in the service appreciates your generous offer in helping them keep in touch with home each week.

red! Not that 449 years makes so much difference in this day and age of high figures, but the thought that readers would think I didn't know when Columbus discovered America was what bothered me most. Well, anyway, have soothed my conscience to some extent by explaining how such errors occur.

Teacher: "Now Johnny, can you tell me what became of Noah and the Ark?"

Johnny: "Yea, teacher. Baby sucked all the paint off'n Noah, and Pa stepped on the Ark and smashed it."

Having never given much thought to the popularity or otherwise of aieplane travel particularly because I'd never been around an airline terminal before, was indeed surprised to find a great hum of activity one evening last week around the Traverse City airport where PCA planes were coming and going. Just for sake of argument would say a hundred people were scurrying about, some getting off a plane just arrived from the Soo and headed for Grand Rapids and another about to depart for Detroit. Besides the two big passenger planes there were four small training planes near the hangar, a big job that looked like a Lockheed, and inside the haagar were a half dozen others of assorted sizes. It was interesting to say the least and I came away quite impressed with the thought Traverse City has got something there. And by the way—saw Marvin Taylor, the fellow who used to hand out groceries at the Kroger store, all spick and spun in a jaunty uniform'dain' something or other.

The world is divided into people who do things, and people who take the credit.

Fishing news? Sure enough! There's Charley Heise's 20½-pound mackinaw trout taken Sunday off South Point, the largest I've heard of this year; Staley Hardware displayed a 4-pound smallmouth taken by Miss Florence Sinclair on Friday, a 4¼-pounder by Bob Dine and 3¾-pounder by Dan Levy on Monday—all from Lake Charlevoix; a limit catch of brooks, second so far this season, that I took Saturday night from the Manistee river. Best news is the definite upturn of mackinaw and bass fishing. Mackinaws are "hitting" consistently now off South Point and bass the size of those listed above aren't to be sneezed at. Bill Bergman told me the Bisbees took five in a few hours' trolling last week and reports indicate that all boats going out are getting fish. It's been a long wait!

"Her niece is rather good looking, eh?"

"Don't say 'knees is,' say 'knees are.'"

Most enthusiastic response has met the city band's "good neighbor" concerts recently inaugurated. Residents of Ellsworth and Central Lake, scene of concerts the past two weeks, turned out in large numbers for the program and afterward heaped praise not only upon the quality of music but the spirit prompting the concert. Strange, too, is the fact that persons who never listened to regular Wednesday evening programs here are following the band to these nearby points.

PIN REMOVED FROM THROAT LOCAL GIRL

Dorothy Becker Flown to Grand Rapids for Operation Friday

Prompt action on the part of hospital authorities, airplane pilot Rudy Pekrul, of Traverse City, and physicians who performed a delicate throat operation in Grand Rapids Friday afternoon, resulted in the saving of 6-year-old Dorothy Becker, this city, from serious harm after an open safety pin caught in her throat Friday morning.

Hospital authorities here and at Traverse City, lacking instruments with which to remove the pin, called Pekrul, who operates the Pekrul Flying Service. Pekrul flew to the local airport in a Piper Cub plane, picked up Dorothy and her mother, Mrs. Henry Becker, and flew to Grand Rapids, arriving there at approximately 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Rushed to Blodgett hospital there the child was given an X-ray to determine where the pin was lodged.

Physicians performed the operation with an esophagoscope. The pin was removed two hours after the child entered the hospital. Nurses and physicians said Dorothy was convalescing satisfactorily.

CONSERVATION BOAT IS BEING REPAIRED

Install New Ribs, Planking at Hamilton & Son Yard

Numerous new ribs and planking on the starboard side of Michigan Patrol Boat are being installed at Hamilton & Son boatyard.

Pulled out for minor repair of planking and iron, it was discovered numerous spots had rotted out on the conservation department boat, thus requiring extensive work. It is believed the rotting of ribs and planking resulted from damage to the craft when it went ashore in a storm a short time after it was placed in commission.

ORDER BIDS FOR MACKINAC SPAN

The causeway is to be located between Green island and Graham shoals, Kennedy said, adding that shallow water and other factors there are favorable for the type of construction planned.

Two Boat Slips

Sides of the fill will be covered by ten-ton stones, he said, and the causeway will have a road 14 feet wide, with broad shoulders. The plans call for two end-loading boat slips at the causeway's end.

"Because of the unprotected position of the dock facilities on the end of the causeway," Kennedy's statement said, "the regular St. Ignace docks will be continued in service to handle traffic during rough weather."

He said bad weather and peak traffic loads normally coincide only in the deer hunting season.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX STARTS ARBORATUM

Pioneer Section at Camp Opened Project This Season

The Pioneer Section (the older boys) of Camp Charlevoix, under the leadership of Harold O. Steele, has had as its project this season, the making of a park between the lodge and the hospital at the camp. Many afternoons and evenings were spent by the boys in clearing out stumps and leveling paths.

The climax of the effort came last Monday night when the section presented Lewis C. Reimann, owner and director of the camp, with five trees, each tree representing five years Mr. Reimann has been directing camps. The trees were the gift of Mr. Hemingway of the Charlevoix County Nursery at Ironton. Upon his suggestion, more trees will be added each year so that Camp Charlevoix will have a real arboretum.

The first tree planted was an Ginkgo tree which is said to be the oldest living thing, going back ten million years. The other trees planted were a Thurlow Weeping Willow, a Mountain Ash, Dwarf Alberta Spruce and Chinese Scholar.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Reimann were very much surprised and impressed with the ceremony Mr. Steele had worked out. In years to come this Camp Charlevoix Arboretum will be another fine feature of the camp.

URGE MOTORISTS BUY FULL-YEAR LICENSES

August 31st Is Deadline for Use of Half-Year Plates

Fenton R. Bulow, manager of the local secretary of state's branch office, is urging motorists still retaining half-year plates to purchase full-year plates as soon as possible.

With slightly over three weeks remaining before the August 31st deadline for half-year plates, over 500 full-year licenses must yet be issued. With this number crowding into the final days, delay is inevitable.

The branch office is open daily between 8:30 and 12 mornings, 1:00 to 5:00 afternoons except Sunday when only morning hours are observed.

Mr. Bulow stated it is necessary to bring car title to obtain passenger plates, registration slip and title to procure truck plates. It is not necessary to have trucks weighed the second time.

CHARLEVOIX WINNER OVER INDIAN RIVER

Scored 11 to 3 Victory at South Side Diamond Sunday

Charlevoix baseball team evened the season's count with Indian River last Sunday, winning by a 11 to 3 score at south side athletic field.

Charlevoix pitched Darby, Indian River hurler, for 12 hits, while John allowed the visiting team six and struck out 10 batters. Balser lead the Charlevoix attack with three hits in five times at the plate. Edison hit twice in as many times up. King was responsible for half of Indian River's six hits.

Clearlevoix plays at Indian River next Sunday in its last game away from home. The following Sunday they play the strong Iverness Dairy team from Cheboygan and will attempt to revenge two early defeats by this team.

SMITH-STOUT WEDDING WAS PRETTY EVENT OF SUNDAY, AUGUST 3RD

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Sunday, August 3, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Smith of Horton Bay, when their daughter, Hilda, became the bride of Arnold Stout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Durward Stout of Stanwood, Mich.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. R. Jewell, of Gladwin, before an altar of ferns and baskets of gernainnos, zinnias, and other mixed flowers. Miss Helen Hamlin played the traditional wedding march on the piano, and sang "I Love You Truly".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a fine white embroidered organdy gown with lace inserts in the bodice, and a train. Her fingertip-length veil of silk net and lace was held in place by a seed pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of roses and gladioli. Her only jewelry was a gold heart-shaped locket, gift of the groom.

Bridesmaids were Miss Elinor Howe and Miss Muriel Stevens. Both were dresses of white organdy with red dots. They carried bouquets of roses, gladioli, and asters, and each had a red rose in her hair.

Assisting Mr. Stout as best man was his brother, Carol. Clarence Smith, brother of the bride, seated the guests.

Mrs. Smith chose a navy blue dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Stout, mother of the groom, wore a blue printed sheer. Both wore shoulder corsages of bachelor buttons, gardenias, and baby's-breath.

Following the ceremony, a reception for forty-six guests was held. Immediately afterward, the couple left for a week's trip to the upper peninsula and Canada. They will make their home near Stanwood.

OCEAN-GOING TUG AND BARGE VISITED HARBOR

Created Considerable Interest Here Monday and Tuesday

An ocean-going tow tug, Sumpson, hailing from Newark, N. J., with large oil-carrying barge, created considerable interest here Monday and Tuesday.

Ingersoll-Rand diesel engine. The barge, 204 foot long and 40 foot beam, has a capacity of 15,000 barrels of oil.

One of four such combinations operated on the Great Lakes by the Oil Transfer Co., of New York, the barge will be cargoed at East Chicago. Transfer points include Indiana Harbor, Green Bay, Milwaukee, Port Huron, Detroit and points on Lake Erie. The tug and barge carried a combined crew of 14 members.

Charlevoix local and summer residents will be afforded an opportunity next week to contribute to the Kiwanis Club fund for under-privileged children and so aid in this worthy undertaking.

Through the generous cooperation of the Chicago Mummers, a percentage of proceeds from the production "The Bishop Misbehaves," first play scheduled in a two weeks' extension of the Mummers' regular six-week season at the Charlevoix Playhouse, will go to the Kiwanis for the above mentioned charity activity.

"The Bishop Misbehaves," starring John Goldsworthy, N. B. C. radio artist, promises to be one of the season's outstanding productions. The opening performance, Wednesday evening, August 20, has been chosen for the Kiwanis benefit purpose.

In their effort to solicit support, Kiwanians are mailing tickets to hundreds of regular patrons of the theatre, requesting prompt return of payment. Tickets have also been placed on sale at the Charlevoix County State Bank, Martin Block's store, Central Drug Store, Wood Bros. and Charlevoix Beach Hotel.

Those desiring to make a contribution to the Kiwanis underprivileged childrens fund may take advantage of this opportunity or make direct contributions to Kiwanis members.

ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT IMPROVED

NEW DIESEL UNIT IS NOW IN OPERATION.

Boiler Room and Coal Bins Utilized for Garage and Storage; Testing Equipment Installed

An extensive program of improvements at the Ferry avenue municipal electric light plant is rapidly nearing completion.

The new 250 h. p. Fairbanks-Morse diesel generating unit, purchased to carry off-peak loads, thus eliminating necessity of using larger units for light loads, has been placed in operation. The city council Monday night accepted the unit upon recommendation of City Superintendent Dan Herrick as to its satisfactory performance.

The former boiler room and coal storage space acquired by dismantled steam generating units is being utilized as a garage for city-owned trucks and storage space for line materials. The floor has been concreted, entrance built and storage shelves and bins constructed. Ceiling to this large room will provide a storage platform with hoists to lift heavy equipment.—Following completion of this unit, the old garage and warehouse located near the federal fish hatchery will be torn down.

Living quarters formerly occupied by the chief operator at the Ferry avenue plant have been transformed into an office for the superintendent with adjoining electric meter laboratory. In the basement is a water meter testing room, storage place for meters, parts and small equipment. The second floor is also used for storage purposes.

With completion of the project now under way, all city-owned equipment, testing laboratories, parts, etc., will be housed under one roof for the first time. The plan is expected to provide for more rapid and better service than heretofore.

OPEN NEW BRIDGE BIDS AUGUST 20TH

BRINGS PROJECT NEARER TO REALIZATION

Highway Department Advertises for Bids on Bascule Type and Temporary Bridge

Of great interest to Charlevoixans is announcement of information received by city officials that bids for construction of a new bridge over the channel on U.S.31 will be opened Wednesday, August 20, at Lansing.

The advertisement for bids, published in last week's issue of the Michigan Contractor & Builder, called for bids on construction of a bascule type bridge, approaches and widening of present highways as well as construction of a temporary swing bridge east of the present bridge structure to accommodate traffic while the new bridge is being built.

Highway officials have extended an invitation to Mayor Robert Bridge to be present at the bid opening to be held at the state highway department offices in the capitol.

While this step brings the long-contemplated project nearer realization, no information is available at this time regarding when contracts will be awarded or when work on the project will be started. Inasmuch as purchase of property required for right-of-way has been completed, it is being assumed the project will started after the rush of summer tourist traffic is over.

Also of particular interest are reports, unconfirmed however, that grading for a relocation of U.S.31 from Charlevoix to Bay Shore is to be undertaken this fall. Surveys for the new route were completed some time ago, it is understood.

MUMMERS' SIXTH PLAY THIS WEEK

WILL PRESENT 'WHAT A LIFE' AT PLAYHOUSE

Adventures of Henry Aldrich Provide Subject for Funniest Play Ever Written

"What A Life," called the funniest play ever written by many experts, is this week's offering by the Mummers at the Playhouse.

There is a laugh a minute in this story of a young man who just cannot keep out of trouble. Anyone who has gotten into any kind of jam in their high school days (and who hasn't) will rock with laughter at the amazing predicaments poor Henry gets himself into.

"What-A-Life" is a wholesome, clean play that will be appreciated by old and young alike. For this week's performances only—Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday—children under 12 will be admitted for half price.

The world famous radio program "The Adventures of Henry Aldrich" was based on the happenings of this play, which is the sixth and last of the subscription series. Ezra Stone and Eddie Bracken, who originated the parts in New York and Chicago, are now both featured Hollywood players and can be heard on the program.

The part of Henry Aldrich will be played in the Mummers production by Donn Carr, a new discovery for whom a brilliant future is predicted by Director Sherman Marks.

Duke Ahrens, technical director, turns actor in "What a Life" to play the detective, Mr. Ferguson. This is not new for Mr. Ahrens, inasmuch as he spent many years on the vaudeville stage. Miles Solle, technician, also appears in the play as Mr. Vecchito.

This amazing play ran for two years in New York and six months in Chicago, causing such a sensation that it was immediately purchased for the movie production starring Jackie Cooper and caused the creation of the radio serial.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

That itching sensation some people mistake for ambition is merely inflammation of the wishbone.

Al Weber, Cheboygan editor, says in his "Observer" column: "Some folks complain because of the scarcity of silk and the possibility that my lady can't adorn her legs with silk. Some of the good looking legs displayed on our streets every day don't need silk to make them look more attractive." At your age, Al, you certainly surprise me.

Some people complain of the amount of small talk they have to listen to, but as we get older and civilization gets more complex, we are getting to like it. One of the worst tortures imaginable is to be cornered by a solemn idiot who wants you to express your idea of international problems while everyone else appears to be having a hilarious time talking about nothing. Small talk befits the hours of leisure. On such occasions no topic should be introduced that could possibly tax the mental capacity of a toad. No person should be allowed to hold the floor for more than twenty seconds at a single stretch. Time flies swiftest when no one is able to finish a sentence.

"Why, Briget! How did you make such beautiful scallops on the edge of that mince pie?"

"'Twas aisy to do mum. I just run me false uppers around it."

This week brought a communication from R. A. Beers, of Spokane, Wash., an employe of the Courier 40 years ago. It's rather a small world, after all!

Departure of the carnival which showed here last week leaves no pangs of regret. If like myself, other people living in the immediate vicinity of the amusements probably will be hearing wheezy merry-go-round tunes in their sleep for weeks to come and can

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

What is going to happen to the waterfalls of the Upper Peninsula?

Here is a question that involves a controversial issue, and like everything else you find many sides to it. It isn't all one-sided by a long shot.

The two Tahquemenon Falls in Luce county are now under state ownership, having been transferred by the federal government to the state conservation department in a swap of timber land.

But many other scenic waterfalls in the Upper Peninsula are owned privately, and two of these—Victoria and Bond falls in Ontonagon county—have been exploited for commercial purposes by private power interests.

Having just returned from a 1,200-mile trip into this fascinating country between Lake Superior and Lake Michigan, we have some first-hand impressions. You may be disturbed by them. We were.

National Defense

National defense is doing things to this northland region.

Strangely enough, while it has stimulated the greatest tourist season in many decades if not in all history, it is creating a new demand for commercial use of two natural resources—waterfalls and timber—which are conceded to be valuable tourist assets.

Iron and copper ore are imperatively needed for America's defense. Old mines are being reopened, while new mines are contemplated. Wisconsin industrial towns also need electric power.

To meet this existing and prospective demand, the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Company, for example, recently completed building of a dam and reservoir on the Michigamme river near Crystal Falls. It is called the new Way Dam. A new large lake has been created which will add to existing fishing grounds in Iron county.

Below this reservair the power company is contemplating the

An ordinance strictly regulating Bridge street parking, and no-parking on Bridge street was passed Monday night by the city council. Another condition that should be dealt with is the use of the cutout by drivers. It is a common custom now for the smart class of drivers to traverse the residence streets late at night with their cutout wide open, waking everybody in that section.

* * * * * * * * * *

Q. Where should I keep my Defense Savings Bonds?

A. In a safe place, because they have value which constantly increases. If you wish, the Treasury Department or any Federal Reserve Bank will hold them in safekeeping for you without charge, giving you a receipt.

Q. Does an album filled with Stamps automatically become a Bond that will pay interest and mature in 10 years?

A. No. The completed album must be exchanged for a Bond. Regardless of the amount of money you have invested in Stamps, they will not bear interest until they are in the form of a Bond or Bonds.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C., for a mailorder form.

STATE FAIR TO GIVE DEFENSE BONDS TO SOME LUCKY VISITORS

Working in conjunction with the United States government the ninety-second annual Michigan State Fair will give away $25.00 National Defense bonds to Fair visitors, it was announced today by Bernard J. Youngblood, general manager.

This is believed to the first time Defense bonds have been used in this manner, Youngblood was told by Frank N. Isbey, Michigan director of the bond sale. Isbey commended the plan as worthwhile promotion not only for State Fair attendance but for the sale of bonds as well.

As outlined by Youngblood, the bonds will be given away under the following circumstances:

Every fifty-thousandth person and the last one through the Fair between the time the show opens August 27th and closes September 7th a bond. Children are not excepted.

Attendance figures for each day will be closely guarded so that no one save special checkers will know when each 50,000 mark is being approached. Attendance this year is expected to exceed a half million.

Winners will have their names enscribed upon the transferable bonds which will be presented ceremoniously by Youngblood. They will then become the guest of the management at the Fair that day.

Bonds and defense stamps also will be on sale at a special booth on the Fair grounds during the Fair, it is planned. Debutants will act as saleswomen.

Why 5-Quart fill — none added — lasted 13,398 miles... Certified

When you're wringing wet these days, just think of Death Valley. It holds the official U.S. record of 134° hot. Wild animals there rarely come out in the heat of day. You'll admit that's a hotspot for testing any motor oil. And that's exactly where 6 representative oils got a fair trial for their lives—to give you up-to-date certified mileage figures.

NEW CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL gave more than Twice the mileage averaged by all others tested

This Death Valley mileage record is today making sales records for Conoco N*th* oil—popular-priced. And here's how this oil was proved for you in advance—by a daring Destruction Test:

6 identical new stock coupes were broken in alike. Test officials had checked engines, part by part, insuring uniformity. The Referee bought 5 big-name oils at retail. The other oil was the same new Conoco N*th* that you can buy today.

The Referee put one strict 5-quart fill in each engine; locked it up tight. Never a drop could be added.

All cars ran 57 miles an hour—in the same Death Valley desert—on the same sizzling days. Drivers switched around to even up human factors. Impartial observers eyed every move—every mile.

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

H. M. Jacklin

The finish came only as one brand of oil after another quit work entirely, causing final engine destruction. And Conoco N*th* oil far outlasted all others; outlasted the runner-up by 5,683 miles; outlasted another by all of 8,268 miles. Conoco N*th* outlasted the average of the 5 others tested by 7,057 miles... Certified.

Man-Made new Economy aid in Conoco Nth

In this patented oil there's an extra life-giver. Man-made. It's full name is Thialkene inhibitor—an inhibitor being something that does the job of keeping o thing in check. Now your engine's normal explosions can't help causing foul leftovers. These must be properly kept in check to keep them from making your oil "fester," get weak and pass out. But you know how Conoco N*th* oil "beat the rap" in Death Valley. It stood up better... by as much as 161%. Of course you're not in the business of test-driving, doing all the most furious things. You just want to run every fill right up to as many miles as qualified authorities say is safe for your car. And without trying to "stretch it out," you still ought to save plenty on Conoco N*th*. For you can figure by the record that Conoco N*th* can take you a whale of a way between quarts. Change today at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company — Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

AND CONOCO Nth OIL OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE!

Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another great Conoco synthetic... man-made under the famed Germ Processed oil patent. By magnet-like action, OIL-PLATING is bonded to inner engine parts. Then it can't all drain down—not even overnight—not while you use Conoco N*th*. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance!... and helps mileage, as it did in Death Valley. An OIL-PLATED engine is one more economy you get from a change to popular-priced new Conoco N*th* oil.

KROGER HELPS MOVE RECORD PEACH CROP

Intensive Promotion July to September Now Under Way

To help growers sell a record peach crop of sixty-six million bushels, Kroger stores throughout the middlewest and south will put on a series of intensive promotions during the July-through-September marketing season according to Albert H. Morrill, president of the Kroger company.

Mr. Morrill pointed out that this year's peach crop is the largest in 10 years and 12 million bushels in excess of the 10-year average. This situation necessitates increased consumption if the grower is to receive a fair return, he said.

At the request of growers and grower organizations, Kroger and other chain food stores have agreed to stage a Producer-Consumer promotion to aid in marketing the peach crop. Other retailers have joined the movement and the federal government has approved a campaign to stimulate home canning as a national defense measure.

In the light of successful experience in relieving farm surpluses during more than 30 Producer-Consumer campaigns in the past four years, growers and retailers are hopeful that the peach drive will move this important crop without loss to growers, and at the same time insure consumers a good value.

Kroger stores have planned one of the most extensive promotional campaigns ever attempted on any produce item. Peaches will be featured in newspaper advertising, window and interior banners, leaflets, recipes, and through mass displays of the fruit.

The firm's buyers already are making carlot purchases from peach growers in the southern states, and will move into the producing areas of the north and middlewest later, Mr. Morrill said.

MICHIGAN BEAN CROP SETS ACREAGE RECORD

Advise on Care Explained by MSC Crops Specialist

A planting record of 747,000 acres in Michigan this year gives indication of what may be a bumper crop of navy or white pea beans.

"You can't protect beans with an umbrella," warns H. C. Rather, head of the Michigan State College farm crops department. He suggests bean growers in more than 40 Michigan counties make plans to mature the beans in well constructed field stacks for proper curing.

Farmers receive pay for beans on the basis of a price per hundredweight, less any deduction for the percentage of "pick" or cull beans.

Beans that "pick" at the rate of 1 per cent or one pound in a hundred are worth but $4.14 if the basic price is $4.25 a hundred.

"That isn't much of a deduction," says Rather. "But extend the pick to a greater percentage, perhaps because the beans were not properly field cured. When beans pick 5 per cent the farmer gets but $3.70 of the $4.25, when the pick is 10 per cent the return to the grower drops to $3.15. If the pick goes to 20 per cent, the beans are worth just about the value of hog feed."

Michigan's huge bean crop usually gets its most severe test in September, month of heaviest rains.

Recommended bean stacks are those 4 to 5 feet in diameter, built on a straw base, stacked with straight sides up and down and with beans piled well over the top of the center post to help shed rain and aid in drying.

Several counties of Michigan attribute approximately 50 per cent of the annual business of the county traceable to the Tourist Industry.

LOCAL LEGIONNAIRE GIVEN STATE OFFICE

Nomination was made by retiring chaplain Capt. William Davis of Alma, seconded by Ralph Brown of Petoskey, representing the 11th district, and Rev. Cruthers was elected by acclamation. His duties are to open and close all official sessions of the executive board and annual convention, and to officiate at memorial services held during the convention.

During the World War, Rev. Cruthers was with the 602nd Engineers, seeing service at St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne, and was with the army of occupation in Germany. He was a chaplain in the Reserve Corps after the war, and has been a Legion member for eighteen years, the last seventeen in Michigan.

MACKINAW TROLLING NOW BIG BUSINESS

Increase in Licenses Issued Shows Popularity of Sport

More than one out of every seven commercial fishing licenses issued to date in the fiscal year beginning July 1 went to a sport troller, the conservation department's fish division reported today. More than 10 sport trolling rigs have been licensed in the Grand Traverse bay region alone.

The sport of "deep sea" fishing for lake trout by tourists supports sizable fleets at Northport, where there are 27 licensees, Traverse City with 13, Bessemer with seven, Chassell and Ironwood with six each, Ontonagon with five and Charlevoix and Munising with four each. Licensees at other lake communities number three at Phoenix and Harbor Springs; two each at Elk Rapids, Hancock, Marquette, Copper Harbor and Rock Harbor on Isle Royale; and one, each at Petoskey, Suttons Bay, Williamsburg, Verona, Alanson, Iron Mountain, Baraga, Keweenaw Bay, Laurium, Calumet, Eagle Harbor, Gay, Gladstone, Good Hart, Grand Marais and Whitefish Point.

One hundred and four sport trollers — eight more than were operating at this time last year—have been licensed in the current season. Total license sales to date number 693, six less than were issued up to the same date a year ago.

Commercial fishing licenses issued to date are about half the number issued during the full fiscal year. Some will be issued in late summer and fall as boats now idle begin work, and a great many more will be sold when ice fishing begins.

TRAFFIC HEAVY AT PELLSTON AIRPORT

Pennsylvania Airline Planes Had 740 Passenger Stops in July

Statistics for the month of July, recently released by William O'Brien, station master for the Pellston airport, reveal that a total of 740 passengers stopped at the new terminal while flying on Pennsylvania Central Airline's planes.

Three hundred seventy-four passengers came in and 366 went out, while 98 embarked from Pellston and 115 stopped there.

Other statistics reveal that 140 pouches or 412 pounds of mail were handled, and six express packages totaling 15 pounds also went through Northern Michigan's newest airport.

For ten days during the month, while the runways were being completed, no traffic entered or left the port, and on six other days no south bound planes could land because of adverse wind conditions. This resulted in only 15 days total operation for south bound planes into Pellston.

Michigan was the first state to organize a war preparedness board in 1917 when the United States entered the World War.

DUCK HUNTERS URGED TO LEARN GUN RANGE

Taking Too Distant Shots Only Results in Injury to Birds

Duck season opening is still two months away, but conservation department game men already are reminding hunters it is not too early to begin re-learning the range of their guns, to prevent unnecessary wounding of waterfowl by "spent shot".

About one out of every five ducks hit but not instantly killed is not retrieved and dies later of body wounds, according to reliable estimates. In examining 418 live-trapped ducks with X-ray machines recently, conservation department game men discovered 125 of them, or about 30 per cent, were carrying body shot. Many others wounded and unretrieved could not be expected to recover as these did.

Though varying factors are involved, such as choke, or muzzle bore, and wind velocity, game men say the average 12 guage gun carries about 55 yards, the average 16 guage about 50 yards and an average 20 gauge about 45 yards. Hunters uncertain of distances may put decoys or markers at maximum ranges from blinds and hold fire unless ducks are well within effective hitting range.

Varied Resources

The variety of Michigan's natural resources, aside from its rich agricultural lands, is shown by the ranking of the state in the production of natural products. Michigan ranks first in salt production, second in iron and gypsum, third in copper and eighth in the value of all mineral products. Monroe county, alone, produces enough glass sand to supply the continent.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 29

STACKING BEANS SAVES DOLLARS

No Need to Try Umbrellas—Michigan Has 747,000 Acres Planted to Navy Beans This Year

This Farmer Laughs at Rain Prospects. He Has Used the Recommended System for Stacking His Beans

Michigan farmers responded to an appeal from Washington, bolstered with a promise of guaranteed prices, with a record planting of 747,000 acres of the white pea or navy beans. Which leads H. C. Rather, head of the Michigan State College farm crops department, to suggest this is an excellent year to protect the quality of the harvest with use of the stacking system. Straw bases, poles and some neat stacking are in order—with extra dollars from smaller pickings out of culls as the direct return to growers.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

The big problem in Washington last week was, of course, the Draft Extension Bill. I vigorously opposed the bill before us. I opposed it because I believed it to be in the best interest of our Nation. True, the Nation is in peril. We, ourselves, are responsible for it. We helped very materially in the re-armament of Germany and in the creation of this Hitleresque Frankenstein monster. In making our decisions here in Washington, we have to base them on facts submitted to the Congress and no evidence was given us by either General Marshall or the President, or any one else, that we are in greater peril today than we were a year ago. If there are any hidden reasons for believing this is not true, then the Congress should have been given the true picture, because surely we are entitled to know what Hitler certainly must know. On the other hand, Mr. Churchill has said that England is infinitely better off today than she was a year ago. Then Russia was an ally of Germany. Today Hitler has his hands full of Russians. In addition he finds it ever more difficult to police the conquered nations and to protect himself from sabotage and revolution behind the lines. I heard General Marshall say that he thought Japan was bluffing and would continue to bluff rather than fight.

We, ourselves, are in an infinitely stronger position today. Then we had an army of 300,000 men. Today it numbers a million and a half. Then we had practically no modern equipment. We have much more today, and are rapidly increasing our own arsenal.

The claim has been made that we would begin the demobilization of two-thirds of our untrained army this autumn. This is not true. No selectees would be released before November and less than 20,000 would be sent home before the first of the year; not more than 150,000 would be sent home in any one of the next six months. Meanwhile, the President has the statutory authority to immediately recall every one of these boys should it become necessary.

There are five ingredients for every good army. First: physically equipped manpower. Physical examinations under the Selective Service Act prove that we have sufficient. Second: Proper equipment. We are on the way to acquiring it rapidly and it is not the selectees fault that we did not have it already on hand. Third: Training. No one would be released before he had a year's training. Our biggest difficulty today is lack of trained officers; hence it is necessary to keep all of our officers in training, but they are not selectees. General Devers in command of the Ninth Division at Fort Bragg, who testified before the committee, said that his entire command was now ready for combat duty with less than a year's training. Fourth: An army must have adequate trained reserves. These boys as sent home would form that reserve and by the terms of the original act would remain in the Reserves subject to immediate call for the next 10 years. Meanwhile, they would be sent home to make room for the training of new men. These men could not be trained unless this room were made for them. Lastly: An army must have fine morale. True, literally Congress would not be breaking faith with these boys, morally it would because when this bill was passed a year ago, the politicians and even the Army played up the fact that these boys were going in training for one year, and played down the fact that they might be kept in service after their year's training had expired.

I am convinced that the Congress could do nothing worse to shatter the morale of our Army than to break faith with those boys in training. It had been intimated that these boys were scattered all over our far-flung outposts. The facts we have since earned are that but 3,000 of them are outside of the continental United States, and, surely, their return should not disintegrate the Army.

For these reasons, I opposed the extension of the draft period and I certainly was in vigorous opposition to the original proposals of the proponents of the bill that we declare a National Emergency which is tantamount to a state of war and, secondly, that we remove all limitations on the size of our Army and the length of service. General Marshall told us he had no thought of creating another American Expeditionary Force for service in foreign lands, and he told us originally 480,000 men would be adequate to defend the continental United States against the combined armies of the entire world — even without our Navy; and he told us further that an army of one million men was adequate to protect the entire Western Hemisphere from invasion. If this be true, why decide that the sky is the limit?

LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS

Camp Grant, Ill.

Dear Mr. Usher:

I don't think I can tell you on paper how much I have enjoyed getting the Courier; especially this last week because I have been in the hospital taking treatments for a sprained back. Have been laying in bed on my back since Thursday noon. We get excellent care though, in fact so good that I feel helpless.

I didn't get much of an introduction to camp life, just a couple days of fundamental drilling. When I get out of the hospital I am going to clerical school to learn the paper work of the Army.

I also want to endorse the draft idea that was advanced in last week's paper. I think it would be much fairer to all concerned.

Would like to take this time to say hello to everybody in Charlevoix.

Thanking you again for keeping me up to date on Charlevoix news.

Pvt. Herman H. Meyer
Co. B, 28 Medical Training Bn
Camp Grant, Illinois.

August 7, 1941

Dear Mr. Usher:

This is to acknowledge receipt of the Courier and to thank you for the complimentary subscription.

News from home via the mail is my only connection with friends and relatives. As for as I know, I am the only representative from Charlevoix county at Randolph. However, Michigan is well supported among the eight hundred cadets.

Randolph Field is an ideal spot for air training. Actually, the weather is milder now than in the north. Rain seldom interrupts flying.

Again many thanks for your generosity.

Sincerely yours,
John G. McCann.

That itching sensation some people mistake for ambition is merely inflammation of the wishbone.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Early Recognition of Polio Important

There won't be any soft-pedaling of infantile paralysis news this summer if the wishes of the people of Michigan are respected, says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner.

"People are just as much afraid of polio as ever, but they don't want reports of cases hushed up," says Dr. Moyer. "Local health departments are finding this enlightened viewpoint as the result of certain experiences last year when some attempts were made to sit on case reports. A hush policy wrecks the only defense we have—recognition of polio in its beginning states and prompt medical care to guard against crippling after-effects.

"Usually a polio patient shows fever, he is sick to his stomach, and there is stiffness of the neck and back. These signs may be easily overlooked or ignored, unless parents know what they mean in this hot weather, polio season. However, parents are especially warned not to attempt a polio diagnosis on these symptoms, nor to plague a child with bending or twisting tests to discover muscle stiffness. If there is a suspicion of polio, the physician should be called at once."

Incomplete reports for July showed less than 30 cases of infantile paralysis reported from the whole state, and none were reported from the Upper Peninsula or the northern half of the lower peninsula. The upper peninsula suffered particularly in last year's epidemic when 30 per cent of the state's polio cases were reported there although the upper peninsula has only six percent of the state's population.

Infantile paralysis is caused by one of the smallest of the viruses, whose diameter is calculated to be only two and a half millioneth of an inch. If it is ever seen, it will be with the aid of some device like the electron microscope. No one now is sure of how the virus is spread. It may be spread like the virus of measles, through droplets from the nose and mouth in breathing; or like the germ of typhoid, through food and water.

"Research on these and other problems of infantile paralysis is going on in many hospitals and laboratories, our own State Health Department laboratories among them," says Dr. Moyer.

"While there is much that we don't know about polio, the authorities are united in saying that recognition of the early symptoms should be prompt, the physician should be called at once, and medical care should be generously available to prevent crippling. In most cases, there is complete recovery from polio, but recovery is not predictable and every person affected must have rest and splinting if necessary to protect him from the effects of paralysis."

The virus laboratory of the Michigan Department of Health is one of several aided by funds from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which is supported by funds from the President's birthday parties each year. In order to meet the need for more trained virus workers, the Foundation has just made a grant of $40,000 to the University of Michigan School of Public Health to study virus diseases and to train virologists, particularly for work with polio.

Dr. James Chapman, director of the District Health Department, reports that 11 cases were reported in his jurisdiction in 1940, 4 cases in Charlevoix county and 7 cases in Emmet county. No cases were reported from Antrim nor Otsego counties. Thus far no cases have been reported this summer in this area.

AT THE MOVIES

"Kiss the Boys Goodbye"

The local screen is due to take a definite upswing towards the top in comedy and musical enterlainment, with the advent August 17-18 at the Palace Theatre, of "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," Paramount's musical film version of the gay, gag-packed comedy which had sophisticated Broadway audiences slightly slap-happy from laughing for several seasons.

Considering that the picture stars Don Ameche and Mary Martin, and features in its important cast Oscar Levant, Virginia Dale, Connie Boswell and Rochester, directed by the ace director of musicals, Victor Schertzinger, the prospects for first-rate, snappy entertainment are bright indeed. Schertzinger, it will be recalled, is the man who directed such mirthy, musical morsals as "Rhythm on the River," "Road to Singapore" and "Road to Zanzibar." The man has a genius for pleasing movie audiences out for a gay time.

"The Bride Came C.O.D." Booked for Palace

James Cagney and Bette Davis are the exciting star combination heading the cast of "The Bride Came C.O.D.", the film which makes its debut August 19 at the Palace.

Stuart Erwin, Eugene Pallette, Jack Carson, George Tobias, and Harry Davenport head the supporting cast of able comedy players who help Cagney and Miss Davis to make "The Bride Came C.O.D." race along merrily without a let-up in the hilarity from start to finish.

Benny in "Charley's Aunt"

Jack Benny, the greatest comedian of our time, makes his bow in Brandon Thomas' immortal comedy, "Charley's Aunt," which 20th Century-Fox will present on August 21-23 at the Palace Theatre.

Jack has been cast in the title role of this long-time laugh favorite, and it promises to be the most hilarious and most unusual of his career.

Preview audiences hailed Jack Benny's performance and have called him the funniest thing in skirts. Kay Francis is the real aunt who turns up at the wrong time and James Ellison is the friend who needs the help.

An impressive cast of laugh-provokers have been placed in the other supporting roles to make this the funniest comedy of the year. Among the others in the cast are Edmund Gwenn, Anne Baxter, Reginald Owen, Arleen Whelan, Laird Cregar, Ernest Cossart, Richard Haydn and Morton Lowry.

One Match Can Start It

This is what a forest fire looks like. One match or cigaret carelessly tossed from an automobile in the Michigan pine plains country can set the "red demon" roaring through woods baked dry by prolonged hot weather. Conservation department forest fire fighters are preparing for emergency situations in many areas. In the last 15 years, smokers have caused more than 40 per cent of the forest fires in Michigan. These fires have destroyed thousands of acres of timber, killed game animals, even burned out the elements of the soil that support plant growth.

What Should Be Done?

It is easy to express snap judgment and say that the power company is to blame.

Actually, if anyone is to be blamed at all, it is probably the indifferent and apathetic citizen who takes little interest in esthetic affairs of this kind. "If he can drive his automobile right to the falls and view it from the car, then he will enthuse," observed a state conservation official at Lansing. "But otherwise, it seems that the average man and woman doesn't care."

The fact remains that the waterways belong to private utilities simply because no one else has been interested enough to induce the state legislature to appropriate funds to acquire the waterfalls for perpetuity of all future citizens.

$3,000 a Park a Year

The department has 56 parks to maintain and administer. Its annual budget is $150,000 or just about $3,000 per park per year.

The department also administers the upkeep of some 4,500,000 acres of forest land in Michigan. Two million acres of this were acquired in the 1938 tax sale.

Obviously with $3,000 to spend on each of its 56 parks in Michigan, the conservation department is barely able to maintain the grounds and provide occasional improvements. Unlike other states, Michigan does not charge an admission fee into its public parks, and there is little likelihood that this precedent will be changed by the legislature.

The fault, if any, lies in the apathetic attitude of the average Michigan citizen.

Miner's Falls, near the Pictured Rocks at Munising, can be reached only by going through a cheap hot dog stand at the entrance by the road. You trespass over private land to see the falls, a 70-foot drop of water that is enjoyed by tens of thousands of visitors annually.

Unless enough citizens demand that scenic waterfalls be preserved through public ownership, then you can expect private interests to continue to exploit them for profit. This is not criticism of power companies. After all, they own the land and pay taxes on it.

Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery Shows Amazing Growth In 10-Year Period

Friends and patrons of the Jordan Valley Co-operative Creamery were highly gratified to learn of the remarkable growth and development of the Jordan Valley Creamery as reflected by the auditors report at the annual meeting, held on Monday night, August 4th. Outstanding was its accomplishment in having manufactured 1,371,000 pounds of butter last year. More interesting still when we find that at the end of its first year it only manufactured less than 300,000 pounds of butter. This is we note approximately a 500% increase in business in the ten year period.

It was also revealed that the creamery has over 1200 patrons with around 1050 have their cream picked up by trucks. To take care of this huge business nine trucks are being used in picking up cream on the various routes. However, only one truck is owned by the cooperative. Cream is purchased from five different counties in this section as far north as Levering, east to Cheboygan, south to Kewadin, and west to the shores of Lake Michigan.

The value of the creamery to the dairyman in this community is shown by the report that $367,592.00 was distributed to farmers for cream. This is compared to $260,709.00 the previous year, or an increase of a little over a $100,000 this last year. The creamery did a $423,614.00 volume of business and had a very nice gross profit left. It is significant to note that the inventory of permaanent assets amount to $21,135.00.

At the election of officers held in connection with the annual meeting, Directors C. S. Blanchard, Charlevoix, and G. P. VanderArk, Ellsworth, were re-elected for another term. Other directors are Howard Stephens, president; Louis Oosterhaam, Ellsworth, vice president, Arlo Wickersham, Charlevoix; Elmer Murray, East Jordan; Elmer Hott, East Jordan. The program was featured by a 4-H demonstration on proper cooling of cream, given by Bud Chellis, and Bernard Best, of Ellsworth, followed by an illustrated lecture by Professor G. M. Trout of Michigan State College. Prof. Trout took his audience on a trip through Canada and other northern points. Year by year the progress of this cooperative institution reflects credit to the able management of Percy Penfold, the ability of the board of directors and the sincere loyalty of its membership. Thousands of dollars of increased profit has come to this area as a result of having this highly successful institution in our midst.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN
Ken Smith, Camp Scribe

The second week of our long trips dawns dull and gray but the weather man says that it will clear up so that the trips will enjoy warm, sunny weather.

Joe Moran held his second mile swim of the season on Monday afternoon with 15 boys starting and every one finishing. Jim Nicholson, of Richmond, Ind., was the winner, beating last year's record, but falling a little short of this year's record.

Each year the Intermediate Lakes trip is one of the highlights of the season, with most of our fleet of canoes going on the trip. It is an ideal trip for paddling as it consists of both rivers and lakes. Phil Penberthy and Augie Brown were in charge of the trip with Charlie Marcus ably assisting. The boys who chose this trip were: Art Gannett, Ken Nyquist, Tommy Sample, Jim Howlett, Dick Noel, Johnny Doelman, Bert Edelson, Cary Buchman, and Jack Wooley. They reported no mishaps and much fun. Another trip which is an annual feature here is the Snipe trip when part of our fleet of Snipes sail around the lake. Bill Hart was in charge of this trip and Ken Vincent assisted him. Dave Dutcher, Dean Smith, Phil Goodspeed, Arden Tiley, Geo. Osborn, Fritz Steketee, Herb Dow, Roger Korten, Tommy Bennett, and Bill Kaampe took this trip.

Wednesday was one of those uneventful days with few left in camp as the Juniors took an overnight. Needless to say that they were all excited about this (even Hitch), and the morning was spent in getting their duffle packed. It was an ideal night, and all went well.

The Snipes returned on Thursday, and the canoe trip came back on Friday. The Green and Grey sailing race was held Friday afternoon with the Greys winning. The Annual Birthday Party was the evening attraction. Mrs. Reimann each year sponsors and arranges this party for all those boys and men who have had birthdays during the camp season. This year the number was twelve and they were seated at the head table which was adorned with a huge basket of fruit. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Wolford, the capable cooks, made a large birthday cake for the head table of guests; it was frosted in white with a pink arrow "C" (the camp emblem) on top. These fine ladies also made duplicate birthday cakes for the other tables, so that everyone in the dining room really was celebrating. Of course, the ice cream was mighty good, too. The entertainment feature of the party was really a great attraction, and I say this in all seriousness. John Goldsworthy, NBC staff artist, and Dick Simon, child actor of the movies, came over from the Mummer's Playhouse and presented a skit called "Mr. Pipp". It was very fitting for the campers, and the wild applause was proof that they enjoyed it very much.

It was good on Saturday to see so many of you around camp visiting your boys and attending the Rodeo. The entire staff takes its hat off to Buster for the swell show he put on. The boys did the best riding we have ever had boys do, and it showed the fine instruction they have received. The Grand Entry was headed by Chief and Buster, followed by Gene Gilmore, Sarge Harvey, Sandy MacDonell, Johany MacDonell, Buddy Jenkins, Tom Dancer, Al Birdsall, and Burt Edelson. After this all of the horses were put over the jumps. In the Shirt race, an event where each rider rides hard up to the spot where his shirt is, dismounts, dons his shirt, mounts and rides hard to the finish line. Sandy MacDonell won this event with Burt Edelson second and Al Birdsall third. A relay race was the next attraction with Team One consisting of Gene Gilmore, Sarge Harvey, Tom Dancer and Buddy Jenkins. This team won over Team Two, consisting of Johnny and Sandy MacDonell, Burt Edelson, and Al Birdsall. The same two teams competed in an Apple Race, but both teams were disqualified for unfair tactics. One of the highlights of the afternoon was the horseback wrestling. The object of this was to see who could avoid being pulled onto the ground from the horse. Buster was in this, as were Gerry Wilson, the winner, and Jack Lehnhard, Tom Harvey, and Don Neisch. And true to rodeo form we had Bronc Riding and Calf Riding. In the calf riding, cheers should go to Jimmy Allen, Mike Davis, and Jimmy Fox, who stayed on the longest. In the bronc riding both Buster and Gerry Wilson did a swell job of "sitting". In the bull riding, Gerry and Buster were joined by Jack Lehnhard. It was a very well planned program, and much credit should be given to Buster, assisted by Jim Pinkham, Don Neisch, Richard Lilley, Gerry Wilson, and Jack Lehnhard. And, oh yes, my friends, I nearly forgot Joe Moran, who had donned female attire for the afternoon and rode and led (?) the burro around the corral. He was introduced as Josephine Moran and was escorted onto the field by Joe Craig and Harold Steele riding hobby horses. It was quite a sight, quite a sight.

Saturday night the annual Green and Grey "Haakie-Haakie" game (battle) was held with the Greys winning. As this goes to press, the score is tied at twelve up in the G-G competition. Several events this week will break that tie so that the banquet next Saturday night may be run off as planned.

Yesterday (Sunday) we took our annual pilgrimage into the Congregational church in Charlevoix. The camp chorus sang a special number, the singers being Don Neisch, Tom Hart, Bill Hart, Joe Craig, Joe Moran, Fritz Pinkham, Art Gannett, and Huntley Johnson. The minister, Rev. Donald Evans, gave a splendid sermon on "The Man of India". In the afternoon the Juniors took a picnic supper to Bear Cove, the Intermediates stayed in camp for a program of games, while the Pioneer Section visited the Fish Hatchery at Oden.

And speaking of rain, Mrs. Reimann says that some one of the mothers left a red and white umbrella at the Reimann Lodge on Dads' Day. If you will let us know which of you is missing this necessity these days, we'll see that your boy gets it into his trunk when he leaves camp.

After dinner on Sunday, we had a music appreciation period with Arthur Gannett, camper from Iowa, playing a violin solo. He played "Meditation" from "Thais" by Massenet. Mrs. Reimann offered a piano solo, "Romance" by Schumann. The boys relax during these periods, and from comments received afterwards, they are enjoying them.

This is a different day than when I started this, and the sun is shining brightly; and I guess our worries about a wet week for trips was all for naught.

A loooooong cheer for Camp Charlevoix, as we are having a very happy season with a bunch of happy boys. Thanks to a swell staff as it really is tops.

building of a hydro-electric plant. A possible site for the dam and plant is the Michigamme Falls, a picturesque scenic spot in a deep narrow gorge through which waters of the Michigamme river roar madly.

Horserace Rapids

Land around the Michigamme Falls has been acquired by the power company.

This utility has also bought land around the Horserace Rapids, another scenic spot on the Paint river and some ten miles or more from Crystal Falls through a blueberry plain. A possible hydro-electric development is in the offing for this location.

You may recall having read about the Victoria Falls on the Ontonagon river which was converted by the Michigan Copper Range Power company into a commercial hydro-electric plant. In order to assure a steady flow of water to the Victoria Dam, the utility (formerly an Insull subsidiary) has diverted water from a branch of the Ontonagon river just above Bond falls.

A controversy ensued with the state conservation department which happened to own acreage below Bond falls and consequently had riparian rights. A "gentlemen's agreement", which has not been made into legal contract, resulted whereby the power company is maintaining a sufficient flow of water over Bond falls to preserve its scenic appeal. Furthermore, the company has even "patched" the face of the falls with concrete, and not one tourist in ten thousand would ever notice it.

Joe Howard's duties as narbor master go far beyond the realm of providing dockage, weather reports and other services to yachtsmen, I learned the other day. It appears he is a link in a hurry-up messenger service between the Wares, Belvedere Club summer residents, and their cook when they go out trolling. If a fish is caught, the Wares stick a mop handle into the flag-staff holder and immediately upon sighting this signal as the boat canes through the channel, Joe calls the Ware cook to have the frying pan ready.

Response to the Mummer's offerings has been growing each week and not only from Charlevoix but also from Petoskey, Harbor Springs, East Jordan, Boyne City, Traverse City and many other nearby points, audiences of gratifying size attend each night. Attendance has been stimulated by the tribute which has been paid the Mummers in last week's Sunday Chicago Tribune. Two columns of praise were written by Cecil Smith, who travelled 400 miles from Chicago to attend a performance of "Stage Door." The headline read: "Charlevoix Summer Theatre One of Best In Middle West."

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Driving to Mackinaw City last Sunday, we came upon an old swamp full of fallen timber where bloomed literally thousands of cardinal flowers. It was a wonderful sight, made more beautiful by the fact that in this day it is so rare.

The brilliant, deep red of the cardinal flower, or red lobelia, cannot be hidden. Everyone who sees it runs to pick it as fast as he can. So it has almost vanished from Michigan, where it once grew by tens of thousands in marshy meadows. The cardinal flower should never be picked. It spreads only by seed.

Blossoms grow up and down the sides of stiff, dark green or red stems in a graceful spike of flowers. Each flower is a long tube from which hangs a calyx with five clefts. It looks like a scarlet cap made of five ribbons with a peak.

The flower is even more brilliant than the cardinal bird. The great princes of the Church, Cardinals, as you may see in paintings, wear costumes af this vivid scarlet.

Only the ruby throated hummingbird, which loves red, can get its beak down the tube of the red lobelia. If there were more hummingbirds, perhaps there would be more red lobelias.

Some day many flower lovers will buy the seeds and scatter them far and wide on wet places, until our state in August will be brilliant again with cardinal flowers.

CHARLEVOIX WINNER OVER INDIAN RIVER

Scored 7 to 6 Victory in 11 Innings Last Sunday

Charlevoix baseball team hung up another victory last Sunday, defeating Indian River by a 7 to 6 score in 11 innings at Indian River.

Trailing 4 to 2 going into the eighth inning, Healey, Balser and John singled for Charlevoix and Sommerville tripled to clear the bases. Day singled Sommerville home to give Charlevoix a 6 to 4 lead and what appeared a comfortable margin until Indian River scored twice to even the count 6-all in their half of the inning. Charlevoix marked up the winning run in the 11th inning, Sommerville, who had doubles, scoring on Day's single.

John relieved Henley and retired Indian River batters in order in the final inning. Charlevoix collected 13 hits for seven runs and was charged with two errors. Indian River gathered 8 hits and made two errors.

Charlevoix meets the strong Cheboygan Iveraess Dairy team next Sunday at south side athletic field in what promises to be the season's outstanding local contest.

FARMERS WILL VOTE ON WHEAT QUOTAS AGAIN NEXT SPRING

Keeping in mind the recent proclamation by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard that marketing quotas, if approved by voters, will be in effect for the 1942 wheat crop, Charlevoix county wheat growers should give serious consideration to their wheat seeding plans for this fall, Walter H. Healey, chairman of the Charlevoix County Triple-A Committee, said this week.

The proclamation, which under the law must be made prior to May 15 for any marketing year in which it appears the wheat supply will exceed a normal year's domestic consumption and exports by more than 35 percent, was made at this time in order to give growers the opportunity to make plans for 1942 plantings before seeding time, the Triple-A office said.

The date for the referendum will be set in the spring as soon as the condition of the 1942 crop can be determined.

Mr. Healey pointed out that the Secretary of Agriculture is required by law to proclaim a marketing quota whenever the supply of wheat for any marketing year exceeds a normal year's domestic consumption and exports by more than 35 percent.

"The wheat supply in sight for the 1942-43 marketing year leaves no doubt as to why marketing quotas were proclaimed," Mr. Healey said. He said the 1942-43 supply used in the quota determination is estimated at 1,300,000,000 bushels. This includes the estimated at 660,000,000 bushels on the basis of a normal yield on the 55,000,000 acre national wheat acreage allotment. A normal year's domestic consumption and exports amount to 739,000,000. The addition of a 35 percent reserve makes a marketing quota level of 998,000,000 bushels. If between now and the fall of 1942 the supply of wheat should fall 5 percent below the quota level, the law provides that the Secretary must lift the quota.

One Match Can Start It

This is what a forest fire looks like. One match or cigaret carelessly tossed from an automobile in the Michigan pine plains country can set the "red demon" roaring through woods baked dry by prolonged hot weather. Conservation department forest fire fighters are preparing for emergency situations in many areas. In the last 15 years, smokers have caused more than 40 per cent of the forest fires in Michigan. These fires have destroyed thousands of acres of timber, killed game animals, even burned out the elements of the soil that support plant growth.

What Should Be Done?

It is easy to express snap judgment and say that the power company is to blame.

Actually, if anyone is to be blamed at all, it is probably the indifferent and apathetic citizen who takes little interest in esthetic affairs of this kind. "If he can drive his automobile right to the falls and view it from the car, then he will enthuse," observed a state conservation official at Lansing. "But otherwise, it seems that the average man and woman doesn't care."

The fact remains that the waterways belong to private utilities simply because no one else has been interested enough to induce the state legislature to appropriate funds to acquire the waterfalls for perpetuity of all future citizens.

$3,000 a Park a Year.

The department has 56 parks to maintain and administer. Its annual budget is $160,000 or just about $3,000 per park per year.

The department also administers the upkeep of some 4,500,000 acres of forest land in Michigan. Two million acres of this were acquired in the 1938 tax sale.

Obviously with $3,000 to spend on each of its 56 parks in Michigan, the conservation department is barely able to maintain the grounds and provide occasional improvements. Unlike other states, Michigan does not charge an admission fee into its public parks, and there is little likelihood that this precedent will be changed by the legislature.

The fault, if any, lies in the apathetic attitude of the average Michigan citizen.

Miner's Falls, near the Pictured Rocks at Munising, can be reached only by going through a cheap hot dog stand at the entrance by the road. You trespass over private land to see the falls, a 70-foot drop of water that is enjoyed by tens of thousands of visitors annually.

Unless enough citizens demand that scenic waterfalls be preserved through public ownership, then you can expect private interests to continue to exploit them for profit. This is not criticism of power companies. After all, they own the land and pay taxes on it.

Ask your merchants and business places for tickets on FREE automobiles to be given at the Charlevoix County Fair, Sept. 9-12.—Adv. 33t5.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

Ken Smith, Camp Scribe

The second week of our long trips dawns dull and gray but the weather man says that it will clear up so that the trips will enjoy warm, sunny weather.

Joe Moran held his second mile swim of the season on Monday afternoon with 15 boys starting and every one finishing. Jim Nicholson, of Richmond, Ind., was the winner, beating last year's record, but falling a little short of this year's record.

Each year the Intermediate Lakes trip is one of the highlights of the season, with most of our fleet of canoes going on the trip. It is an ideal trip for paddling as it consists of both rivers and lakes. Phil Penberthy and Augie Brown were in charge of the trip with Charlie Marens ably assisting. The boys who chose this trip were: Art Gannett, Ken Nyquist, Tommy Sample, Jim Howlett, Dick Noel, Johnny Doelman, Bert Edelson, Cary Buchman, and Jack Wooley. They reported no mishaps and much fun. Another trip which is an annual feature here is the Snipe trip when part of our fleet of Snipes sail around the lake. Bill Hart was in charge of this trip and Ken Vincent assisted him. Dave Dutcher, Dean Smith, Phil Goodspeed, Arden Tiley, Geo. Osborn, Fritz Steketee, Herb Dow, Roger Korten, Tommy Bennett, and Bill Kampe took this trip.

Wednesday was one of those uneventful days with few left in camp as the Juniors took an overnight. Needless to say that they were all excited about this (even Hitch), and the morning was spent in getting their duffle packed. It was an ideal night, and all went well.

The Snipes returned on Thursday, and the canoe trip came back on Friday. The Green and Grey sailing race was held Friday afternoon with the Greys winning. The Annual Birthday Party was the evening attraction. Mrs. Reimann each year sponsors and arranges this party for all those boys and men who have had birthdays during the camp season. This year the number was twelve and they were seated at the head table which was adorned with a huge basket of fruit. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Wolford, the capable cooks, made a large birthday cake for the head table of guests; it was frosted in white with a pink arrow "C" (the camp emblem) on top. These fine ladies also made duplicate birthday cakes for the other tables, so that everyone in the dining room really was celebrating. Of course, the ice cream was mighty good, too. The entertainment feature of the party was really a great attraction, and I say this in all seriousness. John Goldsworthy, NBC staff artist, and Dick Simon, child actor of the movies, came over from the Mummer's Playhouse and presented a skit called "Mr. Pipp". It was very fitting for the campers, and the wild applause was proof that they enjoyed it very much.

It was good on Saturday to see so many of you around camp visiting your boys and attending the Rodeo. The entire staff takes its hat off to Buster for the swell show he put on. The boys did the best riding we have ever had boys do, and it showed the fine instruction they have received. The Grand Entry was headed by Chief and Buster, followed by Gene Gilmore, Sarge Harvey, Sandy MacDonell, Johnny MacDonell, Buddy Jenkins, Tom Dancer, Al Birdsall, and Burt Edelson. After this all of the horses were put over the jumps. In the Shirt race, an event where each rider rides hard up to the spot where his shirt is, dismounts, dons his shirt, mounts and rides hard to the finish line. Sandy MacDonell won this event, with Burt Edelson second and Al Birdsall third. A relay race was the next attraction with Team One consisting of Gene Gilmore, Sarge Harvey, Tom Dancer and Buddy Jenkins. This team won over Team Two, consisting of Johnny and Sandy MacDonell, Burt Edelson, and Al Birdsall. The same two teams competed in an Apple Race, but both teams were disqualified for unfair tactics. One of the highlights of the afternoon was the horseback wrestling. The object of this was to see who could avoid being pulled onto the ground from the horse. Buster was in this, as were Gerry Wilson, the winner, and Jack Lehnhard, Tom Harvey, and Don Neisch. And true to rodeo form we had Bronc Riding and Calf Riding. In the calf riding, cheers should go to Jimmy Allen, Mike Davis, and Jimmy Fox, who stayed on the longest. In the bronc riding both Buster and Gerry Wilson did a swell job of "sifting". In the bull riding, Gerry and Buster were joined by Jack Lehnhard. It was a very well planned program, and much credit should be given to Buster, assisted by Jim Pinkham, Don Neisch, Richard Lilley, Gerry Wilson, and Jack Lehnhard. And, oh yes, my friends, I nearly forgot Joe Moran, who had donned female attire for the afternoon and rode and led (?) the bunch around the corral. He was introduced as Josephine Moran and was escorted off the field by Joe Craig and Harold Steele riding hobby horses. It was quite a sight, quite a sight.

Saturday night the annual Green and Grey "Hankie-Hankie" game (battle) was held with the Greys winning. As this goes to press, the score is tied at twelve up in the G-G competition. Several events this week will break that tie so that the banquet next Saturday night may be run off as planned.

Yesterday (Sunday) we took our annual pilgrimage into the Congregational church in Charlevoix. The camp chorus sang a special number, the singers being Don Neisch, Tom Hart, Bill Hart, Joe Craig, Joe Moran, Fritz Pinkham, Art Gannett, and Huntley Johnson. The minister, Rev. Donald Evans, gave a splendid sermon on "The Man of India". In the afternoon the Juniors took a picnic supper to Bear Cove, the Intermediates stayed in camp for a program of games, while the Pioneer Section visited the Fish Hatchery at Oden.

And speaking of rain, Mrs. Reimann says that some one of the mothers left a red and white umbrella at the Reimann Lodge on Onds' Day. If you will let us know which of you is missing this necessity these days, we'll see that your boy gets it into his trunk when he leaves camp.

After dinner on Sunday, we had a music appreciation period with Arthur Gannett, camper from Iowa, playing a violin solo. He played "Meditation" from "Thais" by Massenet. Mrs. Reimann offered a piano solo, "Romance" by Schumann. The boys relax during these periods, and from comments received afterwards, they are enjoying them.

This is a different day than when I started this, and the sun is shining brightly; and I guess our worries about a wet week for trips was all for naught.

A loooooong cheer for Camp Charlevoix, as we are having a very happy season with a bunch of happy boys. Thanks to a swell staff as it really is tops.

building of a hydro-electric plant. A possible site for the dam and plant is the Michigamme Falls, a picturesque scenic spot in a deep narrow gorge through which waters of the Michigamme river roar madly.

Horserace Rapids

Land around the Michigamme Falls has been acquired by the power company.

This utility has also bought land around the Horserace Rapids, another scenic spot on the Paint river and some ten miles or more from Crystal Falls through a blueberry plain. A possible hydro-electric development is in the offing for this location.

You may recall having read about the Victoria Falls on the Ontonagon river which was converted by the Michigan Copper Range Power company into a commercial hydro-electric plant. In order to assure a steady flow of water to the Victoria Dam, the utility (formerly an Insull subsidiary) has diverted water from a branch of the Ontonagon river just above Bond falls.

A controversy ensued with the state conservation department which happened to own acreage below Bond falls and consequently had riparian rights. A "gentlemen's agreement", which has not been made into legal contract, resulted whereby the power company is maintaining a sufficient flow of water over Bond falls to preserve its scenic appeal. Furthermore, the company has even "patched" the face of the falls with concrete, and not one tourist in ten thousand would ever notice it.

Friends and patrons of the Jordan Valley Co-operative Creamery were highly gratified to learn of the remarkable growth and development of the Jordan Valley Creamery as reflected by the auditors report at the annual meeting held on Monday night, August 4th. Outstanding was its accomplishment in having manufactured 1,371,000 pounds of butter last year. More interesting still when we find that at the end of its first year it only manufactured less than 300,000 pounds of butter. This is we note approximately a 500% increase in business in the ten year period.

It was also revealed that the creamery has over 1200 patrons with around 1050 have their cream picked up by trucks. To take care of this huge business nine trucks are being used in picking up cream on the various routes. However, only one truck is owned by the cooperative. Cream is purchased from five different counties in this section as far north as Levering, east to Cheboygan, south to Kewadin, and west to the shores of Lake Michigan.

The value of the creamery to the dairyman in this community is shown, by the report that $367,592.00 was distributed to farmers for cream. This is compared to $260,709.00 the previous year, or an increase of a little over a $100,000 this last year. The creamery did a $423,614.00 volume of business and had a very nice gross profit left. It is significant to note that the inventory of permanent assets amount to $21,135.00.

At the election of officers held in connection with the annual meeting, Directors C. S. Blanchard, Charlevoix, and G. P. VanderArk, Ellsworth, were re-elected for another term. Other directors are Howard Stephens, president; Louis Oosterhouse, Ellsworth, vice president, Arlo Wickersham, Charlevoix; Elmer Murray, East Jordan; Elmer Hott, East Jordan. The program was featured by a 4-H demonstration on proper cooling of cream, given by Bud Chellis, and Bernard Best, of Ellsworth, followed by an illustrated lecture by Professor G. M. Trout of Michigan State College. Prof. Trout took his audience on a trip through Canada and other northern points. Year by year the progress of this cooperative institution reflects credit to the able management of Percy Penfold, the ability of the board of directors and the sincere loyalty of its membership. Thousands of dollars of increased profit has come to this area as a result of having this highly successful institution in our midst.

WOMAN DROWNED NEAR SEQUANOTA

MRS. DOUGLAS VANCE VICTIM OF TRAGEDY

Wife Summer Resident Clergyman at Sequanota Lost Life Saturday When Boat Overturned

Charlevoix county's second drowning within a week took the life Saturday of Mrs. Myrtle S. Vance, 32, wife of Rev. Douglas Vance, Presbyterian minister at Cross Creek, Pa., and summer resident of Sequanota resort.

The fatal mishap occurred when a rowboat with outboard motor in which the couple were returning to Sequanota from a fishing trip capsized in the entrance of the south arm of Lake Charlevoix near Ironton. According to reports, the boat tipped end-over-end toward the stern in a heavy sea, throwing both into the water.

Rev. Vance, it is understood, left his wife clinging to the overturned boat while he swam ashore for help. Whether she lost her hold on the boat or attempted to swim ashore is not known, due to absence of witnesses. Her body, floating face downward on the water, was recovered by Jack Lyngklip, son of O. W. Lyngklip, of Detroit, and young Sam Alexander, of Ironton, who had gone to the scene of the mishap in the Lyngklip speed boat. That Mrs. Vance was apparently struck by the boat when it overturned was evidenced by an injury on her head.

Efforts to revive Mrs. Vance by artificial respiration administered by Lyngklip and Alexander and later by coast guardsmen from the local station, proved futile.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Vance is survived by a daughter, age four, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Segleo, of St. Paul, Minn., also two sisters and a brother.

Following brief services conducted at Sequanota, the body was taken to St. Paul for funeral and burial.

FREIGHTER DAMAGES LOWER WATER MAIN

Temporary Service Now Being Maintained to North Side

Temporary water service to the north side district is being maintained under the channel between Round lake and Lake Michigan until repairs can be made to a main broken Saturday by the Str. Benj. Tate, coal carrier enroute to Boyne City.

A request has been issued by the Municipal Utilities asking residents of that district to refrain from lawn sprinkling between the hours of 7 and 9 p. m. as a means of insuring adequate water supply.

The water main, repeatedly broken by boats and only last year repaired for similar damage, will not likely be permanently repaired before a new main is installed when the highway department's new bridge is constructed.

CHANGE IN AUTO PLATES FOR 1942

ONE LICENSE WILL SUFFICE FOR ENTIRE YEAR

Smaller Size, New Design Worked Out to Save Steel and Manufacturing Cost

In the manufacture of Michigan's 1942 auto license plates, approximately 1,000,000 pounds of steel will be conserved for national defense, and at least $60,000 saved the state in production costs, under a new plan announced today by Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of State.

In 1942 all motorists will receive one set of plates, instead of 650,000 half-year plate owners receiving two sets, one in March, and one in September under the present system. The half-year plate owner will have exactly the same plate as the full-year owner, with the exception that on the bottom of the plate will be carried the expiration date, which will be 8-31-42.

The 1942 plate will be a trifle smaller as has been previously announced to the press. The reduction in the size alone conserves 287,303 pounds of steel at a saving of $9,911 in manufacturing costs.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Ushor

If you haven't got the trout fishing fever out of your system for this year you'd better hurry, for the season lasts 12 more days, closing at midnight Labor Day, September 1.

Peace can be made perpetual if nations will agree not to make new wars until they have paid for the old ones.

Charlevoix, long confronted with the problem of how to prevent the building of dangerous and objectionable buildings in residential areas of the city as well as in the business section, how to bring about a plan to eliminate fire hazards and to establish better building and housing practices, now has a zoning ordinance fast in the making. It requires but a few more pushes by the city council and people who have spent money in building and maintaining desirable residential sections will be protected against infiltration of establishments which, no matter how worthy or useful they may be, are nevertheless out of place in residential areas. Such enterprises, as a matter of fact, can always be located to better advantage elsewhere. Such zoning measures have become standard practice in other cities and the same will soon be put in force here.

Of the two, I'd rather listen to the boaster than the alibier.

Farmers in this vicinity who have crops so badly in need of moisture can at least be thankful their fields haven't been leveled by frost like a cucumber patch I saw Saturday east of Kalkaska. Last week's cold spell produced freezing temperatures in the eastern plains country.

After considerable observation, have come to the conclusion the secret of success in business is to give the customer more of what they want and less of what they don't want. For example, there's the roadside stand operator who sensed the fact that nearly everybody who eats hot dogs is more

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

"Woodman, spare that tree!" goes an old sentimental saying.

Despite all the conservation education which Michigan has had in the last generation or two—and surely our state is far ahead of most others in this regard — we still are a long ways from solving the forestry problem.

This fact was impressed upon us forcefully during an automobile trip through a section of the Upper Peninsula, which, according to the 1941 state highway map, is "roadless" and apparently impassable.

Two newspaper editors, both lovers of the Michigan outdoors, were our companions, Al H. Weber, Cheboygan, and Oscar Schumann, Grayling, know their outdoors—particularly "Hudson Bay Al" as we affectionately nicknamed Mr. Weber who has visited the Hudson Bay country and was once introduced by Philip T. Rich of Midland to a New York group by that title. Incidentally, Weber rose to the occasion with long and tall tales of his life there.

It was Schumann's first trip west of Sault Ste. Marie, and it was our first experience in following Lake Superior from Munising to Emerson, all within a few miles of the shore. We spent the night in Weber's log cabin, 36 by 18 feet, located in a stand of virgin white pine.

Selective Cutting

First of many impressions about the forest resources was received on a visit to a logging camp operated by the four Lindahl brothers of Iron River — Harold, Walter, Oscar and Arthur. This camp is near Penelton Creek, some 20 miles from Iron River, and is situated in a 3,000-acre tract of fine timber which the Lindahl brothers have been holding for some time as taxpayers.

Because of a recent rise in lumber prices due to national defense needs, the Lindahls now find it profitable to cut their timber. A modern camp has been erected in the woods; lumberjacks work only

Fast Work on a Forest Blaze

Quick action with "cut" drawn booster units has helped conservation department forest fire fighters keep the season's first 1,000 fires to an average of six acres each, where in all of last season a total of 1001 fires burned over 17,388 acres. Fine spray of the booster units smothers ground fires before they can get into timbered areas where they are harder to put out. Fire wardens are asking public cooperation in preventing such fires in grassy areas along roadsides as the forest fire hazard approaches the season's peak.

SAVE SURPLUSES IN FARM GARDENS

Always a busy canning time, mid-August should be busier than ever this year, say members of the Michigan State College home economics extension service. They point to a nation-wide campaign to save food for future emergency needs.

The government has urged every community in the country to save extra vegetables and fruits. The food may be distributed later in the community, particularly thru school-lunch programs.

Whether canning is done on a large or a small scale, a steam-pressure canner is a recommended piece of equipment if there are non-acid vegetables to be processed. Only by the use of pressure is it possible to get the high temperature needed to kill organisms in non-acid vegetables that, if not destroyed, are liable to cause spoilage. Practically all vegetables but tomatoes are in the non-acid class.

In many gardens, snap beans, young and tender lima beans, green table soybeans and corn are available now in quantities for canning. All may be put up safely in tin cans or glass jars in the steam-pressure canner. Tomatoes, also available now, may be put up in jars or cans and processed in a water-bath canner.

For complete canning details with handy time and temperature tables for processing, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has available a free bulletin—Home Canning of Fruits, Vegetables, and Meats. This is Farmers' Bulletin 1762 and may be obtained by writing to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The 32nd annual Charlevoix county fair is scheduled for September 5-8. Among other entertainment features, Company I, 33rd Infantry, Michigan National Guard, will put on an exhibition ending with sham battle with aeroplane one day of the fair, if they are released from United States service by that time.

Motion pictures of Charlevoix's scenic beauties were taken last week by John I. Gibson, secretary of the Western Michigan Development Bureau, and Ray Vandercook, head of the Pere Marquette railroad's publicity department.

Allie Moore, world's champion roller skater, and Jack Fotch will race for three consecutive nights at the Charlevoix roller rink this week. In addition to the big race, Allie will give an exhibition of sensational stunts on skates, including the Slide for Life over a see-saw with a wheelbarrow.

Wait for the new Ford car with the stream-line body, price $360. Benjamin Brown, local agent.

Caddy boys will be given their annual outing as guests of the Chicago Golf Club, Sunday, when the City of Boyne will carry the bunch to St. Helena island.

Will E. Hampton returned Tuesday morning for Portland, Oregon, where for the past three weeks he has been attending the supreme lodge of Knights of Pythias and the Association of Grand Keepers of Records and Seal. He was elected president of the latter organization for the ensuing two years.

HOW THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT WORKS

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles explaining the programs for social security operated by the Federal and State governments.

The Federal Social Security Act today is almost six years old but despite its effect on the lives of practically every citizen there are thousands of individuals who do not yet understand the various programs established under this law.

In order that you may have a full understanding of your possible rights and your responsibilities under this Act, the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission offers the first in a series of articles explaining the various programs administered by the Social Security Board.

Here, for instance, is Bill Smith, a young man who, by virtue of the National Defense program, has found his first job—a job in a factory producing tanks for use by the United States Army.

Before he can begin work he is told to go to the Social Security Board field office to obtain an account number. Bill Smith may have a few general ideas about social security. He may know that a penny is taken out of every dollar he earns and is sent to the U. S. Treasury for social security taxes.

He may have a vague idea that this tax on his wages will mean him against the time when he will be too old to work. Bill Smith, however, is young, and old age is something far in the distant future. He's not worrying about it now.

But does Bill Smith know that because of the Social Security Act his family may be protected if he should die before he reaches old age? And does he know that he may be able to get unemployment insurance checks if he loses his job?

And then there's John Doe, a man who is now past 65. He had a steady job . . . once . . . as superintendent of an apartment house—a job which the Social Security Act calls "covered employment." How does social security protect John Doe and his family, now that his working days are over?

And then there's Mrs. Smith, a woman whose husband was killed in an accident. He left very little money to take care of her and her young children. What does Social Security mean to her.

And there's the old person—without enough to live on. There are the needy blind; and there are the dependent children—what does social security mean to them? What are their rights and how can they get help under the social security program?

It is to answer these and similar questions of our readers that we are printing this series of brief articles.

It takes a nation-wide organization to put the Social Security Act to work—to change it from a law on paper to a system which makes life more secure for millions of American workers and their families.

To help make that system work, there are 3 kinds of local offices, serving communities from Maine to California, from Washington to Florida, from Lake Superior to the Gulf of Mexico.

First, there is the Social Security Board field office which handles those problems having to do with the system of old-age and survivors insurance. This is the office from which John Jones gets his social security account number. It handled William Simpson's claim for old-age insurance when he got too old to work and helped Mrs. Smith get the money due her and her children when her husband died.

There are about 500 of these field offices scattered throughout the country. This means that somewhere — not very far away from their homes—there is a place where people in every part of the country can go for information and help about "old-age and survivors insurance."

Second, there is the local office of the Michigan State Employment Service which is the place to go for advice and help on "employment security."

Through this office John Jones, like thousands of other people, gets help in finding work. It is where he files his claim for unemployment insurance if he loses his job.

There are more than 1,500 full-time and 3,000 part-time State employment offices throughout the country—run by the states, but a part of the Social Security Board's United States Employment Service.

Third, there is the welfare office—the office through which people may get help under the public assistance program.

Under this program, set up by the Social Security Act, the states, with the help of the Federal Government, provides monthly cash allowances to certain groups of people who are unable to provide for their own support. The people who may get these monthly cash allowances are the needy aged, the needy blind, and dependent children.

FLINT—Fastest growing Telephone City of its size in America

Among the industrial centers working night and day in the national emergency, none is busier than Flint.

A year ago there were 31,500 telephones in Flint. Now there are 38,500 — an increase of over 22 per cent. And telephone growth is still climbing faster than in any other American city of comparable size.

As a part of the soundly financed Bell System, the Michigan Bell is enabled to obtain capital funds with which to meet that growth. The Company will spend more than $1,000,000 in Flint this year for new equipment, cable lines, and an addition to the Central Office building.

But Flint is only one of many places in Michigan where such situations must be met. $11,000,000 is programmed to serve camps, arsenals, factories, and others engaged directly in defense work. And the Company's total 1941 plant construction program exceeds $26,000,000.

CHARLEVOIX DEFEATED CHEBOYGAN TEAM

Scored 10 to 0 Shut-Out Victory Here Sunday Afternoon

Charlevoix avenged two earlier defeats by the Cheboygan Iverness Dairy with a 10 to 0 shut-out victory over the Cheboygan outfit at south side athletic field Sunday.

In a contest more interesting than the score would indicate, Charlevoix got 10 two Cheboygan hurlers for a total of 12 hits, while Amos John held the visitors to four well scattered singles. One of the largest crowds of the season witnessed the game.

Charlevoix plays the Cheboygan Macks on the home diamond next Sunday. The Macks are considered a stronger team than the Iverness outfit, thus a good game is in prospect. The season's final contest brings the Petoskey Michigan Tanning & Extract team here August 31.

SUMMER RESIDENTS 50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Schradzki of Peoria, Ill., summer residents of Charlevoix for fifteen years, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday, August 16.

Mr. Schradzki was born in Canton, Ill., and Mrs. Schradzki, who before her marriage was Lottie Norden, was born in New York city. In 1891 they were married in New York city. They have one son, Harold R. Schradzki, of Chicago, who, with his wife and daughter, Carol, were here to help celebrate his parents' anniversary.

The Schradzkis, their son and his family, and several of their close friends, enjoyed dinner at the Colonial Club, Saturday evening. Julius Baer, Cincinnati florist, decorated the dinner table in keeping with the occasion. A garland of gilded cedar branches extended the length of the table, centered by a little evergreen tree to whose branches were fastened yellow roses. Roses of the same color were used to make initials "N" and "S", and large, low bowls filled with tiny yellow flowers completed the floral decorations. Marking each place was a miniature mountain ash tree with golden-red berries. To honor the couple, the orchestra played "gay 90's" tunes popular at the time they were married.

GOOD PASTURE REQUIRES 'REST'

Planned Control Increases Profits on Livestock.

By F. V. BURCALOW
(Extension Agronomist, University of Wisconsin)

Good pastures that provide an abundance of nutritious and succulent forage throughout the grazing season also help the farmer who has them to produce livestock and dairy products at a profit.

Present pasture grasses and legumes will not remain productive under continuous close grazing during the entire season. In most areas a planned series of pastures is needed to provide an abundance of succulent forage throughout the entire grazing period.

Available permanent pasture should be used as the basis of a planned pasture program. Permanent pastures need to be improved and most of them will respond to an improvement program.

Many have been taken too much for granted and are now weed infested and unproductive. Depleted soil fertility and continuous over grazing are two important factors causing this condition. Most of these pastures are hungry for nitrogen and need to be fed. Soil and climatic conditions determine whether the nitrogen should be fed in forms of commercial nitrogen fertilizers or through the use of legumes which can make atmospheric nitrogen available for use by the grasses. For pastures in which the grasses normally used are subject to periods of drouth dormancy, nitrogen is most economically provided by use of drouth resistant legumes.

The old adage "Take care of the legumes and the grasses will take care of themselves" could well be used as a rule for the improvement of permanent pastures, especially those which periodically suffer from drouth. A good program would consist of replenishing the soil with adequate supplies of lime, phosphate, and potash for the growth of legumes, working these minerals into the soil and preparing a seed bed so that legumes could be established.

The improved area should then be fenced so that grazing can be regulated to aid in establishing and maintaining the stand of legumes.

Protein Supplement Helps Beef Cattle Gain Finish

Sam L. Williams, assistant extension animal husbandman of N. C. State college, has an answer to the question: "Can beef be produced without a protein supplement?"

This is what he has been telling beef cattle breeders and feeders who have asked the question in recent weeks: "In my opinion it can be done, but it is neither practical nor profitable."

Then he goes on to explain that the important thing to the cattle producer is how much weight and finish he can put on his cattle and how long it will require. Efficient production is essential to greatest profit in any business, and this is especially true in the cattle business.

Some of the more common protein supplements are cottonseed meal, soybean meal, linseed meal, and corn gluten meal. All of these are about equal in feeding value.

Williams explained that the economy of feeding a protein supplement lies in the fact that such feeds are responsible for more efficient utilization of feed, larger gains, higher finish, and a greater selling price.

Insurance on Wheat Reaches New High

A record number of crop insurance contracts—420,077—has been written as protection on the 1941 wheat crop in 36 states, according to Leroy K. Smith, manager of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation.

This number exceeded by 41,917 the 378,160 contracts written on both winter and spring wheat last year. The 1941 contracts guarantee growers a total production of 110,591,202 bushels of wheat from 10,946,284 insured acres.

"This is the third successive year that the federal crop insurance program has shown consistent gains in the number of contracts guaranteeing wheat growers protection from all unavoidable hazards," the manager said.

A NEW COUNCIL RING AT CAMP CHARLEVOIX

Junior Section Complete Work and Present Ring to Camp

The Junior Section at Camp Charlevoix, private boys' camp under the direction and owned by Lewis C. Reimann of Ann Arbor, dedicated a new council ring on Monday evening with impressive ceremony.

These boys are between seven and ten years of age and have been working for several weeks on this new council ring which is located along the shore in a natural opening in a grove of pine trees. Joe Craig, head counselor of the section, assisted by the other counselors, Fred Pinkham, "Hitch" Hitchcock, Paul Piccard and Paul Meech, have directed the boys in this project. Benches have been made to circle the ring while a huge replica of Paul Bunyan stands watch over the sacred place. Paul stands over nine feet high and was the work of Don Neisch, assistant counselor, and Jim Kendall, a camper.

Visitors to the camp will want to include this new council ring in their tour of inspection.

The plate for both will have the same color combination, white numerals on a dark green background. This is the first year that the color has been determined not only by the visibility test, but also by conferring with the color stylists of the automobile manufacturers in order to secure a color that will harmonize with the colors of cars.

There is one other change made on the plate. The word "Michigan" will be spelled out in full, rather than as it was carried in the past, with the abbreviation "Mich.".

When an owner applies for his last half-year license he will not get a new plate, but a steel strip, one and a half inches wide by eleven inches long, bearing the numerals "42" and a serial number. These strips must be attached to the old plates so as to cover the August 31st expiration date, thereby converting the plate into a full year permit.

Thus the owner will have the same license number all year, a substantial amount of steel will be saved for government needs, and the state in addition to effecting a large reduction in manufacturing costs will also conserve other materials such as ink, paint and paper, of which large quantities are needed in producing plates, their wrappers, and envelopes.

Bring your saws and tools to us for fixing, filing and grinding. Our work is guaranteed. D. X. Service. —3t12.

CAMP LIVINGSTON PICTURES TO BE SHOWN

This meeting is being sponsored by the adult Bible class. The public is cordially invited.

Potato Growers Advised to be on Guard for Potato Blight

All growers of potatoes should be on the look out for the first appearance of late blight in this county. While very little has been found in the county as of this time adjoining counties report the first symptoms. We all remember what happened last year and the year before and know that practically all seed planted this spring had some blight.

With seed more or less infected and with proper weather conditions the next three or four weeks will determine the status of potatoes all through this area. The only means of control is to be sure that the vines are covered at all times with a Bordeaux mixture. The standard formula for the Blue Vitroil-Lime solution is 2-12-100, which means 8 pounds of Blue Vitroil and 12 pounds of lime to 100 gallons of water. Many growers are using a slightly stronger solution such as 10-16-100. We still feel that the 8-12-100 is strong enough but on the other hand have not found any serious injury to the foliage where the stronger spray material has been applied.

To be on the safe side I certainly believe all fields should be covered at all times and that means an application of spray every seven to ten days from now until harvest time. The past two years the greatest damage took place from September 1st to September 15th. With a decrease in acreage all through the state, with the general price increase and with the average yield in view, it would seem that all potato growers can afford to spray adequately. Sometimes saving ten dollars in spray materials will mean a loss of hundreds of dollars. Spray and sleep well.

Northwest D. H. I. A. Production Down

Milk and butterfat production was much lower in July than June according to John Evans, supervisor for the association. The average bow produced 22.2 pounds of butterfat for the month.

Grain feeding is needed at the present time to help the herds producing in a desirable basis. Most herds needed considerable readjustments in feeding schedules, this past month, according to Evans.

Only two cows were removed from the herds tested last month. Many dairymen are interested in more cows rather than fewer animals in milk. Only one cow produced fifty or more pounds of butterfat for the month. Many animals have freshened in poor condition. More of our cows should have an opportunity to produce at their best by being fed grain during the dry period.

"Blossoms In the Dust"

One of Hollywood's most sought after leading men, Walter Pidgeon follows his hit in "Flight Command" with the stellar role opposite Greer Garson in M-G-M's Technicolor production of "Blossoms in the Dust," which comes to the Palace on Sunday, August 24. As Sam Gladney, he joins the Irish star in one of the screen's most poignant romances.

"Barnacle Bill"

"Barnacle Bill," starring Wallace Beery in his first waterfront adventure since "Min and Bill," and plunging him into the most hilarious romance of his screen career, is the attraction opening Tuesday, August 26 at the Palace Theatre.

Beery plays a waterfront roustabout who suddenly finds himself in love with a domineering sweetheart who makes him go to work, and at the same time is faced with the care of a small daughter he hasn't seen since she was a baby.

Marjorie Main, who appeared with him in "Wyoming," plays the sweetheart in the story. She and Beery figure in many hilarious episodes.

Best Seller Filmed, Stars Fonda, Joan Bennett

The best selling novel of the two-vsted lumberjack and the dance hall queen, Stewart Edward White's "Wild Geese Calling," comes to the screen of the Palace Theatre on Thursday, August 28, with Henry Fonda and Joan Bennett in the starring roles.

This new 20th Century-Fox film of action, drama and romance in the great northwest has Warren William, Ona Munson and Barton MacLane in important parts.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Selective Service Problems

In July, 1918, General Pershing cabled France that mental disorders in troops recently arrived in France were so prevalent that attempts should be made to eliminate the mentally unfit from the draft. Now, 23 years later, we are in the midst of this same problem.

The aim of the selective service is to furnish the army with the best material available, and each registrant must be able to "take it" psychologically. His new life involves separation from his family, uncertainty about home affairs, close association with a large group of strangers, unfamiliar routine, strict discipline, automatic obedience, unaccustomed restriction, the anticipation of future danger and horrors, combat activity, together with private difficulties, undigested memories, inherited behavior and attitude problems. These factors make the psychiatric selection of an army often extremely difficult.

In this respect it should be emphasized that army morale and civilian morale are essentially the same, because they require energy, initiative, and capability to make a successful soldier as well as a successful salesman. In times of peace we think too little about the mental hygiene side of a community, but the national emergency brings out the terrible incapacity of so many young people to find an adaptation to life. Psychiatric treatment on a large scale is this justified. The British industrialists have found that even in industry it is necessary to take care of the minds of individuals to be sure that neither fatigue nor irritation enters too commonly into the picture. The man must always be fitted for the job especially when the question of continued production becomes paramount.

It may be said, however, that both in industry and in the army, the selectee or the trained industrial worker should not be treated as a cog in the machine, but as a human being, as an integral member of a social group, with his own special role to play. Both groups should have the opportunity to unburden their troubles to a sympathetic listener, just as a child does to his mother at home. A common interest and objective improve the national morale, both in the army and in the industrial population.

It may be said to the selectee that the army fully recognizes the importance of helping him to make a satisfactory adaptation to army life and discipline, to determine what job he is best fitted for in the armed forces, and to help him over the difficulties of the training period.

While physicians are making every effort to weed out the selectees who cannot be made into soldiers, we believe that many borderline cases will come out of the army better, more adaptable, more effective and efficient, and happier men than when they entered.

LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS

U. S. S. Lexington,
August 10, 1941.

Dear Mr. Usher:

I think it is about time I got down to my writing and scratch you a line or two to thank you for the paper.

I enjoy it as much as a letter from home. The folks can give some of the information, but not all.

Howard Kane is also aboard the Lexington. We were on her together for about two months before I finally ran into him. As you know, Bob Pearl is over here at Pearl Harbor, too. We have been together a few times and one day he took me out to Kamuki and I met Miss Allen, (Olive Allen's) brother. We had a swell time and I think they just filled up the day by taking us to some of the most scenic spots on the island. I thought before the 4th of July—the day I spent with Mr. and Mrs. Allen—that these islands were just a place to shove the navy to keep them away from the States, but found out that they are really beautiful.

It can't beat good old Charlevoix, though, and must say I haven't seen a place yet that will. I'm sure that when I come home I won't know the place with all of the building and changes around that are going on up there now.

I have signed into Asiatic duty for two years, so it will be at least that long before I can make it new. When I get over there I'll write and tell you all about how things look on another continent, I have no idea what my address will be until I get stationed out there, so I'll wait until then to send it to you. In the meantime I think it best if you discontinue the paper until you hear from me. Thanks again for sending the weekly copy.

Sincerely,
Ben Gill.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON
From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

Official Washington was not much shocked by the momentous news that Mr. Roosevelt and much of his staff had conferred with Winston Churchill and his staff on the high seas.

As usual, we had heard well authenticated statements from London that the conference was being held and as usual the truth of these statements was as consistently denied by White House spokesmen. How much longer will the American people be kept in the dark? Why are we not entitled to know the truth? When Mr. Roosevelt left Washington on August 3rd, by his personal order, American newspaper correspondents were forbidden to accompany him on the plea that he wanted to go to sea for 10 days absolute rest, and they were admonished not to make any effort to follow.

While we suspected that a momentous conference was about to be held, nevertheless, we were somewhat amazed to come to the realization late last week that British correspondents and press photographers had been permitted to accompany Mr. Churchill and to keep the English people informed as to his whereabouts and his actions. The rather dramatic photographs first published in the Washington papers last Friday morning were taken by English photographers and released from our White House.

The now famous eight-point statement signed by President Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill occasioned no surprise in Washington. Much of them were repetitions of Mr. Wilson's 14-points of twenty some years ago. Many of the idealistic "war aims" mentioned had been sought before on various occasions, and were not particularly news.

What official Washington and the American people, and the Canadian people, are concerned about is not so much what we are going to do after the war is over, as what we may be called upon to do to bring the war to an end. We are, therefore, much more concerned about what may have been decided upon in the military strategy conferences on board. We are wondering just what commitments may have been made for more participation by our Navy, or our Air Force or our Army. Will we be called upon for another American Expeditionary Force? The present and recent past commander of the British forces in the near East have warned frankly that American manpower will very definitely be needed to bring about "the final destruction of Nazi tyranny". In his speech of May 27th, the President intimated that we would have to become a party to a strategy which called for the complete encirclement of the Axis powers. We have already occupied Iceland. Did the conference of this week decide that an American Expeditionary Force would shortly occupy the Azores, the Cape Verde Islands, the Canary Islands and Freetown in dark Africa to prevent Nazi occupation of Dakar? Are more American Expeditionary Forces going to be required to occupy more Islands or even British bases in the Pacific in order to complete the encirclement of Japan?

Washington is wondering just what reaction the radio announcement of the vote on the Pratt Extension Bill may have had on the conferees. Surely, it could not be interpreted as a mandate from the elected Representatives of the American people that we are ready and willing to participate in another foreign war. Surely, it was a mandate from the American people that we are not yet ready to change our policy from one seeking the defense of America to a policy committed to an offensive in Europe in order to free the conquered peoples of Europe. We Americans seek to keep the war away from our shores, but not by sending another American Expeditionary Force to fight on foreign shores. And, incidentally, our Canadian neighbors to the north are wondering, inasmuch as they are a belligerent, daily making sacrifices and ready to make more for the defense of the British Empire, why their own Premier, Mr. MacKenzie King, was not invited to this momentous conference, especially since British press photographs indicate that two of President Roosevelt's sons — Captain Elliot Roosevelt and Ensign Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.—were both present in their official capacities and uniforms. All North America awaits with tragic interest to learn what military commitments our President may have made.

Congress is taking a recess until September 15th—unless the international situation makes it necessary for the Speaker to call us back to Washington at an earlier date. In these weekly columns, I have tried to give you my opinions, based on facts which I have learned I can get only through the sworn testimony of witnesses at Committee hearings or in House debates which sometimes are not recorded in full or in complete accuracy by the press or by radio commentators. Therefore, in view of the fact that committees will not be in session, and practically all of us are returning to our home districts, myself included, I shall suspend this column until the week of September 15th. My office in Washington, however, will remain open and any communications directed there will receive prompt attention.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

Ken Smith, Camp Scribo

By the time you folks read this, you will probably be packing up the bags and getting under way to come up here to the north country and get your sons. The final banquet will be held on Saturday evening at six o'clock sharp, and you may take your boys right after taps are sung. However, if you wish to leave them here until Sunday, that will be fine, as we do hate to see the boys pull away, even though all good things must come to an end.

This is Tuesday, and all the trips are back safe and sound; and we realize more and more that trips are mighty important to boys and counselors. Today the horse trip returned after traveling some 50 miles. The trip took them over to Walloon Lake and then all around Lake Charlevoix. Buster, our cowboy, was in charge of this lumbering ride, assisted by Joe Moran and Gerry Wilson. The boys were Burt and Ken Edelson, Bobby Jenkins, Serge Harvey, Tom Dancer, Dean Smith, Cary Buchman, Johnny Doelman, Jimmy Howlett, and Gene Gilmore. Though very tired and asking for more padding on the benches, the boys had a great time.

On Monday of last week, Augie Brown's cabin, assisted by Don Neisch, took a trip to Mackinac Island, where Chief had made arrangements for our boys to camp for several days. This group was there until Wednesday, when the Photography and the Junior Section arrived. The boys going on this trip with Brown were Peter Hanson, Jock Craig, Jimmy Abbott, Gene Chapman, and Bud Kampe. They had a most interesting time exploring around the forts and various other interesting places.

Tuesday found the sailors all set to leave on their lumbering Snipe trip. Bill Hart and Dean Hudnutt managed this trip, taking the following boys: Al Birdsall, Sandy and Johnny MacDonell, Dick Noel, Bill Ives, Bill Kerr, George Haberkorn, Jim Nicholson, and Hal Caldwell. Fine weather with lots of sunshine and a brisk wind made this a really fine trip.

Wednesday, the Photography group, Roger Korten, Johnny Mains, Ted Hecht, Jim Kendall, Arden Tiley, and Joe Manning, under the eagle eyes of Ed. Cancer and Len Wheaton, left along with the Junior Section for Mackinac Island. I understand that this camera group spent much time in taking pictures, and right at this minute the group is in the dark room discovering just how good or how poor they were. The staff of the Junior Section took their charges also up to Mackinac Island this same day. Joe Craig, Head Counselor, "Hitch" Hitchcock, Fritz Pinkham, Paul Piccard, and Paul Meech took care of these little fellows, who were: Henry and Geoffrey Gardner, Bill Lutz, Farnely Larson, Buck Dillon, Jimmy Allen, Mike Davis, Johnny Hunting, Bobby Bitker, Howard Kay, and Jimmy Fox. Both of these groups stayed until Friday noon, and from the reports given in the dining room, I guess they surely had one grand time.

Thursday the Snipe trip returned, tired but happy.

On Friday, about 35 of the boys and counselors went down to be the guests of Camp Chippewa Trail. Chief and Mrs. Reimann went along, too, and everyone has been talking about the royal way in which the girls entertained them. The Mackinac Island trips got back too late to go to the party. Tough luck, but better luck next year.

Saturday night found the Green and Grey banquet scheduled. At breakfast that morning it was found that the score was all tied up at 12-12, so a swimming meet and sailing race was arranged. The tie was finally broken, the Greys winning by one point, 16-15. It was all fine competition. The banquet was a whooping good time with Huntley Johnson, Phil Penberthy, and Bill Hart doing the decorating. Harold Steele was the general chairman, assisted by Joe Morna. The tables were arranged in a horse-shoe shape with the word GREY made out of birch logs lying in the middle. These white logs were surrounded by pine branches, making a very unique picture. Jim Kendall was the toastmaster, and a swell job he did. Immediately after the eats, we sung, and then the six captains, one for each side in each section, gave short talks. These six captains were: Johnny Huaring, Howard Kay, George Osborn, Bill Kerr, Sandy MacDonell, and Roger Korten. Dick Osmer gave the talk of the evening, speaking on "Value of Good Habits" bringing in the value of competition in building these good habits. Dick has the fine ability to speak to a group in a clear tone with fine ideas in back of his thinking. Both the talks he has given this summer have been "tops", and the boys as well as counselors admire Dick for his many contributions this summer. Roger Korten as Pioneer captain of the winning side unveiled the new inscription on the wall. Don Neisch did this, GREY '41. The last part of the program was given over to Joe Moran and "Hitch" Hitchcock, who put on a program of short skits. 'Nuff said.

Sunday morning at chapel, Tom Hart was the speaker. He took for his subject "Courtesy". It was very well presented. The choir sang, and a few of us remarked that it was too bad to leave our outdoor chapel, as it really is a restful place among the pines, and not until next season will we return to its sacred ground. Once more, I'd like to commend the assistant counselor group for the fine work they did in altering the seating arrangement. Nice work, boys, (and Hudnutt.) — "Thanks Smith"—Hud.

In the afternoon the Juniors and the Intermediates went up to Oden for a visit at the Fish Hatchery. The Pioneers remained in camp for a free afternoon, after supper going up to Bay View on our second visit to the Sunday Evening Concert. The one remark "I wish we could do this every Sunday night next year" shows the attitude of the entire group.

Plans for this week include many things. Tonight the Junior Section is to dedicate its new Council Ring, which includes a replica of Paul Bunyan. This is a huge affair, fully eight feet high, and will be an important part of the camp for years to come. Wednesday night Gerry Wilson plans a boxing show. Friday night will be our final Council Fire with Chief awarding the camp emblems. Saturday will be a hectic day with everyone packing up and trying to track lost articles down. Dick Osmer is chairman of the final banquet, and plans are set and the program made.

And thus will end another season at Charlevoix, a season in which many boys have been introduced to the fun of camping, a season in which we have all learned to live together congenially, a season in which I have seen the finest counselor spirit shown, and a season which marked "Chief's" twenty-fifth in camp directing.

Chief must feel the joy of having completed a job well-done this year, as he assembled a great staff, directed the campers in a fine program, and has seen more progress in activities than ever before. Thank you for letting us have your boy, and we all hope to meet next year, when we will sing:

"Once again we came together in this sacred place Place of pure and sweet communion, greetings face to face."

Borrow to Get Rid of Debt

Seems odd to get out of debt by borrowing — but it's done every day in the week.

The trick is to consolidate all your debts into one bank loan and pay it off.

Let's work out a plan together. Come in and tell us your problems.

40 hours a week, and their food is excellent as we can personally testify.

Is the timber being cut on a selective basis? The answer is: No. The Lindahls are not to blame, for such is the competitive condition in the North, plus the economic handicap of a longer growing season for timber in the South and lower labor costs there. We understood from good authority that the Ford Motor Company at L'Anse cuts in the same manner. Slash or waste timber is left in large amounts.

Scenic Resources

To utilize timber stands for commercial purposes is obviously a necessary and worth-while industry.

Furthermore, the federal and state governments have recognized the public value of preserving large tracts of timber. The map of Michigan is generously "green" in the North.

If the economic future of the Upper Peninsula lies in the development of its tourist resources, and you will find many persons today who preach this gospel, then it must be apparent also that scenic resources should be conserved if not restored for the future welfare of this region.

Let us cite an interesting example.

Automobile Tourist

With the Cheboygan editor as a guide, we explored by automobile through a forestland region of both cut-over and virgin timber, all lying just south of Lake Superior between Munising and the Soo.

The modern tourist travels by automobile, for the most part. If he goes by train, he usually supplements the trip with side trips by motor.

Consequently what he sees from his automobile—except for lakes and streams — constitutes 90 per cent of his outing enjoyment.

North of Newberry and south of Lake Superior lies a wild timber country. You go through miles of land where stumps of pine trees, three feet from the ground, stand like an army of cemetery tombstones. You traverse through blueberry plains which the Indians burned frequently to provide pruning of plants by fire.

You go through virgin timber, some of which is being logged right to the road's edge and which leaves a desolate wasteland, ugly to behold. Traveling is a slow job, and you are lucky to make 15 miles an hour. Incidentally, we passed automobiles from Detroit and North Dakota, loaded with tourists seeing the sights.

Strips of Timber

To safeguard against this despoiling of scenery along tourist-traveled highways, Iron county pioneered in Michigan by acquiring during the early twenties a 146-foot strip of timber along U. S. Route 2 between Crystal Falls and Iron River.

We'll let H. F. Larson, engineer-manager of the Iron county road commission, tell the story.

"During the early twenties, a party of us went on a short tour through a section of northern Wisconsin's famous lake region," he explained. "We found it difficult to locate a place to eat our lunch without someone kindly reminding us that we were on private ground and that we would have to move on. Unaccustomed to that sort of treatment, we hoped these conditions would never exist in Upper Michigan. The thought occurred that as soon as the Upper Peninsula was discovered by resorters, lake property would go up by leaps and bounds.

"Thus in the early twenties roadside parks and tables were erected along our highways so people who went motoring could take their lunch and enjoy it.

Virgin Pine Scarce

"This section was at one time covered with a beautiful stand of pine and hardwood. Within a space of 30 years the pine was wiped out and a beginning was made in the cutting of other kinds of timber.

"There are old lumbermen who came here among the early settlers. They saw the Menominee Range before the woodman's axe had sounded throughout the forest. It was their belief that the pine would last forever—that it would be impossible ever to cut it all, and that hardwood timber would never have much, if any, value.

"These men lived to see the virgin pine practically exterminated and the so-called hardwoods disappearing at an alarming rate.

"Hence the idea was conceived by Iron county officials acquiring strips of timber 166 feet in width along main highways and thus having a permanent snow fence in the winter and a pleasing scenic view in the summer. Iron county's example was adopted later on by the state highway department.

Historical Markers

"Where ancient Indian trails now exist as good highways, suitable markers have been erected. We have one in Peshtigo Park on Chemung Lake and at Hiawatha village, and cemetery which is one of our most popular places.

"A marker has been placed where iron ore was first discovered in 1851. (The first recorded discovery of iron ore in this district was made by Harvey Mellen, a U. S. surveyor, who reported August 8, 1851, 'an outcrop of iron ore five feet high on the west face of Stambaugh Hill.' The Caspian Mine in this vicinity has shipped more than 6,000,000 tons of ore since 1903.)

"A suitable monument is to be placed on the site of the first lumber camp near Stager opened up by the K. C. Lumber Company in 1877.

"Since 1918, when we made our first park purchase, we have acquired a total in parks and parkways of 2,500 acres. Probably no other factor all through the depression has contributed more enjoyment and pleasure in helping people keep troubles off their hands by the use of our county parks."

State Highway Policy

The practice of acquiring timber strips along tourist roads has been followed diligently by the state highway department. Furthermore, thousands of pine trees have been planted in some sections along state routes by the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Yet this policy has been only introduced in a small way for obvious reasons, chiefly the cost involved. County governments could follow suit.

It's something worth thinking about. If the public was awakened to its need and demanded positive action, such a dream could readily become a delightful reality.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Can my children buy Defense Savings Stamps?

A. Yes. Hundreds of thousands of American children are buying Stamps regularly as their share in the national savings program.

Q. Why should children be encouraged to buy Savings Stamps?

A. Because by buying Stamps they write their names on a Roll of Honor of Americans who are doing their part to show the dictators that united America will never flinch to preserve her sacred liberty.

Q. After my child has collected enough Stamps to exchange for a Bond, can the Bond be registered in the child's name?

A. Yes. A minor may own a Defense Savings Bond. Many parents are registering Bonds in their children's names to prepare for future educational needs.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C., for a mail-order form.

Armstrong Memorial Placque

Above is a reproduction of a newly installed placque, signifying dedication at Charlevoix Hospital of a modern X-ray machine to the memory of the late Dr. Robert Bruce Armstrong. The X-ray was purchased from the Armstrong Memorial Fund — contributions of Charlevoix local and summer residents. The placque is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Arnold, of Birmingham, Mich.

SHOT AT RANDOM

interested in the weiner than the bread that's wrapped around it. So he made his stand a popular place by reducing the size of the rolls. The weiners were no larger but they looked larger. They tasted good and were not too filling, so the customers usually re-ordered.

I've heard and told a lot of fish stories, but the one coming from Boyne City about the boy having his hand bitten by a large pike he tried to stroke affectionately while it floated leisurely on the surface of the lake has me stopped cold. That the boys then beat this 17-pound fish to death with sticks is adding insult to injury, too.

Charlevoix's beautiful land-locked harbor and its fine ducking facilities are attracting yachtsmen in increasing numbers. This summer's records will show a 38 per cent increase of visiting yachts over 1940, which in itself, was a record year.

First husband: "What did your wife say when you came home drunk last night?"

Second husband: "She never said a word, and I was going to have those two teeth taken out anyhow."

Fishing continues good for mackinaws off South Point. Saw Clarence Wood trailing what appeared to be about a 10-pounder behind his boat last Sunday, and two mackinaws, a 10-pounder from Lake Michigan and a 10¾-pounder from Lake Charlevoix were prizes of W. M. Brann, of Toledo, O., Belvedere summer resident. Dan Levi, probably our most persistent bass fisherman, says Lake Charlevoix this year has produced the best bass fishing in his memory and that covers quite a few years of angling.

The steam barge M. H. Stuart, a familiar sight entering and leaving Charlevoix harbor until this season, seems to have made its last lake trip. The 112-foot freighter has been condemned at Cheboygan by federal inspectors who asked for changes which would cost more than the boat is worth, it is understood.

MUMMERS EXTEND THEATER SEASON

"The Bishop Misbehaves" is the story of an elderly and quite saintly dignitary, who stops by accident with his equally mild old sister in an ugly "pub" taproom just after there has been a serious holdup and robbery. The Bishop has always had a secret love of the wickednesses on display in detective stories, and here is his holiday. He gobbles up clues like an old black rooster among beetles. More than that, he snatches the swag. He leaves the evil place with the stolen jewels in his own pocket. He knows the highwaymen will follow him to the Bishop's palace. He hides the swag in the nearest lumidor and awaits his fate. The fate consists of several ruffians, a masked hero and a suitably attractive heroine. Sometimes these enemies have the Bishop at bay, sometimes he has them. It is a game of turning the tables, turning out the lights, pistol-pointing, knife-brandishing, out-guessing and out-confessing, until the hero and heroine have won the Bishop's Amen and the rumpus is finally over. Not that you don't regret that it's over.

Supporting Mr. Goldsworthy as the Bishop, are Sherman Marks as Donald Meadows, Mary Ann Burgoon as Lady Emily, Marjorie Frost as Hester Grantham, Jon Sierra as Red, Donn Carr as Collins, Robert Moore and Mary Belle Peck as Mr. and Mrs. Waller.

The play, produced and directed by Sherman Marks, is being sponsored by the Charlevoix Kiwanis, for the benefit of underprivileged children.

MISS HAZEL PEDERSON AND JOHN TILLOTSON WERE WED THURSDAY

Miss Hazel Pederson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Pederson, became the bride of John Tillotson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mary Tillotson, of Ellsworth, at a ceremony performed at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, August 14, at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. G. Russell Parker, of Northport, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and close friends.

Miss Amy Pederson, sister of the bride, and Edward Tillotson of Ellsworth, brother of the groom, attended the couple.

The bride's street-length dress was of white sharkskin, trimmed in lace. Pastel pink gladioli and baby's breath fashioned her shoulder corsage. Her sister's dress was also white sharkskin, with a corsage matching that worn by the bride.

A reception for twenty-five guests followed the ceremony. Refreshments were served buffet style from a table decorated with bowls of gladioli. A beautiful three-tiered wedding cake graced the refreshment table.

Mr. and Mrs. Tillotson will make their home at Ellsworth, following a trip to the upper peninsula.

Out of town guests at the wedding were the groom's mother, Mrs. Mary Tillotson of Ellsworth, Mr. and Mrs. William Tillotson of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Roscoe Layman and daughter, Corinne, of St. Joseph, and Mrs. G. Russell Parker of Northport.

PARTRIDGE-TAPOVIC WEDDING SOLEMNIZED FRIDAY AT NORTHPORT

The wedding of Miss Rosann Partridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Partridge, and Peter Tapovic, of this city, son of Mrs. Lena Tapovic of Rogers City, was solemnized at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, August 15, by Rev. G. Russell Parker at the Congregational manse at Northport. Members of the immediate families were present for the ceremony.

Attendants to the bridal couple were Miss Dorothea Taylor and Harrison Bedford.

The bride wore a tailored dress of navy blue silk crepe, with pink trim, and navy and white accessories. Dainty pink roses fashioned her shoulder corsage. Miss Taylor wore a dress of soldier blue silk crepe, with accessories of harmonizing blue and white. Her corsage was madonna lilies.

After the ceremony the party returned to Charlevoix for a chicken dinner at the Argonne. Places were set for ten people at a table, upon which was a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake. Bowls of pastel gladioli decorated the table.

Following a cruise aboard the Partridge cruiser "Shirley-Ann", the couple will make their home in this city.

Mrs. Tapovic is a graduate of Charlevoix high school, class of 1940.

PROGRAM COUNTY PICNIC COMPLETE

ANNUAL LABOR DAY EVENT AT WHITING COUNTY PARK

Boxing Bouts, Baseball Games, Entertainment Features Listed as Attractions

(By B. C. Mollenenmp)

Everything is now in readiness for a big day at Whiting Park on Monday, September 1st, when the 19th annual Charlevoix county picnic will be staged. Weather permitting one of the biggest crowds in the history of the event is expected to be present.

The program will start promptly at 1:00 p. m. with running races for both old and young, as well as other novelty events. At 2:00 five boxing matches will be staged, all contestants being well-matched, local county Golden Gloves. These matches will consist of three rounds and the boys are so well matched you may expect to see red hot bouts.

For musical entertainment Gene Eddy and his Montana Buckaroos from Muskegon, have been engaged to give a half hour program. The members of the troupe are all experts and include a young lady for special numbers. This is the first time this group has appeared in northern Michigan and should prove to be one of the biggest features of the afternoon. They will entertain the audience at 1:30.

Now listen, to this, at 3:00 those old time baseball stars of county fame from 10 and 12 years ago are coming back for their last appearance. Captains, Ed. LaLonde of East Jordan and Harold Saffron of Boyne City have been successful in signing up these forty-year-old youngsters who you remember only too well. This will be a regulation nine inning game providing the players have been pronounced fit to carry on the battle.

As usual there will be the basket picnic dinner at noon with free coffee, sugar, and cream furnished. Concessions sponsored by the Junior Farm Bureau and the American Legion Post will be present to supply those who desire refreshments of various types and descriptions.

Plan to spend the entire afternoon at beautiful Whiting Park. There will be something of interest taking place throughout the afternoon. Join the crowd and renew your acquaintanceship with all the good folks from every section of the county. This year you will be interested in seeing the new road now well along to completion. Come early and stay late.

LOCAL YOUTH VICTIM AUTO MISHAP

HARRISON BEDFORD, 21, DIED FROM INJURIES

Ted Ager, Bernard McCafferty and Danford Gallagher Hurt in Crash Thursday Morning

Harrison Bedford, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bedford, was killed and three other local youths were injured in an automobile accident 6 miles south of this city on U.S.31 at around 1 o'clock Thursday morning.

Injured, but not seriously, were Ted Ager, Bernard McCafferty and Danford "Chick" Gallagher.

The mishap occurred when a light coupe owned by Ager and driven by Bedford, left the highway at high speed over half way down and from the left side of Pavalik hill, turned end for-end several times before landing upright at the bottom of the long curve. The party, members of a local softball team, were returning from participation in a regional tournament at Traverse City.

Bedford, brought to Charlevoix Hospital together with Gallagher and McCafferty, by Cash Witulski, of Petoskey, died enroute. His neck, shoulder and arm were fractured and he had received deep lacerations about the head and neck. Ager, brought to the hospital by another passing motorist, also Gallagher and McCafferty, returned to their homes Thursday.

director of the Mummers, and features John Goldsworthy, who won the plaudits of last week's audiences as the star of "The Bishop Misbehaves." Supporting Mr. Marks and Mr. Goldsworthy will be Marjorie Front and Dolores Gordon.

Due to the fine support given the Mummers in this their first summer in Charlevoix, Mr. Marks extended the season for two weeks in order to cooperate with the Kiwanis in their drive to raise funds for underprivileged children.

Plans for next year are already being formulated and now that the difficult task of establishing a theatre has been completed the Mummers look forward to an even more successful season in 1942.

THREE YOUTHS HURT WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

Accident Monday Morning Corner U.S.31 and Carpenter Ave.

Four youths residing in the rural district south of Charlevoix, miraculously escaped death in an automobile accident at the intersection of U.S.31 and Carpenter avenue at an early hour Monday morning.

Injured were the driver Lawrence Wynsma, 19, broken collar bone; Allen Webster, 18, injured knee; Jason VanZant, 20, fractured ribs. Carl McGinnis, 15, was not hurt. In addition to specific injuries mentioned, the others received cuts and bruises.

It is understood the accident occurred when Wynsma, attempting to pass a car driven by Ralph Sitzma, of Ellsworth, cut in too close, hooked the rear bumper and fender on Sitzma's car, causing his machine to overturn. Wynsma's car was almost a complete wreck after sliding on its top some distance and rolling over several times. Webster and VanZant, it was said, were thrown through the steel tugret top onto the pavement.

CHARLEVOIX DEFEATED AT SOFTBALL TOURNEY

Handicapped by Loss of Players, Dropped Semi-Finals Contest

Charlevoix's softball team, handicapped by loss of players resulting from the automobile accident fatal to Harrison Bedford last week, were defeated Friday night in the regional class B semi-finals at Traverse City.

After winning their initial regional contest by a 6 to 2 score from the Kuras Appliances, of Ludington, Charlevoix was defeated 8 to 5 by Traverse City C. & R.

Charlevoix borrowed three players to complete their line-up. Stevenson, Zieger Beverage harler, replaced "Chick" Gallagher on the mound. Charlevoix overcame a 3-run lead to even the count with one tally in the third and two in the fourth. They went ahead with a run in the fifth, but the C. & R. 3-run rally in the 6th frame tied up the game. Traverse scored two in the 7th inning to Charlevoix's one.

Officials of the Foster Boat Company have announced the purchase of a substantial interest in the company by Gar Wood Jr., of Algonac.

Mr. Wood is well known in the boat industry as the holder of numerous performance records and as an outstanding designer and research engineer.

The company is investigating contracts available under the national defense program. The plant was recently inspected by Commander Hoyt, of the U. S. Navy, who advised that it had the facilities required for the building of boats up to about 40 feet.

In addition to any defense work that may be obtained, the company plans continued production of its current line of boats.

STEPHEN A. SMITH PIONEER, IS DEAD

SUCCUMBED THURSDAY AT AGE OF 93 YEARS

Was Resident of Beaver Island During Mormon Reign; Eye-Witness to Battle of Pine River

Charlevoix and northern Michigan lost one of its first and most illustrious pioneers Thursday in the death of Stephen H. Smith, 93.

As a youth, Mr. King was a resident of Beaver Island during the reign of "King" James J. Strang and is believed to have been the last surviving eye-witness to the historic battle of Pine River between the Mormons and mainland fishermen.

Mr. Smith, born at Redford in 1849, was taken to Beaver Island at the age of 3 when his father, Thomas, was appointed lighthouse keeper there. The island then was occupied by the Mormon colony. Before Smith's family was driven off the island because of refusal to join the Mormons, "King" Strang was a frequent visitor at their home.

Mr. Smith witnessed the first Fourth of July celebration ever held in northern Michigan. The event at Cross Village in 1855 drew 200 persons. Purpose of the gathering was not so much to celebrate Independence day as to make plans to combat Mormon depredations.

History relates that such trouble came to a climax in June 1856, when the historic battle of Pine River was fought between Mormons and mainland fishermen at a point on Lake Michigan near the present coast guard station. Smith, then a boy, was an eye witness. The fishermen, seeing Mormon boats approaching, concealed themselves in the woods. The Mormons landed and went to a house where the fishermen's wives were holding a quilting bee. When they threatened to kill the fishermen, the concealed men opened fire, wounding several Mormons and driving them off. Smith, then 7, was sheltered behind Louis Gebeau when the shooting started. In the exchange of gunshots, a bullet wounded Gebeau on the knee of the leg Smith was clinging to.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

It may not be apple blossom time in northern Michigan, but the fact that apple blossoms sometimes make an unusual appearance at this season is proven by Robert Dougherty, of Charlevoix Rt. 1, who sent this writer a spray of bloom taken Monday from a sweet crab apple tree.

Under the caption, "Is This Going to Happen Again," the Traverse City Record-Eagle last week reproduced a photograph taken on Sunday, August 19, 1888, showing members of the Charlevoix Bicycle Club on a visit to Traverse City. The interesting photo revealed, with handle-bar mustaches and derby hats much in evidence, such well known present and former residents as Rome Emrey, Harrison Bedford, Horace Cornell, Forest Bartholomew, Andrew Ross, Benjamin Gray, Ralph Washburn, Edward Chaloupka, Eber Kanaga, Frank Hines and William E. Hampton.

Inasmuch as the average motorist will not drive slower merely to save his own life, perhaps the added expense of fast driving might appeal to his better sense. For instance, statistics reveal that the cost of operating an automobile on a 1000-mile trip jumps from 1.44c per mile at an average speed of 25 miles per hour to 3.86c per mile at a speed of 65 miles per hour. Another example reveals that when the speed of motoring is increased from 35 to 65 miles per hour, the cost per 1000 miles increases $20.75, you save 13.2 hours of driving time at a cost of $1.57 per hour. The average fellow cannot stand this added expense and anyway, he probably never knew it cost so much more to get places quicker. And then, as a final argument, it might be added that the above expense items do not include the cost of accidents, which rise in proportion to speed.

Bill Goss says he went to the upper peninsula last week on a vacation tour, but just between you and me, I think he went to tie up a buck for the November hunt-

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

If you haven't discovered it already, something has happened to Main Street in Michigan during the past few years.

Foremost is the fact that Main Street has been growing faster than Broadway, according to the 1940 census.

The 1930-1940 depression decade marked the first break in 140 years of constant trend toward urbanization of America. For the first time in a century and a half, more folks have been moving into rural and suburban areas than into the cities.

This trend towards small towns and rural areas has been noticeable, for the rate of rural growth has been almost three times as great in urban as in rural regions. More and more city dwellers have been going "to the country" for their homes. Many small towns at the fringe of large cities have boomed during the depression, largely because of this human quest for happiness in a more peaceful and less crowded environment.

Highways, Autos

Rural living has become more urban in character because of the automobile, radio, and motion pictures and the advent of good roads and electricity.

Main street has the same technicolor pictures in its movie houses as Broadway; the price is 25 cents instead of 50 or 75.

Small town girls wear latest Hollywood dresses; they read the same style news in Vogue as their city cousins. And while the small town stores do not carry such a complete line, the prices are "in line" with the customer's pocketbook, and if the merchant is not enterprising enough to tell the customer what he has, then there's always a nearby progressive city with merchants who do, and the V-8 doesn't take long to get you there.

The old livery stable has been replaced by an automobile garage, and if the Reader's Digest is right, small town garages give the customer the most for his money.

Charlevoix water has been pronounced pure, and safe for drinking, following correction of conditions at the city water works which five weeks ago caused the water to be declared impure by the state board of health.

Voters of Charlevoix are to vote at the September election on the proposition to borrow the necessary money to build an auxiliary steam plant for producing electric current. Under normal load, the water plant at Belaire produces enough current to supply our wants, but with increasing use of electric devices in the home, our municipal utilities must keep pace by building an auxiliary plant.

You can step on 'er now. The new state law, increasing the speed limit on country roads from 25 to 35 miles per hour became effective August 18.

LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS

Albrook Field, Canal Zone
August 15, 1941.

"Just a note to let you know I've received my copy of the Courier. It came as a surprise, to say the least, and I was more than happy to see a copy of the home town paper in the midst of this Panamanian jungle.

I wish I could do more to show my appreciation for your thoughtfulness, but for now I'll just say 'Thanks a million', pals.

Pvt. E. J. Vratanina.

Post Utilities Office,
Camp Forrest, Tenn.
August 17, 1941.

Dear Mr. Fisher:

My mother, Mrs. James Gallagher, of Beaver Island, has informed me that I am indebted to you for my receiving the Courier weekly. Needless to say, I am deeply appreciative of this. While it has been over six years since I've been around home much, it is still very nice to read about people I know and to know what is going on around Charlevoix and Beaver Island.

Concerning myself, briefly: I am a member of the 108th Engineers, a national guard unit. I came here to camp with them March 14. At the present time I am the only one of my company here, the rest having departed for maneuvers in Arkansas and Louisiana. For the last several months I have been drafting at the camp utilities office and was left behind to continue this work. At the present time about eighty new buildings are going up. These include an induction center, seven chapels, more barracks, mess halls, etc. The roads are all being paved and undoubtedly Camp Forrest will be a show place next year.

I do hope that business is fine with you and want to thank you again for sending the paper to me.

Earl Gallagher.

13,398 MILES ON 5-QUART FILL OF OIL
in the Certified DEATH VALLEY DESTRUCTION TEST

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.
H. M. Jacklin

Revolutionary New Oil tested against 5 other big brands. 6 new cars Destroyed to prove Economy and Protection.

Tho oil that reeled off an amazing 13,398 miles on one regular fill, in blazing Death Valley, was proved to be an oil of the N*th* degree—an oil of new high character... Hence its name:

CONOCO N*th* MOTOR OIL

This dramatic test, supervised impartially and Officially Certified, was simple, yet harsh. 6 identical new cars were taken to Death Valley—where the heat hits record highs. 5 of these cars were each assigned a different widely-known, highly advertised motor oil. The sixth car used new Conoco N*th* motor oil.

Each car was broken-in on a brand assigned by lot. Then, one 5-quart fill of this same oil went into the crankcase—kept under lock. The cars were driven 57 miles an hour until oil failure cracked up each engine—utterly wrecked it! All of this under impartial official scrutiny, as was every step in the test, right on through the dramatic finish.

Here is what happened

New Conoco N*th* oil went 13,398.8 miles. Not another oil came within 5,683 miles of this. One outstanding oil failed 8,268.6 miles sooner than new Conoco N*th* motor oil. So it outdistanced the five competing oils by 74% to 161%.

Why this Astounding result was possible

New Conoco N*th* motor oil contains a Conoco-originated synthetic (U. S. Patent 2,218,132) called Thialkene inhibitor. An inhibitor in motor oil acts pretty much as an inhibition acts on you. Inhibitions hold you back; police many actions. And so Conoco's Thialkene inhibitor polices Conoco N*th* oil . . . arrests pollution that otherwise comes from normal operation. And that's your aid against a dirty engine with inferior lubrication.

Are you an OIL-PLATING "fan"?

If you are, more power to you! Don't for a minute feel let down, for Conoco N*th* also contains the famous synthetic that OIL-PLATES engines. OIL-PLATING comes from the magnet-like attraction that keeps it bonded to inner engine parts, so that it can't all quickly drain down to the crankcase—not while you're using Conoco N*th* oil. This same famed OIL-PLATING is still yours to guard against wear.

Because of OIL-PLATING and Thialkene inhibitor, one 5-quart fill of new Conoco N*th* oil went an astounding 13,398.8 miles. Of course, you'll never Death-Test your Conoco N*th* oil in sinister Death Valley, nor repeat any other proving-ground tortures. You'll still drain and refill at the intervals recommended by qualified authorities. But how you'll expect to stretch the distance before you ever add a quart, judging by this big fact:

5 heavily advertised oils in the Certified Death Valley Test were outmileaged 74% to 161% by Conoco N*th* oil. Economy like that counts up into dollars! Change to N*th* oil today at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Co.—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

EXPECT TRAFFIC RUSH LABOR DAY WEEK END

Highway and Police Officials Urge Motorists Use Caution

State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy predicts that the state's Labor Day traffic would exceed the record set during the Fourth of July week end.

Kennedy urged that "every precaution possible" be taken to prevent a jump in traffic fatalities. He said that the decision by many school boards to delay the opening of schools for several days would aid in keeping the traffic toll down.

He added, however, that because of the severe hay fever season, traffic experts expected a heavy rush from the Upper Peninsula at the last minute by people who wanted to stay in the pollen-free country as long as possible.

"CHUCK" CAREY CALLED FOR FOOTBALL PRACTICE

Charles "Chuck" Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carey, is among the football candidates called to report September 9 at Michigan State College for practice by Coach Bachman. Carey plays fullback position and saw action in many games during the 1940 season.

KIWANIS BENEFIT A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Club Members Express Appreciation to Mummers and Donors

Underprivileged children of this community will be beneficiaries during the coming winter of funds realized last week by the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club through a benefit performance by the Mummers of Chicago at the Charlevoix Playhouse.

Robert Bridge, chairman of the Kiwanis committee in charge of the benefit, stated the organization would net a generous amount for its charity work. He asked that this means be taken to express appreciation to the Mummers for their splendid cooperation and to those who purchased tickets and made direct contributions.

Sherman Marks, director of the Mummers, stated last week's charity performance set a precedent which his players would gladly repeat next season under the sponsorship of other local service organizations and civic groups.

The Straits of Mackinac, the great gateway to Michigan's Upper Peninsula, uses five state-owned and one leased vessel to take care of the summer traffic across the neck of Lake Michigan.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB IS TO BE ORGANIZED

Meeting Called for Friday Evening at High School

An amateur Radio Club will be organized in Charlevoix on Friday night, August 29th at the high school at 8:00 o'clock.

Purposes of the club is to facilitate securing scientific data on radio development and to provide actual work experience in radio communication. All persons interested in the purposes of the club are eligible.

Capt. Oscar Smith has been secured to act as trustee and instructor for the club. Equipment consisting of a sixty watt transmitter, receiver, speaker and microphone has already been secured from the State NYA. This equipment will make up the broadcasting station to be set up in the high school and made available to members. Similar stations are being established in Cheboygan and other places, making it possible to communicate with other clubs.

In view of the fine equipment to be used and because of the good fortune of having Captain Smith as director of the club, which enables the station to obtain a license, Supt. North urges high school boys especially to attend the meeting Friday night.

CONSERVATION GAME MANAGERS CHANGED

Warren Shapton Among Those Given New Field of Work

Transfer of several district game managers and research men to new fields of work was announced today by officials of the conservation department's game division. Further changes are to be announced shortly.

Otto DeWaard, superintendent of Iosco game area, has been assigned to district headquarters at Escanaba, replacing Laurence Dayton who will be assigned to district headquarters at Roscommon September 1. DeWaard's post at Iosco has been taken by Ford Kellum, game biologist, who has been in charge of deer experiments at Cusino wildlife experiment station near Munising.

Warren Shapton, who has been employed at Rose Lake wildlife experiment station, replaced Kellum, while Oscar Warbach, Michigan State College graduate, will take up Shapton's work at Rose Lake.

Arnold Hangen, who has been in charge of work on Barry county game restoration project, has been named game biologist and assigned to the game division's Lansing office.

STRAITS CAUSEWAY TO BE STARTED SOON

Accept Bid of $616,160 for Construction; Build Piers Later

Construction of a 4,000-foot causeway from St. Ignace into the Straits of Mackinac to double the state's automobile ferry capacity and shorten the trip between Upper and Lower Michigan will get underway as soon as possible, State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy has announced.

A $616,160 bid to complete the project has been accepted and work was to begin as soon as contract formalities were completed. The contract was expected to call for completion of the project by the end of the 1941 tourist season.

A $700,000 pier will be built at the end of the causeway for use of the car ferries thereby reducing the trip across the straits from nine to three miles. Eventually the causeway will become part of the proposed Straits of Mackinac suspension bridge.

ANNOUNCE COLORS OF FALL HUNTING TAGS

Yellow for Small Game, Customary Red for Deer Hunters

By the color of their buck tags, you will know them, these hunters who in another month will become a familiar sight in woods and fields throughout Michigan.

Yellow tags will identify the resident small game hunters, for whom the conservation department has printed 700,000 license blanks. Light red tags will mark the resident deer hunters, for whom 240,000 licenses have been prepared. The boys wearing green tags will be resident archers; for them 1,500 licenses are ready. Rarest shade in the hunting tag color scheme is lilac, which the state's handful of non-resident bow-and-arrow deer hunters will wear.

Extinguish Fires Quickly

In the first 19 weeks of the current forest fire season, conservation department crews extinguished 1,350 fires before they had burned as much as seven acres, on the average, each.

The 1941 tuberculosis Christmas seal will show a lighthouse surrounded by snow. Its bright warning light is symbolical of the health education work of the tuberculosis associations which warns people against tuberculosis—and saves many from needless death.

MORE BUILDINGS FOR WHITING PARK VOTED

Park Committee Outlined Improvements at Annual Meeting

The Charlevoix County Park Board, consisting of W. K. Straw, chairman, S. E. Rogers, secretary, William F. Tindall, W. M. Sanderson, Wm. J. Pearson, J. M. Harris, members and S. A. Tokoly, highway superintendent and Wm. McGregor, caretaker, met at Whiting Park Saturday, August 16, in annual session.

The matter of a building was discussed and it was decided to erect one 20x40 ft. building with a concrete floor for patrons of the park in case of undesirable weather when picnics are being held. Additional buildings are being contemplated as funds become available. It was also decided to extend electric service to the camp grounds in the near future, although the highway approaching the park has been under construction all season, the site has enjoyed a large following.

Put Road in Condition

The Charlevoix county road commission announces that with work rushing along on the road between Boyne City-Whiting Park, it's their expectation that the stretch between Advance and the park will be in good passable condition by September 1, the time when the annual county picnic will be held.

The commission also announces that they are awaiting tar for the Boyne City-Advance road, which will be applied as soon as it arrives.—Boyne Citizen.

DR. MADDY SPEAKER AT LUNCHEON NYA SCHOOL

Presents Flag to Students at Luncheon Wednesday

Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, director of the National Music Camp at Interlochen, and Mrs. Maddy were honored guests at a flag dedicatory luncheon given Wednesday noon at the NYA residence on Park avenue.

Members of the advisory committee, E. J. Edwards, Robert Bridge, Mrs. Clinton Cooper, Miss Minnie E. Payton, and Mrs. Bridge, sponsored the luncheon, together with Mrs. Lela Hallett, Mrs. Laura Zipp and Mrs. Brown of the house staff.

Mrs. L. Pearl Meads, area NYA director, Mrs. Brown and Miss Brown, of Traverse City, were guests. Miss Hilda O'Brien, supervisor of girls' projects for district No. 1, acted as toastmistress.

Dr. Maddy presented an American flag to NYA students, which was accepted by Miss Wright in behalf of the students.

In his dedicatory speech, Dr. Maddy stated that today the American flag has special significance as the symbol of one of the surviving democracies. He pointed out danger of subversive propaganda in creating discontent among susceptible youth, and said that the opportunities this country offers refute any claim of totalitarian powers that they can create a better government.

FIRST TB CLINIC IS HELD ON BEAVER ISLE

Seventy-One Persons Examined by Dr. James Chapman

The first chest X-ray clinic ever to be held on Beaver Island revealed two suspect cases of tuberculosis and six arrested cases. Arrested case means that the person has at some time had the disease but has recovered.

Seventy-one persons had chest X-rays in this survey made by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in cooperation with Dr. James Chapman, director of Health Department No. 3. Because Indians seem to be very susceptible to tuberculosis, the clinic was considered particularly important for Beaver Island with its large Indian population. It is impractical to ask these persons to come to the mainland for X-rays because of travel expenses involved, so the X-ray truck was taken by boat to Beaver Island.

Ten cases of primary infection were also shown in this survey. "Primary infection" means that the tuberculosis germs have gotten into the body, often causing no apparent illness, and that complete healing has occurred. By observing general health rules of rest, nourishing food and fresh air, the body may be kept normal so that this "primary infection" will not develop into an active case of tuberculosis.

STEPHEN H. SMITH, PIONEER, IS DEAD

The Smith family came to Pine River, now Charlevoix, in 1854. They are believed to have been the first white colonists at this point on the mainland. In 1864, Mr. Smith cut the first trail from Lake Michigan into the wilderness to a location in Marion township where they homesteaded a farm.

Stephen Smith married Hattie Lincoln in November, 1877. They had four children, three of whom preceded him in death. Mrs. Smith died [illegible] years ago. Mr. Smith ... [illegible] grocery stores in Detroit ... [illegible] Mr. Smith's death. He had been a member of the Masons for 34 years.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Staley, at whose home he died; a sister, Mrs. Mary McFarlane, this city, and brother, Frank, of Traverse; also five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Masonic rites were observed at funeral services held Friday afternoon from the See Funeral Home, Mrs. C. V. Miles of First Church of Christ, Scientist, read the service. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

CHARLEVOIX DEFEATED CHEBOYGAN '9' SUNDAY

Won Sixth Successive Victory by 4 to 2 Score; Kegomic Next

Turning in their best performance of the season, Charlevoix won its sixth successive baseball game Sunday with a 4 to 2 victory over the strong Cheboygan Mucks at south side athletic field.

Taking the lead with two scores on three hits and a walk in the first inning, Charlevoix was never headed. Cheboygan scored one run in the third inning and tied the count at 2-all in the eighth, but Charlevoix counted twice in their half of that frame to win.

Henley, who had held Cheboygan to three hits until the eighth, was relieved by Amos John, who retired the visitors in order. Vincent and LaCross were the losing battery.

Charlevoix plays the Michigan Tanning & Extract team from Kegomic here next Sunday in their last regular game. The team is one of four to play at the county fair in East Jordan next week.

THEY CAN'T ALL TAKE IT!

Old Si Chestnut says: "Some men are so constructed that if you merely pat them on the back it starts to make their heads swell."

Well, the people in our Bank are not built that way. A pat on the back, a kind word of appreciation, a friendly lift, only inspires our officers to return the favor. There are no swelled heads here, just plain, friendly folks, anxious to accommodate you.

Champion Cow at State Fair

Detroit, Mich. In the largest showing of dairy cattle ever entered in a Michigan State Fair, Carnation Ormsby Fayne Madcap, from the well-known Carnation Milk Farm, Seattle, Wash., will be a prominent feature of this year's show at Detroit, August 27—Sept. 7. In a handsome throne stall of velvet and stainless steel in the main cattle pavilion, this dairy queen will be seen while undergoing her milk production test which closes Jan. 26, 1942. A half sister of Carnation Ormsby Butter King, holder of both the world's milk and butter records since 1936, she has already tested close to 30,000 pounds of milk and 1500 pounds of butter in a previous official 365-day test period. In addition to Carnation Ormsby Fayne Madcap, the Carnation Milk Farm is showing a herd of seven bulls and eighteen females of all ages.

AT THE MOVIES

Ronald Colman Picture Joyous Marital Comedy

Dealing with the only husband in the world who really understands his wife, and his adroit schemes to keep her from running away, "My Life With Caroline" starring Ronald Colman in one of the year's gayest comedy romances, comes to the Palace Theater next Sunday and Monday.

Colman plays the part of a millionaire publisher who is too busy. His wife being fond of attention and easily persuaded that her husband doesn't appreciate her, is constantly encountering rich playboys who want her to divorce him and marry them.

This is always the signal for hubby to drop everything else and dash to the rescue. And how his clever strategems succeed in changing his wife's mind for her and restoring domestic harmony, makes for the sparkling plot of this entertaining modern offering.

Anna Lee, top-ranking British favorite, has the feminine lead opposite Colman and Charles Winninger, Reginald Gardiner, Gilbert Roland, Katharine Leslie and Hugh O'Connell have the featured roles.

Robinson, Raft, Dietrich Torrid Trio of "Manpower"

Filmdom's most dynamic threesome are starred in Warner Bros.' exciting film, "Manpower", which makes its local bow Tuesday, September 3, at the Palace Theater. The unbeatable star combination which heads the cast is Edward G. Robinson, Marlene Dietrich and George Raft. You can imagine the action and excitement that sweeps through the film when those three get together!

Alan Hale and Frank McHugh supply plenty of laughs in "Manpower" as two practical jokers who don't lose their sense of humor in the face of danger. Other players in the supporting cast are Walter Catlett, Eve Arden and Barbara Pepper.

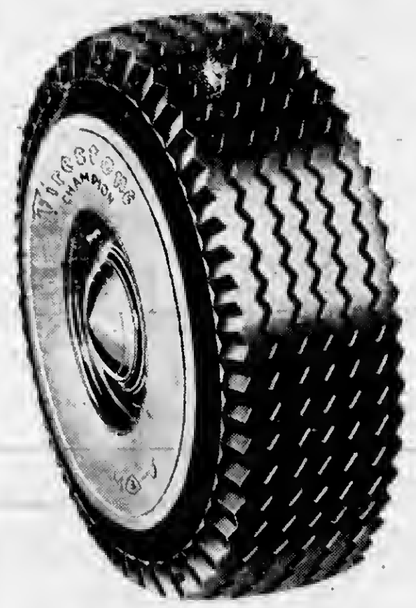
GROUND GRIP TIRES

Better Cleaning . . Greater Traction . . Longer Wear



You can save more money, fuel and valuable time with Firestone Ground Grip Tires because they out-perform any other tractor tires made. That's a powerful statement, but you don't have to take anybody's word for it. Here are the facts:

Most any kind of a tire will roll over hard, dusty ground, but what farmers want is traction and plenty of it when the going is tough. Firestone Ground Grip Tires have as much as 215 extra inches of traction bar length per tractor. Think what that means in extra traction!

And what's more, this extra traction in Firestone Ground Grip Tires provides up to one gallon of fuel free for every seven used. Think what that means in actual cash in the pocket!

There are no unjoined traction bars with open spaces which cause traction leaks—and a leak of any kind means waste. Every traction bar is Triple-braced, a patented Firestone feature that prevents bending, slipping and tearing off.

There are no open centers to clog with trash and prevent cleaning, which results in slippage and lost power. The big, open, unobstructed spaces between the traction bars automatically shed all mud, dirt and trash and make it the cleanest, most efficient tractor tread that science has ever developed.

POTATO CHAMPION HIDES NO SECRETS

His Methods Related for Benefit of Other Growers

When the man who grew 615 bushels of U.S. No. 1 potatoes to the acre in Michigan reveals some of his methods, other Michigan potato growers listen. J. D. Robinson, Pellston, made that record two years ago.

He's competing again this year in the Northern Michigan Potato and Apple Show at Thebaygan November 5, 6 and 7. Other shows scheduled in the state will include the Upper Michigan Potato Show at Marquette, October 21, 22 and 23; the Southwestern Michigan Potato Show at Edmore and the Southeastern Michigan Potato Show at Bay City, both on the dates of November 3, 4 and 5.

Robinson this year is growing 37 acres of potatoes including 15 acres of Russet Rurals, 8 of Irish Cobblers, 8 of Chippewas and 6 of Pontines. He recently completed his fifth application of rotary sprinkler watering of one and one-half inches of water. Ten sprinklers at a time each cover a circle 90 feet in diameter. Water is pumped through a four-inch boiler flue main into one-inch hose connections 50 feet to the sprinklers.

Seed is planted at the rate of 30 bushels to the acre—twice as much as many growers use, according to R. S. Lincoln, county agricultural agent at Petoskey. Fifteen hundred pounds of fertilizer an acre are applied, half at time of planting and the rest with an attachment on a cultivator.

An eight-row spray boom of his own design operates from the side of the truck on which is mounted a 300-gallon sprayer. The side spraying reduces by half the amount of vines run over by the truck wheels. Spray applications number 8 to 10 a season. For a rotation, Robinson uses barley (a cash crop), alfalfa two or three years and potatoes.

Show stock potatoes are picked up behind the digger whenever Robinson finds time. The seed plot stock, however, is dug by hand and this adds to the show stock supply.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY IS LISTED FOR FSA LOANS

Aid in Form of Real Estate Loans Available to Farmers

Charlevoix county has been designated as one of 17 counties in which the Farm Security Administration's special real estate program will operate this year, according to word received this week by Robert W. Ries, county supervisor, from Roswell G. Carr, state FSA director.

Special real estate loans are an adaptation of the FSA's "rehabilitation" or chattle goods loans and are designed especially to help farm families in the northern cut-over area of the state. The loans are made to refinance real estate indebtedness and remove liens from farms, including taxes, assessments and amounts due under purchase contracts. In some cases loans are made to finance the purchase of additional land needed to convert a presently owned tract into a family-size, self-supporting unit, and to clear what land is needed.

First consideration will be given to applicants, Mr. Ries said, who are in danger of losing their farms through foreclosure and especially in such cases where there is a possibility of debt adjustment. It has been learned from experience, he explained, that many applicants for these loans are in difficulty because of having contracted for land at a higher price than the production value of the farms would justify.

In approved cases, loans will be made to enable borrowers to refinance their indebtedness, finance the purchase of additional land needed, and in some cases to make minor building improvements and to finance land clearing.

SRE loans cannot be used to refinance indebtedness to other federal agencies. Loans under the plan bear interest at 3 per cent, will be secured by first mortgages on the land refinanced, and repayments may be extended over a period of forty years.

CHANGE SCHEDULE OF STATE TAX LAND SALE

Ellsworth Property to be Offered September 9 at Gaylord

Tax-reverted platted lots in the town of Ellsworth will be auctioned at Gaylord, September 9, rather than at Charlevoix, September 11, according to a revision of the schedule for the next big northern land sale announced today by the conservation department.

Although Ellsworth is less than a dozen miles from Charlevoix and more than 30 miles from Gaylord, the change is being made so all Antrim county lands may be offered at the same sale, and to lighten the calendar at Charlevoix, where the bidding is expected to continue for more than one day.

The sale, third in a series that has already returned about $110,000 to counties, townships and school districts, will dispose of tax-reverted acreage and lots in Alpena, Montmorency, Otsego, Antrim, Kalkaska, Missaukee and Charlevoix counties September 8, 9, 10 and 11.

How to become A SKILLED DRIVER

By RAY W. SHERMAN

Courtesy of the FORD GOOD DRIVERS LEAGUE

Driving at 30 miles an hour into another car coming from the opposite direction at the same speed is like driving a car off a three-story building.

KNOW THE LAWS OF PHYSICS

A thorough knowledge of the laws of physics comes ahead of actual skill in handling a car.

How many drivers realize as they turn a corner that two tons of weight want to keep on going in a straight line? Here are a few of the important things to remember about the laws of physics:

At 25 miles an hour a car has developed enough energy to roll over once. At 50 it has developed not twice but four times the energy—enough to roll over four times. At 75, it has developed not three times but nine times the energy—enough to roll over nine times.

At 25 miles an hour you can make a fairly sharp turn; at 50 only one-fourth as sharp; at 75 your turn can be only one-ninth as sharp as when you were going 25.

It requires 80 feet to brake a car going 20 miles an hour, and four times that, or 120 feet, to brake it at 40.

Maybe You'll Have to Walk

Considering the discomforting prospects of gasoline rationing that might make enforced pedestrians of motorists, an authoritative article by the noted podiatrist, Harold Kuhn, in The American Weekly Magazine with the August 31 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, is particularly timely. He gives valuable advice about conditioning our pampered feet for the emergency. Be sure to get The Detroit Sunday Times this week and every week.

The corner drugstore has neon lights in the window, and the juke box plays the latest tunes for a nickel. Life isn't so bad.

Empty Houses Scarce

As any Michigan country editor will tell you, empty houses are pretty scarce in small towns.

We'll let Don Cochrane, editor of the Hartford Day Spring in Van Buren county, tell his observations about a southeastern Michigan town of 1,631 population.

"This community has more than held its own in the 'battle of small towns.' Each census since 1900 (and before, for that matter) shows that Hartford recorded growth. During the last census period, 1930 to 1940, that growth was substantial, not only in population gain but in new building construction and new enterprises. Today there is scarcely an empty building, business or residential, in the town.

"True, Hartford at one time had two bakeries, both small compared to the one just closed. It also had a laundry, and if memory serves the writer aright, two laundries operated here for a time. But that was before Hartford had a garage or an oil station. It was before the days of the modern theatre, about the time that the first soda fountain came to town. It was 'way back when' one restaurant instead of four catered to the public's appetite.

"A majority of towns lost their bakeries, laundries and livery barns before Hartford did. But new enterprises, created by the changing times and affording employment to more people, have taken their places.

"The future of the smaller towns is by no means dark. Indeed, with the persistent trend away from the congested metropolitan areas, which is due in part to transportation facilities, the future of the less populous communities—where life is worth living—is brighter as compared to the cities than at any time in history."

The Hartford editor quotes William H. Berkey, editor at Cassopolis, as saying that the "business readjustment which followed in the wake of the automobile and good roads has robbed the small town of some of its enterprises," but Cochrane makes the point that "it has brought it other and newer enterprises and is continuing to bring it newer forms of activity, new residents, new assets. Life in the small town is less drab, less circumscribed than before that 'business readjustment'."

Decentralization

"Problems of Small Business", a monograph prepared for the Temporary National Economic Committee at Washington, hails the development of rural sections as an industrial boom.

American industry is becoming more diffused and diversified. Chicago, for example, has declined as a meat packing center from 35.6 per cent of the national total in 1899 to 18.8 per cent in 1940. Philadelphia's rug and carpet manufacture has slumped from 45.6 per cent to 27.8 per cent, although doubling the number of employees.

The advantages of such industrial diversification—branches being located in various sections of the country — are four-fold, according to the TNEC report: "Saving in freight hauling, less delay in shipping, less dependence of areas upon single types of manufacture, and less violent depressions and less excited prosperities."

Independent Grocers

A surprise in food statistics will be found in the fact that grocery chains reached a turning point in 1932-33 with 36.4 per cent of sales. Since that time the relative proportion has fallen to 33.1 per cent.

This saturation point prompted managements of food chains to turn toward larger stores, many of them in competition with giant food markets, popularly called "super stores" which have mammoth stocks of goods priced low and heavily advertised to effect quick turnovers.

Competition of the grocery chains has led to affiliation of many independent grocers with cooperative chains, sometimes sponsored by wholesalers and sometimes strictly a retailer's cooperative effort. Combination stores handle groceries, meats and vegetables—items which at one time were sold in separate stores.

The old general store type of merchandising, in contrast to specialty shops, is having a significant revival. Consumer cooperatives, by contrast, have not thrived.

Calculations

What the 1940 census means in long-range calculations was the subject of a recent Kiplinger service letter in Washington to its clients. Here are some forecasts:

The number of people between 20 and 65 years of age increased 13 per cent in the last ten years. Age limits for employees are likely to go up; "fired at forty" may become a forgotten expression.

The bigger the army grows, the more potential fathers will be taken out of circulation. Postponed marriages and smaller families, both due to the depression, are resulting in smaller classes today at public schools. Elementary school enrollments declined one million from 1930 to 1938; that means fewer teachers, as in the case of Cleveland where faculties have been reduced 600.

Figure that out in terms of demand for milk, perambulators, bicycles, toys and other items used by young people. And conversely remember that we will have more oldsters than ever before—more demand for hearing devices, optical lenses, golf clubs, hooks, and magazines. The undertaker can't lose!

National Defense

The experience of England in moving many defense plants into small communities in order to minimize bombing losses has prompted officials at Washington to advocate a "farming-out process" for our national defense orders.

One of the problems of the present defense situation, which calls for haste in manufacture of munitions, is the efficient utilization of industrial facilities in the small cities and towns of 10,000 population and under. Big business has been getting most of the defense orders. Thurman W. Arnold, assistant U. S. attorney-general, recently declared that the large concerns were not farming out orders to small business as they should because "letting the little fellow in means future competition and lower prices."

This charge has been repeated, in substance, by a number of Washington correspondents. The White House itself has come in for severe criticism. Big business has a ready answer: Small concerns lack equipment, experience and personnel to handle orders in any quantities. Take your choice.

Peace Economy

Stuart Chase, author of many books on economics, recently pointed out:

"The better the defense program succeeds in shifting arms production to the small town villages, the easier it will be to go back to a peace economy."

He believes that the bombing of London will probably result in larger open-air spaces and an actual reduction in the size of the metropolis.

"Plenty better, smaller cities, better houses, more efficient farms and stores, new machinery in the mills; all these are likely in the future."

Such is a happy prospect, if it can only be realized.

HOW THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT WORKS

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles explaining the programs for social security operated by the Federal and State governments.

The social security account card is the key to the old-age and survivors insurance system. This is the system which provides monthly insurance payments to workers past 65 who have stopped work. It also provides insurance payments to the widows and young children, and sometimes the parents, of workers who die.

To explain the social security account number card, let's take the case of a young man—we'll call him John Jones—who is about to get his first job. The man who offered him a job is in the trucking business.

John Jones must get a social security account number because the trucking business is "covered" by the old-age and survivors insurance part of the Social Security Act.

He would also need an account number if his first job had been in a factory, mine, mill, store, office, hotel, restaurant, bank, building-and-loan association, construction work, or in almost any other kind of business or industry.

Women also need account numbers if they work in any of these places, or in beauty parlors, tea rooms, laundries, telephone and telegraph offices, and other lines of business.

John Jones would not need an account number if he went to work on a farm or in domestic service, or if he got a job with a religious, charitable, educational or other non-profit organization, because these occupations are not "covered" under "old-age and survivors insurance."

John Jones went to the nearest field office of the Social Security Board, where he filled out an application for a social security number. He put on the application such information as his name, the date of his birth, and the names of his father and mother.

This information is needed to set up his social security account.

John Jones has no reason to fear that anyone else will get this information because the government keeps it absolutely confidential.

The field office then gave him an account card with a social security number on it. When he reported for work, his employer made a record of his name and number.

Out of every dollar of John's wages, his employer deducts a penny for social security taxes. That is why John Jones' pay check does not come out to the full amount of his salary. The employer matches this penny out of John's wages with one of his own.

Every 3 months, he sends these 2 pennies on each dollar of John's wages to the United States Treasury. His employer must give John a receipt for these taxes at least once a year or when he leaves this job.

In Baltimore, Maryland, where the Social Security Board keeps its records, an account has been set up for John Jones. Every cent he earns in jobs that come under the old-age and survivors insurance system is noted in his account.

There are many John Joneses throughout the country, but the number he got from the field office is different from all other social security account numbers.

His number is the key to his social security account. It makes sure that the right John Jones will get the right insurance checks when he gets old and that his family will receive the right checks if he dies.

But suppose John Jones gets more than one social security account number as some people have done, what then? Cases of this kind come up every once in a while in the Social Security offices throughout the country.

One office reported that a man applied for a number and showed by a comment he made that he had filled out an application before. It turned out that he had 5 numbers—one for each town in which he had worked.

This meant that in Baltimore, the Social Security Board had 5 different accounts for this man, each a record of only part of his wages.

If this had gone on for the rest of his working life, he would have had trouble getting all his insurance benefits when they were due, because there would not have been one complete record of all his wages.

Or, if he died and left a widow and children, they might not get all the money to which they were entitled.

This is why each worker should have only one social security account number as long as he lives, no matter how many different jobs he may have or in how many cities he may work.

Now suppose John Jones has been working for a year or so. He has kept a record of the amount of money he has earned, but he wants to make sure that the Social Security Board also has an accurate record.

If he asks the nearest field office of the Social Security Board, it will give him a card to send to the Baltimore office asking for a statement of the wages he has earned. If that statement shows that a mistake has been made somewhere along the line, the field office will help him straighten things out.

Three things must be done if John Jones' social security account is to be kept accurate.

1. He must have only one account number.

2. He must give each employer he works for, his name and account number, and he must see that the employers get them right.

3. His employer must see that John Jones' name, social security number, and his wages are correctly reported to the government.

A worker who is insured under the old-age and survivors insurance system is entitled by law to monthly benefits when he is 65 years or older, and stops work.

His wife, at 65, and any young children they may have are also entitled to monthly insurance payments. In case of the worker's death, his widow and young children (under 16 or under 18 if in school) will receive monthly insurance checks. In some cases, a worker's parents may be entitled to insurance payments.

If you want more information about old-age and survivors insurance, ask the nearest Social Security Board field office. You can find the address in the telephone book or you can ask at your post office.

Maybe you'll have to walk. Discomforting prospects of gasoline rationing that might make enforced pedestrians of motorists are discussed by a prominent podiatrist, who gives timely advice about conditioning our pampered feet for the emergency. Orchards in Michigan produce three pounds of apples annually for every man, woman and child in the nation, a large part of the crop being distributed through retail stores participating in the "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity" campaign.

Approximately $80,000,000 worth of mechanical refrigerators are manufactured in Michigan each year. Illustrating the rapid growth of this industry, 15 years ago only 20,000 such refrigerators were in use in American homes.

ing season. And speaking about bucks, one waded up the Jordan river so close Saturday evening that Nick could count the number of his eye lashes.

Always borrow money from a pessimist—he never expects to get it back.

Seasons run pretty much alike, I guess. Last year we shoveled coal into the furnace on August 23, 24 and 25. The only difference is that this year it was August 21 and 22.

Robert Davis, correspondent of a New York newspaper, sat for several days with seventeen men in the darkened steerage quarters of a vessel bound for Europe. For various reasons, his companions were returning to their homelands to resume civilian life, despite the war. Each had made a little money in America. The group had much time for talk.

One man expressed his view of America in these words:

"In America they want you to work quick and good, both together. It can't be done. When I first opened my garage in Butte, Montana, a fellow would leave his car for a week or two. He'd say, 'Overhaul her good; tighten her up, grind the valves, change the rings.' Today they don't say that. They say, 'Shake a foot, Fritz; just dope her so she won't knock. I'll get a drink and be back in twenty minutes. I'm going to turn her in next week'. I'm here because I've quit trying."

Another, a Serb, said bitterly: "Fur coats is what is wrong with America. Fur coats, for women. It's got so that even the wife of a mechanic must have one. Then she must have what goes with a fur coat, above and below. Once a woman's got a fur coat everything scratches her skin except silk. A fur coat makes her health poor. She can't make the fire in the morning. The old man has to pack his own lunch pail, and bring her coffee in bed before going to work. Seventy-five per cent of the family trouble in America comes from fur coats."

The only time the pedestrian can be positive he has the right of way is when he is riding on a fire truck or in an ambulance.

There never has been such a thing as freedom of the press, according to an old-time editor acquaintance of ours. He said that 30 years ago he wrote in his country paper that the river was so high you could hear the dam roar half a mile away and a nice old lady wrote in and stopped her subscription.—An exchange.

There is nothing you can say to some men that will please them so much as listening to them.

CANCER TAG DAY HERE SATURDAY, AUGUST 30

Local Committee of Three Women Have Charge of Solicitation

Next Saturday, August 30, has been designated Cancer Tag Day in Charlevoix.

Funds raised from sale of tags will be used by the Women's Field Army of the Society for the Control of Cancer, an organization under the direction of the American Medical Association. Having as its object control of this dread disease, the Women's Field Army is striving to impress upon the public through free lectures, moving pictures and traveling exhibits the early symptoms and diagnosis of cancer, one of the most curable of diseases if taken in its early stages.

The Women's Field Army is carrying on a campaign to acquaint the public with symptoms of cancer, its insidious approach, and stresses the absolute necessity of regular physical examinations as the first charge in the battle against it.

Each district is assigned a financial quota. All money raised over the designated quota may be kept in that district to aid in paying for examination and diagnosis for indigent patients. It is possible that within the next few months there will be a state fund, allocated by legislation, for traveling examining clinics such as are now in the field for poliomyelitis.

All aid for this vital work comes solely from enlistment fees in the Women's Field Army, and special gifts. Everyone is asked to contribute to the fullest extent possible to help carry on the program.

Committee in charge of Tag Day is composed of Mrs. Florence Novotny, Mrs. Sally Bergeon, and Mrs. Sally Blake.

Operated Dairy Farm Over Thirty Years; Funeral Saturday

Elmer H. Ingalls, 74, pioneer farmer of Charlevoix and Antrim counties, died Thursday morning at Charlevoix Hospital after a long period of ill health.

He was born December 3, 1866, in Genesee county. At that time his parents had a homestead in Banks towship, Antrim county, and in this community he made his home until about 1900, when he came to Marion township, Charlevoix county.

Mr. Ingalls operated a dairy farm in Marion township for more than thirty years. He served as supervisor in Banks and Marion townships, as a member of the school board in Bentley and Marion school districts. He was a member of the Glenners, Pomona Grange, and the Masonic order.

In 1897 Mr. Ingalls married Josie Peterson, who died in February, 1924. They had one daughter, Mrs. Nellie Burdine, and adopted another daughter, Mrs. Anna Rice. Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls also provided a home for six other children.

In 1930, he married Mrs. Colden, of East Jordan. She died in 1933. He was married in 1938 to Mrs. Elsie O'Dell, of Petoskey, who survives.

NEW BOAT PROVIDED COAST GUARDS HERE

38-Foot Picket-Type Craft of Newer, More Modern Design

Facilitating equipment of the local coast guard station, a new Picket-type boat, one of the most modern units in service on the Great Lakes, has been brought to the Charlevoix station.

The craft is 38 foot long, powered with a 300 h. p. Sterling Dolphin motor which provides a top speed estimated at 22 miles per hour and cruising speed of 18 miles. The boat has an enclosed pilot house forward, equipped with controls and two-way radio phone for ship-to-shore communication.

The engine room is amidship and a cabin ahead of the stern cockpit is equipped with galley and sleeping accommodations for two persons. The boat has heaters in pilot house and rear cabin, fuel tanks of 240-gal. capacity.

The boat, built last winter at St. Joseph, provides the best of accommodations and protection for the crew of any ever stationed here and is particularly suitable for the long trips the local unit is called upon to make.

The new boat replaces a crash-type boat which has been transferred to Muskegon.

IS VISITING IN THE CITY AUTHOR OF BIRD BOOKS

West Virginia Man is Author and Lecturer on Natural History

L. H. Johnston, of Charleston, W. Va., who is visiting his brother, Joel Johnston, is an ornithologist of some repute in his home state.

He is author of two bird books, "Birds of West Virginia"; and "Crooked-bill", both of which have been used as text books in West Virginia schools. "Crooked-bill", the true story of a quail which Mr. Johnston raised, is an authoritative study of this bird and includes also many descriptions of other birds, trees, shrubs and flowers.

Besides writing about birds, Mr. Johnston has taken numerous moving pictures of bird life and has lectured on the subject.

In the 1940 tuberculosis death rate Michigan ranks 13th lowest with 33.3 per 100,000.

FISH REARING PROGRAM COMPLETED

MILLION LAKE TROUT RELEASED FROM HATCHERY.

Fishermen, Fish and Wildlife Service and Conservation Dept. Cooperated in Successful Work

Patrol No. 1 of the Department of Conservation last week completed a program started in July of planting lake trout raised to advanced fingerling size at the Charlevoix hatchery.

The eggs, taken by fishermen during the 1940 spawning season, were hatched at the Oden hatchery and on March 3 were transferred to the Charlevoix hatchery in the advanced fry stage. Since the transfer a system of feeding was carried out until the fish reached a size of between 3½ and 5 inches. The program of feeding was accompanied by an exceptionally small loss—less than 2% for the 6 months. This year was probably the most successful since the program was inaugurated. Of the million fish transferred from Oden, an estimated 990,000 were planted as advanced fingerlings, a number exceeding last year's plant by a considerable amount. Aggregate weight of the fish was approximately 2½ tons.

Plantings at Gull Island, Whiskey and Big reefs, Beaver Island head, Fisherman's Island, North Point, Dahlia Shoals, Big Rock Point, Grand Traverse Bay, Manitou Island, Good Hart, Cathead Point and Four Mile Point, were as nearly as possible on the grounds where the spawn was originally taken. Other plantings of 50,000 each were made in Lake Charlevoix, Torch and Elk lakes.

The fish were without doubt the finest placed in these waters to date and their condition and size reflected the constant care and attention given them at the Charlevoix hatchery, in the process of feeding and raising to their advanced size. The raising of trout to the advanced stage is a real problem requiring perseverance and patience on the part of the culturist day and night while the fish are in the hatchery. Too much credit cannot be given to the men taking part in this work.

PHYSICAL EXAM FOR DRAFTEES IS CHANGED

After December They Will Be Sent to Traverse City Office

Michigan has been ordered to provide 1,862 white men and 98 negroes for the September draft call, according to selective service headquarters. October call is expected to be 6,066.

After September 25 in the upper peninsula and in December in the lower peninsula draftees called up will be sent to present induction centers and new ones to be added at Traverse City, Saginaw and Marquette for complete physical examinations by army doctors. Thereafter, if the draftee is accepted, he will be returned to his home for 15 to 45 days and then will report directly to the reception center, Fort Custer, for Michigan men.

The new system will eliminate physical examinations by the local draft board and the possibility that men will be rejected at the induction center after having passed a local board examination and arranged their private affairs to enter army.

COUNTY PICNIC A FINE AFFAIR

ATTENDANCE MONDAY WAS ESTIMATED AT 3,000

Outstanding Program of Entertainment Provided — Contest Winners Are Announced

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The 19th annual Charlevoix county picnic attracted a splendid crowd of at least 3,000 from all corners of the county. As a welcome relief from dark and rainy days the sun broke loose before noon with a bright and sunshiny afternoon.

Promptly at 1:15 the activities of the afternoon started with running races and contests, for both boys and girls. In the running races for boys in the three age divisions, first places were won by Joe Washburn, George Moore and Ted Jancha. In the running races for girls the top places were captured by Mildred Moore, Ruth Shepard, and again by Mildred Moore. The three legged races finished with B. Griffin and W. Phillips the winners. In the wheelbarrow race the combination of Goodman and Tooley stepped out in front. Without a doubt the pie eating contest gave the crowd the biggest kick when 11 pies of the huckleberry species were consumed. Try it yourself sometime and see how you like it.

The next event was a half hour musical program given by Gene Eddy and his Montana Buckaroos, a troupe of five cowboy singers and entertainers from Muskegon. Their numbers were most entertaining and delightfully rendered.

NOW IS TIME TO CHECK HOME HEATING PLANTS

Advent of Fall Weather Makes Precautions Necessary

Fire Chief Charles Marshall today warned local residents to have the heating systems of their homes inspected and repaired, if necessary, at once.

With the advent of cool weather many heating units have been used for the first time since last spring and need cleaning and repairing, the chief said. Furnaces, stoves and smoke pipes should be inspected, cleaned and repaired and rubbish which has accumulated during the summer months should be disposed of, Chief Marshall cautioned.

"By making a proper inspection of heating systems now and having necessary repairs made, home owners may avoid serious damage and possible heavy loss later on," Chief Marshall said.

Henley went the route for Charlevoix against Kegomic, allowing 5 hits and getting 9 strike-outs. Zimmerman, Kegomic hurler, allowed Charlevoix 6 hits, three of them by Buck, local catcher.

Charlevoix will compete in a championship series next week at the county fair. They play Central Lake, Antrim county champs, Wednesday. The winner plays Friday against winner of the Boyne City-East Jordan tilt scheduled Thursday.

NO ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END IN COUNTY

Straits Traffic Was 23% Higher Than Same Period Year Ago

Although highway traffic hit one of the highest marks of the year over the Labor Day weekend, Charlevoix county and this city were accident-free during the holiday period.

Sheriff Floyd W. Ikens and Police Chief Clarence Heise reported their departments had no accident calls, nor were there any other cases of violence. This record is in contrast to a national death toll of 516.

While the number of tourists is believed to have fell short of the record-breaking 4th of July weekend, local hotels, rooming places, tourist camps and lake trolling places did a heavy business despite unfavorable weather.

The state highway department reports that traffic at the Straits of Mackinac during the five-day holiday period was 23% over the 1940 total. Cars carried numbered 16,776, with the peak on Saturday when 5,046 cars were ferried.

CHANGES IN DUCK LAWS ARE LISTED

SIXTY DAY SEASON OPENS ON OCTOBER FIRST

Canvasback and Rudy Ducks Are Removed from Restricted List; Bag Limits Unchanged

Michigan duck hunters, readying their guns and decoys for the 60-day season opening October 1, can make up a different bag to take home this fall, when shooting is good.

Canvasbacks and ruddy ducks, previously limited to three a day, have been removed from the restricted list in the new federal waterfowl hunting regulations. Redheads and bufflehead, however, remain on the restricted list, and only three of either, or three of the two species combined may be taken in a day and included in the total daily bag limit of 10, of all species.

Restrictions against use of bait or live decoys are continued this year, and a clause has been added forbidding the taking of waterfowl by using cattle, horses or mules as blinds.

Daily limit on geese and brant, except Ross's geese which are protected, is six a day. Of these, not more than three may be other than blue geese. Twice the daily bag limit of ducks and geese may be had in possession.

Only other major change in federal regulations affecting Michigan hunters is the closing of the season on Wilson snipe, or jacksnipe.

Duck hunters need both a federal duck stamp and a Michigan small game hunting license in this state. Shotguns not larger than 10 gauge or bows and arrows may be used, and the three-shell limit on repeating shotguns is continued. Shooting hours, the same as last year for waterfowl and coots, are from sunrise to 4 p. m.

Federal waterfowl regulations are listed in the department of conservation's game law digest which 2,500 dealers will distribute with each license sold.

The annual Harvest Supper will be served at the Congregational church, Sept. 15th.—Adv. 36t1pd.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Student: "I'll flip a coin. Heads we go to the movies; tails we go see the girls; if it stands on edge we study."

Last Wednesday night's cold snap took a heavy toll of crops in the Boyne and Jordan river valleys. Practically all green crops including corn, beans, cucumbers, etc., were killed in the low country. Crops in the hilly sections appeared to be untouched. Low sections in the central part of the state experienced killing frost over two weeks ago.

Caller: "Good morning, Mrs. Jones. I'm from the gas company. I understand there's something in the house that won't work.

Mrs. Jones: "Yes, he's upstairs."

Failure of the legislature to adjourn is going to change the effective date of numerous new game laws passed at the last session. Hunters will not be able to take a doe for camp purposes; reduction of the non-resident archer fee from $25 to $5, retention by dealer of five cents for each hunting and trapping license sold, requirement that small game hunters get written permission to hunt on farms, reduction of the cottontail rabbit limit from five to three and extension of time limit for possession of game after season closes—all new laws—will not be effective in time for the 1941 seasons.

In case you didn't know, the apple blossom is the official flower of Michigan, and the robin is Michigan's state bird.

Well, the 1941 trout fishing season is a pleasant memory. Next thing on the sportsman's program will be the bird season (upper peninsula) and duck season opening October 1; lower peninsula small game season October 15; deer season November 15—72 days hence. And for your information, quite a flurry was caused Sunday when Lake Charlevoix produced about a dozen steelhead. They failed to bite Monday and Tuesday, though, so everyone's waiting patiently. And Tuesday was a banner day

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Michigan's revenue boom for state spending may soon come to an end.

While state officials are wary about prognostications in these days of over-night defense commands from Washington, the state financial picture is becoming clouded. Here are the reasons:

1. Curtailment of production of automobiles, projected to be 26.5 per cent for September, October and November and likely to be 50 per cent for the 1942 model year.

2. Curtailment of easy credit. It's 15 to 33 1/3 per cent down for many commodities, if you can get them at all.

3. Curtailment of gasoline consumption. Eastern states have been undergoing an emergency remedy for gasoline shortage (the latter being caused solely by lack of transportation) whereby gasoline stations are open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m. and a blanket 10 per cent reduction is made in wholesale bulk deliveries. Although the rumor could not be verified, Mid-West dealers including those in Michigan have been advising customers to expect similar restrictions here early in the Fall.

Priorities

4. Curtailment in production of non-defense goods in certain industries which are dependent on supplies essential for national defense.

If the shortage of supply becomes acute—and that stage is rapidly developing—then defense orders will get the right-of-way and non-defense goods must wait.

Such priorities are already causing production delays for many non-defense items—such as furniture, refrigerators, washing machines, stokers and so forth.

In a period of unusual prosperity, a seller's market in fact, it is a paradox that fattened pocketbooks cannot buy some commodities at any price.

Put them all together, as the old ballad goes, and it spells one thing: LESS TAX REVENUE in

"Letting out the seams" for a growing Detroit

WITH defense plants springing up, more people at work and business booming, Detroit rapidly is outgrowing its telephone facilities in certain central offices.

The number of telephones served by five central offices in north Detroit, for example, is increasing three times as fast as the average of recent years.

To relieve that pressure, Michigan Bell is rushing completion of a new central office building—Twinbrook—and installation of equipment at a cost of more than $1,450,000.

Western Electric's huge manufacturing and installation facilities make possible the swift expansion of telephone service in Michigan, and help us speed the $11,000,000 program required to meet telephone demands of camps and defense projects alone. To meet all the increased telephone needs throughout the state, we are spending more than $26,000,000 this year!

HOW THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT WORKS

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles explaining the programs for social security operated by the Federal and State governments.

Here are two real-life cases which show what the penny tax taken out of each dollar of a worker's wages actually buys in the way of old-age and survivors insurance.

There was James Smith, a man in the prime of his life when he died in an automobile accident. For 5 years he had been working steadily in a garage, building up his social security account. Old age was far off in the future and death certainly did not enter his mind.

When he was killed, it looked as if he had left absolutely nothing for his wife and 2 children. But for 5 years, ever since the law went into effect, Mr. Smith had been paying social security taxes.

A penny had been taken out of every dollar of his wages, and this tax—together with his employer's contribution—meant that his family is entitled to a monthly Government insurance check.

Mrs. Smith went to the local office of the Social Security Board, where she got help and information on filing her claim for the insurance.

Mr. Smith's average wage had been $100 a month, which meant that his widow was entitled to a monthly check of $19.69. His 2 children together were entitled to $26.26 which means that the little family gets $45.95 each month, until the children reach the age of 16, or 18 if they stay in school.

William Simpson, who is now 66 years old, had also worked steadily as superintendent of an apartment house, a job covered by old-age and survivors insurance.

He kept on working as long as he could and then when he had just passed his 65th birthday, he lost his job. It was pretty hard for a man of his age to find a new job.

Fortunately, Mr. Simpson had worked long enough in his "covered" job so that he is entitled to a monthly check for the rest of his life. His wife, who is also over 65 is entitled to half the amount of his insurance payment.

Mr. Simpson also went to the local field office of the Social Security Board and the office helped him file his claim for "old-age and survivors insurance."

Because Mr. Simpson's average wage was $50, during the years since 1937, when this insurance system went into effect, he now gets a monthly check of $21.

His wife, according to law, is entitled to half that amount which means that between them they will have a steady monthly income of $31.50.

If Mr. Simpson's average wages had been higher, his monthly insurance check would be more.

It would be possible to tell about many other cases which would show how the old-age and survivors insurance program protects the worker and his family, and how the local field office helps people file their claims.

Cases could have been chosen to show how women wage earners, too, get insurance benefits. The death of James Smith and the retirement of William Simpson are but two cases chosen at random.

If you want more information about this part of the social security program, ask the local field office nearest your home. You can get the address from the telephone book or by asking at your post office.

The social security field office can tell you all about account cards, social security taxes, who are qualified for benefits, and how they are calculated. You can also get free pamphlets which explain the "old-age and survivors insurance" program.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

The Child's Need for Dental Supervision

As the young child approaches school age it is necessary that a visit be made to the family dentist at least every six months for an examination of the teeth. During the pre-school age, this should be even oftener, if possible, advises Dr. James Chapman, director of the District Health Department. There are many reasons for this. The jaws are growing rapidly, the permanent teeth are erupting, and the temporary or milk teeth are being lost. One of the primary reasons for frequent examination at this time is the necessity of detecting beginning decay of the teeth. Teeth may decay rapidly during this period of childhood and an apparently small cavity today may soon become so deep as to involve the pulp of the tooth and cause a dental abscess, is a warning given by Dr. Chapman. Dental disease during childhood or at any time in life if discovered in its early stages can be quite easily treated or remedied. Ignoring small cavities or dental disturbances at this time lends more to serious trouble, and sometimes the premature loss of a tooth. During this period when the permanent teeth are erupting, the child should be observed carefully to discover and prevent any irregularities of these teeth. Quite frequently there is not sufficient space for one or more permanent teeth to erupt, and it is necessary to expand the dental arch or place proper braces to make sufficient room for these teeth.

The first permanent or so-called six-year molars are erupting at this time. They take their place in the jaw behind the temporary or milk teeth, and are frequently called the key stone teeth of the permanent arch. Their proper alignment and position are important, for on them depends much of the beauty of the permanent teeth.

If the child can be taught the proper method of brushing the teeth, many of the future dental troubles can be avoided. The child who is taken to the dentist for dental treatment before the teeth begin to ache and pain is always a better patient than one who has suffered a night of pain with a sore tooth, so the need of frequent supervision of the developing dental arch and teeth during childhood is very important.

"Sun Valley Serenade" Due!

"Sun Valley Serenade," 20th Century-Fox's new entertainment inspiration starring Sonja Henie and John Payne and featuring the irresistible rhythms of Glenn Miller and his Orchestra is the new attraction due Sunday and Monday, September 7-8, at the Palace Theatre.

With most of the scenes set on the sunny, snowy slopes of the nation's glorious vacationland, "Sun Valley Serenade" is a gay, romantic musical with new skate and ski surprises.

Sonja is featured in two new skating ballets and several skiing routines. She is again given the opportunity to show the mastery on ice which won her renown as the World and Olympic Figure Skating Champion.

The happy comedy starts when John Payne, piano player for Glenn Miller's band, finds that the "little" refugee he has offered to care for is really Sonja. He tries to duck out of the agreement, but Sonja keeps after him to his discomfort and to the annoyance of his fiancee, Lynn Bari.

This gay romance is helped to its unusual climax by the popular rhythms of America's number one band, Glenn Miller and his Orchestra.

WHAT'S ALL THIS ABOUT MOTOR OIL WEARING thicker?

6 cars driven to Death in torrid Death Valley—to settle today's bad puzzlers for you. Know the answers—and Save.

Not long back you'd never heard of muddy sludge, sticky varnish and other troubloua "goo" coming from motor oils. But today you're even told of oils thickening up like a mess of paint in an open can, when your worst worry used to be oils wearing too thin!

You're puzzled if you're not a technical man, and can only judge by how long your oil and engine last. Therefore you can appreciate first of all having the Certified Mileage Record from the

Daring Death Valley Destruction Test of CONOCO N*th* MOTOR OIL

This oil went "up against the blaze" in Death Valley—where heat hits record highs (official). Here Conoco N*th* faced 5 other representative big-name oils, in a Certified Test to the death.

6 identical new stock cars were first turned inside out to check uniformity. Then each got one strict 5-quart fill of some one oil . . . locked in by the Referee. And each held the same 57-mile pace, over the same desert, without one added drop, till its oil hit bottom and the engine "went out like a light!"—

Conoco N*th* motor oil lasted 13,398 miles on one 5-quart fill, outlasting one "rival" by 8,268 miles. And even the runner-up in the test was outlasted 5,683 miles by Conoco N*th*. This is all Officially Certified, yet anything so remarkable demands explanation.

New oil Economy aid . . . Man-made

Man-made or synthetic betterment of motor oils has long been the keystone of Conoco success. For example, the celebrated Germ Processed oil patent on the use of a synthetic with magnet-like action has made it possible to give engines OIL-PLATING. This lasting form of lubricant can't all quickly drain down—but must stay plated up throughout the engine . . . on guard against wear in advance, while you use Conoco N*th* oil. Now in addition to OIL-PLATING, assured by Conoco N*th* oil, it brings the newest synthetic life-giver, called "Thialkene inhibitor." This inhibits or checks the rapid breakdown of the extremely refined oil demanded for present day motoring. That's why Conoco N*th* oil didn't quickly churn up deadly "goo" in Death Valley, but outlasted 5 high-rated brands—by 74% up to 161%. And even though you cannot think of exceeding the oil-change periods specified for your car and driving conditions, it's great to think of skipping many a stop for a quart. Read about that right on your own engine gauge-stick. You'll see . . . just change today to Conoco N*th* at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. It's popular-priced. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

TO EXTEND ATHLETIC BENEFITS THIS YEAR

Physical Education Classes, Intramural Sports Covered

Charles E. Forsythe, state director of athletics, has revealed that the athletic accident benefit plan would be extended this year to cover high school students participating in physical education classes and intramural competition.

Forsythe said the plan, which was inaugurated last year, had been "highly successful and that the balance of funds on hand permitted extension of the benefits beyond the original competition in inter-scholastic events and travel in and from away-from-home contests.

An audit of the benefit funds showed a balance of $3,491 at the end of the fiscal year. Disbursements totaling $10,520 were made, including $7,985 for injuries incurred in football, $1,381 for basketball injuries and $790 for baseball accidents.

There was a total of 649 claims allowed for football injuries, Forsythe said, but those actually found to require medical attention totaled 5.8 per cent of all high school football players.

RED CROSS TRAINS CONSERVATION OFFICERS

All Will Have Completed First Aid Training by Hunting Season

By the time the busy days of hunting season arrive, all 200 conservation officers and conservation department field administration officials will have completed an intensive Red Cross first aid training course.

Conservation officers teaching the classes that are averaging 30 hours in each district were themselves trained in a special school conducted by Red Cross representatives earlier in the season at Roscommon. On passing the written examinations, the officers get certificates from the national Red Cross attesting their skill. For most of them, first aid cases are infrequent but not unusual.

KALAMAZOO CHURCH IS SCENE OF BEAUTIFUL WEDDING LAST SUNDAY

In a ceremony performed at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, August 31, at the North Rose street Church of God in Kalamazoo, Miss Thelma Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer of Kalamazoo, became the bride of Richard Strathers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Struthers of this city.

The church was decorated with palms and baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Rev. John Helbling, of Cassopolis, read the ceremony in the presence of two hundred guests.

Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Devon Helbling, of Cassopolis, who accompanied several vocal selections. Mrs. John Helding sang "Because"; the Misses Eileen and Dolores Helding sang "I Love You Truly." "Oh Promise Me" was sung by Thomas Hall, of Grand Rapids.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of white lace over satin, with fingertip-length veil held in place by a pearl tiara. She carried a shower bouquet of white roseburds and swansonia.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Miss Marjorie Palmer, wearing peach taffeta, and Miss Nina Palmer, in blue taffeta. Their bouquets were pastel gladioli, snapdragons and asters.

Charles Struthers, of Charlevoix, was best man, with Arthur Bebee of Anderson, Ind., as his attendant. Ushers were Marvin Hartman and Robert Martin, of Kalamazoo, and Doyle Helding of Cassopolis.

A reception for sixty guests was held following the ceremony, at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Struthers will make their home in Anderson, Ind., where both will attend Anderson College and Theological Seminary. The bride is a graduate of Comstock Agricultural high school, while the groom graduated from Charlevoix high school in the class of 1937.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Struthers, daughter, Leona, and son, Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Struthers, of Charlevoix, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Strathers, of Tigard, Ore.

ADAMS GUN COLLECTION IN NEW QUARTERS

Is Famed As One of Most Complete Outside of Museums

Moved to the Argo Milling Co., the famed gun collection of the late Ira A. Adams, publisher many years of the Charlevoix Sentinel, is being stored until disposal is made.

The Sentinel building is one of a group to be removed to make room for right-of-way for approaches to the new highway bridge over the channel on U.S.31. The gun collection, asserted to be one of the most complete and finest of its kind outside of a museum, had been stored in the building since its owner's death.

Charlevoix high school's opening game is scheduled for Saturday, September 27th.

Then at 2:15 the long awaited boxing bouts were put on, announced and handled by Boyd Heaten of local county fame. The first bout brought on Clare Martin of Charlevoix and Jake Hadix of Boyne City. After three hotly contested rounds the referee gave the boys a draw. The next bout between Sonny Hausler of East Jordan and Ted Juncha of Charlevoix resulted in the only knockout of the program, with Sonny Hausler the winner. The next bout gave the crowd a big thrill with Jackie and Billie Price of Boyne City going to it with great enthusiasm. These young boys threw a lot of gloves and ended up in a draw. The last bout was between two Golden Glove champions, Oliver Duplessis, Charlevoix and Don Dexter, Boyne City. At the end of three hotly contested rounds Referee Heaten called the bout a draw. These two boys know their way around in the boxing profession and gave splendid account of themselves.

The baseball game (or was it?) resulted in the Boyne City Oldtimers taming East Jordan by a score of 7 to 1. Harold Saffron was on the mound for the winners with Leo Somerville for the losers. Believe it or not these oldtimers still know the game and get just as much kick out of playing as the crowd does of watching their efforts. While the day's activities ended with this ball game for the spectators, it will be another week or more before the oldtimers get their joints loosened up and the aches and pains eliminated. All in all a fine day was greatly enjoyed by the large number of folks who always look forward to Labor Day with great anticipation.

CHANGES IN GAME LAWS ARE DELAYED

RECESS OF LEGISLATURE HOLDS UP EFFECTIVE DATE

Sportsmen Advised to Watch Closely for Announcements on Game and Fish Rulings

Though it now appears that last year's rules will generally prevail, the sportsman who is not a lawyer may well keep an eye on newspapers this fall and winter to learn what legal changes are going to affect his hunting and fishing, conservation department officials said today.

An attorney general's opinion that inclusion of the effective date of January 1, 1942 in Public Act 356 will not make this act law on that date unless the legislature adjourns 90 days beforehand adds another to the more than a score of new conservation laws whose effective date is still in doubt.

The act affected by the opinion contains amendments to 16 sections of the inland fishing law, and among the changes is the stoppage of winter bluegill fishing, a controversial provision included in the closing hours of the legislative session.

The prohibition of winter bluegill fishing lacked approval of the conservation department, whose scientific investigators in the institute for fisheries research have found that generally more rather than less fishing would improve bluegill fishing in certain lakes.

Unless the legislature should reconvene and adjourn within the next few weeks, which appears unlikely, the 1941 hunting season will be subject to essentially the same regulations as were in effect last year. Unaffected by the legislative delay is the extension of gray squirrel hunting to all counties of the lower peninsula except Emmet and Cheboygan, where last year gray squirrels were hunted only in part or all of 12 counties in the northwestern quarter of the lower peninsula.

Because of the legislative recess, deer hunters will be unable to take a doe for camp use, as the act now delayed provides. Other changes which are likely to become effective too late to influence the coming hunting season are: reduction of non-resident archer fee from $25 to $5; retention by dealer of five cents for each hunting or trapping license sold; the requirement that small game hunters get written permission to hunt on farms; reduction of daily cottontail rabbit limit from five to three; and extension of time limit for possession of game to take advantage of freezer lockers.

Care for Parasites

A drug called phenothiazine will aid the farmer in ridding horses, cattle, swine and other domestic animals of internal parasites, according to Carrol E. Howell, manager of the University of California's W. K. Kellogg institute of animal husbandry.

It was found that the treatment completely eliminated stomach worms in 37 of the animals and was from 78 to 95 per cent effective in the other eight.

Flax is splendid as a nurse crop for red clover, alfalfa, lespedeza and grass. Sweet clover grows too well in it and will give trouble at combining time.

FARM TOPICS

SOW TESTING IMPROVES HERD

Permits Systematic Culling Of Low Producers.

By H. G. ZAVORAL
(Extension Animal Husbandman, University Farm, St. Paul)

Swine raisers are realizing that the perfect individual animal is only one of the foundation stones of a good hog business. Getting more pigs per sow and getting quick, cheap gains from these pigs is equally important. That is why sow testing is becoming as much a part of the successful swine business as butterfat testing has been in dairying.

Sow testing is not difficult. It can be carried out by the hog raiser himself if he will take the trouble. The procedure is this:

1. Mark all the sows before farrowing so that they can be identified in records.

2. Within a week after farrowing, mark the pigs with ear notches, so that each litter can be distinguished. At the same time a record should be set up for each litter, giving sire, dam, and number of pigs of each sex.

3. Each litter of pigs should be weighed separately at weaning time (56 days is the customary age for making this comparison). The weight of litters at 56 days is in itself a very accurate basis for judging the production of sows, although the hog man can carry his records further by getting separate weights on litters at market time.

Having compiled production records on all his sows for the season, the hog raiser is then in a position (1) to cull out the old sows that did not produce well, and (2) to select gilts from the best litters to keep over.

For the breeder of purebred stock, the records assume extra importance in determining the value of boars. Already in many communities, boars from tested herds are commanding premium prices.

Carefully Prepared Wool Receives Better Prices

Care in the preparation of wool for market is one of the best ways American sheepmen can increase their profits whether they run range bands or raise farm flocks in the opinion of C. R. Townsend of the University of Nevada agricultural extension service.

"Since wool is bought and sold on a clean basis, the shrink and manner in which the fleeces are sheared and packed remains an important factor in determining the value per grease pound the producer will receive," Townsend states.

Sheep, of course, should be shorn only when fleeces are dry he says, and should be protected from moisture at all times while awaiting shipment.

"A board floor, kept clean, is the best surface upon which to shear," Townsend added. "A dirty floor or littered ground will result in the wool's picking up foreign substances, thus decreasing its value. Straw, hay, and chaff are particularly objectionable.

"Wool should be cut close, and the fleece removed unbroken.

"Sheep should be tagged before the shearing operation, and tags should be sacked separately.

"Tie each individual fleece with good paper twine, rolled with flesh side out; this will result in a much better and more attractive appearance of the fleece.

"All burry, seedy, black, gray, dead, and cotted wool should be sacked separately from clean white wool. Yearling or lamb wool should also be sacked separately, since it is much lighter shrinkage than that of the main band, is generally sold separately as original bag wools, and commands higher prices."

STATE PAID OVER THOUSAND IN BOUNTIES IN JULY

For 62 coyotes, four wolves and 11 bobcats turned in for bounty in July, the conservation department paid $1,205. Of this cost, $1,010 was paid for animals taken in the upper peninsula. Luce yielded 11 predators, the most from any one county.

Census reports show that 181 Hindus are residents of the state of Michigan.

An article . . . in The American Weekly with the September 7 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times . . . discloses that the Navy and Weather Bureau need blondes, too, but only when 46,700 feet in the air and, at that, only six strands of their hair are used to talk back from the weather forecasting instruments. Ogemaw Deer Are Tourists' Pets

Feeding the deer at Ogemaw state game area headquarters near West Branch is a wildlife display always on schedule, as the whitetails come out of the woods as early as 5:30 in anticipation of their evening meal at 6:15. Above, game area superintendent Harold Tubbs makes a doe reach high for a handful of grain, and gathers half a dozen of the wary creatures about him as he finishes enjoying a pastime. The deer will poke their noses into car windows for such titbits as soda crackers with salt on them. Little folks also enjoy having the friendly deer eat out of their hands. Besides 2,000 acres of game refuge for the herd of semi-tame deer, the game area includes 6,132 acres of public hunting ground.

the next few months. And that, ladies and gentlemen, could easily give Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner and the state legislature a financial headache of annoying size. We're not forecasting that it will develop. Your guess is as good as ours. It just COULD happen!

Automobile Revenue

Take the automobile situation, for example.

Here is something right at home. It vitally affects the welfare of hundreds of thousands of Michigan citizens.

In addition to inflicting temporary unemployment upon some automobile workers, curtailment of automobile production will mean a decrease in sales tax revenue. Recent reports of the sales tax department show that Michigan's state treasury has been receiving about one-fourth of all sales tax revenue from purchase of new automobiles. The 3 per cent levy is bring around 73 millions annually; one-fourth of that is 18 millions.

Cut automobile sales one-fourth to one-half, and you can figure quickly what it will mean to the state budget—$1,500,000 to $9,000,000 less revenue.

Of course, there is no state sales tax on government orders. When you substitute tanks for automobiles, you substitute a non-productive tax product for one that helps to balance budgets and provide funds for old age pensions, library books and other deserving needs.

Installment

When Uncle Sam decided that we were on the verge of getting inflation drunk on easy credit, he knocked the props out from the "$1 down, $1 week" type of consumer spending.

Now, if you want to buy a refrigerator, washing machine, electric ironer, stove, air conditioner or radio, and prefer to spend some of your future earnings for immediate use and enjoyment of such commodities, you must plunk down 20 per cent in cash before you sign the contract. The down payment on a furnace, stoker, oil burner or water heater must be 15 per cent.

And everytime someone signs an installment contract, the state of Michigan starts to collect 3 per cent sales tax on the total amount. Easy credit, together with easy money, boosted the sales tax total from 60 to 73 millions in 12 months. Where the tax total had been 46 millions six years ago, it soared to 73 millions in the past fiscal year ending June 30, 1941.

If credit curbs tend to reduce spending, then the immediate effect would be a decline in sales tax revenue. The long-range effect might be something else, merely channeling consumer dollars into other fields. If you can't "afford" refrigerators, washing machines, radios and automobiles from the month's pay check (with respect to the larger down payment) then you may prefer to buy jewelry, clothing, food delicacies, sports equipment and other non-defense articles.

Business Week recently recorded these gains in sales for 1941, compared 1940: Automobiles, 37 per cent; jewelry, 28; household appliances, 23; furniture, 22; building materials, 22; men's clothing, 19; shoes, 19; women's ready-to-wear, 12; drugs, 9, and groceries, 5.

Gasoline Revenue

By constitutional amendment, the state's tax on gasoline must be used for highway building and maintenance.

Hence, the possibility of gasoline rationing does not affect the state budget except as it might curtail the activity of local and state highway departments.

But we're all interested tremendously in good roads. Here are some comparative facts concerning gasoline taxes:

1937	$29,375,000
1938	27,679,000
1939	29,788,000
1940	32,392,000

According to the Michigan Petroleum Industries Committee, gasoline consumption has been running about 15 per cent ahead of last year as shown by collection of taxes. June collection for May consumption was $3,332,000, a revenue gain of $384,000 or 13 per cent. May ran more than 15 per cent. July's consumption, based on collections in August, should reach an all-time high. Automobile travel at the Straits of Mackinac, for example, is running far, far ahead of last year.

Priorities

Because such essential commodities as steel, aluminum, copper and silk are being diverted from consumer-good industries, business is in a restrictive phase for the moment. Demand for these commodities is far ahead of existing supply. Hence the necessity of priorities.

Business indexes have been declining for three successive weeks.

It is a temporary period of adjustments, while the demand for non-durable goods—wool, cotton, and rayon, for example—are hitting new peaks. Department store sales have been as high as 40 per cent ahead of last year.

Automobile financing in May, 1941, was nearly 50 per cent above May, 1940.

State's Finances

Michigan's state budget was predicted on two-year continuation of the defense boom.

It assumed that revenues will be maintained at 1941 levels.

Appropriations made by the legislature and approved by the governor call for an increase of 13 millions during the current year for comparable items in 1939-40. Even on this basis the budget, as originally drafted, contemplated a surplus of $1,500,000 for 1941-42 and $5,100,000 for 1942-43. If revenues were up to expectation, the two-year surplus of $9,000,000 could be used to reduce the deficit estimated August 1 to be $14,411,000.

Budget Director Leo Nowicki is said to be apprehensive that curtailment of automobiles, an end of easy credit, and the bottleneck in priorities may combine to reduce sales tax revenues and thus through the budget out of kelter, at least to the extent of not reducing the deficit during boom years.

"The revenue picture looks brighter than it did sometime ago," said Mr. Nowicki, "despite the prospect that we will experience a decline in revenue in the immediate future. Many men are now at work for the first in years and there is more buying power available."

Payrolls

State payrolls have consistently climbed during both Republican and Democratic administrations, and Michigan so-called bi-partisan government is no exception. Payrolls were $1,428,000 higher for the first six months of 1941 than they were over a similar period during the Fitzgerald-Dickinson regime. Furthermore, new civil service salary scales will add $1,900,000. Thomas J. Wilson, civil service director, is threatening to discharge 2,000 to 2,500 workers, but so far the economy has been confined to newspaper headlines. Old-time observers at Lansing wag their heads and smile.

This is the financial situation at Lansing today. Since the legislature is still technically in session, Republicans may be able to justify further the unparalleled adjournment by "coming to the rescue" if and when state tax revenues start skidding.

It could happen.

Poultry Flocks Increase in Size

Michigan's poultry flocks continue to match better-than-average prices with better-than-average production of eggs, which makes a situation better-than-average for farm and commercial flock operators.

According to O. E. Shear, extension poultryman at Michigan State College, the number of laying hens on Michigan farms is 2 per cent less than a year ago, yet the egg production is 6 per cent greater. Poultrymen are finding profit in feeding better and giving better management to their birds, in Shear's opinion.

Egg prices being favorable, the recent hatching season held on longer than usual, with the result that more young birds are being kept in farms in this state as well as in other states. Poultry meat prices in a month ending July 15 were considered the highest since 1930, egg prices the highest since 1929 for the same period in the year.

Shear points to other factors which should hold up the present favorable situation for poultrymen. Cold storage stocks of frozen poultry and shell eggs on August 1 were smaller than a year ago, although storage stocks of frozen eggs were larger.

Government egg purchases for relief distribution increased consumer demand in the United States and the shipments of eggs to Great Britain are factors in the poultry prospects. The relation of feed prices to egg and poultry meat prices is considered more favorable to producers than a year ago and better than the 10-year average.

* LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS *
* * * * * * * * * *

Somewhere in Washington
Dear Mr. Usher:

I want to thank you a thousand times for sending me the Courier. I have been getting it each week even though we are at war (supposedly) with the blue army defending the west coast, living on field rations, traveling at night in "blackouts" under the worst conditions and not even knowing ourselves where we are or where we are going to be.

These American "war games" are "pretty much okay". We are getting actual war experience—no live ammunition, no destruction of life or property and not using a smaller country for testing our strength.

Again many thanks for sending me your paper.

Sincerely yours,
Pvt. Harry S. Baker
Service Battery, 31st F. A.
Fort Ord, Calif.

Fort Frances E. Warren
Wyoming.

"It is really nice to get that home-town paper every week. That army column is especially good, because it not only helps me to keep in contact with my brothers, but also all the other fellows from Charlevoix.

"Am writing this letter from the United Service organization and it is getting a bit difficult to concentrate because they have a couple of girls here from Cheyenne. They are putting on a few acts to bolster up the army morale and, judging by the sound of the applause, they are doing a very good job. Most of the boys use this place to write letters home, but by the looks of the idle pencils, I think that a lot of anxious mothers will receive their son's letters a day late.

"We were camped out on the rifle range for target practice last week. It was a nice camping trip excepting for eating breakfast by the light of the moon and getting a sore shoulder from a bucking Springfield. The boys from the south were the best marksmen because they do a lot of squirrel hunting down there. Of course, the army has a hard time of switching them around from their squirrel hunting ideas to the army methods.

"The morale of the army here in the west is quite a lot higher than it is in the south. The fellows were a bit angry about the here. There weren't many fish, but there was a fisherman every 10 rods. We are going on a trip up there this week, but I am afraid to pack my rod, as the Sarge might not like it, and he will make me a yard bird and I will wind up driving a wheelbarrow or peeling spuds.

As ever,
Pvt. Bernard Foster.

* DEFENSE BOND QUIZ *
* * * * * * * * * *

Q. I would like to provide a regular income for myself when I retire. Can this be done by buying Defense Savings Bonds?

A. Yes. If you purchase a Bond for $37.50 each month, each Bond will mature in exactly 10 years. Thus at the end of 10 years you will have $50 payable each month as each of your Bonds reaches maturity.

Q. But I will need more than $50 a month.

A. Then you should invest a larger amount each month. Every $75 you put into Defense Bonds will pay you $100 ten years from now. Meanwhile, your money serves your Government during this period of national emergency.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

The deplorable stray dog situation has its frequent repercussions in destructive canine raids on sheep flocks. Such a typical occurrence resulted in the destruction last Thursday night at the Sutton farm of four valuable lambs, injury to several others and scattering of the flock to the extent that many sheep were missing. It is true that law enforcement officials cannot spend their time protecting flocks of sheep nightly, but if the law which prohibits owners letting their dogs run unleashed was enforced, such raids would not happen. The farmer is the heavy loser, for even though he is paid for such losses, the compensation never reaches anywhere near the value of the animals killed.

The act is presented on an elevated stage, making it possible for all patrons to see and enjoy its cleverness. Ruth works in full view of her audience and amazes everyone by the deftness of her fingers while bringing her many puppets to life.

The whole program has been made possible by the wholehearted cooperation of the fishermen in taking the spawn, officials of the Fish and Wildlife Service, the state hatchery at Oden and in the final planting by the Department of Conservation patrol boat.

The general concensus of opinion among fishermen and others interested in this program is that raising of lake trout to advanced stage is the answer to the question of artificial propagation of lake trout, the fish being in such size that their chance of survival is greatly increased over the past method of planting in the fry stage.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPEN SEPT. 27TH

FIRST PRACTICE SESSION HELD TUESDAY

Ten Veterans Were Among Group of Twenty-Two Candidates Reporting to Coach Ray Kipke

Football practice in preparation for the 1941 season began Tuesday afternoon at south side athletic field.

Twenty-two men reported to Coach Ray Kipke for drills which opened a week prior to school opening in order to provide three weeks of practice before the initial game September 27. Additional candidates are expected to augment those turning out Tuesday.

That Coach Kipke will have a near veteran squad this fall was indicated by the fact that no less than ten candidates who were regulars or subs of last year reported. Five were backfield men, an equal number linesmen. Those in uniform were Carl Rowe, Don Carey, Clare Martin, Stan Shapton and Jack Stewart, all of whom played backfield positions during the 1940 season; Ralph Mitchell, James Foster and Lester Galiagher, ends; John Swanson and John Bissell, guards. Bill Rowe, who played substitute center last fall, is out for a regular berth.

Others reporting for practice included Marvin Cross, Gene and Charles Bergmann, L. G. Fischer, Jack Lamphear, Bill Lusk, Hubert Brady, Bill Stephens, Gerald Chambers, James McMillan, Joe Bellinger, Lyle King, Vercil Shearer and Russell Lewis are among those expected to report later.

Graduation took several regulars last spring, among them Bud Kohler, Erwin Nowland, Don Meggison and Jim Martin.

Charlevoix will play a 6-game schedule opening Saturday, September 27, with Mancelona here. Two other games are at home, three away from home.

SIX CALLED FOR SEPTEMBER ARMY QUOTA

Five From Boyne City, One Bay Shore; Four Are Volunteers

Six young men have been certified by the Charlevoix county draft board to fill the county's September quota for selective military service.

Selected to report Wednesday, September 17, for induction at Kalamazoo, are four volunteers, all from Boyne City, and two transferred to Charlevoix county by other boards.

LIBRARY HOURS CHANGE WINTER SCHED. MONDAY

Hours of the Charlevoix public library will change to fall and winter schedule beginning Monday, September 15, according to Minnie E. Pnyton, librarian. The new schedule is as follows: Open from 2 until 6, and from 7 until 8:30 each week day.

Ask your merchants and business places for tickets on FREE automobiles to be given at the Charlevoix County Fair, Sept. 9-12.—Adv. 33t5.

COAST GUARD TO GET NEW SEAPLANE SOON

Second Ship to Be Located at Temporary Traverse City Base

The temporary coast guard air base at Traverse City is to be augmented in the near future by a second amphibian coast patrol plane, according to Rear Admiral R. R. Waesche, coast guard commandant.

The need for added protection was shown August 6, when a commercial fisherman lost his life off the coast of Leland.

Although no definite date has been set for the arrival of the plane, the statement of Admiral Waesche that it will be in the near future indicates that the plane will probably report for duty this fall, probably before the stormy season opens in late October.

The fact that coast guard stations along the Great Lakes have been cut to skeleton crews when most of their men were assigned to sea duty was probably a factor in deciding to increase the local air detachment.

COUNTY FAIR HAS RECORD ENTRIES

56TH ANNUAL EXHIBIT OPENED TUESDAY MORNING

Thursday Designated Both Merchants and School Day With Special Attractions

The 56th annual exhibit of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society opened Tuesday at East Jordan with displays and exhibits promising to set new records for interest in the event.

Entries in the livestock division had filled the cattle barn to capacity, produce and fruits displays were termed larger in quantity and equal if not better in quality than in the past. 4-H Club, Grange and merchandise displays were complete and numerous.

One of the best track programs in years is in prospect with a record entry of horses. Competition at East Jordan will be keener than at Traverse City and Alpena fairs, it was stated, despite the larger purses offered at these other fairs. Accommodations at the race barn were not sufficient to take care of entries.

Thursday promises to be a banner day with its designation both as "Merchants Day" and "School Day." All merchants in the county have been requested to close their stores so that employer and employee alike may attend. School day provides free admission and special prices on rides for all school children attending, together with the 4-H Club achievement judging.

Fair officials announced Tuesday that after considerable difficulty an automobile had been obtained as the free drawing prize. A Studebnker Champion tudor club sedan will be awarded to holder of the lucky ticket at a drawing to be held Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock. A special entertainment program has also been arranged for this night.

CHURCH COUNCIL HELD ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Rev. Harold Ringenoldus Was Chosen President of Group

The City Council of Churches and Christian Education met for the first time this fall at the Congregational church, Monday evening, September 8.

Representatives from all the local churches gathered for a potluck supper. In the business meeting the various union services were discussed and arranged for. It was decided that the annual Armistice service would be held in the Methodist church with Rev. Harold T. Ringenoldus as speaker.

Another union service conducted by the local council is the annual observance of World Day of Prayer. An invitation was extended by the Congregational church to have women of the city gather with them that day. Date of the service has been set for February 21, 1942.

Each year churches of the city gather in a city-wide observance of Good Friday, which this year will be held in the Church of God.

The concluding item of business for the evening was the annual election of officers. Retiring officers were Rev. W. L. Cruthers, president and Rev. H. C. Ringenoldus secretary-treasurer. New officers are Rev. H. C. Ringenoldus president and Mrs. V. Narton secretary-treasurer.

Walter Rylko and Raymond F. Brown have been newly assigned here following transfer from Chicago. Sent to Chicago from the local unit was Wilbur W. Bender, who has been assigned to duty on a naval reserve vessel.

STUDENTS ADVISED TO CONSULT DRAFT BOARD

No Blanket Policy of Deferment for Students Exists

Col. E. M. Roseerans, state selective service director, has announced that registrants should consult their local draft boards before enrolling in school this month.

Col. Roseerans pointed out that no blanket deferment existed for students and that each case had to be considered individually by local boards. He said boards were granting students deferment from military training if they were preparing to enter certain occupations in which shortages of manpower exist or are indicated.

"It is the policy of the selective service system to be as lenient as possible within the law in cases of young men who are earnestly pursuing educational opportunities," he said. "Where such men have entered in good faith upon an educational course, we will endeavor not to interrupt their studies during a quarter or a semester even if they are not seeking to qualify for an occupation that is exceptionally important for national defense.

TEN SAVED OFF GROUNDED BOAT

LOCAL COAST GUARDS RESCUE PARTY MONDAY

Schooner Sea Girl, Leaking Badly, Beached Off Grand Traverse Point Sunday Night

Ten persons, including one woman, were rescued early Monday morning by Charlevoix coast guardsmen after spending a perilous night aboard the auxiliary schooner Sea Girl, grounded off Grand Traverse point.

The 52-foot craft, which left Grand Haven enroute to Charlevoix early Sunday morning, began leaking in the bow while lacking a heavy easterly gale below the Manitou passage during the night. The owner, Charles Jacobson, of Grand Haven, continued on the course until condition of the craft became dangerous and, in an attempt to beach the boat, ran onto a shoal about a half mile off Grand Traverse lighthouse.

Plight of the party became known when at daylight two members swam ashore to the lighthouse. Charlevoix coast guard station was notified and Capt. Paul Hellman, with Frank Noonan, Lloyd Hulett and George Beiyusar affected the rescue around 8 a. m.

Those brought to Charlevoix coast guard station besides the owner were Alvin and David Jacobson, Bill DeWitt and Bob VanHoef, of Grand Haven; Warren Bolling, of Spring Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCloud, of Dearborn; William Newman, of Grosse Pointe; Daniel Houser, St. Louis, Mo.

Local coast guardsmen recovered the boat Tuesday morning. Its decks awash, the craft was being pounded in a heavy sea. Pumped out, it was towed to Hamilton & Son boatyard, where repairs are now under way.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Kea Usher

It's not so much the mistakes you make, as the ones you defend, that are held against you.

Good, old-fashioned early September weather we're having!

This is Charlevoix county Fair week at East Jordan. Thursday's been designated "Merchants Day" and the request has been made that all stores close that afternoon so that employer and employee can enjoy this annual exhibit.

They say beauty is only skin deep, but plenty of the beauties must consider the surface most important if we are to judge from their constant touching up with lipstick and powder.

The 1941 trout fishing season closed just in time to save next year's stock, as many anglers know. Some trout had started to spawn, others were rapidly reaching that stage. Many sportsmen argue that the season is all wrong anyway—opens too early in the spring and closes too late in the fall. Under such conditions as this year — with everything advanced at least from two to three weeks—they're right in their contentions.

"The horse I was riding wanted to go one way, and I wanted to go another."

"He tossed me for it."

Merging of the U. S. Coast Guard and U. S. Lighthouse Services has made the Charlevoix Coast Guard unit, now under command of Capt. Paul Hellman, a beehive of activity. Transfer of lighthouse crews, service requirement of the many lighthouses in the district, furnishing them supplies, repairing equipment, etc., all under supervision now of the local station, has created a far different situation than that under the old set-up. For example, the unit's picket boat has traveled approximately 624 miles so far in September—up to and including the 9th. Considered in terms of motor travel, 624 miles is not a

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, crusader for prohibition since 1874, is enjoying an unexpected revival. Reason: America's undeclared war on Hitler.

Just as World War I afforded Congress an opportunity in December, 1917, to launch the noble experiment while several million men were in military camps and industrial plants were striving for utmost efficiency, so the present emergency is being hailed by 600,000 members of W.C.T.U. as an economic reason for curtailment of drink.

If we must tighten our belts and deprive ourselves of "non-essentials," then the problem of beer, wine and liquor is bound to bob up. Whether these commodities are "non-essentials" depends upon each citizen's ideas about personal liberty, personal health, national security and the like.

Dickinson

A situation such as this is made-to-order for ex-Governor Luren Dickinson.

Since departing from the governor's office, the 82-year-old archfoe of sin and sipping has been doing some lecturing. He went to Florida, stopping over at Possum Poke in Georgia long enough to chat with Ex-Governor Chase S. Osborn, and sent back a letter to a Hearst newspaper man containing glowing words about the nice publicity he had been getting.

At the Grand Rapids convention of the W.C.T.U. last Wednesday (September 3), Dickinson reiterated his conviction that the world's problems could be quickly solved by prayer and suggested that maybe when President Roosevelt needed after all was just an old-fashioned prayer meeting at the White House or elsewhere in Washington.

While even Dickinson would probably qualify this statement in a practical way, as it would take a lot more than a prayer meeting to stop the Nazi at Leningrad, the fundamental truth of the epigram is beyond moral dispute.

DISCHARGING A RESPONSIBILITY

A Statement of Employee Policy by the Central Western Division of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.

The privilege of leadership in any industry carries with it heavy responsibilities and obligations. Honest discharge of these duties, we feel, is imperative to the maintenance of an orderly, going business—a business in which management shares with its employees and customers savings effected through efficient operation. Such a business is ours.

The necessity of taking stock is recognized in all business by employee and management alike. In the A&P organization, however, there is considerably more to this routine "must" than counting the number of cans of foodstuffs on the shelves of our stores; the tea, coffee and butter poundage. Stock-taking with us means consideration of all the interests of our customers, suppliers and our employees.

Officers and directors of A&P are confronted by this tremendous responsibility every day. Careers, human personalities and scores of other "intangibles" are in the balance. Shelves are easily re-stocked; not so these other factors.

After a series of "stock-takings," with pardonable pride we announce that, effective this week, all of the some 4,500 full-time store clerks in this area will share with fellow employees from coast to coast what we believe is the first 5-DAY, 48-HOUR WEEK in the history of the retail food industry, labor contracts and other local variables permitting.

To our employees in this division whose untiring efforts and efficiency have made possible the position we enjoy in the food industry, and to hundreds of thousands of satisfied customers whose cooperation we respectively seek in making our new work schedule a success, we take this opportunity to reaffirm a few of the cardinal principles upon which A&P was founded 82 years ago by the late George Huntington Hartford, father of its present day owners.

The new work schedule is in line with a long-standing policy of A&P to give its employees the shortest working hours and the highest wages in the industry. It provides that wages of all employees will be the same as for the 52-hour week which has been in effect for several months.

It was in the cracker-barrel period a quarter-century ago that A&P boldly defied tradition and broke with the dawn-to-dusk hours of the grocery business by reducing the work week from 72 hours to 65.

Regardless of the highly-competitive nature of the food business, A&P has always felt work hours of retail food store employees were too long. It has constantly sought ways and means of reducing them so that A&P employees could enjoy more leisure and, to a greater degree, the warmth and comforts of home life with their families.

Our recent decision to further reduce employee working hours once again has paced the industry in raising the living standards of retail clerks. But the management is confident the continued efficient support of its employees will prove, as it has in the past, that better working conditions, fewer hours at the store and more at home, and higher wages will in no way endanger the savings we have always made available to our customers.

Wage increases and added compensation during the last year, coupled with a recent shortening of working hours, have given A&P employees the best average wages and the shortest general working hours in the industry—dramatic evidence that through efficient operation it is possible to achieve both low prices to consumers and good working conditions for employees. Wages of full-time clerks in the Central Western Division alone have risen approximately 65 per cent since 1934, at which time they exceeded appreciably the average for retail food store employees in all sections of the country.

During the last decade, A&P has effected a considerable reduction in working hours, inaugurated vacations with pay, provided free and additional group insurance, sick benefits, half-days off, hospitalization and compensation to employees joining the nation's armed forces as well as many and frequent increases in the wage scale.

The A&P management has always been keenly conscious of its responsibility to its employees, many of whom have devoted their working lives to its interests.

The company will continue to maintain the same interest in its employees' welfare it has always shown. Additional improvements in working conditions and benefits will continue as rapidly as increased efficiency in operation make them possible.

Stores Will Be Open Six Days A Week As Usual

* HOW THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT WORKS *

* * * * * * * * * *

Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a series of articles explaining the programs for social security operated by the Federal and State governments.

Help to workers in finding jobs and insurance payments to those who lose their jobs are provided under the social security program.

The Social Security Board and the state of Michigan work together in this program.

Not far from every worker's home is a local office of the Michigan State Employment Service. It is to this office that workers go to get help in finding jobs and to file claims for out-of-work payments—called unemployment compensation—when they lose their jobs.

To explain the unemployment compensation program, let's take the case of John Jones, the young man who went to the Social Security Board field office for an account number when he got his first job as a truck driver. John worked steadily for quite a while—almost 4 years. Then he was laid off.

During all the time he was working, however, his employer had been paying an unemployment contribution on John Jones' wages.

Part of the unemployment tax was paid to the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission a record was kept of John Jones' wages under his social security account number.

After John got his pink slip telling him that his job was over, he went to his local Michigan State Employment office to register for another job and to apply for unemployment compensation.

According to the law, workers who lose their jobs must go to the nearest State Employment office in order to apply for unemployment compensation.

When John Jones went to the employment office, he registered for work because the law also says that unemployment compensation can only be paid to those workers who are willing and able to work.

A trained interviewer in the employment office took down John's education, training, and experience, so that he would know what kind of work John was able to do.

While John Jones had never had a regular job as a carpenter, he had some training in that trade and had done odd jobs in carpentry during his school vacations. That information also went into his employment office record.

In Michigan there is a "waiting period" — of two weeks before workers who lose their jobs can begin to get their weekly unemployment compensation payment.

Since John Jones was not able to find a job through his own efforts, and since the local employment office was also not able to find him an opening in two weeks, unemployment compensation checks began to come in, if John was eligible.

These checks amounted to about half of the weekly wage he had earned during the past 3 years—enough to pay for his food and rent and to carry him over for a while.

In most states, workers who lose their jobs can get unemployment compensation for as long as 3 or 4 months, depending on the amount of wages they had earned, the length of time they had worked, and various other factors.

In John Jones' case, however, he drew unemployment compensation payments for only 3 weeks, because he got another job.

Through the state employment office, he was sent to a construction project which was just starting. He convinced the foreman that he could do the job, and so went back to work, this time as a carpenter.

Not all America's workers are protected as yet by unemployment compensation. Men and women who work on farms or in domestic service in private homes are generally not eligible for out-of-work insurance.

The Social Security Board, however, has recommended that the unemployment compensation laws should be changed so as to protect them and other people who work at jobs which are not now "covered" by these laws.

Other workers who are not eligible for unemployment compensation are women who work for their husband, or vice versa. The same thing applies to young people under 21 who work for their parents.

In addition, those who work for the Federal or State Governments, or for religious, charitable, and other nonprofit organizations are not protected by this insurance program.

If you want to know whether you are covered by unemployment compensation, go to the nearest Michigan State Employment office. You will be able to get information about the law of your state.

You can find the address of the State Employment Service office in the telephone book or you can ask at the post office.

SEEK WORK FOR MEN RELEASED FROM ARMY

State-Wide Organization to Handle Placements Is Formed

Selective service headquarters and the Michigan Council of Defense has begun formation of a state-wide organization to obtain employment for men 28 years or older released from the nation's armed forces.

Lieut.-Col. Harold A. Furlong, administrator for the council, said that one or more re-employment committeemen would be appointed by Governor Van Wagoner for each local draft board. However, he said that a coordinating committee would be selected for counties with three or more local boards to avoid duplication of efforts.

Col. E. M. Rosecrans, state selective service director, estimated that 6,500 Michigan men were eligible for release.

PLAN IMPROVEMENTS BARNARD TROUT POND

Seek Flowing Wells to Create Lower Water Temperature

At a meeting Tuesday evening of directors of the Charlevoix Sportsman's Club, further improvements at the Barnard trout pond on McGeugh creek were planned.

Extreme light rainfall of the past season, resulting in diminished water supply when upper part of the stream nearly dried up, created a high water temperature unfavorable to brook trout, especially. To remedy this condition, an attempt will be made immediately to drive one, and if successful, several flowing wells to provide additional supply of cool water. While both brook and brown trout survived under these unfavorable conditions, a lower temperature must be maintained if stocking of brooks is continued.

The season just past justified efforts of the Sportsman's Club in establishing the pond. Thousands of fish were taken by anglers throughout the season. Summer resident sportsmen have given generous contributions to carry on the work outlined.

Wrecking operations will start as soon as all interior furnishings are sold.

The hotel was not open this summer for the first time in its close to a half century of existence.

LABOR DAY SET HIGHER STRAITS TRAFFIC MARK

Peak Under Unprecedented Automobile Onrush 4th of July

While souring to a new Labor Day record, traffic on Michigan's highway over the recent holiday week-end failed to reach the all-time peak chalked up over the Fourth of July, it was revealed this week by State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy.

From counts taken in various sections of the state, it was shown that traffic over the Labor Day week end was 20 per cent greater than for the corresponding period last year.

The state's more important highways, including those leading to resort areas, showed increases ranging from 15 to 35 per cent over last year, while the less traveled highways recorded gains of from five to ten per cent, for a state-wide average of 20%.

In commenting on results of the survey, Kennedy stated this was the first time since traffic counts had been taken that Labor Day week end figures were not greater than those recorded on the Fourth of July.

"Several factors," Kennedy explained, "were no doubt responsible for this unusual condition." Among them he listed heavy pre-holiday travel by motorists attempting to avoid the holiday rush; later opening of many schools which permitted resorters to remain at their cottages until after the holiday period, and increased industrial activity which required workers to remain at home.

Automobiles transported across the Straits of Mackinac, while setting a new Labor Day record, also failed to come up to the all-time high mark recorded on the Fourth of July, when 5,946 cars were ferried across.

The high mark for the Labor Day holiday period was set Saturday, August 30, when 5,046 cars were transported across the Straits. A total of 19,776 cars were transported during the five-day period from August 28 to September 1, an increase of 3,703 vehicles, or 23.03 per cent, over the corresponding period last year.

NYA PROVIDES EMPLOYMENT TO MANY YOUTH

Charlevoix County Has 79 Placed for 1941-42 School Year

By providing part-time jobs, the National Youth Administration will enable approximately 17,000 high school students in the state to continue their education during the 1941-42 academic year, it was announced today by Michigan NYA administrator Orin W. Knye.

In Charlevoix county, approximately 79 will be aided in five schools participating in this program. The schools are Charlevoix High School, Boyne City Rural Agricultural School, Boyne Falls Public School, East Jordan High School and St. James High School.

A total of $364,112 has been allocated to the state NYA to carry on this work. Of this amount the county's share last year amounted to $2,124.01, and according to Kaye, a similar amount will be spent in the county again this year.

Students to be employed will be between the ages of 16 and 24, inclusive, and in need of jobs to remain in school. They may earn between $3 and $6 a month.

School officials are responsible for the selection of students to be employed, for assignment and supervision of work, and certain phases of administration of the school work program.

PCA REPORTS A HEAVY INCREASE IN TRAFFIC

According to a report released by J. J. O'Donovan, vice-president of Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, August was the thirty-eighth consecutive month that traffic was higher than that for the same month of the preceding year. Traffic increase at the Pellston airport was 86% over July and all other divisions had a substantial increase.

FRANKFORT SUFFERS TERRIFIC RAINFALL

Washouts Delay Trains, Fill Highways; Celery Gardens Damaged

A six inch-rainfall in less than four hours, combined with wind and an electric storm, gave the Frankfort area $100,000 storm damage late last Thursday night.

Many farm and resort families, living on high hills, were isolated and could not leave their homes except on foot, as sand washes filled in main highways to a depth of several feet. Around one cottage the rain cut a gully 30 feet deep and 50 feet wide.

The Ann Arbor railroad had nine washouts between Beulah and Elberta and traffic was delayed 15 hours. Frankfort did not have a train until Saturday. Crystal Lake levels were raised six inches by the storm.

Celery gardens at Beulah were seriously damaged and merchandise stocks in basements were watersoaked. Main trunkline highways were kept open, but the shoulders were badly washed in many spots.

DEER RETURNING TO ONAWAY BURNT AREA

Good Cover Springing Up in 27,000 Acre Tract Burned in 1939

Jackpine, aspen and oak cover springing up in the 27,000 acre area burned by an incendiary fire in 1939 in Presque Isle, Montmorency, and Cheboygan counties is proving attractive to deer and rabbits, according to report from the conservation department.

In the Canada and Tomahawk creeks drainage area, good food and cover has appeared since the fire and deer signs are more plentiful than in past years. Jackpine thickets, springing up quickly from seeds, are providing good rabbit cover.

HORSE DISEASE IN CHEBOYGAN COUNTY

Vaccination Urged for Sleeping Sickness in Horses

The Cheboygan Daily Tribune reports that sleeping sickness is spreading among horses in Cheboygan county, with several cases in Emmet county near Carp Lake.

Nine known cases have been reported. Four horses have died from the disease, which is spread by flies.

Farmers in the affected area have been urged to have their horses vaccinated by a veterinary, as the only sure means of safeguarding.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE MEETING AT TRAVERSE CITY

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Like the roses, lilies have been famous for hundreds of years in song, story and art, but as garden subjects they have been more or less neglected. It is difficult to explain why such truly beautiful and fragrant flowers have not caused as much of a stir in the garden world as the peony, the iris, or the rose. Lilies have scaly bulbs, and there is a popular notion that on account of this they are difficult to manage successfully. The performance of both American and introduced species contradicts this statement.

A survey of the available species for garden culture shows that most of the showy types come from Asia and Japan. They are still in the original species form for the most part, as plant hybridizers have not produced many hybrid varieties. It would be difficult indeed to improve the natural species of this magnificent group of summer-flowering bulbs.

When providing space for lilies in the garden plan, it is difficult to put them out of place. They look well among low shrubbery, between clumps of peonies, or in a formal line on each side of the garden path. Native species are at home at the foot of trees and dwarf types in shaded nooks of the rock garden. An essential in arrangement is to group the various kinds of lilies by themselves and not mix the species.

In the culture of garden lilies, soil rich in vegetable matter is an advantage. Peat, leaf-mold and sand may be added to the soil to give it proper texture. Root formation is always stronger in moist soils. The ideal time to plant lily bulbs falls into the period from August to October, depending on when the bulbs ripen. Imported bulbs may arrive as late as December. To plant such late arrivals it may be necessary to prevent the ground from freezing by means of a temporary cover of manure. Occasionally planting must be deferred until spring, but this should always be second choice. Cold-storage bulbs are always on sale in early spring and they are satisfactory if fall planting is not feasible.

Planting depth for the bulbs varies from three to four inches for Madonna lily and small species, to ten and even twelve inches for the larger sorts, which produce roots on the stem above the bulb as well as below.

When lilies are once established they should be left undisturbed for a number of years. As a cool moist soil is so helpful to strong healthy root development, the area at the base of the plant should be shaded. This is accomplished by mulching with peat moss or lawn clippings. Shallow-rooted annuals or perennials planted among the lilies form a living mulch or ground-cover. A light mulch for winter protection in exposed places is also recommended. If vegetative growth of lilies starts very early in the spring, protection from late frosts may be necessary.

Health Quiz

The amount of misinformation, and half information, which almost everyone stores up, reaches amazing total by the time he reaches maturity.

The way we get things twisted is illustrated by an incident which occurred during an effort of the sheriff's department to get all dogs registered. The sheriff said, "What about the license on your dog?" The man answered, "I wish you could tell me, sheriff. I've used sheep dip and kerosene, but they are still crawling around." The sheriff, a patient man, continued, "You misunderstood me — you thought I was referring to fleas." "Oh, no! I didn't," said the man. "He's got them, too."

Similar mental mistakes exist in the field of medicine and public health. Recently a small Southern community had decided to improve its milk supply. The local health department had shown why pasteurization is essential to the safety of the milk. A local milkman was thinking of constructing a pasteurization plant in the middle of town, where all who passed could look in and see the careful manner in which the milk was handled. The Woman's Club, which had sponsored the effort to secure milk improvement, became worried. A committee visited the health officer, and said, "We are very anxious to have a good milk supply, but don't you think it would be a mistake to have all those cows right in the middle of town?"

Examples of twisted facts have come to the attention of the U. S. Public Health Service. They, with one of the nation's largest insurance companies decided to find out just how widespread these misbeliefs were. While the San Francisco World's Fair was in progress, an exhibit was set up, and part of the display included a group of health test questions. The average grade of all who took the test was 72%.

We thought that such a test would be of interest locally, and have included here some of the questions asked, along with a few of our own. The average grade on this test should be 100%.

1. Which disease results in the most infant deaths each year? (a) Scarlet fever, (b) whooping cough, (c) diphtheria.

2. If the health officer should put up a quarantine sign on your house because you had whooping cough, would you say? (a) "He is just trying to show his authority." (b) "Sally Jones has whooping cough, why doesn't he put a sign on her house?" (c) "He is making an honest effort to prevent the spread of the disease."

3. The disease most likely to be spread by polluted water is—(a) typhoid fever, (b) malaria, (c) syphilis.

4. The eating of raw or undercooked pork causes—(a) tuberculosis, (b) trinchinosis, (c) cancer.

5. The early stage of one of these diseases cannot be diagnosed without an x-ray—(a) diabetes, (b) Bright's disease, (c) tuberculosis.

6. Whooping cough is most dangerous to—(a) youth, (b) infants below 2 years, (c) adults.

7. A lump in any part of the body which begins to grow should be — (a) examined by a doctor, (b) let alone, unless it becomes painful, (c) treated with a salve and bandaged.

8. A person successfully vaccinated against smallpox is immune—(a) for at least 12 years, (b) for at least 3 or 4 years, (c) for life.

9. Pasteurization of milk — (a) makes milk safe for drinking, (b) improves the flavor, (c) increases the amount of cream.

10. Some leafy vegetables should be eaten raw because cooking — (a) spoils the flavor, (b) decreases or destroys vitamins, (c) is too much bother.

Answers: 1 (b), 2 (c), 3 (a), 4 (b), 5 (c), 6 (b), 7 (a), 8 (b), 9 (a), 10 (b).

PLANT TISSUE 'MIRRORS' SOIL

Furnishes Accurate Test For Essential Minerals.

By DR. GEORGE D. SCARSETH
(Soil Chemist, Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station)

An effective checkup of the "conveyor belts" that supply farm crops with food from the soil can be made during the growing season by means of Tissue Tests. These tests will tell whether the growing plants are receiving their principal nourishment—nitrogen, phosphorus and potash—in balanced amounts.

The tissue test of plants, like the rapid chemical test of the soil, affords a quick diagnosis of plant nutrition or starvation. The proper use of either of these tests make it possible for the farmer more accurately to determine the fertilizer needs of various crops on individual fields.

The tissue test consists of splitting open stalks or leaf stems of corn or other growing crops and cutting out thin pieces of tissue. These pieces are placed in a glass vial containing a chemical agent. The reaction of the chemical to the plant tissue reveals the presence or absence of the necessary plant foods.

Usually six or eight samples representative of the type of plants growing in a field will suffice. Certain parts of a plant give more reliable indications of fertilizer needs than others. In analyzing corn, tissue from the base of the main stalk is best suited for a nitrogen test. For phosphorus, the tip of the main stalk or the main stalk just below the tassel is best, while for potash the base of the leaf at the ear node is most effective.

If the nitrogen supply of corn plants is deficient, the test for nitrates will be negative, while those for phosphates and potash may be high. The corn plants in such a case are likely to be stunted. Leaves will be greenish yellow, with yellowing tissues following the midrib from the tip end.

If the phosphate "conveyor belt" runs empty, tests are likely to show: Nitrates high, phosphates negative and potash high. Physical symptoms will be plants dark green in color with spindly growth, but with leaves otherwise normal.

When potash is insufficient, tests will show nitrates and phosphorus both high while potash is low. Plants will be weak, dark green in color with leaves showing a marginal scorch.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By Florence C. Weed

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

Milk

It is a modern miracle that a man can tip his hat made of milk and yet it won't spill. Following the lead of Italy, American research workers have produced a "milk wool" which they claim is much superior to the foreign product. It is cheap, long wearing and takes color well and can probably be used for upholstering material. At present, it is going into men's hats.

In recent years, the ingenuity of government and dairy scientists has uncovered new uses for 30,000,000,000 quarts which once was wasted. It goes into casein for coating paper, making window shades and manufacturing a paste paint which is thinned with water. It is the base for insecticide sprays and a filler for cloth. Textiles, leather tanning, and color plating industries use lactic acid in their manufacturing processes.

Akin to the many food uses are the new milk-derived animal feeds for poultry and livestock. Some ingredients for popular vitamin capsules are also obtained from milk.

Milk plastics are being made into small articles such as buttons, door handles and book ends. Casein is fabricated into lamp bases, backs for pin-up lamps, and bowl diffusers for indirect lighting.

Still in the experimental stage are wines of sherry and sauterne type which can be made from milk whey. A resin made from lactose may be adaptable as lining for food containers.

There is probably more research going on in dairies and creameries than in any other industry, but in spite of the advance, there remain 24,000,000,000 quarts of skimmed milk without a commercial outlet.

Agriculture News

The farmer's share of the consumer's dollar spent for 58 different foods, averaged 42 cents in 1940, compared with 41 cents in 1939 and 40 cents in 1938.

Farmers of the United States are now passing up every year $150,000,000 of income that could be realized through better management of farm woods, says the U. S. forest service.

CROP ROTATION GOOD ECONOMY

Increasing Yields Repay Extra Cost, Labor.

By GUY W. MILLER
(Specialist in Rural Economics, Ohio State University)

Farmers who follow crop rotations which maintain or improve the fertility of their soil consistently obtain higher incomes than farmers who follow cropping practices which reduce their soil productivity.

Some farm operators may find it more difficult than others to change their cropping plans to a system that improves soil instead of depleting it, but in the long run, the change will pay. Immediate need of money to pay debts usually is given as the reason for following old crop rotations, but taking the money out of the soil is bad economy in the end.

Farms which have been badly depleted respond slowly to soil improvement practices and it may be possible that the adoption of these practices will reduce farm income temporarily. However, the farmer who expects his land to support himself and family must make up his mind sometime to protect the soil, and the decision should be made early enough to avoid long and costly soil improvement practices.

No rural economist advises farmers to go heavily into debt to buy soil improving materials for a whole farm at once. Applications of lime or of fertilizer can be made on a few acres at a time, and the increased yields from the first acres treated will help pay for materials used in later years on other acres.

In some cases, better use of farm manure or the adoption of cultural practices which stop soil erosion will improve the farm without the expenditure of any money. It also is possible in many cases to feed more of the crops to livestock on the farm and thereby obtain more materials for soil improvement.

Appearance Is Deceiving When Evaluating Farms

Contrary to popular opinion, the appearance of a farm may not be a good indication of its value.

It's true that the condition of farms and buildings in a community may be taken as an indication of the productivity of that area, says R. C. M. Case, head of the economics department of the University of Illinois college of agriculture. But, he explains, a particular farm may show the effects of conditions under which it has been owned and operated.

For example, previous management may add to or detract from the farm's real value. A good soil may show to a disadvantage if poorly farmed. In fact, the difference in the way adjoining farms have been operated over the past 25 or 50 years may greatly affect their present value. Also, a particular type of soil may respond better to one kind of season than another. Fresh paint on buildings may cause one to overlook poor foundations or frames.

Case says it should be considered whether a farm to be purchased is of proper size and adapted to the type of production the farmer wants to follow. He needs to consider whether the farm is located in a good community which will provide the proper opportunity for his family in educational, religious and social aspects. Soil types, control of obnoxious weeds, available water supplies, and the condition of buildings also require consideration.

EDITORIAL

ALL BECAUSE OF A MAN

Because of a man, a nation was saved! Are YOU that man?

Many readers are familiar with the graphic illustration entitled—"Because of a Nail."

The illustration goes on to show how: "Because of a nail, a shoe was lost. Because of a shoe, a horse was lost. Because of a horse, a battle was lost. Because of a battle, a war was lost. Because of a war, a kingdom was lost. All because of a nail!"

Let's apply that to what very probably is the case right now. That gives us this illustration:

"Because of a man, an economy drive was won. Because of the drive, a tax cut was won. Because of the cut, sound government was won. Because of sound government, a nation was saved. All because of a man!"

All of us realize that mere cutting of taxes does not mean sound government. But almost always it does. And now, more than ever before in America's history, it does.

Especially is this true of state, county and municipal taxes.

The defense bill will be tremendous. The actions of MEN right now may make it possible to pay this enormous obligation — may make it possible to avoid inflation —may make it possible to save the nation itself.

YOU may be THE man who will turn the balance in this—possibly the most serious threat to our great way of life.

Do your full part to bring all possible common-sense economies to your county and municipal government. No patriot could work to a better goal.

Your work might save a nation! All because of a man!

Michigan leads the nation in the production of mint.

Orders for Young Dairy Sires Now Being Accepted

As was the case last year an effort is now being made to bring into this county a truck load of young dairy sires out of high producing herds. By arrangement with the dairy department of the Michigan State College it is possible to order these young animals at an extremely reasonable price. By the way the prices will be similar to last year's baby bull project.

For approximately $30.00 it is possible to purchase a young sire of the major dairy breeds and out of a dam making around 400 pounds of butterfat, in a cow test association. These calves will be approximately one month of age. If a person wants an older animal the price will increase at the rate of around $5.00 per month.

These animals are from high producing herds in southern Michigan where the owners sell their fluid milk to the big city markets. Because of the need of all the milk possible the majority of dairymen do not raise any male calves and yet many of these herds average 400 pounds of butterfat per cow.

If you are interested in securing a nice young bull calf at a reasonable price kindly get in touch with your county agent and place an order for one of these splendid animals at once.

Powdered Lead Kills White Grub

Good home defense these days involves lead, but this time in the form of powdered lead arsenate on lawns where white grubs, the larvae of the June beetle, prevail.

Dead patches of lawn that fail to respond to frequent showers usually are the result of white grubs eating off the bluegrass roots. The remedy is to remake the lawn or to apply lead arsenate for lawn insurance and patch or reseed.

Applications recommended by E. I. McDaniels of the entomology department at Michigan State College vary according to how the lawn is progressing.

On a new lawn Professor McDaniels would apply a complete treatment of 10 pounds of lead arsenate to each 1,000 square feet. This should be mixed into the top inch of soil and should suffice for five years. It tends to discourage ants, earthworms, and is a deterrent to rose chafers and the dreaded Japanese beetle.

On old lawns the treatment should be split. Some can be applied in the fall and the rest of the application in the spring. Better coverage is attained by mixing the powder with dry soil or sand—10 pounds to a bushel. After application the powder should be flooded into the turf.

Three broods are recognized as prevalent in Michigan. The present attack on lawns has been made by the larval attack of Brood C. There is to be a full season of chewing in 1942 by larvae of Brood A, which is even more prevalent than the Brood C beetles or grubs.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Can Defense Savings Stamps be redeemed?

A. Yes; they can be redeemed for cash at face value or exchanged for Defense Savings Bonds. For example, 75 of the 25-cent Stamps—total cash value $18.75—may be exchanged for a Defense Savings Bond which in 10 years will be worth $25.

Q. How long have Defense Savings Stamps been on sale at retail stores?

A. Sale of Stamps at retail stores originated in the State of Michigan on July 10. The idea met with such success that it is spreading rapidly, and soon Stamps will be sold in most retail stores on a Nation-wide basis.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

AT THE MOVIES

"Ringside Maisie" Brings Ann Sothern to Palace Screen

When Maisie starts going the rounds with a prizefighter and his hardboiled manager, the entertainment banners fly high. This is exactly what happens at the Palace Theatre starting September 10 for an engagement of one day only when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Ringside Maisie," starring Ann Sothern, goes on display.

A strong cast appears in support of the star in this film, which tells the story of Maisie's experiences when she enters the household of a young fighter and his manager as companion for the fighter's invalid mother. How she launches the boxer on the type of career he really desires and how she knocks the chip off his manager's shoulder and finds romance in the process, makes for one of the most entertaining motion pictures of the year.

Shaw Comedy Filmed Under Fire

In some of the exterior shots in "Major Barbara," Gabriel Pascal's new motion picture production of the George Bernard Shaw play, which comes to the Palace September 16-17, the more observant members of the audience should be able to detect specks in the sky which look like distant clouds or small, stationary birds. As it happens, they are neither. Those spots you see in "Major Barbara" are part of England's great balloon barrage, and the film's only visual evidence of the fact that it was produced under fire.

It was in August, 1939, just two weeks before war was declared, that work was begun on the script. Pascal's original intention was to start shooting in October, but it was not until April of the next year that the first location shots were made in Devonshire.

"Road to Zanzibar"

When film-makers hear the public cry, "Encore!" its meaning to them is unmistakable, irresistible and pleasing.

Well, there is no doubt that moviegoers cried, "Encore!" to "Road to Singapore," and the stars, director, producer and writers of that picture have responded to the public's call. "Encore" has brought them all together again in a fusion of their brilliant talents for the making of the new Paramount comedy, "Road to Zanzibar," which opens Thursday, September 18, at the Palace Theatre.

The stars, of course, are that merry trio Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour, the producer, Paul Jones, the director, Victor Schertzinger and the writers, Frank Butler and Don Hartman.

Dickinson has always been right, and even his critics used to whisper in resignation, "You can't argue with God."

Keeping Out of War

The W.C.T.U., like about everybody else in Michigan, finds itself concerned in the present national crisis of whether we can stay out of war.

The white-ribboned mothers do not want their sons to drink. They also don't want them to go to war.

There is probably no church group in Michigan so devoted to the cause of peace as the W.C.T.U. They hate war with a grim determination that is kindred to their moral zeal for the good life. Likewise, they would be among the first to commend President Roosevelt for keeping us out of the holocaust, as he pledged one year ago to do. His opponent was Wendell L. Willkie, but that is beside the point.

At the Grand Rapids convention last week, the temperance ladies heard Charles P. Taft, assistant federal coordinator of health, welfare and related defense activities, declare: "War can be avoided and will be avoided." Then he added by postscript: "Surely we don't want to fight, but we have been thinking too much about how unpleasant it is to fight and not enough about the priceless heritage for which our forefathers for 300 years did fight and sometimes died. We ought to choose war only when the alternatives are worse."

Slump in Morale

Whether you are interested in liquor or an automobile or silk stockings or almost any other commodity, you invariably think around the circle until you come back to the central query in America today: "Where are we going from here?"

It is just another way of saying that some of us don't know where we're at and our morale is not what it should be.

Morale is a military word for enthusiasm, and belatedly it has become apparent to a lot of bigwigs in Washington as well as elsewhere that the public is reluctant to accept wartime sacrifices in peacetime.

As the United States News, edited by David Lawrence, puts it, "If the people will not accept the sacrifices without shooting war, then shooting war may become necessary to fulfill the foreign policies laid down by this government. A war, with loss of American life and sinking of American ships and forcing of the issue of victory or defeat, would be expected to provide the necessary emotional stimulus."

"Not Quite Waked Up"

Michigan-citizen William Knudsen, director-general of the Office of Production Management, recently voiced regret that the United States lacks the spirit to do the job.

"I don't think we have got it," Knudsen is quoted in the press as saying. "I think a good many of us have, but we haven't all got it. I have been all around, and we haven't quite waked up. Nobody has dropped any bombs on us yet."

Frank L. Kluckhorn, Washington correspondent for the New York Times, says that Americans, unlike the British who do their best work calmly, "are capable of gigantic efforts only when their emotions and dramatic instincts are aroused. They like a 'cause'."

This idealistic trait in American character prompted W. E. Woodward, American historian, to remark ironically in his "New American History": "At heart we are a nation of Sir Galahads, hellbent on rescuing the Holy Grail, at whatever cost." Exaggerated as it is, the statement does possess considerable merit.

Reform in Eclipse

The congressional vote on extension of the draft found both Michigan senators and nearly all representatives betting that we would stay at peace. Though division of opinion at Washington was a reflection, according to Walter Lippmann, newspaper columnist, of the Russians' amazing stand against the Nazi.

Yet the crisis in morale is not limited to the United States. English journals recently cautioned Britons that the "Yanks are not coming" and that British confidence in victory had become, due to Russia's unexpected resistence, perilous over-confidence and complacency.

Can America make good on the government's promise of all-out aid, as provided in the lend-lease act, without being in a shooting war? Or must we fight first before we sacrifice willingly? Here is the crossroad at which we find ourselves—like it or not.

It relegates the renewed objective of the W.C.T.U. into temporary eclipse. This reform, like many others, is linked inseparably with coming world events.

THE RECORD ... Facts That Concern You — No. 30 of a Series

A BAD ONE DOES TURN UP ONCE IN A WHILE!

Good weather and a bumper crop! Even then one finds a poor stalk once in a while.

The retailing of beer is something like that. Most beer retailers operate respectable law-abiding establishments. Occasionally one finds an exception—a man who tries to beat the law or who permits anti-social conditions.

The beer industry wants this type of undesirable retailer stamped out. Your cooperation will help us in our clean-up efforts.

The beer industry brings important benefits to the community. Here in Michigan, beer provides employment for 58,312 persons, supports an annual payroll of $58,300,740 and contributed $4,439,995.07 last year in state taxes.

Michigan, too, has an important stake in the beer industry's purchases—for materials, equipment, and services—from over 100 other industries.

You can help us protect these benefits in two ways. First—patronize only the reputable places where beer is sold. Second—report to the proper authorities any law violation you may observe.

great distance. It is a long ways by water, however, requiring many hours. Added to this mileage covered by boat are trips made by the coast guard truck, probably an equal or even greater distance. Yes, the Coast Guard station is a busy place under its present setup.

Inability to obtain steel necessary for construction of the state highway department's proposed bridge over the channel on U.S.31 is still holding up opening of bids at Lansing, we understand. They have postponed the opening twice, now, we've been told.

Virtues are learned at mother's knee, vices at some other joint.

Note that a metropolitan newspaper listed Charlevoix county as one of those in lower Michigan providing good deer hunting. It is no mistake, either, for this county does have an appreciable deer population.

Labor Day may unofficially mark the close of the summer resort season, but there are still many of our familiar summer residents with us.

"Talking through your hat" is also a good way to get it jammed down over your ears.

Frank Zeitler relates that a buck, doe and fawn have been frequently seen during the summer at his place in the west end of town, and that early this spring the fawn was hidden for some time in his raspberry patch. Frank's place is at the west end of Garfield avenue, inside the city limits.

Rainfall during late August and early September has made up for the scarcity throughout mid-summer. Records maintained at the Charlevoix Coast Guard station reveal a 1.52 fall August 29, 0.10 August 30, 1.80 August 31 for a total of 3.45 inches in three days. September's rainfall is checked at 1.42 on the 4th, 0.77 on the 5th, 0.17 on the 9th. Too bad we didn't have some of it a month earlier.

HOWE-LOWING WEDDING SOLEMNIZED SATURDAY AT BAPTIST PARSONAGE

Mrs. Helen McFarland Howe, daughter of Mrs. Mary McFarland of this city, and Gerald Lowing of Detroit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mary Lowing of Grandville, were married Saturday afternoon, September 6, at 1 o'clock. Rev. W. L. Cruthers performed the ceremony at the Baptist parsonage, in the presence of their immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. William Bergmann were attendants to the couple.

The bride wore a simple street-length dress of brown silk crepe, with British-tan accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of white gardenias. Mrs. Bergmann wore teal blue, with tan accessories and corsage of pink asters.

Dinner for the bridal party and their families was served at the Parkside Dining Room by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin McFarland, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. Places for twenty-five were laid at a lace-covered table decorated with bowls of flowers, and centered with a beautiful wedding cake.

Following a short trip through northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Lowing are making their home in Mt. Clemens.

Out of town guests at the wedding were the groom's mother, Mrs. Mary Lowing, and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Lowing, of Grandville, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lowing, of Grand Rapids.

COUNTY FLAG TO BE PRESENTED AT FAIR

J. L. Hudson Company, of Detroit, Originator and Donor

Michigan is probably the first state in the Union to have a complete set of county flags. They're unofficial, of course, and (with two exceptions) there is only one of each in existance, but they are interesting, attractive flags, designating Michigan's products and land marks in their colorful designs.

These flags were created in 1940 by the J. L. Hudson Company, of Detroit, working in collaboration with Michigan editors, educators, public officials and other interested groups. They were made expressly for a grand display at the Hudson store last September.

Following the display the J. L. Hudson Company announced that it would give the flags to the various counties as soon as a plan could be worked out.

The plan of distribution of these Michigan county flags has now been completed. Earlier this year a special civic award committee was appointed in every county to select the organization or institution within their county which, in their opinion, deserved special award or which should most properly accept custodianship of the flag for the county.

The presentation of this flag in this county will be a feature on the program of the Charlevoix county Fair the afternoon of September 12 at 3:30 o'clock.

County School Commissioner William C. Palmer, member of the civic award committee, has been invited to describe the county flag project briefly and to introduce a special representative of the J. L. Hudson Company, who will present it to the District Health Unit who will accept it for Charlevoix county and acknowledge custodianship of the flag.

The county flags are each five by eight feet in size, are made of silk and are hand-sewn with designs appliqued in three or more colors on both sides.

ANNUAL TOURIST MEETING IS SET FOR OCT. 1-2

Bumper Resort Season Expected to Create Greater Interest

The 1941 Tourist and Resort season proved to be the best in years, according to Hugh J. Gray, secretary-manager of the West Michigan Tourist & Resort Assn. "The excellent season means that we should have the most successful annual meeting in the history of the Association in Grand Rapids, October 1 and 2," Mr. Gray said.

"In the face of uncertain conditions this year the Tourist Association and the tourist interests of the region, with a definite program of action, made of 1941 a banner resort year," Gray continued. "Now is none too soon to begin planning a program of action for 1942 to cope with new problems and situations that certainly will present themselves."

No changes in the curricular schedule have been made from last year. However, the policy of allowing graduation credits for such activities as band, athletics, play production, class officership, committee work, etc., will be continued. Enough points earned will allow one-half to one credit which can be counted in with the 16 credits needed for graduation. Complying with a new regulation adopted at the annual meeting, a course either in religion or character education will be compulsory for students from the 7th grade up. Seven ministers of local churches will teach the course in religion, members of the faculty the character education course. The required time is a half hour each week.

The school system will operate two busses to transport students this year. Operators employed are Glenroy Ikens and Lloyd Arnold, the latter to be employed also as custodian. One bus will operate to Ironton, picking up students of Grand View and Loeb schools. The other will operate from Norwood, accommodating students of the closed Hilton school and high school students of that district.

Necessary repairs and maintenance of buildings has been completed in preparation for the opening.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPENED MONDAY

REGULAR SCHEDULE CLASSES NOW UNDER WAY

Substantial Increase In Enrollment Second Day of School Revealed by Report

Charlevoix public schools opened Monday fur the 1941-42 term and regular routine is now under way.

Enrollment figures reported by Supt. O. P. North, now only tentative and expected to increase as the term advances, showed a substantial increase over that fur the second day of school a year ago when an infantile paralysis scare kept many students, especially those of the lower grades, at home.

The total school enrollment Tuesday was 573, an increase of 41 over the same day a year ago. The present senior high enrollment is 157, compared to 161 last year, junior high 123, compared to 135, elementary department 293, compared to 236. While upper grades have a decrease in initial enrollment, lower grades have more than offset the difference.

Following is the enrollment by grades:

High School
Grade	1940	1941
12th grade	51	40
11th grade	46	57
10th grade	64	60
	161	157
Junior High
9th grade	69	52
8th grade	34	39
7th grade	64	60
	135	123
Elementary Department
6th grade	35	41
5th grade	35	34
4th grade	31	39
3rd grade	36	51
2nd grade	37	36
1st grade	28	49
Kindergarten	34	43
	236	293

Mr. North announced that the senior class enrollment included nine students taking post-graduate work. Forty-one students are attending from Ironton, Loeb and Grand View schools, and 27 are being accommodated by the new bus operating to Norwood.

BASEBALL TILT SUNDAY, CENTRAL LAKE

Local Team to Meet Antrim Champs In Final Contest

Weather conditions permitting, Charlevoix baseball team will conclude its season next Sunday at Central Lake.

Charlevoix nipped the Central Lake outfit, champions of Antrim county, by a 4 to 2 count at the Fair last week, thus Central Lake asked the return tilt. Amos John held the Antrim county team to three hits, two of them doubles, at East Jordan.

Charlevoix was eliminated in the Fair play-off by East Jordan. Both teams got six hits, but Charlevoix errors proved their undoing.

OFFICERS ELECTED W.C.T.U. MEETING

Plan to Send Delegates to District Convention at Bellaire

At a meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held last Friday afternoon in the community room, the following officers were elected for the year beginning October 1: president, Mrs. Trinn Nelson; vice-president, Mrs. May Smith; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ella Usher; recording secretary, Mrs. Louise Hansen; treasurer, Mrs. Annie Saltnstall.

Plans were made to send delegates to the district convention to be held at Bellaire on September 30.

Mrs. William C. Palmer gave an interesting report of the national convention which she recently attended in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Saltonstall, who presented the topic, "The Nation's Drink Bill", gave Internal Revenue Department figures showing the people of the United States drank 1,834,392,741 gallons of legal liquor during the year ending June 30, 1941, costing approximately $3,327,644,370. The per capita consumption was about 14 gallons and the per capita cost $25.00.

NEW BRIDGE BIDS OPEN SEPT. 24TH

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT ASKS BIDS ON STRUCTURE

One 90-Foot, Two 40-Foot Spans With 44-Foot Roadway Specified in Project Plans

Bids on the state highway department's proposed bascule type bridge spanning the channel between Round Lake and Lake Michigan on U.S.31 will be opened Wednesday, September 24, at Lansing.

A readvertisement for bids, appearing elsewhere in these columns, outlines that work on the project will consist of constructing a temporary bridge and approaches with movable span, removing existing structure, furnishing and installing the bascule span and machinery, necessary grading and incidental work.

Opening of bids had been previously postponed, it is understood, because of inability of interested contractors to obtain steel needed for the structure.

When the project is started, it is understood a temporary bridge, similar to the one to be removed, will be built east of the present structure to handle traffic while the new bridge is being built. Detours on both north and south sides of the channel will be built.

The new bridge, according to state highway department officials, will consist of one 90-foot span and two 40-foot spans. It will have a 44-foot roadway and two six-foot sidewalks. The estimated cost of the project is $480,000.

NO SPAWN FISHING DEPARTMENT RULES

Conservation Commission Turns Down Change Requested

Tabling a resolution that would have allowed commercial fishermen to take lake trout after close of the regular season, the conservation commission, at its September meeting, upheld its policy of opposing "spawn fishing" as a means of artificial propagation.

In presenting the resolution, a spokesman of the Michigan Commercial Fish Producers' Association stated that fishermen would turn over trout spawn to the conservation department, but Fred A. Westerman, chief of the fish division, told commissioners that success of the artificial lake trout propagation is doubtful, investigations disclosing no co-ordination between plantings and actual catch.

DEFER ALL MEN OVER 28 YEARS

NEW ORDER EFFECTS 37 MEN IN THIS COUNTY

Those Deferred Placed In Classification 1-H, According to County Draft Board

A total of 37 registrants for selective military service through the Charlevoix county draft board have been placed in deferred Classification 1-H as a result of congressional action deferring men over 28 and under 35 from active duty.

These men were either over 28 upon their registration last October, or have reached the age since that time.

Many remained unclassified before the order came through to place them in Class 1-H. Another group had already been examined and placed in Class 1-B. Some were already in Class 1-A and available for military duty. A total of 12 men already inducted from this county have reached the age of 28, it was announced by Fay Davis, draft board clerk.

Following is the list of men automatically classified as 1-H's:

Louis Andrews, Douglas Livingston, Roswell Williams, Jerry Walker, Jacob Ross, Charles Krulik, Franklin Left, George Deschermeir, Custer Howe, Guy John, Glenn Heise and Joseph Lampetl, of Charlevoix;

CITY MOURNS DEATH OF MRS. EVA HANSHEW

Had Been Highly Respected Resident Here Since 1894

Mrs. Eva Hanshew, 73, passed away Friday morning at her home on Antrim street.

Eva May Liscome was born in Benton Harbor, November 10, 1867. She first came to Charlevoix as a young girl with her parents. Later they went to what is now the state of North Dakota, where she married Alonzo A. Hanshew on August 21, 1883, in Devil's Lake, Ramsey county, Territory of Dakota. They lived in Indiana and several Michigan cities before returning to Charlevoix in 1894, to make their permanent home. Mr. Hanshew died May 2, 1916.

Of their seven children, five survive. They are Mrs. Ward Bennett, of Grand Haven and Beaver Island, Mrs. Verl O. Cram, of Port Huron, Mrs. J. R. Whitehead, of Bronson, Clarence Hanshew, of Durand, and Justin Hanshew, of Detroit. Also surviving are six grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. A. D. Gaddard of Redding, Calif.

Mrs. Hanshew was a member of the Christian Science society.

COAST GUARD RESCUE MAN ADRIFT 17 HOURS

Cheboygan Man Located on The Straits by Plane Monday

Kenneth Boucher, Cheboygan businessman, was rescued by the air detachment of the U. S. Coast Guard Service early Monday morning after drifting 17 hours in a rowboat during a heavy storm in the Straits of Mackinac.

Boucher was fishing off the mouth of Cheboygan river late Sunday when a sudden blow took him out into Lake Huron. When rescued he was 15 miles from Cheboygan river in the Straits.

Boucher was located by Lieut. R. R. Johnson, commander, and crew of the coast guard amphibian plane called from its temporary base at Traverse City, and was picked up by the Bois Blanc coast guardsmen.

MISSIONARY TO BE RECOGNIZED

PLAN FETE FOR THE REV. GEORGE A. WEAVER

All-Day Service Sunday, September 28th, at Petoskey, Marks Half Century of Work

Plans are being made by the American Sunday School Union to honor the Rev. George A. Weaver, of Petoskey, for 50 years of work for the Sunday schools of northern Michigan. He came to Petoskey in the fall of 1891 and has since been busy for others till he is known and loved by all classes of people for his willingness to help those in need as well as for his devotion to the Sunday school work.

During the first year in this area he traveled over 5000 miles, many of them on foot, and visited in over 800 homes. Transportation was not the easy matter it now is. "If I were there when the logging train went, I got a ride," Mr. Weaver said. Sometimes the road that led into the woods did not lead out again as is evidenced from this notation in his records, "Walked 17 miles, got lost in the woods. Came home at 9:30 p. m., 10 calls." At other times the road did not go through and he had to turn back as we see from this notation dated February 19, 1893, "Started to Hortons Bay, but did not get through." Here is another interesting notation for a Tuesday, October 18, 1892, "At Carp Lake, helped a farmer thresh."

GAME BIRD RANGE IN FOOD SUPPLY AREAS

Change of Location Is No Sign of Shortage of Birds

Hunters of ruffed grouse, sharptails, and prairie chicken should not be afraid to stray from their favorite hunting spots if birds are not present, conservation department game men advise, because birds follow food supplies and often change locations.

Prairie chicken and sharptails to a large degree and ruffed grouse to a lesser degree range widely in search of cherries, blueberries, thornapples and other fruit, as well as insects.

Reports from game men, sportsmen and conservation officers indicate that hunters should find good crops of birds in uplands this fall.

Ruffed grouse may be taken in the upper peninsula from October 1 to 20 and in the lower peninsula from October 15 to November 5. Season on sharptails and prairie chickens is the same as for ruffed grouse in the northern peninsula from October 15 to November 5. There is no open season on the latter two species south of townline 12.

FIELD CROP CONDITION IS REPORTED

WEATHER CONDITIONS WILL AFFECT YIELDS

Fruit Growers Having Exceptional Year According to Agricultural Report

The condition of field crops in Michigan September 1 was not as good as reported a month earlier but fruit growers in the state are harvesting a fruit crop of excellent quality, V. H. Church, senior agriculture statistician for the Michigan Cooperative Crop Reporting Service, reports.

"Weather conditions have been more favorable than usual for control of disease and insect pests, and have been generally satisfactory thus far for harvesting fruit," Church said in his monthly report on crop conditions.

"However, the extremely hot weather during the last half of July and first half of August caused rapid evaporation of ground moisture, and resulted in lowering the conditions of field crops," Church said.

He added that the condition of corn September 1 indicated a yield of 31 bushels per acre compared with an estimate of 37 bushels a month earlier. He said 31 bushels was practically the 10-year average and was equivalent to a production of 46,810,000 bushels.

Church said Michigan's large acreage of beans survived the dry spell better than expected because of the thrifty growth of vines. However, he reduced the August 1 estimate for bean production 25 per cent to 1,856 bags, somewhat above the 10-year average.

Michigan potato crop production was estimated at 19,750,000 bushels which, he said, represents about an average yield per acre on the present law acreage base.

COUNTY FAIR A GREAT SUCCESS

DISPLAYS AND EXHIBITS WERE OUTSTANDING

F. J. Gallagher, Charlevoix, Winner Car; Number On Radio Prize Announced

Friday night brought to a close the 56th annual Charlevoix county Fair, termed by officials one of the finest exhibits ever held.

Displays of all description were outstanding this year. The 4-H Club exhibits were probably the most representative of the entire county ever arranged. Display winners are announced in detail elsewhere in these columns. Livestock exhibits were entered from scattered points throughout northern Michigan, exceeding in number and quality any previous year.

Francis J. Gallagher, of Charlevoix, won the Studebaker Champion car at Friday night's drawing. Gallagher produced the winning ticket within a few minutes after first turn of the wheel. Strangely coincident, was the fact Gallagher's tickets were procured on the purchase a short time previous of another Studebaker car.

Attention!

Holder of ticket No. 234867 is entitled to a radio donated by Ingalls Appliance Co. of Charlevoix, and Boyne City Gas & Construction Co. of Boyne City. The party submitting the ticket nearest to this number on or before October 1, will be awarded the radio. Mail all entries to Mike Barnett, East Jordan.

East Jordan won the baseball championship in a play-off between Charlevoix, Boyne City, Central Lake and East Jordan. An exceptional large field of entries created more than usual interest in the horse racing program and resulted in keen competition.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Announcements of movie marriages made in Hollywood should always end with a comma and space for correction.

Just found out that Earl (Pioneer Auto) Miller ended the trout season in a glorious manner. He and some friend portaged way back into the Canadian wilds some place where they caught brookies that Earl said were as long as from the sole of his boot to his knee joint,— and Earl's quite a long-legged cuss, too.

With Stalin lined up now with England, wonder if they will still use the phrase of "making the world safe for democracy."?

A resolution from the Michigan Commercial Fish Producers' Association requesting fishermen be permitted to take lake trout after close of the regular season was tabled by the Conservation Commission at its September meeting. The fishermen promised to turn trout spawn over to the department, but Fred A. Westerman, chief of the fish division, told commissioners that success of artificial lake trout propagation was doubtful, investigations disclosing no co-ordination between plantings and actual catch. Such an excuse sounds weak to this writer. If the department would produce proof that natural propagation produces better results than artificial, then Westerman would have had grounds for his assertion. In contradiction to such recorded proof that spawn gathered by fishermen before the closed season plan was introduced hatched out at the federal hatchery here as high as 98%, and consistently so, too, Westerman refutes feasibility of spawn fishing. He ignores the fact that for two years the hatchery has raised nearly a million lake

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

When the state legislature convenes Thursday, October 9, following its unprecedented recess in protest against vetoes of Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, Republican leaders will move for another 90 day extension.

That's the betting among well-informed observers at the state capital this week.

The arguments run something like this:

1. Legislative adjournment next month would be tantamount to confession that the Republican leadership "pulled a boner", that the Democratic governor was right.

2. Governor Van Wagoner is showing Dutchman traits of standing fast, unyielding to pressure for a bi-partisan compromise. No deal is in prospect.

Home Folks

3. Republican lawmakers who are in daily contact with the voters back home report cheerfully that the folks on Main Street and the rural routes are not particularly disturbed or critical at the legislature's recess.

"After all, Congress is still in session", so they say. "It isn't going to cost the taxpayers anything to have us available for instant call if an emergency arises.

"Unlike a special session, a legislative recess does not allow payment of mileage for travel to and from Lansing. And anyway, our pay is going to be the same whether we meet for 90 days or 365."

4. Economic problems in Michigan may need legislative attention by January. We may be shoulder-high in a shooting war. Inability of manufacturing plants to get materials and curtailment of automobile production may result in severe temporary unemployment in the state next winter.

The state defense council is hopeful that mounting defense production will cut down the unemployment lag in industrial centers, making the adjustment period comparatively short—say, 60 to 90 days. Manufacturers are

Attractive and Complete 4-H Club Exhibit at County Fair

The 4-H Club Department exhibit in the educational building of the county fair held last week won the acclaim of all who viewed it. Turning back the pages of The Courier to the past is the purpose of this column. We hope you enjoy it!

Twenty-five Years Ago

A certain Charlevoix resident had a peculiar accident with an Oakland car the other day. Attempting to back it from in front of the Central Drug store in order to turn north on Bridge street, he got one foot mixed up with the accelerator. After whizzing across Bridge street, climbing the curb and narrowly missing two trees the machine brought up at the fence between George Glados' place and the park. (Can you remember when there were trees and fences in the downtown district?)

Miss Marion Harris, of this city, and Lynn M. Purdy, of Los Angeles, Calif., were married last Thursday at the Meech cottage on Chicago avenue. They will reside in Los Angeles.

Under the caption, "And the Little Old Ford Rambles Right Along," is told how a car overturned with three occupants. The editor noted that cause of the accident was a blow-out, but added that the principal reason was the "diluted condition of the gasoline."

Surprise! A Mrs. Florsheim advertises for a cottage for the next season. Nowadays cottage owners are looking for renters.

No Bull! George Meggison, Marion township farmer, had a narrow escape from death last week when charged by an enraged bull, and was knocked down and trampled. Managing to get to his feet, but cornered against a fence by the bull, Mr. Meggison got hold of the animal's nose ring and held him off until help came.

In the Board of Education report appears an item of $3.75 paid to Kenneth Usher, janitor. We ask you, dear reader, would it have been better for the Courier if he'd stuck to that original trade?

Lon Hewitt, Walter Smith and H. Tillotson "Forded" to Mancelona, Sunday.

The Beach Hotel reports good business and it is expected will be open until about October 1st.

Charles Novak is planning some changes in his store building on Bridge street. When completed, Thompson and McKinnon will occupy one side and the Western Union the other. A 50-foot brick addition will replace the old wooden structure.

Charlevoix must have taken ills baseball pretty seriously back in '21, judging from the fact that 3,500 fans turned out to watch Loeb's sodbusters take Boyne City, champions of the Northern Michigan League, by a score of 6-4.

Ruby Helen Shockley and Vern Breitmayer were married last Thursday, and will reside in Jackson.

Miss Clara Thorson (now Mrs. Charles Heise) will teach at the Loeb school for the coming year.

Henry Block has purchased the Ham Nowland house and is having it moved from near the old sugar factory to State street.

John Nordrum is improving his property on the south side of Round lake, near Booth Fisheries packing house. The old bonthouse, formerly at the water's edge, has been moved to the back end of the lot and remodeled into a work shop. A new landing dock is under construction.

Work is nearly completed on the five new slips on Round lake at the foot of Antrim street, and also on the band stand in the city park.

Among summer residents returning home this week were the E. J. Block family of Chicago, the Charles M. Rice and Alvin D. Goldman families of St. Louis, Mo.

In the Charlevoix Golf Club caddy tournament played last week, Glenn Gill won the first flight, with Billy Novak as runner-up. Willard Smith won the second flight, over Robert McCall.

Charlevoix high school's football team is preparing to swing into action against Onaway next Saturday in the opening game of the season. In the line-up are eight letter men; Joe Arvilla, Homer Struthers, Norman Ance, Charles Novotny, Jerry Walker, Devere Bird, Dan Geneit and Vic McSauby. Other promising players are Joe Smith, George LaBlanc, Hugh Parker, David Dick, Howard Davenport, Edwin McCann, Emerald Chew, Harold Potter, Bernard Foster.

Miss Mary Bronerski and Oscar H. Molle, of Kewaunee, Wis., were married Monday, September 7.

Rev. W. W. Hurd, of Clare, has been appointed to succeed Rev. John E. Lockyer as pastor of the Methodist church.

Students leaving for college include Stanley Cartier to Blair College, Blair, N. J.; Charles Bleha and Robert Foster to Mt. Plensant; Lola Fessenden to Olivet; Audrey Staley to Davenport-McLaughlin in Grand Rapids; Bill Novak, Joe Smith and Gilbert Sultonstall to the University of Michigan; Vincent Madison to Columbia University.

Donn Ogden has gone to Swanamoa, N. C., where he has accepted a position as instructor of landscape architecture, civil engineering and wrestling coach in the public schools. Doan has attained some prominence in landscaping, but we never heard any more of his progress in the wrestling line.

FALL FISHING IS BEST MOST ANGLERS SAY

Look Forward to Steelhead Fishing and Fall Perch Run

Michigan's fall fishing, during September and October, is the best time of the year say the old time fishermen who do a little more with their fishing than just wet a line occasionally.

Bass fishing on the inland lakes really begins to come into its own with the crisp fall nights and when the mists hang like a grey blanket over the surface of the water until the sun is up far enough to pierce the covering. Fly fishing for blue gills, an increasingly popular sport for the folks who fish Michigan waters, takes on a lot of new life in the autumn.

Although trout fishing generally closes with Labor Day, some of the larger rivers still are open for fishing for the big rainbows and those "October Thunderbolts" can pack a whole season of fishing fun into a few minutes when you tie into one of the big fellows in the heavy water.

Lake trout fishing from ports of Northport, Traverse City, Elk Rapids, Charlevoix, Petoskey, or Good Hart and the other lake trout fishing ports, attract a lot of fall fishing devotees.

* HOW THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT WORKS *
* * * * * * * * * *

Editor's Note: This is the fifth of a series of articles explaining the programs for social security operated by the Federal and State governments.

The Michigan State Employment Service is responsible by law for helping to find jobs for all who want to work — young and old, skilled and unskilled.

Some of the State employment offices have been able to find more jobs than other offices. However, the help which workers can get from the State employment offices is steadily increasing. As a matter of fact, the Federal Government is doing more today than ever before to encourage employers to hire workers through the State Employment Service.

On June 15, President Roosevelt wrote a letter to the Office of Production Management, in which he said, "Our Government cannot countenance continued discrimination against American citizens in defense production. Industry must take the initiative in opening the doors of employment to all loyal and qualified workers regardless of race, national origin, religion or color."

Ten days later the President issued an executive order establishing a committee on fair employment practice in the Office of Production Management.

The executive order also included these significant provisions: "All departments and agencies of the Government of the United States concerned with vocational and training programs for defense production shall take special measures appropriate to assure that such programs are administered without discrimination.

"All contracting agencies of the Government of the United States shall include in all defense contracts hereafter negotiated by them a provision obligating the contractor not to discriminate against any workers."

Without going into a lot of statistics, there are a couple of other facts which show how important it is for workers who want jobs to apply at their local State Employment offices.

Paul V. McNutt, Administrator of the Federal Security Agency, of which the Social Security Board is a part, states that the expansion of defense industries has caused an increase in opportunities for all workers.

He said also that their chances for skilled jobs have increased.

Sidney Hillman, Associate Director General of the Office of Production Management, in a letter dated April 11, 1941, wrote to defense contractors that his office "expects defense contractors to utilize ALL available local labor resources before resorting to the recruiting of additional labor from outside their local areas."

To carry out this policy outlined by Mr. Hillman, the State Employment offices of the Nation have been asked to make every effort to see that all workers get a fair opportunity for jobs in defense industries and for training for defense jobs.

The Social Security Board has told the State Employment offices that all qualified workers must be given a chance at job openings.

For these reasons, all workers who want jobs or who want to get training for defense jobs should register at their local State employment office. You can find the address by looking in the telephone book or by asking at the post office.

* TAKES KEEN EYE TO BUY HOSIERY *
* * * * * * * * * *

Hosiery is one of the most unpredictable items in many a woman's clothing budget. Like other misfortunes, there seems to be no telling when snags, runs, and holes will appear.

A woman can eliminate many stocking disasters by intelligent hosiery shopping and care of the stockings after they are bought, it is agreed by home economics extension specialists of Michigan State College. Longer wear and greater comfort are assured from a pair of stockings if a woman checks important points of hosiery selection before she buys.

These important points include:

First — of what fiber are the stockings made? Available on the market now are attractive, well-fitting stockings in cotton, silk, wool, rayon and other synthetics, and mixtures of fibers.

Suitable stockings for general wear are of cotton, of silk and synthetics, in heavy and medium weights. For sports, there are cotton, wool, and service-weight silk. For evening, there are light-weight silk, rayon, and other synthetics, and cotton in novelty knits.

What weight? One reason hose wear out too quickly is that weight is not suited to use. Usually, it's because the stockings are too sheer for the heavy wear they get. Three-thread yarns are stronger than two-threads. Fineness of knitting is indicated by the gauge number. The higher the gauge number, the finer the knitting.

Texture—"courses" or loops of thread that show up best on the wrong side should be close together so the stockings will be strong and have plenty of up-and-down stretch.

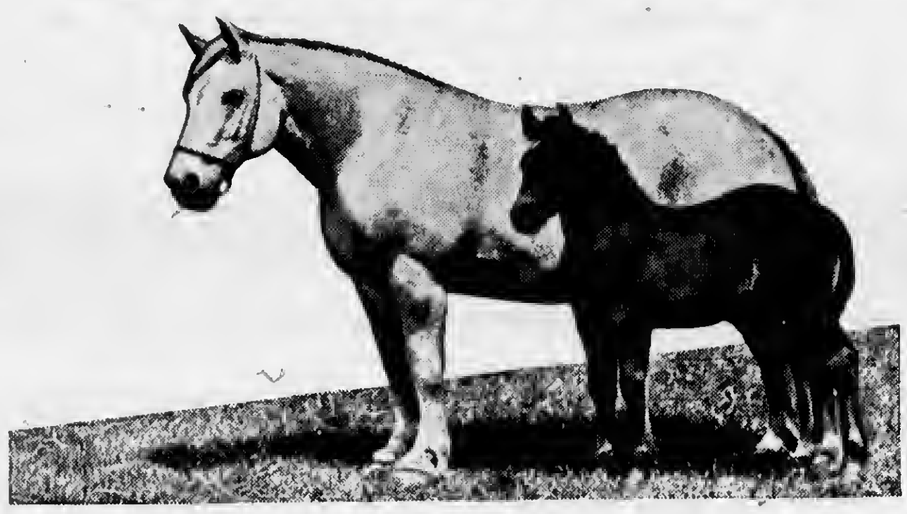
Elasticity — necessary to stocking comfort is a certain amount of stretch in a stocking. Otherwise the stocking soon develops baggy knees and bunchy ankles.

Reinforcements—look for sturdy reinforcements where the hardest wear comes—at the heel, the high splice that comes up above the shoe line, the sole of the stocking, and the toe.

Size—stockings the right size wear better, feel better. Usually a stocking foot length should be ½ inch longer than the foot. Stocking size is the length of the stocking foot in inches. Size 9 would be 9 inches long. Wool hose usually should be about a half size larger to allow for shrinkage.

Laundering—wash hose in mild, lukewarm suds. Rinse twice in clear, lukewarm water. Stretch feet and legs to shape and hang to dry, away from radiators or other heating devices.

HORSEPOWER ON THE HOOF



A Michigan brood mare with her seventeenth foal. Most of the sires enrolled in the state are of the heavy draft breeds—Belgians and Percherons.

EVEN in motor-wise Michigan, the horse still has a big share in getting the day's work done. Automobiles and trucks have replaced him on the road. Tractors are taking away much of his heavy farm work. But there are plenty of jobs left for him to do, faithfully and profitably. Michigan's horse population is 340,000, in addition to which there are 7,000 mules in the state.

Many farmers use the telephone to order hay and feed, to arrange for hiring out their teams on road work or on farm jobs for the neighbors, or to consult the veterinarian. Horse dealers call up their customers to make sales, and keep in touch with breeders and shippers by Long Distance.

Today, good work teams are in demand, and there is increased interest in raising colts in Michigan. Horses have played a mighty part in developing our resources, and it looks as if they're here to stay.

The farm horse earns his keep by doing many kinds of work not suited to mechanical power. This sturdy team is typical of Michigan's work horses.

DRAIN, REFILL, and POSTPONE your next quart

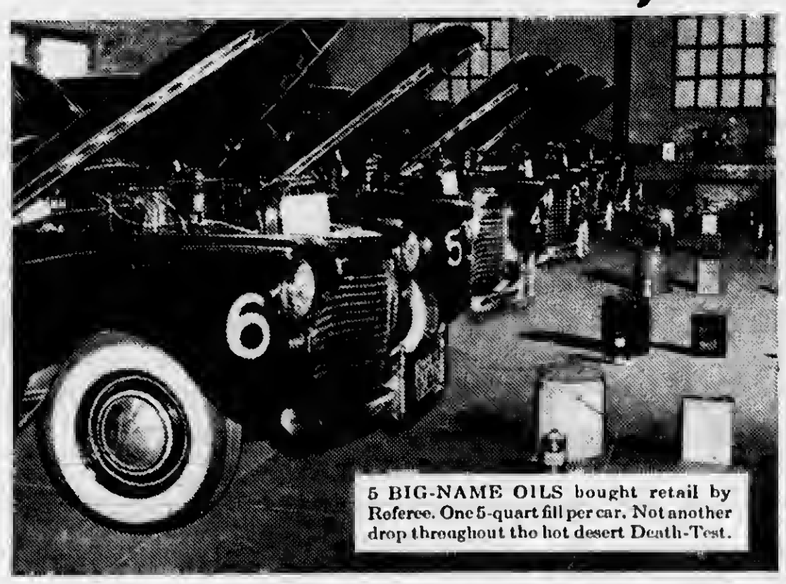
New oil lasted 5,683 miles longer than the runner-up in Death Valley Death-Test ...CERTIFIED



5 BIG-NAME OILS bought retail by Referee. One 5-quart fill per car. Not another drop throughout the hot desert Death-Test.

Your own engine gauge-stick can tell you best about Conoco Nth motor oil. Next-best is to buttonhole the most frugal car owners you know around town. Some have never yet added a quart since changing to Conoco Nth. And you can see why right here—by the mileage figures from the Certified Death-Test of Conoco Nth oil vs. five other big brands.

The whole big success of Conoco Nth started down in Death Valley—so hot you can't sweat. Here 6 new stock cars, strictly alike, each got one 5-quart fill of some one oil being tested. Then the Official Referee clamped on the locks; never a drop of oil could be added.

Eyed by impartial officials every instant, the cars all reeled off their 57 miles hourly. Here and there on the desert a carcass lay bleaching—and desert death awaited these car engines, too. For none could finish till its oil hit bottom—finishing the engine beyond repair.

CONOCO Nth gave nearly Twice the miles averaged by the others tested!

The 5-quart fill of Conoco Nth lasted 13,398 miles . . . Certified. Conoco Nth outlasted one big brand by 8,268 miles. Even the best of the five was outlasted 5,683 miles by Conoco Nth oil. Such a real difference must have a real source. And two real life-givers created by man . . . two modern synthetics . . . are in Conoco Nth motor oil.

You know of modern vitamin synthetics, making up for Nature's life-givers lost in some modern food processing. Similarly, the extreme refining needed by oils for current cars has been destroying Nature's best life-givers! But in their place today Conoco Nth brings your engine the two patented Conoco synthetics.

One of these—man-made under the famed Germ Processed oil patent—will keep your engine OIL-PLATED with lubricant that can't all quickly drain off of inner surfaces. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance!

And the latest Conoco synthetic—man-made under U.S. Pat. 2,218,132—will check "festering" of oil that's encouraged by foul leftovers from every engine's normal firing. This common oil trouble is now checked or inhibited by the new man-made Conoco life-giver—Thialkene inhibitor.

You'll never Death-Test your Conoco Nth oil in sinister Death Valley, any more than you repeat other proving-ground tortures. You'll still drain and refill at recommended intervals. But how you'll expect to stretch the distance before adding a quart, judging by this big fact: 5 heavily advertised oils in the Certified Death Valley Test were outmileaged 74% to 161% by Conoco Nth oil. Economy like that counts up into dollars! Change to Nth oil today at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

(Associated Newspapers.) WNU Service.

AT THE same moment when Bob Terrill picked up the telephone receiver, his sense of smell was repulsed by the odor of burning copy paper mingling with the hot lead on a matrix sheet. Black smoke trailed lazily through the door that opened on the stairway leading to the basement where was located the linotype machines, casting box, press and other minor equipment connected with a small newspaper establishment.

"Fire! Fire!" Bob slammed up the receiver and raced for the stairway. At the door he met Kent Locke, who constituted the Telegram's editorial staff.

"Keep your shirt on, Bob. There's no fire and you know it!"

"Of course I know it, you idiot! But if we can stir up a little excitement we might create a story. Besides, it'd give those poor devils down below a chance to get a breath of fresh air."

"Yeh! And have Percy on our necks for corrupting the routine of his shop. Bob, we gotta think of something else to solve the problem besides yelling 'fire!' every time a whiff of smoke trails up the stairs."

Kent led the way back to his desk, Bob following. En route they passed Miss Lucille Swift, stenographer. At the moment, Miss Swift's attractive visage was partly obscured in the folds of a dainty handkerchief, which she held still more daintily to a cute nose, while layers of ill-smelling smoke eddied about her.

Editor Locke flopped dejectedly into his chair, set fire to a cigarette and stared morosely at his partner of the newspaper world.

"Bob, old sock, we're stuck and we ought to admit it with good grace. When we moved into these quarters two weeks ago we were so all-fired concerned with saving money because of the reduction of rent, it never occurred to us to give a thought to minor details. As a result we discovered the basement lacks in ventilation facilities, which, in turn, results in an unhealthy atmosphere below and above stairs whenever Percy has the casting box in operation.

Kent sat down on the curb and motioned Bob beside him. Uninvited Miss Swift sat down on the other side.

"Which means that once or twice a week we're smoked out of the joint. And the minute we set up a yowl to the landlord, he flashes the lease we signed in our faces and yowls right back at us about the low rent we're paying."

"Which by now," Bob Terrill snapped, "is all a very old story and doesn't get us anything at all. Look at the smoke trailing up the stairs. Think what it'll be in real cold weather when we can't keep the doors open! Kent, there must be an answer—"

Bob broke off abruptly. Outside there was a sudden clanging of bells, a whining of sirens.

"What the—" Men in rubber coats and hats, carrying axes and dragging behind them a heavy hose, were rushing in through the front door. They didn't see the occupants of the place at first, because of the density of the smoke. And before Kent and Bob could reach the doorway, the hose nozzle had begun to spout water.

"Hey! Hey, you blokes, lay off!"

Bob came groping through the smoke layers, grabbing the fireman's arm. The stream of water was discontinued. The fireman looked at Bob in some alarm.

"Hey, you better get out of here, buddy! How many more are inside? Anyone overcome? Bill, put on your gas mask and look around before I start the water."

"Wait a minute! Wait a minute!" Bob was tugging at the man's rubber-sleeved arm. "There isn't any fire. It's just smoke coming from the casting box downstairs. Don't turn on that water again. You'll wreck the joint!"

"Huh! No fire? Say, what is this? Listen, buddy, who was it yowled over the phone ten minutes ago and then dropped the receiver like he was in an awful hurry to get out of the place? Whatta yuh mean, no fire? Looks to me like the damned place is ready to explode!"

Other firemen had crowded in, one, a short fat man, appearing to possess some sort of authority. Miss Swift had escaped to the street, dainty handkerchief and all. Kent, who seemed to have grasped the significance of what it was all about, plucked the short, fat man's arm and led him outside. The man with the hose stood uncertainly beside Miss Swift's desk, looking like a man whose dying wish was to squirt water all over the Telegram's new furniture. Others of the brigade disappeared below.

The humor of the thing suddenly struck Bob and he began to grin.

"Listen, chief, it was all a mistake. I didn't mean to yell over the phone. I was calling Miss Mary Lane to get the church notes. Well, at the exact moment I picked up the receiver I saw smoke trailing up the stairway and yelled 'fire!' a couple of times. Didn't realize I still had the phone in my hands. Say, those operators are on the job all right, trailing a call as quick as that. Make a good news story. Anyway, I discovered there wasn't any fire at all. Percy, the foreman of the print shop downstairs, was merely casting some mats. You see the place isn't very well ventilated. Have a cigarette, chief?"

The man with the hose looked dubious. Followed by the short, fat man, Kent had returned to the office. He led the way to the cellar stairs and dived below, the fat man following.

Bob hesitated, glanced once more at the man with the hose, decided that the Telegram furniture was safe from a sprinkling for the time being, and started for the stairs.

Halfway down he collided with someone coming up. Visibility was poor, and so Bob turned and returned upstairs again. Behind him came Kent, the short, fat man, Percy and his two helpers. All were gasping.

The entire gathering adjourned to the street, the man with the hose fondling the heavy nozzle.

The short fat man was watching Kent and looking serious. Kent looked rather oratorical as he stood there, supplementing a rapid fire conversation with gestures.

Presently the short, fat man nodded solemnly, made a few notes in a book, summoned his brigade and climbed aboard the big red truck that was parked at the curb.

Kent sat down on the curb and motioned Bob beside him. Uninvited Miss Swift sat down on the other side. She no longer held a dainty handkerchief to her nose, a fact which improved her appearance tremendously.

"Bob, old son, the problem is solved. That was the fire chief I was talking to. I took him downstairs and pointed out the reason for the false alarm. At first he was ugly, but when I explained that our landlord had refused, despite our constant demands, to remodel the place, he became indignant. Bob, within a week's time, the whole building is going to be remodeled by order of the fire commission, which means we'll have an up-to-date plant."

Bob grinned, and got to his feet. "Mister, excuse me a minute. I got to write a swell story about telephone operators that trace calls in record time. The church notes will have to wait."

Kent looked up and grinned back. "Hop to it, old son. I got a date to buy our stenographer a flock of dainty silk handkerchiefs that she can apply to her nose for other purposes than obliterating her sense of smell."

Wealth Not Necessary For Valuable Donations

Many people have a puritanical feeling that they are not giving unless they are sacrificing, which is akin to the old idea that unless medicine tastes bad it can have no virtue. Men and women whose hearts are bigger than their pocketbooks know better. By exercising their ingenuity, they find unusual methods of bringing happiness to others, and incidentally, pleasure to themselves.

Consider time, for example. A little time, given away, may be riches to someone. Last year my friend Mrs. B. presented a neighbor, an overburdened mother, with a gift of 48 Tuesday afternoons. Once a week she took the place of this mother, who could not afford help and had little opportunity for recreation. She darned stockings, told stories, played games with the youngsters, while the mother had a gloriously free afternoon.

A retired storekeeper bemoaned the fact that he could give no money for the local playground. His practical wife suggested that he spend his mornings there teaching small boys to make kites and sailboats. He contributes as much to the success of that playground as the cash donors.

Skill is another welcome gift. Almost everyone of us has some special talent which we can multiply by giving. A middle-aged woman, expert with her needle, lives in a boardinghouse catering to young men. Last Christmas she presented each man with a note stating that during the year she would mend his clothes, darn socks and sew on buttons. Her motherly gesture—a use of the talent she had—turned that boardinghouse into a home.

A department head in a technical laboratory discovered that some younger associates were handicapped by their lack of higher mathematics. He volunteered to give an evening course if half a dozen were interested. Thirty turned out — eagerly!

The most commonplace giving may take on real significance. Old Mrs. Smalley has one humble talent —breadmaking. Every Saturday this poor woman selects the crustiest, most buttery looking loaf out of her oven and leaves it at some home where there is sickness.

Fat brood sows do not produce the most vigorous pigs. The fat sow may farrow weak pigs which are more likely to be killed by overlaying than are pigs in the litters of thinner, more active sows.

BIRTH CERTIFICATE RULING IS CHANGED

Must Provide Proof No Record Exists In County and State

Persons who go to a probate judge to establish a birth record now must first show that no record exists in the county clerk's office in the county where they were born or in the State Health Department's files, says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner.

"Probate court certificates have been issued this year at the rate of 5,000 a month," Dr. Moyer said, "and a substantial number are duplicates, as we find when we index the certificates. A good many people have apparently assumed that no birth records were kept at the time when they were born. A new law, given immediate effect by the legislature, requires that a search be made to see if a record exists before the probate judge may issue a certificate."

The written statement that no record exists may come either from the county clerk or the State Health Department. If no record is found, the probate judge may issue a certificate after satisfying himself of the facts of the birth. The fee for a probate court certificate is $2.00. The certificate is sent to the State Health Department and a copy of it is returned to the county of birth. The person interested may obtain a certified copy for $1.00 from the State Health Department or locally at a fee which is usually smaller.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Garden Work to Do Now

Paper-white narcissi will need to be started soon for flowering at Christmas time.

Freesia and oxalis bulbs potted for forcing can be kept in the cold frame until October.

In potting bulbs for winter flowering indoors, six iris bulbs or 12 freesias will fill a six-inch pot comfortably.

Stake young trees when they are planted this autumn, so they will not be loosened by wind during the winter.

This is a suitable time for replanting many rock garden plants. Also, it will soon be time to take cuttings of many alpine species.

Daffodils and madonna lilies should be planted as soon as possible, especially the latter if they are not already in the ground.

Tulips and bulbous irises need not be planted for several weeks, although orders for them should be placed to ensure delivery at planting time.

Horse's Teeth Need Care

At least once during each year a competent veterinarian should examine the teeth of all horses, according to the department of agriculture. Generally all that will be required will be the floating or filing off of the long, sharp corners which are due to uneven wearing. This roughness first causes sore tongues or cheeks, followed by a lack of proper mastication together with digestive troubles. Older horses particularly, need proper attention

Agriculture News

The cost of raising a pullet and feeding her through the first production period is about $2.25

Turkey eggs should be gathered at least twice a day, and three or four times a day is better.

Getting Ready

* THIS WEEK *
* IN WASHINGTON *
* From Your Congressman *
* Fred Bradley *
* 11th District, Michigan *
* * * * * * * * * *

On my way driving back to Washington last week, I was suddenly made to realize that I had again entered the war-minded east after a pleasant rest in our comparatively peace-minded Middle West. I drove into Hagerstown, Maryland late in the afternoon with my gasoline tank nearly empty and stopped at a filling station. The attendant cordially asked "If I could stand five gallons". As usual I told him to fill it up and his reply was, "Buddy, you're in the East now and we have a gasoline shortage whether you know it or not, and five gallons is all you can get". I managed to make it into Washington all right but with an anxious eye cast on my gasoline gauge. The following morning, I went to my usual neighborhood gas station here in Washington and there learned that all I could get was 10 gallons. However, it was refreshing to learn from conversations in the Capitol that apparently due to the Senate investigation of this "gasoline shortage", it has now suddenly developed that there really is no shortage and that in the very near future we on the eastern seaboard will be able to get our gasoline as usual. This will be brought about in part at least by the utilization of some 20,000 idle railroad tank cars that have been peacefully rusting away for many months in the railroad yards along the east coast. There are also some more or less ugly rumors to the effect that this gasoline shortage was brought about by certain interests who are desirous of constructing several immense pipelines running from Texas and the Gulf Coast ports clear up to the eastern seaboard. Possibly also one of the reasons for the disappearance of the shortage is the fact that the Priorities Division has now suddenly decided that we need steel far more for guns and battleships than we do for the construction of pipelines. Consequently, they have ruled that steel intended for the pipelines will not receive a priority rating at this time.

There is an old adage which says that "occasionally even a blind pig will find an acorn". We in the minority here in Washington sometimes feel that way about legislation which we introduce and on which we invariably find it very difficult indeed to obtain any affirmative action. I felt very elated on my return to Washington to find that I had finally obtained an affirmative report on legislation which I introduced three years ago. Many of you will recall that in the severe winter of 1939 there was a period of several days during which our State ferries were ice-bound and all traffic completely stopped across the Straits of Mackinac. At that time, I was finally able to secure temporary airplane service across the Straits for the transportation of important mail. At the same time I introduced legislation seeking to provide for the construction of a special heavy-duty Coast Guard ice-breaker to be stationed in the Straits of Mackinac to assist in keeping the State ferries in constant operation all winter regardless of the ice conditions and also seeking to help in the early opening of navigation or in the delayed closing of navigation during times of emergency when it might become necessary to move more iron ore than usual through the Straits and through the St. Mary's River. This condition, of course, prevails at the present time and we have made arrangements this year for a reserve fund to be set aside to provide for the leasing of the car ferries in the Straits should it become necessary to use them to keep the Straits open to the last possible minute this fall and to re-open them earlier than usual next spring.

The Coast Guard, operating under the Treasury Department, continually refused to give me an affirmative report on my bill for this ice-breaker. The customary excuse has been that legislation has been provided and an appropriation made for the construction of three new heavy-duty ice-breakers for use in Greenland and in the Arctic waters on the Atlantic Coast and the statement has been repeatedly made that if necessary one of these new boats could be assigned to the Great Lakes, if and when needed. Just how they intended to get that boat down the St. Lawrence Waterway and up through the Great Lakes in the middle of winter when it would be needed has never been quite clear to me. I have finally succeeded in driving that point home and on my return last week learned that they had now reversed their position and had given a favorable report to the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries recommending the immediate construction of a new special type extra heavy-duty ice-crusher to be operated by the Coast Guard as a replacement in the Straits for the lighter Escanaba and Tahoma which have previously been used but which have actually been of little beneficial results.

I am now very hopeful that with the support of interested citizens, Chambers of Commerce and other Civic organizations in Northern Michigan, who are much interested in the maintenance of constant and uninterrupted ferry service across the Straits during the winter and also with the help of the vessel owners on the Great Lakes, who are interested in the early opening or delayed closing of the Straits of Mackinac, that we will be able to obtain final affirmative action by the Congress in the near future on this important legislation.

Meals-Appeal

By AMY SMITHERS
(Associated Newspapers.)
WNU Service.

IT WAS Aunt Dora's diary that started it all. Aunt Dora kept close track of everything that happened to any member of the family. This morning she had read out to Naomi:

"Why, it's just three years ago today that Tom Tyler was introduced to you, Naomi. Three years—m-m-m—three years." It was not so much what she said. It was the way her voice had trailed away softly into silence that hissed as it started.

Oh, Aunt Dora didn't say that she thought Naomi was a flat tire. Dear, no! Dear, gentle Aunt Martha wouldn't hurt the feelings of a mosquito. Naomi, nevertheless, caught the gleam, three years was a long time to "go with" any man without having at least the offer of an engagement ring. Naomi had never heard Tom mention the word marriage in any positive, definite fashion.

Tom stopped in twice a week and allowed himself to be persuaded to have dinner with them. He had a habit of saying admiringly: "You certainly look 'cute' in that apron, Naomi! If there's anything a man likes to see it's a pretty girl in a pretty apron. It makes him think of home and mother and good meals and so on. That's the way to get 'em—meals-appeals! There's nothing like meals-appeal."

"Three years," Naomi whispered to herself as she frosted the layer cake. "Three years! Why, Alice Parker met Jim Parker only a year ago and they're—married."

She opened the drawer to find a fresh tea towel and saw the pretty little organdie apron that she had laid there for the evening. At that moment her Aunt Dora walked into the kitchen.

"Making marshmallow frosting?" she asked. "Tom always likes your marshmallow frosting."

"Marshmallow frosting!" said Naomi, suddenly. "Why, I wouldn't give Tom Tyler a mouthful of this cake if his tongue hung out of his head a mile! And if I ever put on that apron again it'll be because some one fastens the rings on me when I'm dead!"

She took the delicate little wisp of froth and tore it almost viciously from left to right and up and down. "Why—Naomi, darling!" gasped her Aunt Dora.

When that evening Tom Tyler cheerfully ran up the stairs of the apartment building he was astonished to meet Naomi coming down.

"Where're you going?" he asked.

"Oh—out," she said, with a shrug.

"Out?" he echoed. "Out? Out where? You're such a domestic little home body—why, Naomi! I always think of you as being home." This last was said with a reproachful glance that might, had it not been for Aunt Dora's diary, have melted her completely.

"Pooh!" she remarked airily. "Home body, indeed! I guess I have stayed at home too long—about three years too long," she added in an underbreath.

"But where are you going?"

"Why, I'm going out to dine, if you must know," she said demurely.

"Alone?" he demanded.

"Ah, yes—unless," she dimpled, "I meet Prince Charming at the door, awaiting me in a coach and four or an eight-cylinder car of cream color with brown bandings. I just adore cream-colored cars, don't you, Tom?"

He eyed her uneasily. "Say, will it be all right if I go along with you?" he asked.

"If you can finance yourself—yes. Otherwise, no." She spoke candidly.

"Well," he said a half-hour later when they were settled at a central table with an orchestra playing a vigorous melody. "I—I guess I don't understand women at all. I—why, I thought you liked to stay at home and cook and wear little soft-looking aprons—"

"I don't," she cut in hastily. "I hate to cook."

He stared at her. "Jiminy, I never knew you were so pretty, Naomi. You look so—so demure."

"Demure!" she scoffed. "Let's dance this while they're hustling along the fodder, eh?"

"Pep," he murmured, well-pleased. "Ah, you have it, my dear. Pep! Super-pep, eh? And that pretty dress, I never saw that before. Did I?"

"I guess you never saw me before either, maybe? Huh?"

And that night when he took her home after a movie and a little bite of supper they talked for a long, long time in the living-room. When he left, Aunt Dora came out.

"Didn't Tom stay rather—late?" she asked gently.

"Well, now that you speak of it, Auntie, I guess he did, a little," said Naomi softly. "And if it isn't midnight yet, I have a little entry for your diary today. If it's after midnight it makes it a day over three years, Tom and I are going to be married some time next month, Auntie."

"Well, now," murmured Aunt Dora. "We'll have to enter that item in the diary in red ink. Come to think of it, I had no black ink the day you met him and I entered that in red ink, too!"

RABBITS' TASTES SAVE FRUIT TREES

When the snows blow next winter and the low-protected cottontail rabbits get hungry, valuable fruit trees won't be gnawed by the hungry animals if they are protected by a process perfected and tested by horticultural workers at Michigan State College.

By experimentation the process has been simplified and the materials now recommended do not curtail tree growth as some of the previous preparations indicated.

Rosin and ethyl alcohol are the ingredients. This rate is seven pounds of rosin to a gallon of alcohol. The rosin is pulverized and the mixture is permitted to stand 24 hours in a warm room. No heat should be applied as this not only is dangerous but would drive off enough alcohol to alter the composition of the mixture.

Prevention of Deafness

Deafness, in tending to isolate the individual in the school, in an occupation and in his relation to society, is a serious physical handicap. It is more regrettable in that but twenty per cent is hereditary and, according to estimate, eighty per cent is the result of infection of the ear due to colds and sore throats. Probably all save a very small percentage of deafness in the second group could have been prevented.

Three out of four cases of deafness are believed to appear before the third year of life and nine out of ten are seen in persons under the age of twenty.

There is no doubt that overcrowding and poor nutrition, tending to impair the general health, are conductive to ear infection and deafness. Allergic children, too, seem particularly susceptible to ear trouble.

Much deafness has been prevented by reports sent to the child's home by the school nurse or physician and by warning of the serious consequences of earache or running ear. But the responsibility for conserving the child's hearing rests, after all, with the parents.

It is highly advisable that the family doctor examine the child's ears for possible perforation of the drum or other difficulties after every severe cold or infection of the respiratory tract. Removal of the cerumen or wax is necessary for such inspection.

When the lymphoid tissue of the throat swells as the result of infection, the Eustachian tube connecting the ear and the throat may be pinched off. Violent coughing or forcefully blowing the nose may then drive the secretions of the throat back through the tube and into the structures behind the ear drums. Often, this swelling of the tissue can be reduced and drainage through the tube re-established by exposure to x-rays. In many cases, incipient deafness can be checked and the hearing greatly improved by this means.

Periodical examination of the ears, examination after colds and similar illnesses, and prompt treatment of any symptoms associated with the ears are urged for any child and especially for those with suspected susceptibility toward deafness. To permit a suppurative condition to continue is to risk almost certain damage to the delicate structures of the ear.

not so optimistic, expect thousands of workmen to be jobless, blame too much Washington regimentation by priorities.

1942 Campaign

Backgrounding the tug-of-war between the governor and the legislature is the fact that 1942 is approaching fast, and 1942 will bring another political campaign.

At the Democrats' state rally at Mackinac Island, the keynote was "Van Wagoner and Brown" for the 1942 ticket. Leaders have taken it for granted that both the governor and senator will be renominated. It simplifies the problem for the Democrats tremendously to know, more than a year in advance, who is going to head their ticket.

Likewise, it puts the Republicans at a disadvantage.

G. Milton Kelly, Associated Press writer at Lansing, reports that Republican leaders have concluded that the time between the September primary and the November election is too brief for Republican opposition to a Democrat who is virtually unopposed in his own primary. Eight or more months prior to the 1940 primary, Van Wagoner was campaigning persistently as the conceded party choice for governor. The republicans' primary battle is history.

The Associated Press correspondent observes: "When the 1940 campaign ended, it was taken for granted in most circles that 1942 would see the party's organization booming (Harry F.) Kelly for United States senator and (Vernon J.) Brown for governor. A movement is now under way, however, to draft Kelly for governor, although he has made it no secret that he isn't enthusiastic about seeking that job."

Foreign Policy

Because of prevailing sentiment in Michigan for non-intervention or isolationism, call it what you may, it is predicted that issues in the 1942 campaign will center on the war to a large degree.

Michigan public opinion was reflected in the near-unanimous vote of Michigan members in Congress, Republican and Democrat, against enactment of the draft and its 18-month extension.

If shooting war is unpopular with a majority of voters in November, 1942, off-year campaign results may hinge on such non-state issues as national defense, foreign policy, conscription, inflation and farm prices.

Wendell L. Willkie has declared that isolationists will be given all-out opposition at state primaries in 1942. The subject of a legislative recess would be a mere peanut tossing on this turbulent political sea.

Capitol Miscellany

Charges that convict labor has been used at Jackson for private purposes are being investigated by the state corrections commission. Labor union officials insist that inmates were employed in construction of a house for Joseph Picard, brother of United States Judge Frank A. Picard, Detroit.

Michigan State Fair at Detroit earned a profit this year. Paid attendance exceeded a half million persons, so reports Bernard J. Youngblood, general manager.

May state departments and agencies hire their own legal counsel? Herbert J. Rushton, attorney general, says "No". Furthermore, he says that lawyers in his department are not under civil service and that dismissed lawyers will be replaced for the most part by Republicans.

A survey made by Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly indicates Michigan is "one of the last states" likely to have gasoline consumption curtailed for defense.

Snake Takes Big Meal

Suspicious of the girth of a six-foot black snake that dropped from a squirrel den about three feet from the ground, Robert Montgomery, conservation department biologist, killed the reptile and found that it had eaten a pair of three-weeks-old rabbits.

WINDSTORM PROTECTION
For ONE year!

"Windstorm losses occur, in Michigan, every week in the year. A single windstorm (November 11, 1940) caused State Mutual Cyclone Insurance Co. policyholders over $500,000 in losses. $100 worth of windstorm insurance, for one year, costs only 15c. Don't wait 'til it's too late! See your local State Mutual agent, today, or write us direct."

Britain Fights Food Hijacking

Scotland Yard Is Kept Busy Hunting Receivers of 'Hot' Foodstuffs.

LONDON.—Scotland Yard reports increasing activity by organized gangs of food "hijackers" and "bootleggers" and moved swiftly to hunt out receivers and distributors dealing in "hot" foodstuffs.

Detectives said the hijackers apparently were well-organized. In many instances, stolen food trucks were found empty and abandoned within an hour after being seized in tactics reminiscent of the Al Capone days in Chicago.

Latest theft reported was that of a lorry laden with cases of eggs valued at $1,400. The empty lorry was found shortly after it was reported missing.

Scotland Yard's nee sleuths reported that the hijackers shadowed their quarry to learn the movements and habits of the driver. As soon as the truck was left unattended for a moment, the hijackers raced away with it.

They rushed the stolen goods to a hideaway where the cargo was transferred to another truck, or to a secret depot, or sometimes directly to the food "fences."

Cut for Hijackers.

Detectives said that the hijackers took a cut of 50 per cent of the value of the "hot" food. Hijacked beans, biscuits and bacon, they said, usually were distributed by "fences," among hole-in-the-corner shops and small cafes, whose owners were willing to run the risk of dealing in illicit goods.

One suspected restaurant, detectives said, offered a menu of steaks, chops, lamb, bacon, oxtail and eggs, while neighboring cafes could find no legal supplies of such delicacies.

One truck carrying $720 worth of groceries was "snatched" from a locked garage. A van loaded with 1,400 pounds of vegetables was whisked away while the driver was making a call. Three such robberies were reported within a week.

Soldier Imprisoned.

Even the army has been victimized. Lance Corporal Harold O'Sullivan was imprisoned recently for stealing 107 pounds of sugar from the army supply depot at Aldershot.

It was estimated that $200,000 worth of cigarettes and tobacco had been stolen in recent months. At one place in the London area thieves masquerading as A.R.P. workers used axes and crowbars to enter premises.

Other large hauls were made at night, indicating that "fingermen" spot deliveries in advance of hijacking.

At Liverpool, during the trial of four dock workers, the prosecution charged that since the start of the war 600 men had been arrested in one police division for stealing from docks. The thieves broke open cases, removed the contents, refilled them with rubbish and nailed them up again.

There has been looting of bomb-damaged premises, but Scotland Yard said that was largely the work of individuals rather than gangs. Sir Gerald Dodson, recorder of Old Bailey, said that looting appeared to be on the decrease.

Yashmaks on Sale for Shelter Use in Britain

LONDON.—London stores are featuring yashmaks—yes, yashmaks.

Yashmaks, as old as the reticence of Mohammedan women to show their faces in public, have been beautified and are being made in various colors. Yellow, pink and green have top billing.

Alderman Charles Key, chairman of London shelters, said 90,000 of the vells now are ready for shelter use. They are primarily designed to snuff sneezes and prevent infection.

Fashion designers say they'll be popular. If a girl has nice eyes the veils will add "allure," they said, and, on the other hand, if her face is not so nice, a yashmak will help.

The vells are designed to fit over the nose and are tied at the back of the head.

More British Women Are Half-Smoking Cigarettes

LONDON.—Women of Great Britain are smoking a lot more cigarettes than formerly, but not enough of each cigarette, according to London manufacturers. Rarely does a woman smoke a cigarette to the end, and that wastes tobacco. More than 60,000,000,000 were smoked in Britain in 1940. The ordinary reserve stocks each retailer held are gone. Retailers can obtain only 50 per cent of their usual requirements.

AT THE MOVIES

"The Stars Look Down"

"Four blindfolded mules." Such was the requisition issued by Director Carol Reed during production of "The Stars Look Down," British-made filmization of the novel by A. J. Cronin, author of "The Citadel," coming Saturday, September 20, to the Palace Theatre as a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release. The producer had to send to coal mines in Wales for them.

"The Stars Look Down" is a thundering drama of the Welsh mines, as "The Citadel" was a saga of the medical profession and "The Grapes of Wrath" a drama of American migratory workers. Michael Redgrave, Margaret Lockwood and Emlyn Williams, of "Night Must Fall" fame, head a huge cast.

"Here Comes Mr. Jordan"

One of the finest casts ever assembled, in what Hollywood regards as one of the finest pictures ever made, may be seen September 23-24 at the Palace Theatre, where Columbia's "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" will star likeable Robert Montgomery. Principal supporting players include Claude Rains, Evelyn Keyes, James Gleason, Edward Everett Horton, Rita Johnson and John Emery.

"The Get-Away"

"The Get-Away," coming September 25-26 to the Palace Theatre, is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's dramatic picturization of a G-man's adventures trailing a gang preying on national defense industries. The action moves swiftly from a dramatic prison break to a murder in a Chicago hideout, and the dramatic tracking down of a number one racketeer in a crowded dance hall.

Principals in the thrill-packed story are Robert Sterling, who plays his most important role to date as Jeff Crane, G-man; Dan Dailey, Jr., who plays the role of the gang leader, Sonny Black; and a new screen "find," Donna Reed, who is romantically teamed with Sterling.

If Westerman had claimed fishing during spawning season "might deplete parent stock" to an extent it would offset artificial hatching success as already proven, then he would have been talking sense. Westerman's excuses are as groundless as the statement of John Van Ooten, Fish and Wild Life Service expert, that smelt don't eat minnows. We can expect fish management just as sound and practical as those administering it are sound and practical.

Clare Staley gave me an idea last Sunday on how anglers can keep amused while trolling for steelhead when they're not "hitting." You just troll on the surface and catch seagulls instead of fish like Clare did. The sporting angle wouldn't be lacking, either, for that gull, hooked solidly through the bill, sure put up an awful tussle before being reeled in. And speaking about steelhead fishing, the warm weather of the week end apparently cut down the catches as warm weather always does; and almost two weeks of continued high winds has prevented trollers from going out onto Lake Michigan where the big mackinaws had just started to come good. Perch haven't shown up yet, either, much to the disappointment of everyone.

AAA COMMITTEE ELECTIONS SEPTEMBER 24

Time and Place Will Be Announced by Chairman Henley

The annual community election meetings at which AAA community committeemen and county convention delegates are elected will be held on Wednesday evening September 24, at 8:00 p. m., according to Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix county AAA committee.

Three community committeemen, two alternate committeemen and a delegate and alternate delegate to the county convention will be elected at each community election meeting by farmers eligible to vote. Mr. Henley pointed out that any farmer who is participating or cooperating in any program administered through the Agricultural Adjustment Administration during the current calendar year and who has received or will receive a payment for compliance with such program shall be eligible to vote in the elections.

The delegates elected at the community election meetings will meet on the following day, September 25, at 10:00 a. m., in the county AAA office, in Boyne City, to elect a chairman, vice chairman, third member and two alternate members of the county AAA committee to serve during the 1942 AAA program year.

A notice of the place, time and date of the community election meetings will be mailed at least 5 days prior to the meeting to all farmers who are eligible to cooperate on farms in the community in any of the programs administered by the Charlevoix County AAA, Mr. Henley said.

If you started out to fish one of Michigan's lakes each day, in sense and out, it would take you more than seventeen years to complete your fishing trip.

Design All-Plastic Planes for Canada

New Craft Will Be Used For Training Purposes.

OTTAWA.—Prospects are good for the production in Canada soon of all-plastic elementary and intermediate training planes.

Announcement is expected momentarily of the establishment near Toronto of a plant for the manufacture of plastic "noses" for Avro-Anson bombing trainers, samples of which were successfully test-flown in Canada recently. The plant will be a Canadian branch of an American company which has made considerable progress in experiments with plastic fuselages. A large order for plastic Anson noses will be ready for this company, and the expectation is that production of entire fuselages and wings will follow.

Canadian aircraft manufacturers have a 50,000,000 order for twin-engined Avro-Anson bombers for use in the empire air-training plan. Because of the necessity of redesigning this aircraft, and for other reasons, production has been long delayed, and the circumstances are reported to be such that important reorganization will be necessary in the procurement set-up.

But the plastic experiments have been proceeding without delay and a number of manufacturers are experimenting, both in Canada and the United States.

Within a short time it is expected that a complete plastic Anson fuselage will be ready for test flights, and it is planned to have two or more American-made plastic elementry training planes among a group of 15 trainers to be demonstrated here.

The advantages of using the plastic material are that it is light, durable and much less expensive than metal.

Rare Volume on Music Is Restored to Old Home

FARMINGTON, CONN.—One of the two known copies of what is believed to be the first instruction book on harmony published in the United States has been restored to the town of Farmington where it was published in 1779.

The book, titled "Select Harmony," was given to the Farmington village library by the Connecticut Historical society, possessors of the only other known copy.

Etched copper plates, it is believed, were used to print the hymns used by the deacons when they "lined" the music for singing in the church. It was recalled that the "lining," or setting of the pitch, was arbitrarily decided by the deacon. One deacon's pitching was opposed by some members of the congregation.

One man, more courageous, or more musical than the others sang the way he wanted. He was arrested and convicted of disturbing the peace.

Fog, Aviation's Greatest Foe, Conquered at Last

NEW YORK. — Newest accomplishment in the field of aviation is the conquest of fog, the pilot's greatest enemy. According to Dr. Sverre Petterssen, professor of meteorology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology; two of his associates—Drs. H. H. Houghton and W. H. Radford, also of M.I.T.—have experimented with two successful methods of dissipating fog.

Since fog is known to be the result of warm air passing over a cold surface, one of the methods tried was to place heating units beside the runways. The system was quite successful in dissipating the fog, but the heating unit created a traffic problem on the runway.

The other method—spraying the air with a solution of sulphur chloride—was found to be entirely practical. It left a space of clear air below the fog bank, enabling the pilots to see the runways.

Germans Teach a Lesson To Children of Brussels

BRUSSELS.—Numerous chalk inscriptions "R.A.F." appeared recently on walls, billboards, and sidewalks throughout Brussels.

As a result school children were by order of the burgomaster, compelled to write in their copybooks as follows:

"The German authorities several times have warned us they will not tolerate repetition of certain chalk inscriptions, whose authors generally are the pupils of Etterbeeck schools. Those inscriptions were made on school walls, private house walls and sidewalks. We must declare that the German authorities will take serious measures against children as well as parents if the acts complained of continue to occur."

The district in which Marathon schools are located is roughly 100 miles square and includes a vast section including the proposed Big Bend National park.

FOREST FIRE LOSS IS LOW IN THIS COUNTY

Robert Furlong, Conservation Supervisor, Makes Report

Northern Michigan's rich resort territory suffered nearly a thousand dollar loss due to forest fires this summer, district conservation supervisor Robert J. Furlong, reports.

Small fires appeared thick and fast all summer throughout the five-county district covered by the Boyne City office. Otsego county led the list with 51 blazes ruining 358 acres at a cost of $412, Furlong said. Cheboygan county had 49 fires covering 207 acres which cost some $242. Emmet county reports show that 42 fires burned 65 acres amounting to $41. The Antrim area reported 39 fires burning 99 acres with a $210 loss. The lowest number of fires were reported in Charlevoix county where 28 blazes scorched 25 acres spoiling $42 worth of recreational value.

Although fires were more than three times as numerous this summer than last, Furlong's report shows that last year's blazes destroyed a thousand acres, costing nearly $2500. Total number of fires this year is 209. Acreage ruined was 755, which cost $950.

The fifteen firetowers controlled through the Boyne City office will be closed October 15, unless weather conditions force them to remain open, it was said.—Boyne Citizen.

GAME LAW DIGESTS MAILED TO DEALERS

Are Two-Color Because of Delayed Effective Dates

Printed in two colors, first shipments of 1,050,000 Michigan game law digests, pocket-sized folders telling hunters of season, bag limits and hunting regulations, are being mailed by the conservation department to 2,500 license dealers for distribution with each license.

Use of two colors in printing is necessitated by legislative recess delaying effective date of new laws. Present laws are in red and laws becoming effective 90 days after legislative adjournment are in black.

Copies of the digest may be secured from conservation department or its dealers.

PHILLIPS - O'NEILL WEDDING EVENT OF SATURDAY EVENING

In a ceremony performed at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, September 13, at the Congregational church, Miss Laurel Jean Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Phillips, became the bride of Marshall O'Neill of Detroit, son of Mrs. Joseph B. Hyland, of Flint. Rev. Donald R. Evans read the service in the presence of a large number of guests.

Attending the couple were Miss Dorothea Taylor and Louis O'Neill, brother of the groom. Warren Phillips of Detroit, brother of the bride, and Lyle Miles served as ushers.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Ernestine Chew played "I Love You Truly", "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life", "Oh, Promise Me" and the wedding march at the piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white sharkskin, with long, full skirt and a fitted jacket with full length sleeves and Peter Pan collar. Her fingertip-length veil was held by a garland of white carnations. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white gladioli and gardenias.

Miss Taylor wore a dress of pale green tulle over taffeta, with short puffed sleeves and high neck, and a shoulder-length veil of matching shade. Peach gladioli made her wrist corsage.

Large bouquets of pastel gladioli decorated the church for the occasion.

Following the ceremony, a reception for fifty guests was held in the church parlors. A large three-tiered wedding cake, with bride and groom in miniature decorating the top, was on the refreshment table, from which serving was done buffet style.

After a motor trip to Mackinac Island and Kalamazoo, the couple will make their home in Detroit.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Hyland of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fulton and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Phillips of Detroit, Mrs. Ann Lindsay of Grand Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Burrell and Mr. and Mrs. Alwyn Sangster and daughters, Barbara and Pat, of Cheboygan, Mrs. Earl Kidder of East Jordan.

Both bride and groom are graduates of Charlevoix high school.

The Sunday school work is the primary business Mr. Weaver has been doing these 50 years. He has organized and visited in something like 300 different schools during his life there. The first Sunday he was in Petoskey he visited the Sunday school in Greenwood, southeast of town. The next Sunday he visited three Sunday schools, one of which he organized. This one is Oden, which is still meeting.

In 1911, Mr. Weaver purchased his first automobile, a Hupmobile. "The car was all right, but the roads were so poor it was of little use to me. It was only a little while till I went over a bad bump and broke the big spring in the rear," said Mr. Weaver while telling about his experiences as a pioneer in this new method of transportation.

Because of the large number of funerals Mr. Weaver has been conducting in recent years, it is interesting to note the first mention of such a service for Friday, January 27, 1893. The notation in the report reads, "Conducted funeral services of Mrs. Richards."

An all day service will be held in the Petoskey high school auditorium on Sunday, September 28, with special speakers and other features of interest to all who have known Mr. Weaver. Former Gov. Luren D. Dickinson will be the principal speaker. — Contributed.

FOOTBALL SEASON TO OPEN SATURDAY

MANCELONA COMING HERE FOR INITIAL CONTEST

Light Squad to Take Field In Opener of Six-Game Schedule; Line-Up Is Announced

The opening contest of a six-game football schedule pits Coach Ray Kipke's Red Ryders against Mancelona high school at south side athletic field Saturday afternoon. The contest starts at 2 o'clock.

With nearly three weeks of practice behind them, there is little to indicate strength of the 1941 squad. That it will be light, speedy and with a generous amount of veterans, sums up the observation of fans.

An all-veteran backfield includes Carl Rowe, Don Carey, Clare Martin and Stanley Shapton. Jack Stewart, expected a sure backfield starter, is nursing injuries, as is also Ralph Mitchell, a last year's end. Others available and trying for ball-carrying positions are Versil Shearer, Gerald Chambers and Jack Lamphear.

The line, sprinkled with veterans, is also lighter than average. Regulars appear to be James McMillanl and Ted Janchn at guard, Bill Rowe at center, Jim Foster and John Bissell, tackles; John Swanson and Lester Gallagher, ends. Reserve positions have been awarded, at least temporarily, to Ralph Mitchell and Russell Lewis, ends; Alonza Fischer and Charles Bergmann, tackles; Marvin Cross and Hubert Brady, guards; Dick Fochtman, center.

Charlevoix's six-game schedule is confined to class C schools, with three games at home and an equal number away from home. The five contests following the Mancelona tilt Saturday are as follows:

Oct. 4—Boyne City here.
Oct. 11—Onaway there.
Oct. 18—East Jordan here.
Oct. 25—Harbor Springs there.
Nov. 1—Grayling there.

REMOVE OLD STORES IN NEW BRIDGE PATH

Several Landmarks Scheduled for Removal in Near Future

Transfers of real estate to the state highway department for the approach to the new bridge across Pine river at Charlevoix will remove five buildings that have been landmarks for 70 years.

One structure housed the Charlevoix Sentinel, operated by the late Willard Smith for more than 65 years. The building later housed the Ira Adams collection of firearms and curios.

Also to be razed is the Myers building, one of the first structures in the original village of Pine River. It was built by Fox, Rose & Buttars, general merchants. The first county offices were on the second floor.

Other buildings to go will be those occupied by the state liquor store, the Robert Boothron Plumbing Co., and the Rose barber shop. —C. R. Press.

TREE PLANTING PROGRAM IS AUTHORIZED

Will Order Pines for Unused Portion Municipal Golf Course

Plans for reforesting certain parts of the vacated portion of the municipal golf course were completed Monday night by the city council.

City Superintendent Don Herrick was given authorization to purchase from the Department of Interior, 3,000 white pine, 2,000 red pine and 1,000 mountain ash trees for planting. The plan, it is understood, is to make plantings along present defined bridle paths and later carry the plantings throughout the tract.

A long range plan for development of this city-owned property was presented by Floyd A. Supp, whose suggestions embodied establishment of a trailer camp off U.S.31 overlooking Lake Charlevoix, construction of a by-pass under the railroad track to make the bathing beach accessible and other improvements.

The company's by-laws were amended to provide for increase of the board of directors from three to five members. The original board members who were retained are Harry G. Foster, John K. NO CHANGES IN HUNTING RULES

STATEMENT IS ISSUED TO AVOID CONFUSION

Regulations Printed in Red in New Game Law Digests Are Ones Hunters Must Follow

Following is a statement issued by the Department of Conservation headquarters in Lansing regarding hunting regulations to be followed this fall:

The hunting regulations printed in red on the new game law digests are the ones that will be in effect during the hunting seasons this fall. These are the same regulations that were in effect last fall.

When the digests were printed it was not known whether new laws, effecting hunting, which were passed by the present legislature would be in effect or not. Therefore, both the old and new laws were printed on the digest. New laws do not take effect until ninety days after adjournment of the legislative session. The legislature has not adjourned as yet, therefore new hunting laws passed by the present legislature will not be effective this fall.

Conservation officers are making a special effort to see that the public is properly informed on this in order to avoid confusion.

BIG TAX LAND SALE CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Heaviest Proceeds of Seven Counties Listed Here

Sale of 288 lots and 2,742 acres for $26,364 in seven counties of northern lower Michigna in the conservation department's third general sale of tax-reverted lands raised to $136,290 the amount being returned to counties, townships and school districts in proportion to their long-standing equity in the reverted lands.

The sales, in Antrim, Alpena, Charlevoix, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Montmorency and Otsego counties, also increased by 937 lots and 3,471 acres the lands on the department's market list, available to the first applicant sending the appraised price to the conservation department's Lansing office. Forty-four per cent of the acreage and 23 per cent of the platted property offered was sold.

Biggest sales were in Charlevoix where 201 lots, some with houses on them, were auctioned for $14,195. Acreage sold in the seven counties brought an average price of $3.14.

In the three sales of this series which began July 15 the conservation department has returned to the tax rolls 15,227 acres having a sale value of $47,084 and 1,596 parcels of platted property with a sale value of $89,206. Only tax-reverted lots sold are those for which municipal officials recommended sale when they presented land use plans to the conservation commission.

Helrigel, superintendent of the Grand Traverse District; Rev. Wayne H. Fleenor, director of religious education and youth work in the Michigan conference; Dr. A. J. Charlevoix's baseball team concluded its 1941 season Sunday with a 12 to 6 victory over Central Lake, Antrim county champions, at Central Lake.

Charlevoix played 18 games during the season just closed, winning 11 and losing seven.

GREAT LAKES NETTING BANS LISTED

PLANS TO COLLECT SPAWN ARE BEING MADE

Lake Michigan Closed Season on Lake Trout Oct. 10 to Nov. 10; White Fish One Month

While standing firm against closed season spawn fishing, the conservation department is preparing to collect lake trout and whitefish spawn from ripe fish taken by commercial fishermen before the fishing seasons close and after they reopen.

Lake trout spawn obtained each fall in this manner usually exceeds the state hatcheries' carrying capacity for these fish, and the excess is returned to the fishing grounds.

The closed season to allow for lake trout spawning is October 1-31 in Lake Huron, October 10-November 4 in Lake Superior and October 10-November 10 in Lake Michigan. The whitefish closed season is November 1-December 1 in Lake Huron, November 1-26 in Lake Superior, and November 5-December 10 in Lakes Michigan and Erie. Chubs—fat, deep-water relatives of the whitefish — may not be taken between October 15 and November 20 in Lakes Huron, Superior and Michigan.

Postmaster J. M. Foster has announced that this year's quota of federal duck stamps has been received at the local post office preparatory to opening of the duck and geese hunting season Oct. 1.

The stamps, which cost $1 each, must be secured in addition to the regular small game hunting license. Only place in which duck stamps may be purchased is at the post office, and hunters are warned that they must have a federal stamp when hunting waterfowl or they will be subject to arrest and prosecution.

FOOD STAMPS TO BE GIVEN NORTH

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY IS INCLUDED IN THE LIST

Extension of Plan Into Upper Counties Scheduled to Open by November 1st

The social welfare commission has announced plans to place 30 additional Michigan counties on the orange and blue surplus commodities stamp plan by November 1st.

The commission, meeting Friday at Lansing, authorized opening of a "mail order" office at state welfare headquarters in Lansing, to serve the 30 counties of the northern part of the lower peninsula. The upper peninsula was already on a "mail order" basis.

Extension of the stamp plan, which adds 50 per cent to the welfare dollar in food purchases, to cover the entire state was scheduled to be completed early next year. Instead of buying stamps locally all stamps eventually will be purchased by mail from one of four mail order offices.

Counties to which mail order sales will be extended November 1, were Mason, Lake, Mecosta, Isabella, Midland, Arenac, Gladwin, Clare, Osceola, Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Roscommon, Ogemaw, Iosco, Alcona, Oscoda, Crawford, Kalkaska, Grand Traverse, Benzie, Leelanau, Antrim, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Presque Isle, Cheboygan, Emmet, and Charlevoix.

The October allocations from the state included: Alpena $500; Benzie $2,700; Charlevoix $1000; Cheboygan $2,000; Emmet $1,000; Grand Traverse $600; Manistee $1,000; Mecosta $400; Wexford $1,500.

RED CROSS CLASS TO BE CONDUCTED

OPEN TO CHARLEVOIX, ANTRIM, EMMET COUNTIES

Area Office Sending Instructor for Series of Meetings In City Hall, October 20-25

Some sixty persons in Charlevoix county thus far this year have become certificate holders in Red Cross standard course first aid.

The midwestern area office, located in St. Louis, Mo., is sending Edward Hanpaniemi here to give his full time to conduct an instructors' class. The graduates of this class will then be able to lead other First Aid standard classes throughout the county this fall and spring. This important service will relieve the generous physicians who have conducted the first aid classes thus far.

The instructors' class will be held at the Charlevoix city hall, October 20-25, each night from 8 to 10 o'clock. The first aid certificate holders of Antrim and Emmet counties will also join this class.

Elaborate material and equipment is being brought for the conduct of the class in order to make this an outstanding Red Cross first aid adventure. This plan is most unusual in nature, as such a class has always been held only at the National Aquatic Camp, such as ones at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind., and at Oconomowoc, Wis.

All certificate holders of the standard course are urged to get together to review as soon as possible the text book before the date of October 20. Also the names of those who will attend the instructors' class are needed. They may be sent to any member of the county committee composed of John Porter and Howard Taft, of East Jordan; O. P. North and Frank F. Bird, of Charlevoix; Earl Strongsted and Geo. R. Hemingway, of Boyne City.

SERVICE CLUBS HELD JOINT MEETING HERE

Kiwanians Host Tuesday to Boyne City, East Jordan Rotary

Charlevoix Kiwanis, East Jordan and Boyne City Rotary Clubs held a joint meeting at the Congregational church in Ironton, Tuesday evening, with the Charlevoix club acting as host.

The Ironton Ladies' Aid Society served a chicken dinner, thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. The program in charge of Dr. D. C. Nettleton consisted of a spelling bee and extemporaneous speaking.

Boyne City members were introduced by Rev. C. W. Sidebotham, of East Jordan; Charlevoix members by Judge Ervan A. Ruegsegger, of Boyne City; East Jordan members by Frank F. Bird of this city.

Harold Clark leading the East Jordan spelling team carried the honors in that contest; and Dr. B. J. Benker became the champion extemporaneous speaker of the evening by unanimous acclaim.

Trophies for the winning contestants were delayed in transit. However, Max Smith, chairman of the trophy committee, insists that the cups will be suitably engraved and forwarded later.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

A radical is a guy who can outtalk you on any subject.

As we get older we find that some things which seemed silly, if not barbaric, to us when we were young are necessary for the perpetuation of what is known as civilization. Funerals are one of these things. When relatives and friends gather to pay their last respects to the dead and to express their sympathy to the bereft, they shed their hates, jealousies and animosities. For an hour or two they are softened by the contemplation of sorrow and mortality, not to mention the futility of strife and struggle. Misunderstandings are suddenly liquidated, and old wounds are miraculously healed. Joe and Mary find that Bill and Liz aren't the way they thought they were at all.

Glenn Pemberton is back at his Mason street place of business after a couple months' tussle with rheumatic fever. Also regret to report that Ray Hamilton, our veteran city clerk, is confined to a hospital at Lansing with pneumonia. Hope it isn't serious and that he'll soon be on his feet.

LANSING LETTER

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Unknown to many citizens and forgotten by others:

That the first state university in the nation was the University of Michigan whose original charter, under the name of Catholepistemiad, was issued in 1817.

That the first state agricultural college in the nation was Michigan State College, opened in 1857 at East Lansing under the name of Michigan State College of Agriculture.

Michigan's eminence in education is a matter of pride to all citizens. At this time when thousands of young people are going to colleges throughout the state, when a host of boys and girls are finishing their first month of class study in public and parochial schools, take a backward glance at education and get a new inspiration for its future.

Cadillac's Landing

Two days after Cadillac founded Detroit in 1701, Ste. Anne's church was established there. The parish is the second oldest continuously maintained parish of the Roman Catholic church in the United States.

In 1798, after the American flag had been raised over Detroit, Father Gabriel Richard arrived as assistant pastor and soon took over parish responsibilities. He was first to advocate a state university.

In 1817, twenty years before Michigan was admitted to the Union, a charter was issued by the governor and judges of the Territory of Michigan for an institution of higher learning then known as the Catholepistemiad. The formal name, University of Michigan, was adopted in 1821, exactly 16 years before Michigan became a recognized state by act of Congress.

In 1837 the legislature created a board of regents of the university with twenty members. Plans were laid for a new institution. Because the Ann Arbor Land company granted a site of 40 acres

LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS

Commander Base Force,
Pearl Harbor, T. H.

Dear Ken,

Just thought I would drop you a line, Ken, and tell you that your weekly copy means as much to me as letters from home.

Enjoy duty with Commander Base Force, because I have the opportunity of seeing all of this Island of Oahu. The friendship of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Allen, who live in Kalmuki, makes me feel very fortunate to have the opportunity to meet them. It seems so good to talk with them and tell them about all of Northern Michigan of which they are familiar.

Also having some of the fellows from Charlevoix, Bennie Gill who is on the U. S. S. Lexington, and James Brady, who is serving on the battleship U. S. S. New Mexico, and William Eccleston, who is with the U. S. Army at Hickam Field, makes this world seem rather small indeed.

I am looking forward to my leave when I will be able to come home and see all of you. Hope to spend another year in Hawaii with Commander Base Force, then I will transfer to submarine duty on the Atlantic coast.

Incidentally, ComBasForce is stationed on the Flagship U. S. S. Argonne, which should make me feel closer to Charlevoix, but gosh, there is no bar or Bill.

Regards to all
Aloha,
Robert Pearl

Pensacola, Fla.

Dear Ken,

I want to thank you for sending me the Courier in the past and notify you of my change in address. Charlie and I both appreciate your sending the paper because it is our main contact with things happening in Charlevoix.

We both graduated from Aviation Machinists Mates School at Jacksonville Saturday, and were transferred here at Pensacola, to start work in a squadron. We are attached to Squadron 5, which is made up of two place trainer sea planes, so will probably get more swimming than we bargained for this winter. We aren't very well established yet, but have seen the theater on the station which is better than any we've ever been in before, including the best in Detroit.

Thanks again for sending the paper, and we both hope you bag a deer this season.

Sincerely yours

AT THE MOVIES

"Border Vigilantes"

The law of the land of the lawless as it existed before the turning of the present century in the frontier West, forms the background for the latest adventure of "Hopalong" Cassidy, famed screen cowboy, "Border Vigilentes" which opens Saturday, September 27, at the Palace Theatre.

William Boyd rides again as "Hopalong," with Russell Hayden and Andy Clyde riding at his side as "Lucky" Jenkins and "California" Jenkins. Others in the brilliant cast are Victor Jory, Morris Ankrum, Frances Gifford, a gorgeous newcomer to the screen;; Ethel Wales, Tom Tyler, Hal Taliaferro, Hack Rockwell and Britt Wood.

"Tom, Dick and Harry"

How to keep several boy friends happy at the same time seems to offer no problem for the modern girl.

Ginger Rogers, however, shows the ma trick or two in her current romantic comedy, "Tom, Dick and Harry," showing September 28 and 29 at the Palace Theatre.

She not only has three boy friends but becomes engaged to them all at the same time. Furthermore she keeps them all in a state of slap-happy romantic bliss. The boy friends are depicted by George Murphy, Alan Marshal and Burgess Meredith.

"Our Wife"

Every season, Columbia studios pop up with the best comedy of the year, a tradition which dates back to such memorable hits as "The Awful Truth" and "It Happened One Night," and carries through "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "This Thing Called Love," etc. and etc. This season, "Our Wife" provides the year's finest comedy film fare, according to Hollywood report, with Melvyn Douglas, Ruth Hussey and Ellen Drew contributing love-and-laugh performances greater than anything they have ever done.

Opening October 2 at the Palace Theatre, "Our Wife" was produced and directed by John M. Stahl.

Cotton Mattress and Comforters Program to be Organized in October

Plans are now being developed to start the making of mattresses and comforters in some communities by October 1. While most communities will wait until the later part of October some four or five communities have indicated a desire to start right away in making mattresses that were not completed last spring.

The N. Y. A. girls in East Jordan are cutting out and sewing the ticks and comforters in preparation for the fall program. We expect to have everything completed before the program starts so that there should be no delay in receiving necessary materials. Tentatively there will be some 15 different work centers in the various communities. Beaver Island will begin their project perhaps the last week in September.

Last spring a total of 470 mattresses were made and with the second carload of cotton it will be possible to make approximately 950 for the entire county. Already applications have arrived at the extension office for 750 mattresses, thus we still can accept applications for around 200 more mattresses and comforters.

If you are eligible to participate and have not made application to do so make one out as soon as possible. These mattresses are A No. 1 in all respects. If you are in doubt see one of them that your neighbor has made then you'll want to make one for sure.

Michigan's vacation areas are within a day's drive of fifty million people.

Front-page advertisements were by Carpenter & Miller, general merchandise; Ivy Drug Store and Central Drug Store; Charlevoix Roller Mills; Harrison Bedford shoe store; A. T. Burnett & Co., J. L. Crane, dry goods; S. M. See & Sons, furniture store.

Local items were also run on the front page, in fact there was not a single headed article in the paper.

President McKinley had been assassinated the previous week, his death occurring on Saturday. All business was suspended on that Thursday, for memorial services in the M. E. Church. Addresses were made by Rev. T. B. Hughes, J. M. Tice and H. M. Enos. One of the most appropriate and touching decorations of mourning among the business houses was that of Orlowski & Son, a "vacant chair" tastefully draped. S. M. See & Sons had a portrait of McKinley draped with a blood-stained battle-flag. The editor wrote: "Let us turn with clenched and nailed hand to the wolves and vipers which infest the country . . . assassins and anarchists such as he who robbed us of our President."

Capt. Hanshew, who lost his schooner, the Sea Gem, near Manitowoc, returned home Saturday. The schooner is a total wreck.

Captain Fountain and his crew went out with the big life boat during the tremendous southwest gale Monday, as a matter of practice. With sails set the bunt was handled in a masterly manner.

Workmen are exteading the cement walk from the Iddings hardware store to the Bartlett House.

St. James is making giant strides this season. The new store of James McCann is one of the best in northern Michigan, and that of James Dunlevy is very little behind it. Mr. Bonner's fine new hotel will be ready for opening next spring. Besides a large office and parlor, it has 25 sleeping rooms. Up at the church Rev. Father Zugelder is building a fine stone pastoral residence and a frame dwelling for the five Sisters who are doing such excellent work on the island.

Patent medicine ads told how Dr. King's New Discovery cured a lady of pneumonia and consumption; Electric Bitters vanquished malaria and jaundice; Bucklen's Arnica Salve healed the badly crushed foot of a railroad laborer. Personally, we could use some of Dr. King's New Life pills, guaranteed to turn brain-fag into mental power.

Benjamin Brown was selling harness, fly-nets, whips, and lap dusters.

Norwood: The last of the cedar and hemlock logs were taken from here on Tuesday.

Ex-Senator Milliken and other parties were through here last week, looking up a route for an electric road from Traverso City to Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix Fish Co. sold whitefish, trout, and perch at 10c a pound.

Farm implements, wagons, buggies, etc., were sold by Ward & Ward, located on "Hulbert" avenue, south of the court house.

The little god of love is right on the job in Charlevoix. Miss Nola Byers and Earl J. Shapton were married Tuesday evening, September 19, and will reside on the Shapton place south of town.

A Ford car belonging to Henry Wood ran amuck on the swing bridge Thursday night, and after straddling the center string piece, bounded over on to the foot path and tried to climb one of the supports of the bridge. The driver claimed he was blinded by lights of an approaching car, shut his eyes and let the little old Ford ramble where she would.

The Ford garage, owned by Benj. Brown, is to be enlarged by addition of a two-story garage and sales room of brick and steel construction on the 48-foot frontage adjoining his present building on the south, recently purchased from Mrs. Al. Vought.

Erve Nowland had a lucky escape in a runaway which occurred Saturday afternoon. A team of young grays, owned by the Charlevoix Wood and Coal Co., standing in the alley between Clinton street and Park avenue near the corner of Grant street, took fright and bolted the length of the alley toward State street. Mr. Nowland was thrown from his seat down unto the whiffletree and dragged for some distance.

Over $5,000 has been subscribed to the hospital building fund. Dr. Louis A. Greensfelder has been authorized by the board to submit plans for the building.

Will Higman drew the lucky number last Wednesday night when the motorcycle belonging to Homer Davis was raffled off at the Odd Fellow hall. (Pop always has said he was a dashing man-about-town in those days. He must mean he was a man dashing madly about town!)

Dr. W. R. Barney has sold to Dr. W. W. Mitchell his share of their former joint dental practice in this town.

Warren Kibbe, who has been working at the Ivy Drug Store this summer, left Monday night for Detroit, where he has secured a position.

Woodruw Wilson was getting an awful drubbing in the editorial columns, but the calling-down didn't do any more good at the election of that fall than did the build-up another W. W. got twenty-four years later!

Charles Jeffries has left the city police force and accepted a position in Jacobs and Dawson's store.

Charles Howard is the new chief of police. He will take the night shift. Charlevoix will please be good in the daytime.

Fred V. Tyler has accepted a position as bookkeeper and reporter on the Courier staff.

Charley Cross, of Beaver Island, essayed a trip to Charlevoix in his motor skiff last Thursday, bringing with him a third of his family of 18, and in the heavy blow was driven ashore on North Point. We have not yet heard whether Charley got his boat off or not, but it must have been "a long, long way to Charlevoix", especially for the kids.

The baseball tournament held in connection with the Charlevoix County Fair at East Jordan last week was won by Manager Tenney's fleet stable of racers galloping under the famous colors of Loch farms. With a record of 32 games won and 3 close games lost, the fighting sodbusters can retire for the season feeling they've earned winter oats. No harm meant, but the writer's style leaves us wondering if these were men or donkeys.)

A one-steer rodeo was held Saturday morning on Antrim street alongside of S. M. See & Sons' scales, when an animal belonging to Frank Matchett, not caring how much he weighed, broke loose and started for the rear of Hallett's Inn. Coming about on another tack, he headed for Bridge street, and there was much excitement before he was finally roped and pushed onto the scales.

* DEFENSE BOND QUIZ *
* * * * * * * * * * *

Q. Do the retail stores receive any fee or percentage for the sale of Stamps?

A. No. The retail stores are offering their facilities as a patriotic service, just as banks, savings and loan associations, and others are giving their help in the sale of Defense Bonds.

Q. How can I form the thrift habit necessary for me to buy many Defense Bonds now, to help the government?

A. The easiest way is to instruct your employer or banker to hold back a small fraction of your salary or other income. Even 10 cents a day and a dollar on your birthday will mount up in one year to $37.50, the purchase price of a $50 Defense Bond. Bigger savings buy bigger bonds.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at retail stores.

MAN-MADE NEW ECONOMY AID IN THIS OIL

BRINGS RECORD LONG LIFE TO A SINGLE 5-QUART FILL

DEATH WATCH ON THE DESERT
Impartial Official Observers eyed every move—every mile—while the cars sped on to Destruction. As the last blobs of oil were reached the engines broke up or flamed up. Emergency men stood by with fire extinguishers.
DESERT
WATER BAG

Daring Death Valley Destruction Test gives you plain proof—CERTIFIED

Some modern food processing, you know, destroys many of Nature's best life-givers—vitamins that you need for life. But making up the worst loss today are vitamin synthetics . . . man-made! Similarly, the latest oil refining removes some of Nature's best life-givers. But effectively taking their place today is a new synthetic . . . a man-made economy aid that you give your engine by changing to

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL—
Popular Priced

Know what you're going to get out of it! For in Death Valley's pitiless desert this oil was measured up impartially against 5 other representative big-name oils. Each got the same fair chance to go its limit on one 5-quart fill, without an added drop. Each brand was locked up by the Official Referee, in the crankcase of a new everyday car—all alike. All held the same 57-mile pace, over the same desert, on the same days, in heat that would score you out of touching the hoods—or fenders! And all were fated to finish the one 5-quart fill—to die of oil-starvation, with engine split open like a loaded cigar.

—and the oils proved NOT the same

Conoco Nth oil lasted a whole 5,683 miles after the next best oil in the test fried up, with the engine good for scrap. And all 5 others in the test averaged 7,057 miles less than Conoco Nth, with its man-made new economy oil known as Thialkene inhibitor. . . Conoco Patent No. 2,218,132.

Now an inhibitor is to keep a thing in check. And the explosions in any engine can't help causing foul leftovers that must be properly kept in check—or they will make your oil "fester" and pass out too soon. But that didn't happen to Conoco Nth in Death Valley. It stood up better . . . by as much as 161% . . . Certified.

You may say you'll never put your engine through extreme oil-mileage tests, because you have it drained and re-filled exactly according to the recommendation of qualified authorities. And you're exactly right.

But you certainly like all the safety factor your oil can assure—and the safest engine in the impartial Death Valley destruction test lived on Conoco Nth oil. And you certainly like it every time the man puts the gauge-stick back in without putting in a quart! So change to Conoco Nth today and count the miles till your next quart. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

AND CONOCO Nth OIL OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE!

Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATINO comes from another great Conoco synthetic . . . man-made under the famed Germ Processed oil patent. Magnet-like action bonds OIL-PLATING to inner parts. It can't all quickly drain down—not while you use Conoco Nth. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance! . . . and helps mileage, as in Death Valley. An OIL-PLATED engine is one more economy you get by changing to new Conoco Nth oil.

CERTIFIED · I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

AVOID GUN MISHAPS THEME NEW POSTERS

Conservation Officers Put Up Warnings to Sportsmen

First move in the full campaign against gun accidents like those that took 35 lives last hunting season is the placing of 5,000 illustrated colored posters warning sportsmen to use proper care with firearms.

Conservation officers already have begun tacking up the big red and yellow cards with their safety message at spots where hunters gather. In the upper peninsula, members of clubs affiliated with the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association are cooperating in the distribution of the placards.

Lower peninsula hunters also will find the warning posters a familiar sight, as distribution here will be completed before the upland game season opens October 15. The poster campaign is being made in cooperation with sporting arms and ammunition manufacturers.

FLOWER BEAUTY SHOW FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Sponsored by Garden Club at Grade School Tuesday

A flower beauty contest for children of elementary grades was given by the Garden Club on Tuesday afternoon in the school community room, under direction of Mrs. Karl Erber and Mrs. Clair Webster.

Due to co-operation of teachers and children, the affair was a great success. One hundred and twenty-nine beautifully arranged bouquets of garden flowers were on display. Prizes were awarded as follows: in the early elementary division, first prize for a large bouquet, Barbara Bice, second, Marjorie Bennett; small bouquet, first to Luanna Bambach, second, Evelyn Lee. Later elementary, large bouquet, first prize to Bonnie Baumgartner, second, Kathleen Adair; small bouquet, first, Glen Cook, second, Clyde Barnhart.

It is the hope of the Garden Club to make this beauty show an annual affair, and their desire to give children an inspiration to start a garden and an appreciation of beauty in flowers. From a small beginning it can be made a big thing eventually, growing from grades to a civic affair which the whole community can enter.

HOW THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT WORKS

Editor's Note: This is the sixth of a series of articles explaining the programs for social security operated by the Federal and State governments.

When the national defense program began, the United States Employment Service of the Social Security Board — of which the Michigan State Employment Service is a part—was made a defense agency responsible for finding workers for defense jobs.

The Federal and State governments, business, schools, and labor leaders worked together to establish training programs, to prevent shortages of workers.

As a defense agency, the United States Employment Service was also made responsible for finding people to be trained in these courses and for helping to decide just what kinds of training courses should be given in the various localities.

Here is how the United States Employment Service and the Michigan State Employment offices work.

Service is free to both workers and employers. A worker who wants a job goes to the nearest local office of his State Employment Service.

At the office, he tells a trained interviewer about his experience, his training and other qualifications.

If he needs training to become qualified for a job, the local office may send him to a training course. If he is already qualified, the local office will send him to an employer for interview when a job opens up in his line in his home town.

Suppose there are no job openings for which a worker is qualified in his home town, but somewhere else in the state or in the county, workers in his line are needed.

The local employment office, as a part of a state-wide system keeps in close touch with the other offices in that state, and the head state office, in turn, is in touch with other states.

Therefore, the local office knows about jobs throughout the state and country, and the job seeker thus gets a chance to work somewhere else.

This brings up the important problem of migration which the Michigan State Employment Service is trying to solve.

Each day thousands of workers, who hear rumors and stories of defense building somewhere else, pull up stakes in their home towns.

Up and down America's highways on foot, by auto, bus and train they travel — the jobs for which they seek almost always out of reach. Many of them get stranded far from home—jobless and without money.

This serious problem need not exist if workers would register with their local State employment office and make sure that they will have a job somewhere else before they leave home.

To sum up, the Social Security Board makes the following recommendations:

1. If you have a skill which is needed for defense, register with the local State Employment office.

2. If you want training for a defense job, the State employment office may be able to tell you about a free training course.

3. Do not travel looking for work before you have checked with your local state employment office.

Home Economics Extension Project Starts October 1

The first lesson in the new Home Furnishing Project will be given in the Boyne City Library on Wednesday, October 1st with Miss Ruth Peck, last year's leader, again in charge. Already 11 communities in various parts of the county have organized and selected their leaders and other officers and are in readiness to begin the new project.

This year the work will be given in five lessons. The dates for the lessons are as follows: October 1st, November 5, December 9-10, April 7, 8, 9.

The five lessons as outlined for the project are as follows: 1. "Set of Fabrics for Slip Covers." 2. "Reconditioning spring unit cushions." 3. "Special Slip Covers." 4. Pictures for the Home." 5. "Bringing the Home Up-to-date."

It is expected that two or three new communities will be organized this year. Certainly eleven communities does not begin to cover the entire county. From a study of the map of Charlevoix county we should have at least seventeen groups in this very worth while program. There are no costs attached to the program. There is no paid leadership. All leaders selected by the various groups meet together and receive this instruction from Miss Peck and then take the lesson back to their own communities. We can assure you that the subject matter will be interesting and very much worth while. If your community is not organized let us know and we will be very much pleased to help outline the project and assist in the organization so that your community may be included in the county wide project.

When the Michigan Tuberculosis Association holds its 34th annual meeting in Grand Rapids, October 27-28, the speakers will include Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, Detroit, president of the National Tuberculosis Association, and Dr. Kendall Emerson, New York, managing director of the organization.

Rev. A. D. Staulfacher performed the ceremony in the presence of immediate families of the couple, and a few friends. Miss Betty Simmons, of Detroit, and William Crissman, of South Haven, were attendants. Chapel decorations were baskets of pastel gladioli, and white candles in tall candelabra.

For her wedding, the bride wore a tailored dress of pale green wool, with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of white gardenias. The bridesmaid wore beige wool, with accessories in luggage tan, and corsage of talisman roses.

Following the ceremony, dinner for fifteen guests was served at the Hotel Porter, with Mr. and Mrs. King Saunders as host and hostess. The couple left for a trip to Grand Rapids, then Charlevoix. They are making their home at 105 Petoskey avenue.

Attending the wedding from this city were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emrey, also Mrs. O. J. Hammond and daughter, Helen Jean, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hamilton and son, Robert.

The bride is a graduate of Glendale, Calif., high school, and attended junior college in that city and Michigan State College. The groom graduated from Charlevoix high school and Michigan State College.

HUNTERS TOLD READ GAME LAWS IN "RED"

Confusion Over Legislative Recess Halts New Laws

"Read the red" is the advice the conservation department is giving most hunters inquiring about regulations for the shooting that starts October 1. Delay in the effective date of new laws is puzzling many of them.

The game law digest, issued with each hunting license, has regulations printed in red on one side and in black on the other. Until 90 days after the Legislature adjourns—a period that will cover most of the hunting season—the hunter must be guided by the rules printed in red.

These "red regulations" do not allow the taking of doe deer for camp use, nor do they restrict the daily bag of cottontail to less than five.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Rheumatic Fever of Childhood

Rheumatic fever is n contugious disease of childhood characterized by joint pains, heart disease, chorea (St. Vitus' dance) and the development of tumors or fibrous nodules in the connective tissues.

The disense tends to occur in families, whether hecnuse of inherited susceptibility or hecause the same adverse environment is shared. It may also ocenr in neighborhoods in epidemic form. Medical men who have studied the malady seem to agree that overcrowding, bad sanitation, dirt, dust, dampness and dietary insufficiency are predisposing factors. The fact that rheumatic fever is 20 times more common among the poor than the well-to-do lends support to this theory.

It is estimated that 800,000 to 1,000,000 new cases occur each year in the United States with mortality nmounting at lenst to 40,000.

Many of these deaths are preventable and would be avoided were the victim of rheumatic fever treated with the same considerntion, understanding and skilled care as that accorded to the tuberculous. The physician who has made a diagnosis of rheumatic fever, frequently the direct result of repeated respiratory infections, endeavors — sometimes with little success—to convince the parents that their npparently normal child is really "n crippled child who doesn't limp."

Yet, if the child is to be preserved for adult life when, perhaps, it may overcome inherited tendencies and unfortunate early environment, several precise rules must be observed.

The disease should be considered contagious.

Prevention of progressive disability should follow much the same form as that prescribed for tuberculosis.

Hospitnlization must be given to that fact that one attack of rheumatic fever predisposes to others.

Dampness and chilling must be avoided and removnl to a more temperate climate is recommended whenever possible.

Sulfanilamide is sometimes employed with good effect as a prophylactic during the winter months but is never administered as a curative during the acute phase of an attack.

Children affected with rheumatic fever should be protected from others who may be suffering from colds nnd sore throat and, at the first indication that they have been infected, they should be put to bed until all symptoms have subsided.

The physical activity of such children should be restricted and rest periods during the dny should be ordered to guard against fatigue or added heart strain.

Warm sleeping rooms should be provided.

A balanced diet, rich in vitnmins and minerals and so calculnted in nature and quantity as tu preserve optimum weight, should be followed.

The nature of the disease should be frankly disenssed by doctor, parents and patient but emphasis should be placed on the fact that while the child requires special care, perhaps for years, it should not be considered or consider itself a permanent invalid.

As allergic children nre unusually susceptible to rheumatic fever, every effort should be made to discover and eliminate the causes of hypersensitivity. Members of the fnmily should submit to tests of the upper respiratory tract throughout the winter in order to detect n possible carrier of the hemolytic streptococcus organism nnd to isolate the child from such individunl.
